Mounties Don White Collars

WINDSOR, Ont., — (CP) — Don't tell the tourists, but there are probably more members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police wearing white collars than red coats.

Inspector R. W. Wonnacott of the Mounties, lifted the lid on some of the little-known activities of that well-known organization recently in an address to the Chief Constables Association of Canada here.

He told of the crime laboratories, the fingerprint section, weapon registration bureau and other little-known activities of the mantrackers.

In his own job, at Ottawa, for instance, he has one of the more important signatures in the Dominion. The documents of all Canadians who seek entrance to the United States, all who are sent to jail, all convicts free on parole, and many other thousands of important police documents have to be signed by him.

In the five years he has been on the job, as officer in charge of identification of the Mounties, he estimates he has signed his name about 750,000 times. He uses a rubber stamp.

The identification bureau, he says "gets a big kick out of identifying criminals 1,000 miles from the scene of the crime." Seemingly insignificant bits of evidence, sent to Ottawa, are pieced together until they form a pattern, and another crime ring is broken.

Garfield Plans Americanized Stage Peer Gynt

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 27 (AP)—John Garfield, back at work after a serious injury, is making plans for an Americanized "Peer Gynt" on the stage.

"Paul Green is writing a new version of the Ibsen play," he reports. "I may do it on the stage next year. If it works out, I'd like to make a picture of it."

Garfield returned to "The Big Fall" this week after a three-week absence. He was in hospital after straining a muscle on his heart in a tennis game. His doctor said the actor may resume normal activities, but no tennis for a year.

After 10 days in the hospital, Garfield grew impatient. "Hand me my clothes," he told the nurse. "I'm getting out of here."

"Now, Mr. Garfield," was the answer, "you may get away with that stuff in the movies, but it's not very convincing in a hospital."

Some Notes

Joan Crawford has stopped work on her schoolmarm yarn until she finishes "The Victim." She still hopes to make it. Her plans for a musical are up in the air, but she would like to try a comedy, as a change from her steady dramatic diet. She'd also like to do another co-starrer with Clark Gable, as what actress wouldn't?

June Allyson had two straight days of love scenes with Dick Powell in "The Reformer and the Redhead." said she: "we just pick up where we left off at home."

Short Takes

Mrs. Alan Young has made reservations at Glendale Sanitarium for arrival of her first child, around Nov. 5. He's the Vancouver film-radio comic. . .

Robert cummings does one fast scene in "The Petty Girl" in which he play 14 characters, from Frankenstein's Monster to Scarlett O'Hara. He plays a quick-change artist, needless to say. . .

THE REAL TRUTH ABOUT PILES

Here is a Revealingly Candid and Honest Discussion on a Delicate Subject

FOREWORD: This is a frank attempt to give you in non-technical language certain information regarding a widespread and personally annoying physical condition. A condition which not only afflicts countless thousands, but makes these thousands suffer untold discomfort, pain and embarrassment. Far too often this condition—at first superficial in itself—can be Nature's warning of more serious trouble to come. We believe every man or woman who suffers from this condition owes it to their own personal comfort to read the statement below.

Leonhardi Proprietaries, Ltd.

Since the dawn of civilization, medical men have carried on a ceaseless war. Not only to save human lives, but to relieve—or, better still, prevent some of the physical afflictions of humanity and the incalculable human misery they cause.

Thus, when a famous physician or a noted scientist makes an important therapeutic discovery or perfects a new surgical technique, the news rings round the world. Yet, even while these front-page discoveries are taking place, some of the most widespread human maladies—"hay fever"—"the common cold"—"athlete's foot"—certain digestive disorders—are undergoing constant scientific study and laboratory scrutiny by men the public never hears of . . . simply because these "everyday" maladies do not seem serious.

Among these seemingly commonplace afflictions are "piles". Those who suffer from this amazingly widespread trouble are burdened with a double hardship.

They yearn for relief, but hesitate to seek it—merely because of "false pride", the sheer embarrassment of seeking advice or treatment often makes it preferable to suffer in silence. There is no "drama" about piles. No glamour—no glory—no front-page fame for the man who finds a way to help pile sufferers. The subject itself is mostly taboo . . . it is seldom, if ever openly discussed. But no man or woman who has known, or now knows, the agonizing, embarrassing torment of itching, burning piles—the loss in business efficiency, in social pleasure, in good looks and vitality and sheer enjoyment of life—will deny that a safe and efficient method for relieving this condition, could well be a far-reaching contribution to human health and comfort.

• • • • •

WHAT ARE PILES?

Piles, as such, are not a primary ailment but result from some condition preceding or associated with them. The contributing conditions that cause piles never originate in the parts affected.

In their early stages, piles are inflamed, distended rectal veins—actually, "varicose veins" in the delicate membranes of the rectum. One of their primary causes—surprisingly often, in fact—is hepatic congestion or torpidity of the liver which results in common, everyday constipation. In ordinary layman's language, here is what happens:

1. When the liver is unduly congested and its normal function is slowed by sluggishness the flow of blood to the liver from the lower bowel is retarded and dozens of small rectal veins become swollen and distended with blood.
2. This sluggish, congested liver action usually causes constipation.
3. With the start of constipation, hard clogging masses form in the lower bowel and colon.
4. These hard masses press upon and irritate or bruise the sensitive, distended rectal veins.
5. Blood thickens and stagnates in the bruised area. The tiny veins become greatly inflamed, over-sensitive, lumpy and thus excrutiatingly painful.
6. The pain from these blood swollen veins, plus aggravation of the constipation itself, is "self perpetuating". The condition increases the itching, burning pain and soreness, which in turn further increases the constipation—which in turn tends to further enlarge and irritate the swollen veins which then become pile tumors. It is a vicious circle.

This is why, from the very onset, piles are sheer torment—as their victims know all too well.

• • • • •

But the agony and embarrassment of piles are only the beginning—really Nature's first call for help.

If help does not come in time, if the vicious circle is not broken, there eventually may be only one answer—chronic piles or the surgeon's knife. A big price to pay for lack of knowledge!

Yet, today in many cases, radical action may not be the only answer. More than half a century ago an able and qualified professional man began an intensive study on the whole subject of piles—their cause and effect. He found a means by which this vicious circle may be broken. This man compounded and tried, in his own practice, many different combinations of ingredients. He finally devised a formula of medically proven elements which showed amazing results in 86 out of 100 consecutive cases that came to his personal and professional attention. Proving that piles come from congested conditions inside the body—never from an outside cause—his final formula was an internal remedy, small tablets taken by mouth.

Since piles are not (as many believe) merely "strained muscles" neither the relief of the pain, nor treatment of the constipated condition is enough. A careful analysis of the many cases treated indicated internal medication was not only required but mandatory—medication that actually relieves hepatic congestion, stimulates the liver and bile, gently relieves constipation and works to improve the circulation of blood in the lower bowel. To have an effective remedy you must relieve the internal congestion which is the primary cause of piles. So decided this man.

He gave his final formula the trade name of Hem-Roid and began to use it, not only in his own practice, but also to furnish Hem-Roid to his friends and acquaintances. Several years later, in 1904 to be exact, he sold the formula and name. Hem-Roid was then offered to the general public.

• • • • •

The remarkable results through the use of Hem-Roid are a matter of record extending over the last 50 years. Millions of packages have been sold in various countries throughout the world. Hundreds of users have testified to its quick and efficient action.

• • • • •

SPECIAL NOTE: The makers of Hem-Roid sincerely believe that pile sufferers everywhere will welcome this information. Of course some persons, in very old, long standing, neglected cases should consult a physician. But for the average pile conditions, those that have not been long neglected and greatly aggravated by such neglect, we know nothing better than Hem-Roid to give you the action and results you desire.

• • • • •

MANUFACTURER'S NOTE: There has been no increase in the retail price of Hem-Roid. The druggists' retail price is exactly the same now as it was 50 years ago—a remarkable value then, a more remarkable value today—$1.25 per package of 60 tablets, 20 full days treatment. And it is rare indeed that more than 10 days use are needed to prove its value.

Unions Give Way In Australia Allow DPs Work

By ANTONY WHITLOCK

SYDNEY, Australia,- (CP) — Displaced persons—kept idle because of union opposition—are at last finding a place in Australian industry.

Until a few weeks ago the big Communist - controlled unions resolutely refused to allow these former Europeans to become members or work alongside union members. Now, however, they have agreed to help the government put to useful work some of the 50,000 DPs who are at present idle in camps.

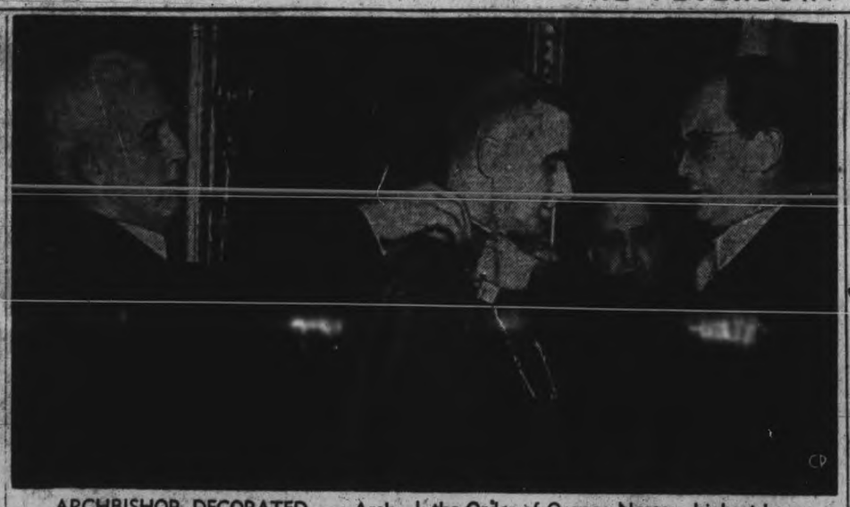
Two hundred of them are working at the great Broken Hill Proprietary steel works at Newcastle, New South Wales, and nearly another 200 at the Port Kembla rolling mills. DPs have also started work in brick, tile and pottery industries. Already several factories are putting up direction signs in German.

Although the concession by the Communist-led unions will relieve the government of some of the embarrassment of having too many DPs idle, it is only a partial victory for Immigration Minister Arthur A. Calwell. The migrants must take only the "unattractive" jobs and must make way for Australians if there is any unemployment. If there is a strike they must either cease work or be laid off.

Fascist Stooges

Communists have opposed the coming of the Balt migrants on two grounds. They say the Balts are "Fascists, bosses' stooges, ex-Nazi Black Guards, collaborators" and so on. The government and immigration officials who do the screening at the refugee camps in Europe deny this vigorously.

Communists also claim the refugees will undermine union solidarity, act as strike-breakers and break down working standards here. That's why the unions insists on such rigid guarantees against unemployment for Australian members before allowing Balts to work.



In his disclosures of Australian Communism earlier this year, Cecil Sharpley, former leading Victorian Communist, said these union attacks were an attempt to discredit the Balts and thus offset in advance their criticism of life under the Russians in their native lands.

British Accepted

Since Mr. Calwell hopes to have 100,000 displaced persons in Australia within the next nine months, any breaking down of the union ban on their employment will be valuable. Already about 30,000 DPs are working in minor industries or in domestic work and hospitals. And there has been no trouble in placing the 100,000 British migrants who have reached Australia since the war ended.

Although the immigration situation is so much more favorable as to prompt Mr. Calwell to forecast that Australia's present population of about 7,700,000 would grow to 20,000,000 within the lifetime of most Australians now living.

Warning that "we must fill this country or we will lose it" Mr. Calwell said that Australians generaly were welcoming these new citizens. To speed the movement, an Australian Citizenship Rally will be held in Canberra next January and "Good Neighbor Committees" will be formed in cities and towns throughout the Dominion.

Expect 3 Townships Will Remain Dry

KINGSTON, Oct. 27 — (CP).— Three townships 60 miles north of here likely will remain dry.

With returns in from three of the four polls in the Townships of Palmerston, North Canonto and South Canonto, the vote was 81 to 79 in favor of liquor sale But a three-fifths vote for sale would have been necessary to change the liquor sale status of the townships.

A returning officer said Wednesday night that it is unlikely that returns from the fourth poll, a small one, will change the effect of the vote.

Says Liberals Will Support Frost On Talks

BROCKVILE, Oct. 27 (CP). — Farquhar Oliver, Liberal member in the Ontario Legislature, says Liberal members of the Legislature are ready to suport any move by the Ontario Government toward obtaining an agreement with the Federal Government on taxation and health issuts.

Speaking at a Leeds by-election meeting in support of Ernest Miller, Liberal candidate, he referred to Premier Frost's statement at Gananoque that the Premier was ready to co-operate with the Federal Government on these matters.

Mr. Oliver said that on many occasions the Liberals in the Ontario House had tried to make the government "see the light" and come to terms with the Dominion. Yet, time and again, the plea fell on deaf ears, he said.

Other by-election developments:

Welfare Minister Goodfellow of Ontario challenged Mr. Miller, the Liberal candidate, to produce a letter Mr. Miller claimed to have received from a Welfare Department employee charging mismanagement of old-age pensions.

The Ontario Government's Charitable Gifts Act, which opens the books of charitable foundations to the scrutiny of public trustees and provides that specific charities be named as beneficiaries, was discussed by David Croll, Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto-Spadina, by Walter Harris, Parliamentary Assistant to Prime Minister St. Laurent, and by Charles G. MacOdrum, Brockville lawyer who spoke on behalf of Hugh Reynolds, Progressive Conservative candidate.

Have Grant Formula Before End Of Session

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said Wednesday the government will announce before the end of the current session of parliament a grant in lieu of taxation formula for Federal properties in municipalities across Canada.

Mr. Abbott was speaking on a Commons motion to vote the government an additional month of interim supply.

T. L. Church (PC-Toronto Broadview) asked if money for these grants is included in the money asked by the government.

Mr. Abbott said it was not included. The government now was considering the whole plan and would announce it before long.

Old So Losing Weight Says Man Who Knows

WINNIPEG, —(CP)—The sun is losing weight, says V. C. Jones of the Winnipeg branch, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

He told members of the society the sun was "shining itself away." But there doesn't seem to much to worry about. The sun still weighs 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 tons.

Mr. Jones proved the point during his address on "weighing the Sun."

He's familiar with dozens of stars and planets. His hot and heavy subject gave him no difficulty. He led members through a mass of figures on the blackboard with only an accasional flourish of his slide rule. A diagram made things entirely clear—to members.

Would be Boring

When it was over, he said: "We now can weigh the planet Jupiter. But with this method, it's so easy we won't bother." Members agreed. They said a proof of how much the "nucleus of the galaxy" weighed might just bore them.

The sun it appears, is just peanuts when it comes to weight. This nucleus weighs 2,200,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 (two octillion) tons.

Mrs. Jones said the sun whizzes around the nucleus, making a round trip every 220,000,000 years.

One aspect of Mr. Jones' predictions concerning a shrinking sun should interest real estate men. He says the planet Venus will have a climate both habitable and pleasant in a few million years.

Only chilly note is that the earth would "get a lot colder."

Paralyzed Montreal Man Is Newspaper Reporter, Uses Wheelchair

By RENE LAGACE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, Oct. 27 (CP)—Loss of the use of both legs is proving no stumbling block to Montrealer Bernard (Bernie) Dube in furthering his career as a newspaper man.

Paralyzed from the waist down in an automobile accident near Stockton, Calif., two years ago, 20-year-old Bernie used a folding wheelchair for every inch of ground he covers.

But despite his handicap, he still puts in a full day's work on the Montreal Gazette police desk.

Showing no signs of bitterness, Bernie greets people with a ready smile. He doesn't mind talking about his accident. It happened on a cross-country hitch-hiking jaunt with another writer in July, 1947. They were to write a series of weekly travelling features for a Montreal weekly publication.

The two college boys also wanted to see North America by working at farms to keep them going.

"Hobo style," Bernie explains.

The pair travelled 5,000 miles in three months—from Montreal to Windsor, Ont., then across the border to Detroit, through southern United States to British Columbia and finally California.

Pinned Under Wreck

They separated outside Los Angeles and were to make connection at Stockton, a few miles away. Bernie got a lift from an American couple. While driving along the highway, the automobile suddenly swerved out of control and overturned several times in a ditch. Bernie was thrown through the roof and was pinned under the wreck.

He was taken to a nearby hospital where he remained unconscious three days. Examinations showed he suffered a spinal injury that would cripple him for life.

Back in Montreal, he underwent treatment at the paraplegic centre at nearby Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., military hospital.

Following his recovery, Bernie wasted little time in getting back into action and landed a reporting job at The Gazette. He also writes a column for the weekly paper for which he was working at the time of his accident.

"It's not really as hard as you may think to move around in a wheelchair," says he. "I can do almost everything but go up and down stairs. It's really amazing what they teach paralyzed people at the veterans' hospital."

Besides his newspaper work, Bernie has enough time to carry on his social life. He is president and co-founder of a young organization called the Fine Arts Club Enterprise. The F.A.C.E. puts on plays and organizes other amusements.

Canadian Citizenship Council Plans For National Conference

A national conference on citizenship, the first to be held in Canada, is one of the projects outlined by the Canadian Citizenship Council for the coming year, according to H. L. Garner Regional Chairman for the Council. Under the co-chairmanship of General H. D. G. Crerar and Andre Taschereau, the Council is now embarked on its first national support for its work in the field of "Good Citizenship."

The Council, said the Regional Chairman, is a national voluntary organization which co-ordinates the efforts of many agencies concerned with problems of citizenship.

Among many other plans, the Council will seek support for a federally proclaimed "Citizenship Day" which would be a statutory public holiday in midspring; the institution of special "coming-of-age" ceremonies for the 250,000 young Canadians who reach the age of 21 each year; publication of new material in its powerful "Democratic Way" series of booklets, and promotion of widespread publicity in citizenship's rights and responsibilities.

Need Described

Describing the work of the Council, the local Regional Chairman said that the need for its services was urgent.

"More than a quarter of a million young Canadians come of age every year," he said. "In addition, more than 400,000 new immigrants have come to Canada since the end of the war. Strong influences are constantly striving to capture the allegiance of our people. Those who sell the anti-democratic way of life are good salesmen.

"In order to combat them, we are going to have to be even better salesmen with complete confidence in our own democratic way," he said.

He explained that the Council plans to extend its work of "selling" good citizenship this year through the co-operation of public bodies such as the Canadian Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, educational authorities, veterans' organizations, service clubs, churches, labor, welfare, and other important groups.

Want to Secure Support

The immediate main effort, he said, is to secure the full co-operation and support of all Canadians. Actual financial appeal is for only $50,000 from all Canada. This is being sought in private subscriptions from business firms and individuals.

"The type of citizenship which the Council seeks to build is by no means a mere flag-waving patriotism," he said. "It has its basis in a constantly growing appreciation of the meaning and implications of democracy as a way of life; a better understanding of the nature, privileges and obligations of citizenship; a mature pride in Canada, and an appreciation of the cultural and social heritage of Canadians."

Girl Doomed To Die Of Cancer Gregg Cuts Official Red Tape

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — Three veterans' organizations this week interceded successfully with the government on behalf of a young woman doomed to the lingering pain of death from cancer.

The personal interest of Veterans' Affairs Minister Gregg resulted in her transfer from a home for incurables to the cheery atmosphere and comradeship of Sunnybrook Hospital.

Her father had been killed in the First World War. Her mother was supported by widow's allowance. In 1942, the girl joined the Women's Division of the RCAF.

Some time after the war her doctor detected symptoms which were diagnosed as cancer. But her three years' service was in Canada; she was ineligible for treatment at a veterans' hospital.

Finances Inadequate

Family finances were inadequate for luxurious confinement. She was admitted as an indigent patient to Queen Elizabeth Hospital. The city suggested she mortgage her insurance as a guarantee of payment.

Then the Canadian Corps stepped in and petitioned the Department of Veterans' Affairs. The girl was classified as a non-entitlement patient. Her ailment was not attributable to war service.

Last Saturday, however, the Veterans' Affairs Minister arrived in Toronto to address an Ontario Command meeting of the Corps Association. He invited a recitation of special problems. That of the former airwoman occupied high priority.

Mr. Gregg had been in the House until late Friday. His visit here was only of one day's duration. His time was fully occupied with official calls. But the timetable was altered when he went to the hospital and chatted with the girl.

Several consultations followed. Non-entitlement cases were required to pay $9.75 a day to stay at Sunnybrook. The Air Force Benevolent Fund and the Ontario Canteen Fund agreed to underwrite expenses.

On Monday the transfer was made. The stay at Sunnybrook might be short. Doctors had said her condition was growing more critical by the day. The fellowship of comrades-in-arms, however, would soften the final blow.

Dumped In Canada

Michigan College Senior Fall Guy In Freshie Prank

WINDSOR, Oct. 27 (CP) — A University of Michigan senior who played fall guy for five pranking freshmen and landed at midnight lost in Essex County will well remember his first trip to Canada.

It all happened last Monday night when the five jumped 21-year-old Donald Wolf of Downer's Grove, Ill., as he stood in front of the university's union house in Ann Arbor, Mich.

In quick time they had bound and gagged him, relieved him of all signs of identity, tossed him under covers in their automobile and headed for the Detroit-Windsor tunnel.

Wolf told provincial police he was dumped in darkness on a lonely road near Maidstone, 10 miles southeast of here. But for a time, he had no idea where he was.

Cool Reception

This is his story, revealed today by the police: At the first door he knocked in the tiny village of 500, he got cool reception. The man merely shrugged his shoulders. Later the man was found to be a Ukrainian immigrant with only two months residence in Ontario.

At the next door, an English-speaking person told him his location was Maidstone, Ontario, Canada.

"Maidstone," said Wolf, "never heard of it."

He phoned police there and by way of introduction said: "I've been kidnapped and I don't know where I am."

They told him soon enough and advised him to stay put until they arrived. In no time he was back in an automobile, an Ontario Provincial Police car this time, and was headed back to the Detroit side of the international tunnel.

But there is more to the story than that.

Shame-Faced Freshies

In Detroit the five shame-faced freshmen were directed to meet Wolf on his return. It was a bitter meeting for all, because as the university's dean of men related later, the five had chosen Wolf as this year's toughest senior during a recent hazing week.

"It is an annual stunt," the dean said.

Wolf, a business administrator student and no geographer, had this to say to police as he left them on this side: "Gee, Canada is sure a big place, isn't it?"

Says U.S. Press Harms Britain

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuters).—Dr. Cyril Garbutt, Archbishop of York, who returned on Tuesday from a two-month tour of the United States and Canada, hit out at the "ordinary Americans' ignorance" and "often unfair criticism" of British affairs.

He charged the press, apart from that of New York and Washington, with giving only scanty and trifling European news and accused Jews and Roman Catholics of using it "to carry on their vendetta."

The Archbishop, giving his presidential address to the York Convocation, said:

"There is evidently great ignorance about England. The... ...newspapers usually contain only a paragraph here and there about Europe.... and often the scanty news concerned some trifling incident or was intended to create prejudice."

"The Jews and Roman Catholics carry on their vendettas through the press," he continued, "and the ordinary American citizen is therefore largely ignorant of English affairs."

He said many Americans thought the British "Welfare State" doled out money indiscriminately and were surprised to learn that both employers and employees must pay for their national insurance.

He advocated a "large scale attempt" in the United States to make plain what Britain had done towards recovery.

One defendant was acquitted.

BADEN-BADEN, Germany, Oct. 27 (AP)—Field Marshal Friedrich Von Paulus, wartime German commander, will be released from a Russian prison camp within two months, his family said Wednesday. Mrs. Olga Von Kutzenbach, the Marshal's widowed daughter, said a postcard mailed from a camp near Moscow, brought the news that Von Paulus would be home "by the end of December."

Convict 21 Unionists

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Oct. 27—(AP)—Twenty-one unionists were convicted Wednesday on charges of criminal contempt of court in the violation of an injunction limiting picketing during the recent Bell Aircraft strike. Charges against two others were dismissed because of lack of evidence. Justice William H. Munson postponed sentencing.

Fire Destroys Store

NORTH BAY, Oct. 27—(CP)—A spectacular fire, fanned by a high wind, Wednesday levelled a frame general store, a small shop and living quarters in a frame building at Emsdale, 55 miles of here. The building, the Emsdale Trading Company, was owned by Joseph Nemett, reeve of Perry township. Loss was estimated at $50,000.

13 MILLION DOLLARS IN G.E. PROFITS

In the past four years Canadian General Electric has made over 13 Million Dollars in Profits -- after all expenses, wages and taxes have been paid.

OVER 5 MILLION DOLLARS IN 1948 ALONE!

Last year General Electric made over 5 Million Dollars in Profits after paying all expenses, wages and taxes, including a 13c an hour wage increase which it claimed woud bankrupt the Company.

From 1947 to 1948 GE more than DOUBLED its Profits in Canada!

And in the United States where 95% of the stock in Canadian General Electric is held, American GE showed a profit in 1948 of over $217 Million, the greatest Profit in its 57 years of substantial Profit making.

Charles E. Wilson, President of GE, received a salary last year of $242,000. Mr. Wilson's wage increase in 1948 was $75,250, somewhat higher than the wage increase we are asking for GE workers in Canada.

G.E. IS GREEDY!

While G.E. is making Millions in Profits the Company refuses to bargain in good faith with its workers for:

A wage increase to protect our families against a rising cost of living.
The 40-hour week with no reduction in take-home to protect our jobs against layoffs.
Other improvements in a new Contract with our Union.

LAYOFFS

In fact so greedy is G.E. for more Millions in Profits that it has removed sections of its Peterborough plant to other cities where it pays 15 to 20 cents an hour less wages for the same work on the basis of speed-up.

SPEED-UP AND PRICE CUTTING

Speed-up and price cutting are G.E.'s methods for making higher Profits in ALL Company plants.

And when the Union takes a grievance on price-cutting to Arbitration G.E. refuses to abide by the Award! This is the SECOND time in less than a year that G.E. has REFUSED to abide by an Arbitration Award on price cutting.

G.E. WORDS vs. G.E. ACTIONS

At the same time that it refuses to bargain in good faith and forces speed-up, price cutting and layoffs on its workers GE talks publicly about its concern for the "welfare of our Community".

Is it any wonder that GE workers refer sarcastically to the Company as "Generous Electric" when they read its public statements about the "welfare of our Community".

G.E. IS GENEROUS

with WORDS, but not with ACTION to settle our negotiations for a new contract.

G.E. IS GENEROUS

with OUR health and welfare, when it speeds up, cuts prices and lays off in order to make more Profits.

G.E. IS GENEROUS

with OUR time and patience, when it stalls in negotiations from May to October without once meeting our proposals.

IF There IS a Strike . . . . G.E. Will Be Responsible

In the face of G.E.'s six month refusal to meet our proposals we have taken a strike vote in ALL G.E. plants. Whether a strike occurs in Peterborough is now up to G.E. We have asked G.E. to negotiate now with or without the Conciliation Board. If G.E. refuses AGAIN we have no alternative but to use our strike vote -- and G.E. will be solely responsible for the strike.

PETERBOROUGH HAS A STAKE IN OUR NEGOTIATIONS

Every family, every merchant, every business man is directly affected by GE's refusal to bargain in good faith in our negotiations. The welfare of our entire Community IS concerned in these negotiations.

IT IS TIME PETERBOROUGH TOLD G.E.:

"Thirteen Million Dollars in Profits doesn't give you the right to ignore your responsibility to our Community. Thirteen Million Dollars in Profits doesn't give you the right to refuse to bargain in good faith with your workers and their Union.

"Thirteen Million Dollars in Profits doesn't give you the right to force 3,200 workers out on strike."

IF G.E. is GENUINELY concerned with the welfare of our Community -- then G.E. must negotiate NOW in good faith -- and prevent a strike!

Sharpest Attack On Gov't Comes From Ex-Socialist

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Oct. 27 (CP)— One of the oddities of the conservative party's 70th annual conference was that the sharpest attack on Britain's Labor Government came from a man who used to be a Socialist himself.

Dark-haired Ivor Thomas, 43-year-old son of a Welsh brick worker, stepped to the conference platform and dealt harshly with his former colleagues.

Here's what he had to say about three leading members of the government:

Health Minister Aneurin Bevan—"his only contribution to the House of Commons debate on devaluation was to change the subject. Since then he has openly boasted that his method of running the finances of the National Health Service was to think of a number, and then double it."

Too Big For Boots

Harold Wilson, President of the Board of Trade—"I suspect that when Mr. Wilson says he went to school without boots it was because he was too big for them." (Wilson once referred in a speech to Lancashire children going to school without shoes because their parents couldn't afford them.)

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer—"he reads the lesson, preaches the sermon and takes the collection as well—eight shillings out of every pound you earn."

It was Thomas' maiden speech as a member of the Conservative party, which he joined last January. His wisecracks won a rapturous reception from most of the 4,500 delegates but observers doubted whether they went down well with the party leadership.

One prominent Conservative suggested the address would have been better material for a music hall comedian than for a political speaker.

Oxford Graduate

Thomas was elected Labor Member of Parliament for Keighley, Yorkshire, in 1942, with a brilliant record at Oxford behind him, he advanced quickly, serving Prime Minister Attlee's Administration first as a Parliamentary Secretary for Civil Aviation and then as Colonial Under- Secretary.

His loyalty to Labor began to waver last year and in October he quit the party, calling himself a "repentant sinner." He said his chief complaint was the government's determination to nationalize the iron and steel industry.

Once an editorial writer for Fleet Street newspapers, including The Times, Thomas has written several books. In the latest, published this month, he sums up his reasons for forsaking Socialism under the title, "The Socialist Tragedy."

APPLE HONEY—Teen-aged Mary MacDougall samples the Essex County apple crop as southwestern Ontario orchards gather the last of a yield that they expect to produce a better-than-average cider output. Essex county can't match British Columbia or Nova Scotia in the size of its crop—but can they match Miss MacDougall?

Won't Lay Complaint Of 19 Players' Illness

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Oct. 27 — (CP)—The Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League will not make an "official complaint" to health authorities as a result of the illness of 19 players during a trip to North Bay, last week, manager Joe Gordman said Wednesday night.

"If health authorities wish to know more about it," he said, "we'll give them any information we can, but we will not make an official complaint."

Newspaperman Dies

OTTAWA, Oct. 27—(CP)—R. A. Jeffrey, 72, former mayor of Arnprior, and a veteran newspaperman in the Ottawa Valley, died Wednesday following a long illness. He retired in 1929 after 30 years as editor and publisher of the Arnprior Chronicle, a weekly. He was also district correspondent for Ottawa newspapers.

Society Glad As Members Go

MANCHESTER, Eng., (CP)—Meet the society which holds a celebration every time a bunch of its members packs up and leaves.

It's known as the "Fetas" or Future Emigrants to Australia Society, and it has a fast-dwindling membership of 500.

The 500 held a send-off party recently when 11 members sailed with their families for Australia. More than 100 of the original members have already gone, including the society's founder, chairman secretary and treasurer.

"I'm ready to hand over to someone else at a moment's notice," said secretary Arthur Hill, an electrical engineer. "I've already sold my apartment and if I go tomorrow it won't be too soon.

"The society was formed to help people to get to know one another before they sailed. Friendships made in this country are continued in Australia. They help to alleviate homesickness."

Hill said a sister body, The Immigrants to Australia Society, will be formed in Australia soon.

Toronto Man Returns To His English Home

WARE, Hertfordshire, Eng., —(CP)—Harry Warby, 56-year-old bell captain of Toronto's Prince George Hotel, is back visiting relatives in his native town.

Warby flew to Britain for his first visit in 40 years.

Harry was 16 when he left home and his first job was as gamekeeper at half a crown a day. After a try at keeping gundogs in Ireland, he decided to try Canada.

Now he wants to start his own dog kennel business.

Three Little People Have Good Luck In Irish Sweeps

By The Canadian Press.

Three "little fellows"—a railroad conductor, a rubber worker and an office clerk—are in the chips today, thanks to horses called Sterope and Good Taste.

Sterope's victory in the Cambridgeshire Handicap at Newmarket, England, was worth $77,500 in Irish Sweepstakes money to Ernest St. Cyr, 53, of Joliette, Que.

Mr. St. Cyr, a Canadian National Railways conductor, was so excited about the sudden windfall that he dashed from his home without finishing his dinner. He headed out to tell friends the good news.

Two Ontario men had tickets on Good Taste, the second-place horse: W. E. Brain, 47-year-old inspector for a rubber company in New Toronto, and Harold Blackmore, 50, of London, a telephone company clerk. They each get $31,000.

Third place money, $15,500 each goes to Don S. Winder of Montreal, and 11-year-old Eva Smith of Toronto. Meysey Hampton is the horse which won for them.

St. Cyr, the big winner, had ticket MR-16644 and his nom-de-plum was "never win."

"We were all terribly surprised" said has daughter, Jeannine. "Daddy was having dinner when he heard the news over the radio. He dashed out without finishing and I don't know where he is now.

"Anyway, he is very happy. I don't know what he will do with the money."

Up To Canadians

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP) — The British Government's view is that the Dominion can do what they like in the matter of amending their own laws, Rt. Hon. Philip Noel-Baker said Wednesday. The United Kingdom's Commonwealth relations ministers said at a press conference: "Canadians can do what they like, amend their statutes to suit themselves and we'll be very glad to put through their suggestions, because we believe the freer the Commonwealth is, the better it works."

Board Sittings On CGE-UE Resume Friday

The long delayed sitting of the Board of Conciliation appointed to help the union and the CGE reach a satisfactory settlement is scheduled to meet on Friday at 10 a.m. at Queen's Park. At this time a further attempt will be made to settle the differences between the company and the union over possible amendments to the continuing contract.

The company in a letter to its employees and signed by I. F. McRae, the works manager, says:

"While the Union complains of the Company 'stalling,' the Union has requested several postponements of the Board; the Company has not asked for any postponements.

"Your Union leadership organized an illegal strike vote last week. The Ontario Labour Relations Act states that no strike vote and no strike shall be taken until seven days after the Conciliation Board reports.

"The Board has not yet reported its recommendations. It presumably may be expected to make them shortly. The Board will recommend what changes it believes should be made to the present agreement and how other points of difference might be settled.

"The Union and the Company will then both have an opportunity to examine these recommendations of an outside body and decide whether they want to go along with them.

"The suggestion has been made not to wait to hear what the Board recommends. The idea would be that, instead of working and earning wages while you wait to see what the Board recommends, you should wait out on the street —earning no wages—and without any knowledge of when and how you can get back."

Mobilize For Strike

The Union is mobilizing for strike action.

At a special meeting of steward and executive, President John G. Morton outlined the recommendation of the UE-GE Joint Board to make strike preparations.

A number of committees headed by stewards and members of the executive were struck off. They include committees for picket duty, finance, food, welfare, police, camera, publicity and entertainment. And they started work today.

C. S. Jackson stressed the urgency for full and immediate strike preparations "to leave no doubt in the Company's mind that we are ready to act on the memberships' strike decision."

Union members were informed today in a leaflet that similar action is under way in the four Toronto plants and the one in Cobourg.

OFFICIAL OPENING AND DEDICATION of a new public school for the Township of Wollaston, North Hastings, was held on Wednesday at Coe Hill. More than 200 officials, parents and children gathered at the side entrance in a snow storm to watch Premier of Ontario, the Hon. Leslie M. Frost, cut the ribbon. The audience is shown at (TOP) during the ceremony. The arrival of distinguished guests, (LOWER), are Left to Right, Reeve C. T. Rollins, Mrs. Leslie M. Frost, schoolboard chairman L. Wicks, the Hon. Ontario Greeks Appeal To UN

An appeal to the United Nations for help in trying to obtain the release of 28,000 Greek children carried off from their homes by Communist guerrillas was sent Friday to United Nations by a meeting of former Greek nationals in Toronto.

Louis Yeotes was chairman of this mass meeting of Greeks from different parts of Ontario.

"These children disappeared about four years ago," Mr. Yeotes told the Examiner. "Their parents have never heard from them and do not know whether they are alive or dead. It was a dreadful thing that most people in the world know little about. Our message to the UN is an effort through that important body.

"We also feel that local organizations might be able to strengthen our hand, and we would be glad to suggest to them what they could do. The children were carried off from the Greek border country by bands of Yugoslavs, Bulgarians Albanians, Romanians, and some Hungarians in their raids into Greece.'"

Modern Consolidated School Coe Hill, Opened By Frost

COE HILL, Ont., Oct. 27 (Staff)—"The Province of Ontario leads the continent on its educational improvements to the tune of $40,000,000 annually," said the Premier of Ontario, the Hon. Leslie M. Frost, at the opening and dedication ceremony of the new Township of Wollaston school at Coe Hill on Wednesday afternoon. "This means," he went on to say, "that 25 cents out of every provincial tax dollar is being spent on education in the building of new schools, and educational programs and improvements."

The Premier congratulated the hard work and foresightedness of the Township school board in planning a fine structure of such a nature a three-room modern school that serves a surrounding area of distances up to nine miles. A fleet of three army truck-type buses are used to bring the 85 children to their new establishment.

Old Mining Area

He reviewed some of the history of the Coe Hill area and told of its importance in the past in the iron ore industry. It was from local deposits, he said, that the Northern States drew mineral supplies during the American Civil War in the late 60's. Mr. Frost said that a great deal of attention has been given recently to the district's iron ore deposits in hopes of developing them further and that such a program would bring the area added prosperity.

The opening and dedication ceremony which took place at the side entrance during a heavy snow squall was conducted in a business-like manner by chairman L. Hicks. He explained that the building had gone into service

Two Women Drivers Collide At Corner

One car ended up in a ditch when two cars driven by women collided at the corner of Sherbrooke St. and Clonsilla Ave., Wednesday afternoon about 4:30.

Mrs. William Coros, 479 Stewart St., driving south on Clonsilla Ave., turned west into Sherbrooke, colliding with a car driven by Mrs. Neil Stanley, 606 St. Catharines St.

The car driven by Mrs. Coros plunged into the five-foot deep north ditch before coming to a stop. The left front fenders of both cars were dented and torn. Constables Sherman Keliele and Harold W. Andrew investigated.

3 Weeks More Of Fine Weather

This item calls for a preface pointing to and stressing its doubtful essence in order that if its promise fails no one is going to say "well, I read it in the paper that it was going to be fine weather for three weeks, and lookit what we got."

With that preamble, it may be said that some of the elder neighbors, trustful and optimistic people whose cheerfulness has weathered many a hard winter, have been recently taking auspices of the weather from the new moon's appearance far down in the southwest sector.

For the strengthening of their hope that the fuel pile is going to be lightly treated until Mid-November, there is the prediction of H. F. Wastell of London, Ont., who says that in western Ontario at least furnaces may be neglected for the next three weeks.

Before winter comes, says he, you can look for another three weeks of fine weather. He has been prognosticating the trend of the seasons for 20 years, announces his winter forecast for next week, and apparently speaks with assurance instead of the hope that has been sought here recently in the new moon.

Magistrate Hears Tangled Tale Of Boat Motor

Charged with receiving a stolen outboard motor, Joseph Fontaine was committed for trial by a higher court at a preliminary hearing in police court today before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC. He was remanded with bail to continue at $500.

The motor was said to have belonged to Bernard Whalen, Tweed, who was renting outboard motors from a room at the back of Fontaine's bicycle shop during the summer.

Whalen told the court he had rented the motor to Clayton Dunford, Saturday, Set. 3, and did not see it again until he identified it in Detective W. A. Clarke's office some time later.

Rentals and Returns

He said he had told some of the people at the bicycle shop they could use his motors or rent them out for him, but he thought Joseph Fontaine was not there when he said it.

Dunford said he returned the motor he had rented the following Tuesday. He stated the shop was closed and he had put it in a hallway between the bicycle shop and a next-door restaurant.

Detective Clarke testified he received a phone call from someone who had seen an Independent taxi drive up near the Outboard Marine test boat house at the south end of Park St. Someone got out and threw a heavy object from the wharf into the river.

Court Lacks Authority To Allocate Tax To Public, Separate Schools

Affirming lack of authority to accede to a proposal from the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion, the Court of Revision dismissed its application Wednesday night asking that the assessment of its property be evenly allocated between Public and Separate School support. The members of the Court are: John A. Harstone, chairman, Thomas C. Ephgrave and Fred L. Finnie.

In his brief to the Court on this appeal, Norman A. Wilkes, Assessment Commissioner, quoted relevant clauses from the Assessment Act and said: "The Legion must be assessed as Public School supporters. There is no authority to make any allocation for Separate School purposes."

"There is no authority for apportioning the assessment between the two schools except in Sec. 66 of the Separate School Act, which does not apply here. Not being incorporated under the Ontario Companies Act, there are no shareholders, so the Legion must be considered as a person, as interpreted under Sec. 1(m) of the Assessment Act," Mr. Wilkes said.

No Provision In Law

Mr. Harstone mentioned that the appeal should have been before the Court in the form of some resolution by committee, or otherwise from the Legion, but "apart from that there is no provision in any statute wherein a body such as the Legion can be assessed as a corporation. There is no provision by which this appeal could be granted."

Canadian General Electric Company, represented by Tom Glover, works accountant, and Charles Martin, Toronto, objected to a business assessment of $2,520 on their parking lot on the east side of Park St., at Rink St.

Mr. Martin said the area was used as a free parking lot for employees. He argued that it had no connection with the company's business, had no service for profit, and was virtually a benefit to the city as a means of keeping many cars off the streets in the vicinity of the plant.

"Chain stores provide free parking areas for customers," Mr. Martin said. "That is a service connected with their business. We do not make any charge to the employees who park their cars on the company's lot. This is the first time a question of assessing parking space of this nature has come up in our experience.

We are assessed in the regular way for land, but this is a matter of business assessment of the same property. I don't say the company would discontinue the parking provision for employees on account of this assessment, but all the city would be doing would be to levy a business tax on us for providing the parking facility for employees. It is a benefit to them and to the city, but I contend that it has nothing to do with our business."

Decision was reserved, and at the conclusion of the hearings the Court reviewed the application. Mr. Wilkes said he added the business assessment because he knew that was the practice of Hamilton assessment department in similar industrial cases.

Appeal Allowed

The Court unanimously allowed the appeal on the motion of Mr. Harstrone, seconded by Mr. Ephgrave.

Mr. Wilkes reported that an appeal by Dominion Stores on the assessment of their new store at George and Sherbrooke streets had been reduced $3,000 by agreement during the afternoon. His original valuation of the

Victoria County Court House Badly Crowded

Accommodation at the Victoria County Court House in Lindsay is inadequate the grand jury for the present assizes has reported.

The law library has been practically crowded out to make room for the provincial police offices And the jury found it "questionable" how long the registrar and his assistants could efficiently carry on their duties in their present quarters.

Replacement of the registrar's office with "a modern structure" was recommended.

In the report to the Hon. Mr. Justice Gale, the jury also urged some improvements at the county jail. Recommendations included purchase of "suitable records for the control of occupants now being cared for as the building is now being used for lock-up as well as jail, and elimination of the fire hazard by generally replacing wooden flooring with cement.

The jury also recommended that the Court Room be repaired and redecorated.

Hole In Pavement Blamed For Crash

A large hole in the pavement of Clonsilla Ave. broke the right front wheel off a car driven by William M. McIntosh, RR 3, Peterborough, skidding the car into a ditch where it turned over on its side Tuesday evening.

Neither the driver, nor his wife who was a passenger, was hurt. McIntosh told police he had been driving west on Clonsilla when the right front wheel of his car hit the hole which is seven inches deep and more than three feet by one foot in area.

The wheel broke off and axle dug into the pavement swerving the car into the ditch about 120 feet from the hole. Police said cars were apparently forced into the hole if there was traffic coming the other way.

Court Of Revision

building was $42,900, and the appeal was based on over-assessment. The revised assessment at $39,600 was confirmed on consent by the Court.

Although Mr. Wilkes had previously reported 88 appeals on the list filed with City Clerk Outram, acting as secretary of the Court, the most of them were only routine changes in school support and other incidental points outside property valuations.

Three or four of the applicants were young married men owning properties at the east end of Morrow St. in the vicinity of a block of houses built by Reynolds Construction Co. for Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. The last of them was Spencer Hope, 46 Morrow St., a veteran of the Hitler war, a circumstance which he did not mention.

Mr. Hope protested against a $680 increase in the assessment of his house, from $2,780 to $3,460. He said he was appealing more in behalf of his wife and family than himself.

"I think the houses built by the Reynold Company have depressed the value of my property," he said.

Mr. Hope said there had been no improvements to his place in the last two years. He recalled that there had been building restructions on the property, which, according to Mr. Outram, had been registered years ago during ownership by Toronto Savings and Loan Company.

There had been a motion to waive these restrictions when the housing project was proposed. "I had only two days' notice of the hearing in Toronto of the application for the removal of the restrictions. I had no opportunity to appear there."

Mr. Hope said he was just one of the ordinary citizens, and the action to lift the restrictions was made by a strong company of the government. In that case "the little man" did not have much chance.

He said he had sent in his appeal because he could not understand why there had been a comparatively large increase in his assessment over that of the previous year.

Discussion by the members of the Court at first suggested confirming this assessment, chiefly because similar applications from the same neighborhood had not been allowed. Mr. Harstone said he felt that to satisfy himself about the circumstances he would like to look over the property of Mr. Hope and those of the several other appellants in the same group.

Mr. Finnie and Mr. Ephgrave said they agreed entirely with that proposal. On their way to the Morrow St. section Saturday afternoon, the members of the Court will also call at the properties of Mr. Fred Meagher, Aylmer St. south, the one he occupies and another at 107 Aylmer, adjoining.

Mr. Meagher said the assessment of his house at $4,170, up $450 from last year, was out of line with assessments of comparable properties on George and Crescent Streets. "They are as valuable as mine, but are assessed at less."

Mr. Ephgrave said the Meagher houses were of more recent construction. Mr. Meagher answered that in ten years his place should be more valuable than it is now. It would be improved by the planting of grass and shrubbery.

Charlotte B. Bullock, 366 Mark St., increase $455 on building to $1,480. Reduction of $100 granted. There is no street frontage for this home.

Alfred and Maude Cocker, 673 Orpington, increase house $850. Total on house and lot $1,620. Cost of material and labor on improvement was $400 as compared with $850 increased assessment of house, Mr. Cocker said. "It is of four rooms with bathroom but there is no sewer on the street."

"I think the jump was too much," Mr. Ephgrave said. Reduction of $150 granted on motion of Mr. Harstone and Mr. Ephgrave.

John Watson, 677 Rogers St., increase $760 on house from $1,400 to $2,160; plus land, total $2,335. Reason for appeal — only work done since last assessment was cement walks, porches and finishing hardwood. House is occupied but not bricked; hardwood floors, hot air heating.

"It does not look out of the way," Mr. Ephgrave said.

"It appears to be reasonable," Mr. Harstone remarked. The assessment was confirmed.

Business assessment appealed by Carptin and Stanley, accountants, 357 Aylmer St., at Simcoe. A suggested reduction of $220 is to be computed on revision of the property assessment.

Mr. Carphin also appealed against the assessment of the Brookdale house he bought this year at 325 Mason Ave.; land $240, building $3,185, total $3,425.

Assessment confirmed. "I'll be back again next year," Mr. Carphin said.

"If we began tampering with one of those houses, we'll have them all down here," Mr. Finnie said.

"But, I consider it is an unjust valuation," appellant said.

Mrs. Dorothy Crickmore, 308 Caddy St., appealed assessment on house and lot as being higher than Central Mortgage properties selling at $8,100 which was $500 more than appellant's cost.

Mr. Finnie moved a reduction of $160 on the building.

Insufficient drainage of surface water was the flaw mentioned by Mr. Finnie. There are no sidewalks and postal service in this new area.

Quentin Dantzer, 719 St. Mary's St.,; increase $110 on house and land. It was bought from Central Mortgage and the owner dug out the cellar, put in concrete floor and furnace.

Mr. Wilks said all the houses of that area would be of increased assessment whenever they were improved with cellars.

The Dantzer assessment was $1,940 last year, and $2,000.

"My feeling is that the assessment is reasonable as it stands," Mr. Harstone said.

Assessment was confirmed on Mr. Finnie's motion, seconded by Mr. Ephgrave.

J. K. Dinesen, 227 Swanston Ave., $4,900 new house. Appeal alleged that "better" houses of neighborhood were assessed at lower level. The district is unfinished and drainage is not yet provided. "The place is like a lake when it rains," Mrs. Dinesen said.

"Im sorry we can't do anything for this lady," Mr. Finnie said.

I think I should point out the Commissioner did take into consideration the point of drainage and valued the land at $3.50 a foot on that account", Mr. Harstone said.

Assessment confirmed at $4905 for this brick house, built in 1949, five rooms downstairs, three rooms and bath up.

Gordon B. Doherty, 45 Morrow St., house assessment increased $640 from $2,015, unfinished in 1948, to $2,665 this year.

Claims Valued Reduced

Basis of the appeal was that building restrictions were waived for inferior houses now surrounding Mr. Doherty's home, thereby reducing its value.

The assessment of 2,665, land and buildings was confirmed.

"I think it is a little on the low side", Mr. Ephgrave said.

Donald E. Ephgrave, 493 Weller St., new residence, land, 60' x 100'6" at $21 a foot $1,250; house 52' x 29' assessed at $8,530; total $9.780.

Mr. Finnie: "This assessment is about one-third of the actual value."

Applicant said he enquired in the neighborhood and could not find any new house comparable in assessment. Mr. Ephgrave said most of those other houses were of modern types and finish. He said Mr. Finnie's estimate was far too high.

"I move the assessment be confirmed", Mr. Finnie said. He said it was an exceptionally fine, new house and I think the assessment is very fair at $9,780.

Description by Mr. Wilkes was: "1½ story brick veneer, 2 rooms and bath in basement; five rooms and 4 piece bath on ground floor; 2 rooms and 3 piece bath second floor; hardwood floors, radiant heating in basement and garage floor, also in ground floor ceiling and second floor ceiling; copper eaves; large vacuum sealed windows on south side; oil heat, etc."

"Too big a jump in one year", said John C. Faucett, 14 Murray St., objecting to $1,775 increase on house and lot. For improvements of hot air heating, extra bathroom and kitchen, "the increase was exorbitant for repairs made." Court allowed a decrease of $250, on Mr. Finnie's motion.

Pentecostal Assembly, Simcoe St., appealed assessment of land $325 and building $1,100; total of $1,425 for each of two apartments on the second floor. Use of the third floor not permitted by Fire Chief.

"It looks all right to me," said Mr. Finnie. Mr. Ephgrave seconded his confirming motion.

Joseph Greer, 78 Morrow St., objected to the increase of $715 in assessment of new garage. Mr. Wilkes said there was some other work completed in the year Assessment on home and lot up from $2,775 to $3,490 was confirmed.

Mrs. Helen Read, 614 Sherbrooke St., $4,580 house and lot; reduction of $500 granted.

Joseph Marino, 667 Reid St., business classification changed from merchant to restaurant proprietor.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Toof, 118 Lansdowne St., assessment $1,900, the same as last year; apartment being built on Hudson store at Lock St. corner closes view and darkens east side.

"But the assessment is so low," Mr. Ephgrave saaid. Mr. Wilkes' valuation was confirmed.

"Over - assessed," was the ground of appeal by Thomas Edwards' estate and Alexander Wagman, 421-423 George St. The action was on the buildings extensively remodelled in 1948. The land assessment $11,140 and $8,480 on buildings, total $19,020. an increase of $1,830 over last year. No appeal on land.

The Court was immediately unanimous that the building assessment "is very fair." Assessment confirmed on Mr. Harstone's motion, as was also the assessment on Chambers St. at $3,330, an increase of $930 from last year.

Assessment of the Earle Wellwood house and lot at 229 Edinburgh was unchanged from last year. Appeal asked for reduction on account of coal yard, railway and certain other conditions. Reduction of $100 in assessment of buildings was granted.

"No partticular reason that I can see," said Harvey Weidner, 472 King George St., of the $810 increase in his house and lot. The Court will examine his property. The increase was from $2,550 to $3,360.

"There is nothing we can do," Mr. Ephgrave said to Mrs. Mabel Wilford, 164 Morrow St. There was no change in assessment at $2,750 but the owner said it was too high last year.

70 Per Cent of Britons Uninterested In Wine Buying

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, Oct. 27 (CP)— The Wines and Spirit Association says that 70 per cent of the people of Britain are "not interested" in wine—and has set out to change the situation.

The Association, keen on making Britons as wine-conscious as continentals, is launching a two-fold campaign. It wants the treasury to reduce duties on wines, bringing them with in range of the average purse, and secondly it's going in for advertising in a big way.

A recently-completed association survey has revealed that less than three per cent of British men and women are "interested" in wines at any time.

That is less than three per cent would consider buying wines for their own table, or in restaurants, or would drink them unless offered them at a public or private function.

Of 4,000 persons questioned last summer, the association found that two-thirds had had a "drink" during the preceding 24 hours. But of the total, 86 per cent had taken beer, only one per cent had had wine, and the remainder had drunk spirits or liqueuers.

Just Uninterested

J. W. Mahoney, Secretary of the Association, said "70 per cent of the people in this country are completely uninterested in wines—the thought of touching one never occurs to them."

In austerity Britain—referred to quaintly by the Times as "the circumstances of today" — the newspaper said "importers are affected not only by the inability of the 'landed gentry' to replenish their cellars but also by the lack of such custom as once came from middle-class consumers."

Indicative of the increase in prices over 10 years ago are those for claret. Before the war the tax on claret was only 8d. and prices ran from 2s. 6d. For good varieties to 10s. for extremely good. Top prices in restaurants were 22s. Today the cheapest bottles sell at 8s., good ones at 22s., and best in restaurants cost £3—more expensive than champagne.

French table wines now cost 8s. or 9s. a bottle, two or three times pre-war.

Canadian Hunters Lured Kill Off Yukon Grizzlies

By HAROLD CLAASEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Do you want to hunt grizzly bear? Wouldn't a bearskin rug look good in front of the fireplace?

Barry O'Neill of Keno Hill, Yukon Territory, is begging sportsmen to visit the little Canadian lead-mining community and help reduce the grizzly bear population. Next year you will be able to drive from your front door into the Yukon's big game country 140 miles under the Arctic Circle.

Fifty years ago men and women rushed into this area for Klondike gold. A new rush is on now—this time for lead that is critically needed for industry and defense stockpiling.

To expedite movement of men, machinery and the metal, the Canadian government will complete a 300-mile highway this winter from Keno Hill to Whitehorse. The road from Whitehorse connects with the Alcan Highway.

O'Neill, paymaster for a lead mine, says old timers in the Yukon don't hunt grizzlies. They rate the bears as the most vicious and dangerous beasts of the Western Hemisphere.

Billy Sime, a Canadian government assayer, vouches for their endurance. About to cross a mountain stream, Sime was faced by a grizzly who started coming at him from the opposite shore. Sime's first shot tore the 1,200-pound bear's heart out. The bear kept coming.

Sime emptied his gun into the animal. Out of ammunition, he climbed a tree, prepared to fight it out with his rifle butt. The bear died close to the foot of the tree—more than 500 yards from where he took the first bullet.

Throughout most of the summer, when there is 24 hours of sunlight in the sub-Arctic, the big bears live in the mountains. When blueberries and raspberries ripen, they come into the valleys.

The natives don't get mauled because they avoid the bears. A cameraman, making shots of a grizzly, was so badly mauled he was in hospital for almost a year.

Getting a grizzly rug, O'Neill explains, is quite a job—even after killing one of the big bears. The skin of an average 1,200-pound bear weighs about 300 pounds—quite a load to carry out of the mountains.

WA Executive Of District Give Life Pins

The October meeting of the Peterborough Woman's Executive was held on Tuesday afternoon at St. James' United church, Peterborough. The president, Mrs. E. Wand, was in the chair and the minutes of the annual convention held in Norwood were read and approved. Correspondence was dealt with and two new secretaries were elected, namely those of parsonage secretary, Mrs. Rennie of Keene, and press secretary, Mrs. E. Rath of Lakefield. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Bell in the absence of Mrs. Horton.

Business dealt with included receiving a motion for the giving of a donation to General Council and of having a letter sent to Mrs. G. F. Kelly who recently moved from Lakefield to Newtonbrook and who has been for years a most valued member of the executive.

Appeal For Deaconesses

An appeal was voiced for the names of any young women who might be interested in the work of the Deaconess Order. All members were urged to help in the matter of having the lists of officers in the various organizations sent to the secretary, Mrs. G. Seabrook, RR No. 8, Peterborough, and to try and stimulate more interest in creating life members within their own association.

The guest speaker for the afternoon was Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United church, chairman of the Peterborough Presbytery. Dr. Gordon brought greetings from the Presbytery and his talk dealt with the important part played in the life of the church by the women. He also stressed the vital importance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the United Church of Canada being celebrated this coming year.

Following Dr. Gordon's talk, Mrs. P. I. Bentley of Millbrook, past president of the Peterborough Presbytery of the Woman's Association and Mrs. Horton (the latter in absentia) of Peterborough, were presented with Life Membership pins. During the presentation Dr. Gordon explained the significance of the crest on the pins and congratulated the recipients.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Harris.

Begin Dress Rehearsal For 1951 Census

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—(CP). — Dress rehearsal for Canada's 1951 census began here today, when 15 enumerators began knocking on doors and asking questions.

Dominion Bureau of Statistics officials said 20,000 people in the Toronto area will be interviewed to test new methods which will be used in the 1951 census.

Enumerators will also try out a new electrographic device which, in combination with a special sorting machine, is expected to halve the time and cost of the census.

Refloating Of Noronic Temporarily Delayed

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—(CP). — The task of refloating the fire-damaged hulk of the steamer Noronic has been delayed temporarily, it was reported today. Pumping, which was nearing completion Wednesday, had to be stopped when the ship developed a serious list.

Canada Steamship Line officials saaid it was expected the ship would be afloat at Toronto's dockside tomorrow. It will then be taken to Hamilton to be broken up.

Favor Abolishing Radio License Fee

An enthusiastic meeting of Peterborough district dealers of the Ontario Radio and Appliance Dealers' Association was held in the Empress Hotel, Wednesday. Retail dealers from Peterborough, Lindsay, Port Hope, Belleville and Cobourg were in attendance. The president of the local association, F. H. Johnston, presided. The main address was given by A. Johnston, Canadian General Electric Co. dealer accountant consultant on "Sound accounting methods essential for radio and appliance dealers." The address proved timely and interesting and invoked spirited discussion. Mr. L. L. Hartman, Toronto, Ontario president, described what the association was doing. Current problems were discussed and the district dealers unanimously went on record as being opposed to any increase of the radio license fee, further resolving that it should be abolished entirely.

Driver Charged In Girl's Death

LINDSAY, Oct. 27—The level crossing accident last June in which Elsie Pryor, 18, of Toronto was killed when riding as passenger in a car driven by Aylmer S. Davies of Toronto, resulted in a trial on charge of manslaughter in Lindsay. The trial continued into its fourth day today. The car driven by Davies collided with a north-bound CPR mixed train at the crossing near McArthur's School, east of Lindsay on Highway 7.

Both the engineer in charge of the train and the fireman gave testimony at the trial. It was the first occasion on which the fireman had made that particular run in his capacity although he claimed that he had travelled the line many times as brakeman. Both claimed the train was travelling not more than 25 miles an hour.

It was suggested by Col. R. I. Moore, defence lawyer, that on occasions when a train is late at one station, time was made up for the next stop by increasing speed. On the basis of this he drew a reply that he "thought" the engine could be pushed to 30 or 40 miles an hour.

Provincial Const. Caldwell gave testimony as to various measurements taken on the day of the accident, the distance between the crossing and warning signs, and the length of skid marks.

In the testimony Dr. E. Metcalfe of Lindsay, who attended Davies' injuries at the scene of the fatal accident, said that some trees, a school and a farm house on the north side of the approach prevented complete visibility. The usual warning signs could be seen, however, the doctor said.

Beef Bringing Record Prices

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. — (AP).— Beef on the hoof is selling today at near record prices in the Union Stock Yards.

The top 1949 price for cattle, paid Wednesday, was $61.50 a hundred pounds for prime steers. It's the kind of meat which is sold directly to "name" restaurants, clubs and hotels. It doesn't get into the butcher shop.

"People who will buy those steaks won't care much whether the price is $3 or $5," one livestock commission man said. "There's always a steady demand for beef from those restaurants regardless of price."

Percy Clark, a cattle feeder of Ogden, Iowa, sent in the top price load, which consisted of 17 head of Aberdeen-Angus steers. Clark is often represented at the International Livestock Show, and local traders thought these steers had been culled out from loads he planned to send to the show.

Test Blasts Show Dangers Of Coal Dust

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER.

BRUCETON, Pa. (CP)—Harry C. Howarth has touched off about 2,000 mine explosions.

No one has been killed or injured by the blasting he started 39 years ago. In fact he can be credited with helping to save the lives of thousands of miners.

Howarth, 58, is superintendent of the experimental coal mine operated by the United States Bureau of Mines in the coal-rich area about 13 miles from Pittsburgh.

In his most recent test, the explosion Howarth started shot a sheet of flame 50 feet high and 150 long from the mine's mouth. A hand car left just outside the mine's mouth was picked up in the blast, splintered into matchwood and hurled 400 feet against the side of a ravine.

The demonstration was put on for a group of scientists, mining experts and administrators who had just completed the three-week United Nations conference on the Conservation and Utilization of Resources, held at Lake Success, N. Y. They visited the experimental station during a tour of conservation projects in the eastern United States.

Canada Studies Results

Among the visitors was Dr. G. C. Monture, chief of the mineral resources division of Canada's department of mines. He noted that no experimental work on such a scale is being done in Canada but studied the United States' developments at Bruceton.

The purpose of the experimental mine is to perfect methods of cutting down mine accidents. It was opened in 1919 following 88 major explosions which had killed 3,130 men in U. S. coal mines in the preceding 10 years.

The climax of each demonstration is the coal-dust explosion. Through this example Howarth claims he has convinced thousands of miners and operators that coal dust suspended in mines is a deadly danger. He says, however, there are some who still are not convinced.

Demolishes Everything

The experimental blast is set off by a stick of dynamite detonated 200 feet inside the mouth of the mine which has some two miles of passageways. The blast ignites the 700 pounds of coal dust which has been spread thinly on oveshead shelves and on the floor of the mine between the exploding point and the mouth.

The explosion demolishes everything in its path.

How can cold-dust explosions be avoided?

Again Howarth comes up with a concrete example. He drops a cloud of coal dust onto an open flame by means of a blast of compressed air. the ensuing explocan be felt 100 yards away.

Then coal dust and rock dust are mixed in 65-35 ratio and the cloud formed from the mixture fails to explode under the same conditions.

Howarth said the precaution of spreading rock dust in passageways of United States coal mines now is in wide use.

Commercial Travelling Not Profession—Judge

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP).—Commercial travelling is not a profession, Mr. Justice Thorson ruled in Exchequer Court today, quashing an appeal by a London man.

Fred James Blackwell, a commercial traveller of London, had appealed for a decision concerning $1,208.64 he had been assessed as excess profits by the Department of National Revenue.

Blackwell contended that because his occupation was a profession he was exempt from the tax. Justice Thorson ruled: "It would be a distortion to say that professional extends to the occupation of commercial traveller."

Allow U.S. Tourists Bring $200 Goods

FORT ERIE, Oct. 27 — (CP)—United States customs officials announced today under new regulations effective immediately, returning Americans may bring back from Canada duty free up to $200 worth of merchandise every 30-day period. The previous amount exempted was $100. The regulation is expected to stimulate buying in Canada by tourists and American border residents.

The new regulation went into effect today. The visitors must stay more than 48 hours in Canada in order to qualify for the exemption.

Blind Man Faces Eviction From Small Home Then Child Wins $15,500 On Irish Sweeps

TORONTO, Oct. 27—(CP) — Eleven-year-old Eva Smith's nearly blind father faced eviction with his small family from the east-end home in which they have lived for the last 10 years—until today.

When the horse Meysey Hampton ran third in the Cambridgeshire race it kicked $15,500 into Eva's lap. Now her father can buy the house he has dreamed of for so long.

Joseph Smith, a basket maker with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, bought Irish sweep tickets for himself and wife and each of the three children. Eva's ticket was the lucky one.

The family was to be evicted Nov. 15.

SHORT SHORTHORN — Gene Holter shows off Ferdinand, one of the herd of dwarf cattle he found in a secret "lost canyon" near Jamestown, ND. Ferdinand is 28 inches high and weighs 225 pounds. Veterinarians say he's a perfect dwarf Hereford, about two years old. At that age, Ferdinand should be an excellent source of minute steaks and short ribs.

Special Problem For Radio Operation In British Columbia Territory

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27—(CP)—Mountainous terrain with isolated communities offer special problems in the operation of private radio stations in British Columbia, the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences was told Wednesday by the B.C. Association of Broadcasters.

The Broadcasters said the province's mountainous terrain supported isolated communities and allowed only small and low budget private stations. Public service often reached a higher degree, with more specialization.

It was the final day of the three-day Vancouver hearing. Today the Commission opens sessions in Victoria, B.C.

The Broadcasters' Association felt the ideal Canadian radio setup should consist of a private network plus a CBC shorn of regulating powers.

The Vancouver branch of the Association of Canadian Radio Artists said that radio—the CBC—is the only Canadian medium currently able to provide full-time employment for artists.

The brief urged the centralization of talent along with "definite curbs . . . on the importation of transcribed radio material from abroad."

It asked, too, continued CBC control of radio.

Contrasting views on the position of Canadian Arts and Letters in recent years came from the Vancouver branch of the Canadian Authors Association and the Canadian Quarterly, contemporary verse.

The former's brief said "the best in Canadian letters is frequently buried or lost in the scuffle of making a living."

Assistance to writers and a "sell Canada to Canadians" program were urged.

Critics Want Call-Up Halted In Great Britain

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON —(CP)—The "call-up," which channels Britain's 18-year-old youths into the armed services for an 18-months' hitch, is under fire from many quarters.

Newspapers are devoting special articles, soldiers and educationists are writing letters to the editor and politicians are saying that it wastes time, money and manpower without ensuring that the services are properly manned.

There is no indication, however, that the Labor party—traditionally anti-conscription in times of peace—is heeding the criticism and revising its manpower policies.

Britain, with less foreign commitments than pre-war despite her North Atlantic Pact and Western Union obligations, has more men in uniform than ever before in peacetime—770,000.

Her order of battle disposes throughout the world of 406,000 soldiers, against 197,000 in 1938 when she had garrisons in India, Egypt and the colonial and Empire outposts, and two divisions in Palestine. The regular army numbers 184,000, the National Service men 222,000.

Figures for the other services are: Navy, 144,000 regular, 15,000 conscript, and Air Force: 114,000 regular and 91,000 conscript.

Monty's Policy

One of the key points in Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery's policy, accepted by the British government in 1945 as the basis for its service manning, was "to ensure a small, efficient and properly-equipped regular force which could be available to proceed overseas at short notice in peace-time."

The critics point in answer to the government's difficulties in finding this year a mere 26,000 men for Hong Kong and two brigades for Malaya. They say that the regulars were too busy training National Service men to be spared.

They say, too, that the conscripts have been used in such a way throughout the Army that if National Service were to end by parliamentary action the British Army would collapse.

Strong Reserve

As a reserve of trained men, they say, the National Service men are not useful. During the last four years the services has released into civil life 3,207,210 men. Said one: "There are already in this country more trained ex-soldiers in their early and middle 20s than ever before, and far more than the Army could absorb within 12 months of the outbreak of a future war."

Rather than abolish conscription, they assert the defence minister should be more selective and take in fewer, using the resulting economies to make life in the regular army more attractive and stimulate thereby its voluntary recruiting.

Each conscript is calculated to cost the country £500 ($1,550) and of his 18 months' service the country gets six from him as a fully-trained soldier.

It is said that if "wasteful" National Service strength were cut from 442,000 to a more selectively-chosen 113,000, the £67,500,000 ($302,250,000) saved would enable the regular forces to make themselves more attractive to suitable recruits.

Hunters Swarm In For Pheasant Shoot

PELEE ISLAND, Oct. 27—(CP)—Hunters from all over North America arrived at this Lake Erie island, five miles offshore from Leamington, for the opening today of the annual two-day pheasant shoot. Leamington is about 30 miles southeast of Windsor.

Game officials of the island santuary—opened for two days only each year for the now classic shoot—report they have sold 1,000 licences. They cost United States hunters $30, and Canadians $15. The influx of hunters is greater than last year's 800.

Officials of the Ontario Department of Lands and Resources who supervise the island's game, say pheasants are more plentiful this year. On the mainland of Western Ontario the two-day pheasant season opens Nov. 4.

FISHWHEEL FIND — Four prospectors, lured to the northern part of Alaska by the word that gold was found there, set up their tent in the town of Fishwheel. The town was started — and named — by the prospectors themselves soon after the first nugget was discovered. These four men flew up from Fairbanks to the strike, about 100 miles nort hof Circle, Alaska.

Geared For War

LONDON, Oct. 27 — (AP) — Maj.-Gen. Richard Hilton, former military attache at the British embassy in Moscow, said Wednesday the Soviet Union is "one vast machine geared for war." Russian soldiers, he told the Royal United Service Institution, look on war as "inevitable."

Board Costs $117,993

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 — (CP) — Cost of the royal commission on transportation to date has been $117,993, Transport Minister Chevrier Wednesday informed T. L. Church (PC-Toronto Broadview) in the Commons. The commission was appointed last December.

New Assessment Is Made Of All Cobourg Properties

COBOURG, Oct. 27 —(ENS)— Householders and owners of commercial premises are receiving their new assessment notices this week. The new assessment figures are based on a complete re-assessment of the town. Under the supervision in an advisory capacity of the Dept. of Municipal affairs, the assessment is based on the latest means of compilation of assessment details.

Cobourg's assessment on property in 1950 will be about double that of this year but it does not mean that taxes are going to be doubled. Actual out put in taxes by the average householder will be about the same as in 1949, unless something unforeseen boosts the tax-rate next year. Assessments on some business premises will be considerably higher than the owners expected as previous valuation of Cobourg properties varied a great deal.

The new industrial assessment will be a surprise, it is foreseen, and there may be some assessment appeals from industries. Just what the new industrial assessment figures are to be, will not be revealed until the next council meeting. However the valuations were arrived at after a study had been made by Mr. Redfern of the engineering firm.

How it Came About

The need of a new assessment in Cobourg was revealed during the hearing of the appeal of the new theatre here against its assessment. The presiding judge at the time found himself confronted with a great variety of assessments and he expressed the opinion that a much more equitable assessment could be reached.

Realizing that the time was not far distant when the provincial government would want all municipalities valued for assessment purposes on a general pattern of consistency, the town council decided on a complete revaluation of taxable property and throughout the present year a staff of assessors and assistants, under the supervision of town assessor E. A. Hircock, have been busy listing revised property values. Under the new system of appraisal, every piece of land and every building was equitably valued with the idea in mind of eliminating inequalities in the assessment roll, so that every taxpayer would be paying his just share.

In assessing buildings, the cost of building in 1940 and 1941 was used as a basis. Present day costs are much too high but even on the cost as in normal years such as 1940 and 1941, the total assessment, as the new figures are close to 100% value while the old assessment ran up and down percentage scale.

Land values on the front street are going to appear much higher on the new assessment roll with the King and Division street corner heading the list. Town officials are confident that the new assessment structure will be appreciated once the over-all picture is considered.

Scots Miners Toil To Keep Coal Moving

POINT OF AYR, Scotland, — (CP)—Scottish miners from this Ayrshire colliery recently turned dredgers to clear an 800-yard-long channel which threatened to block export of their coal.

The channel leading to the Dee estuary became so silted that only the smallest vessels could use it. Private firms offered to clear it — for anything from £80,000 ($248,000) to £100,000.

A team of volunteer miners set to work. Working in treacherous sands and often sinking to their hips they blasted away 12,600 tons of sand and ironed out two curves and a mudbank. The job took 27 days and now vessels up to 450 tons can use the canal.

The cost: only £1,000, says the National Coal Board proudly in relating the story.

Must Adventure In Business St. Laurent Advises Chamber

By FORBES RHUDE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27 (CP) — Canadian businessmen have a call to "adventure" in their enterprises, given to them Wednesday night by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Addressing the annual dinner of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, he declared:

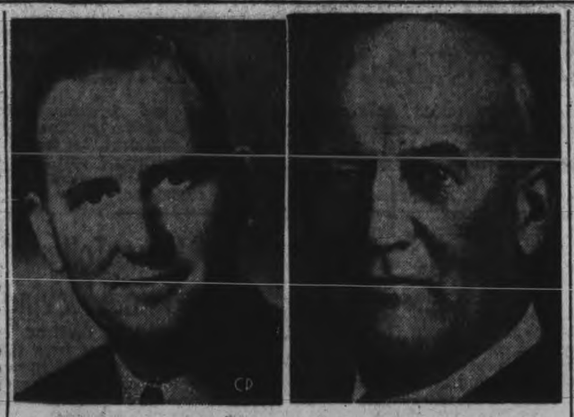
"For our own lasting security and prosperity, for the defence of the system of free enterprise which has given the people of this continent the highest standard of living the world has ever seen, it is essential for us, both the United States and Canada, to carry our initiative and our enterprise, our readiness to adventure, our 'know-how' and skill, all around the world.

"Militant Communism and other ideologies will never be overcome by retreat and withdrawal and isolation. Free institutions, free enterprise and a free society must once again become militant; even as Communism has become militant.

"Freedom should be the leading export of this North American continent.

"But freedom will find a market in other countries only to the extent that free institutions appear to those other countries to offer to the millions, and hundreds of millions, of men and women who live there, opportunities and aids to secure for themselves and their families some adequate measure of the material things without which life itself is not possible."

Mr. St. Laurent declared his belief that in Canada free enterprise and social security are not opposed to each other. He did not think social security had reached the point yet where it is destroying or weakening incentive or enterprise.



Unlimited Room

There is in Canada almost unlimited room for adventure and risk-taking in the development of the country's natural resources. He said he believes Canadian businessmen, by and large, still retain the spirit of enterprise.

The annual meeting also sets its policy for the coming year. It advocated, with opposition from some delegates, the single alternative vote in federal elections a ballot intended to guard against candidates getting elected by a minority vote. Many delegates felt they didn't know enough about it.

It opposed raising of radio license fees; urged establishment of a separate government body which would promote the fullest possible development and progress of radio and television in Canada; suggested a Royal Commission to make recommendations in interests of government economy and efficiency; and urged establishment of a coast guard service on both coasts and on the Great Lakes.

The Chamber elected as its president for the coming year Robert A. Bryce of Toronto, and as first vice-president Francis G. Winspear of Edmonton.

CHAMBER OFFICIALS—Francis G. Winspear, 46, (left) a partner in the firm of Winspear, Hamilton and Anderson and Company, chartered accountants of Edmonton, was named first vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. He is past president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and a provincial director of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. He is professor of accounting and head of the school of commerce at the University of Alberta. Robert A. Bryce (right) is president of the Chamber of Commerce for 1950. He went into northern Ontario in 1907 with his degree of mining engineer from the University of Toronto and three years' experience in Mexico. Today, at 68, still a giant of a man standing over six feet, he is President of two gold mines, Macassa Ltd., and Renabie Mines Ltd., a director of several financial institutions and industries, and a member of the Board of Governors of the University of Toronto. He is a former President of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

DOROTHY DIX

Second Marriage Is Often Not An Affair of Love

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 28 years old and in love with a widower of 42. He has three children—a daughter, 14, son, 12, and a little boy, 4. This man frankly tells me that while he is very fond of me he could never give me the same deep and tender love he did his wife; also that I would come second to his children in his life; that he would marry primarily to give them ideal home surroundings. He says he has seen too many lives wrecked by second marriages where all memory of the first wife and mother was obliterated, so he wants the memory of his children's mother to be happily and lovingly fostered.

Dorothy Dix

Now I love this man. He is fine and upright and could give me a good home, security and affection. Is it too much of a risk to marry him?

UNDECIDED

ANSWER: If you are of a jealous temperament do not marry the man, for a wife can get even more green-eyed over a poor dead lady in the cemetery than she can over a girl in her husband's office. And that's aplenty, believe me. Nor can one blame her when one contemplates the idiocy of men who are forever throwing their first wife in their second wife's teeth, so to speak, and presenting invidious comparisons between them.

Consider that aspect of the problem, but also bear in mind that, in reality, your husband's first wife is the least dangerous rival you can possibly have, and that a cold, pale, shadowy ghost can easily be routed by a live, warm woman. Just bring your common sense to bear on the proposition—that it doesn't really matter who was first in a man's life, the important thing is to be one who possesses him at the present moment.

Talk About Her

Don't make your husband's first wife a taboo subject. Talk about her. Tell the children what a grand mother they had and you take all the kick out of secret heroine worship.

As for the children, they will soon be gone. Ten years at most and they will have flown the home nest. In the meantime, considering their father's attitude, do not assume the role of mother to them, but of a big sister. Leave all of the controlling and disciplining of them to their father and devote yourself to winning their friendship. Every man who marries a second time is so grateful to his wife for not quarreling with his children that he adores me.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband is the best man in the world. He just suits me. But he has one characteristic that has driven every one away from us and that forces us to live almost by ourselves. He is an incessant talker. He talks fluently and interestingly and with enthusiasm, but he never lets anybody get a word in edgewise. People call once. They ask us to dinner once. But never again. I do not want to hurt my husband's feelings. What can I do about it?

E.

ANSWER: Nothing, I am afraid, because when people are enamoured of the sound of their own voices they are obsessed by a passion from which they are never weaned.

In reality, there are few things so wearisome as having to listen to a monologist, no matter how brilliant and entertaining he may be, and nobody's idea of a pleasant evening is sitting up in dumb silence listening to some one tell of his exploits or travels or relate stories. We want to chime in with the tale of our own adventures and tell our own jokes.

Nothing renders one so unpopular as to get the reputation of being a big talker. People avoid one as they would the plague. They dodge even meeting him on the streets because they know the endless talker will hold them up until they are ready to drop with exhaustion. But there is no cure for the talkers, because they imagine everybody is just hanging on their words.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married for six years to a man I have to support, who is so jealous of me that he won't let me have any girl friends or go anywhere. He says a wife's place is in the home and that I should have a hot meal prepared for him whenever he comes home from loafing around a poolroom, no matter what hour it is. What do you think I should do?

DISCOURAGED

ANSWER: Evidently your husband doesn't think that a woman's place is in the home during business hours when she is earning the money to support him. It seems to me that if you are the one who earns the bacon he should be the one to fry it, and that he should have a good hot meal for you when you come home. If you stand him, you certainly are a glutton for punishment.

Chrysanthemum Tea Hit Assured by 400 Guests

About 400 ladies enjoyed the hospitality of the Mother's Auxiliary of George St. Baby Band on Wednesday afternoon at their Chrysanthemum Tea, and contributed to its splendid success. The crowd exceeded expectations and proceeds greatly delighted those concerned with finances of the organization.

Evidence of the work it will be used for was given at the tea. Foremost is the making of layettes which are always kept on hand to meet urgent calls for needy children in the city or far distant. Knitted articles and flannelette garments are all handmade of fine quality material in attractive design. The samples displayed by Mrs. I. Howden even included talcum powder and a rattle.

Foreign missions are supported and studied by the Auxiliary as well. This branch of their work was represented by Mrs. F. E. gowned in laurel green velvet with matching gloves and half bonnet. She carried a shirred white satin muff adorned with bronze chrysanthemums.

The groomsman was Hugh Manley, brother of the groom.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's father. Miss Mary Robertson, aunt of the bride, wore a navy blue faille dress with gray accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Henry Manley, mother of the groom wore a black crepe dress, with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. During the reception the guests enjoyed two fine vocal numbers by Mrs. Hilliard Perrin of Cameron, "Sunshine of My Smile", and "Bless This House". She was accompanied by Mrs. Geo. Murray.

The couple left afterward for a honeymoon in Ottawa and points east. For travelling the bride chose a dark green dress and coat, with brown accessories, and a corsage of gardenias. On return the couple will reside in Peterborough.

Morton dressed as a Chinese lady and Kathie Hayman and Karen Gatfield in the fancy garb of Chinese children. Their presence in the tea room aroused keen interest in this branch of service too.

'Mums in white and American beauty shades were on the tea table highlighted with pale green tapers in silver holders to match the flower bowl. The white Madeira linen cloth was centred with a raised glass reflector. Handsome silver services complimented the setting and were used by tea pourers Mrs. E. Alton, Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. E. H. Brown and Mrs. J. R. R. Cooper.

Delightful background music throughout the tea hours was provided by pianists Mrs. Stewart James, Mrs. Art Bacon, Mrs. Ross Moore, and Misses Mary McBride and Eleanor McGee.

Mrs. S. J. Rowe, president, and Mrs. James Semple received the guests and Mrs. George Gatfield assisted them to find seats.

Mrs. R. Hutton was in charge of serving and was assisted by Mrs. R. Miller Mrs. S. Gilgour, Mrs. O. Mackie, Mrs. K. McKee, Mrs. A. Bacon, Mrs. W. Ward, Mrs. J. Telford, Mrs. S. James, Mrs. J. Thornburn, and others. Mrs. Tinney had charge of kitchen with assistance by Mrs. Eeric Mason, Mrs. Carl Lang, Mrs. Robert Parnell, Mrs. E. Lowes and others.

Magazine subscriptions are a new project taken on by the Auxiliary and they expect to be quite busy with this during the pre-Christmas season. A table attended by Mrs. F. A. Hucks and Mrs R. W. Parnell displayed the magazines they are handling and a number of subscriptions were taken during the tea.

A bazaar table offered many other suggestions for Christmas giving such as aprons, children's wear, novelties and plants. Mrs. R. Sager was in charge with Mrs. W. Scott, Mrs. H. O. Anderson and Mrs. J. Barnard assisting.

Mrs. H. Gray had charge of home-cooking and her seemingly over-abundant supply was completely exhausted at the closing hour. Assisting with the sales were Mrs. M. Bebee, Mrs. Lloyd Wells, Mrs. R. Colmer and Mrs. D McDonald.

Mrs. Reg Kingdon and Mrs. F. Sargent attended the treasurer's table.

Mrs. Arthur Black was general convener of the tea.

Business Women's Club Tea Outstanding Annual Event

The Business and Professional Women's Club tea was an outstanding event on Wednesday. It produced an affability between guests and hostesses that is not always attained though it is the aim of such events.

Strangely enough, the women responsible for the enlivening sociability spend most of their time in the atmosphere of the business world. There alertness and attention to duty are daily requisites, and it was with such despatch they waited on tea guests.

The Green Room of the YWCA was beautifully decorated for this occasion by Miss Anne Deyell and Miss Elsie Bennett. Flowers all around the room were baby 'mums in bright yellow and bronze shades. Fall red was introduced in huge bunches of barberry. Trailing ivy with leaves slightly browned by a light touch of Jack Frost's fingers, circled the piano and mantel, entwined with snowberries.

Giant 'mums were the centre of charm on the tea table. The tall bouquet of bronze and yellow flowers was arranged in a silver bowl, placed on an ivy bordered reflector. Triple candlebra of matching silver held lighted gold tapers and the tasteful effect was completed with a table cloth of lemon yellow damask.

Presiding over the silver tea things at either end during the afternoon were Miss Lilliam Hall, Mrs. Lyda Telford, Miss Margaret English and Miss Vera Heyes and serving were Miss Mabel Moore, Mrs. Pearl Edwards, Miss Mabel White, Miss May Stone, Miss Olga Haskill, Miss Vi Walsh, Miss Amy Bowles, Miss Besie Ross, Miss Vida Foote, Miss Myrtle Knapp, Miss Jean Gillespie, Miss Mina Edwards, Mrs. M. Louden.

Hostesses in the tea room were Miss Aleitha Davidson and Miss Leta Brownscombe, and the guests were welcomed at the door by president, Miss Sarah Eastwood and vice-president Mrs. Jean Watson. Miss Florence Hutchinson was at the treasurer's table.

A draw was held on a large hostess basket and the lucky winner was Miss Rachael Robertson of 313½ George St. Miss Helen Lytle had charge of the ticket sales and Mrs. L. Yeotes was selling tickets during the tea.

Some tempting varieties of home-made candy were for sale on the table attended by Miss Jane Saunders and Miss Jessie Martin. Bread, buns, cakes and pastry were produced in the members' kitchens for the home baking table and were sold without effort by Mrs. H. Dunford, Mrs. E. Miller and Mrs. M. Anderson. Being very busy women, some members were unable to take time for baking and got their donations in the bakeshop, but customers were not fooled and these were left to the last.

Manley-Robertson Two Ring Wedding

The manse of Keene United Church was the scene of a pretty double ring wedding on Saturday when Dora Mary, daughter of Mr. Wm. A. Robertson and the late Mrs. Robertson, became the bride of Donald James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Manley, all of Otonabee. Rev. George Murray performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a pearl tiara. She carried a cascade of red roses, and bouvardia, with a sprig of white heather.

Miss Wilma Robertson, as bridesmaid for her sister, was

Home and School Association News

PRINCE OF WALES

The kindergarten room of Prince of Wales School was filled to overflowing Tuesday evening when more than 400 parents and friends attended the regular meeting of the Home and School Association.

Mrs. F. Gray presided, and devotions were led by Mrs. H. Parnell. A short business period followed.

Norman Moffat delighted the audience with two violin solos, accompanied at the piano by his mother, Mrs. N. Moffat.

Roll-call showed Miss Burgess' class the winner with some thirty parents present.

Gordon Bullied and Mrs. Foster played two piano duets, which were much enjoyed by all.

Mr. Robert Bolton, principal, introduced three new members of the teaching staff: Miss Brown, Miss M. Pound and Mr. J. A. Hill.

Mr. Bolton spoke briefly on discipline, and explained that he did not believe in repressive discipline in the great majority of cases. He added that he would like the parents to feel that discipline was their problem, and not that of the school. If parents would realize this, and act accordingly, it would be a great help to both teachers and school. Before closing, Mr. Bolton said he would like to make the school a friendly place, where children love to come. One of the principle aims of school is to train children to live for today; to co-operate well with their school-mates and teachers at the present time, and if they can achieve this, there need be no great concern as to whether they will make good citizens in the future."

Parents visited the rooms and teachers of their children Each teacher spoke briefly on the work and progress in her particular room, and answered any questions.

A social half-hour followed, with Mrs. A. Kearns in charge, assisted by members of the executive.

MR. DONALD LAWLESS, 30 Dumble Ave., who received his Bachelor of Arts degree at the fall convocation at the University of Western Ontario, London, on Saturday. Mr. Lawless is on the teaching staff of Queen Mary School.

Bebop Shunned Dixieland Jazz Rules Basement

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, —Bebop is "just a horrid noise," says teen-age members of the London Jazz Club on fashionable Oxford street.

Every week they pay three shillings each to dance in a large basement room where bebop is banned in favor of the original New Orleans Dixieland style jazz.

The moment the doors open, Dixielanders crush past the box offices and down a flight of stairs into the long ballroom. It has subdued lighting and higly-colored murals depicting colored instrumentalists in action.

From a raised platform, bearded trumpeter Humphrey Lyttelton, old Etonian and war-time Guards captain, leads a group of specialists in the New Orleans style.

He and clarinetist Wally Fawkes are cartoonists by days, musicians by night. Two other members of his ensemble are insurance agents who practise music as a sideline.

The band blares, the floor rocks under the stamp of the dancers' feet, while non-dancing jazz fans huddle round the bandstand beating out the rhythm with their hands and feet.

Noise And Smoke

Soon the atmosphere is stifling, the air thick with tobacco smoke. But the Dixielanders don't mind; they are too busy.

"This is the music of the gods," said 17-year-old Audrey Bradshaw, showroom assistant in a West End fashion house. "Be-bop is just a hideous cacophony."

Like many of her companions, Audrey wore blue, calf-length slacks, jersey and bobbed hair. Male Dixielanders sported highly-colored pull-overs, flannel trousers and floppy bow ties.

"Be-bop is just a stunt," said 18-year-old Wall Danvers, clapping his hands to the strains of "St. Louis Blues." "Dixieland jazz has tradition behind it."

Only a few blocks away, on Piccadilly Circus, the beboppers have their own basement paradise—Club 11, where sax player Johnny Dankworth, a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music, leads a band of 11.

Like the jazz Club, Club 11 serves no alcohol, only soft drinks and snacks.

Most of its 250 teen-age members think jazz is "old-fashioned."

We miss your smiling face;
Where'er we turn, where'er we go,
We see your vacant place.
We miss you sadly, darling,
And breathe a sigh of regret,
For you were ours and we remember
Though all the world may forget.

"Wait Two Years"

"Others share the same opinion. They may be wrong but you had better wait for two years. Let him get a job and see how things work out. It is my intention to put Albert on suspended sentence next Monday and remand him to the custody of his father and the conditions are that he goes to work lives with his father and stays away from you for the prescribed time.

"I am not doing this to satisfy Mrs. Todd. I don't think she is entirely right in her attitude, but I am going to remand you, Joan Todd, to the custody of your mother. I hope she is influenced by the proper people and you are not to see him. It may be hard for you but it will be for the best. I think your mother could use some mother love instead of using that charge as a bludgeon," ruled the magistrate.

Mrs. Todd put her foot down when Joan and Albert asked the court if it would be all right for them to write to each other.

"I don't think they should be writing to each other. There is not much use of this separation if they are going to write to each other," she said.

"Very well," Joan said quietly. "We will not write." She sat down and tears were on her cheeks.

"I will not write either," agreed Albert.

"I'd like to take Albert with me now, if I could," the father said.

"I think he had better stay until Monday. It is only a few days," said the magistrate.

Albert and Joan sat huddled together on the prisoners' bench. Mrs. Todd walked quickly over and took her daughter's arm and left the court with her. Robert patted his brother's knee sympathetically and left with his father.

Albert looked very much alone. He dropped his head on his chest and cried softly. A drunk, who sat some yards away, looked at him curiously and stood up as his name was called. Court went on.

Tug Goes To Aid Of Freighter Aground

KILLARNEY, Ont., Oct. 27—(CP)—The tug Favorite left Wednesday night to aid the CSL freighter Burlington, aground on the southeast shore of Badgely Island at the tip of Manitoulin.

The Burlington ran aground on a 40-foot ledge during a storm Tuesday night. Capt. N. J. Gildner reported all hands were safe and the ship was in no danger of breaking up. The bottom of the $8,500-ton vessel, which carried only water ballast, was badly ripped by the heavy rock, however.

May Cut Off Aid To Greek Rebels

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Oct. 27—(CP)—A four-power proposal to bring peace to Greece by cutting off aid to Greek rebels was thrust before the United Nations today.

If the plan is carried out, it might also have the effect of forestalling any possible attacks on anti-Kremlin Yugoslavia from Soviet satellites Albania, Bulgaria, and Romania.

A resolution presented to the U.N. political committee by Britain, the United States, Australia, and China, called on all countries to keep arms or other war material from getting to Albania or Bulgaria until it has been determined they have quit aiding the Greek guerrillas.

There were widely-published reports last week that the Greek guerrillas—their cause lost—were being moved from Greece to countries surrounding Yugoslavia, as part of Soviet sabre-battling against defiant Premier-Marshal Tito.

Outright condemnation of Albania, Bulgaria and Romania is asked in the resolution because of the past aid given by the three Soviet satellites—which are not members of the U.N.—to the Greek guerrillas. Yugoslavia is believed to have stopped aiding the guerillas whose leaders sided with the Russian-led Cominform.

Consolidated School

at Easter of this year and that it had not been possible to hold the ceremony until this time.

Modern School

The three-room building is modern in every respect with green "black" boards, built-in locker rooms and portable individual desks of the latest type. Ample window space in each room with the addition of spotlights is a very definite change from the old one-room wooden structure across the school yard which served the community heretofor. It has been turned into a residence for the principal, K. Foreacre. He is being assisted in the school management by Miss Elca Narduzzi and Mrs. R. Turner.

In the absence of the Rev. F Wicks, Coe Hill United Church minister, the Rev. T. E. Hancock, opened the proceedings with a prayer and dedicated the building to the future of the district. Short addresses were given by Reeve C. T. Rollins, E. Sandercock, MPP, Hastings West, Roscoe Robson, MPP, Hastings East, and school inspector D. W. Simpson.

Before the ceremony, the school was inspected by audience and visitors and Mrs. Frost suggested to the children that such an occasion should be celebrated with a half-holiday on Friday. However, the Premier went a step further, not to be outdone by his wife, he said, and declared a full holiday on Friday. It drew the most enthusiastic applause during the ceremony.

Following the function invited guests were entertained in the Church of England parish hall.

Magistrate

Detective Clarke said he had searched the area with a rake and found the outboard motor which Whalen identified.

Bought From Fontaine

Joseph Feeley, next crown witness, said he had bought a motor from Fontaine Sept. 8 for $40.

"I know the accused and think a lot of him," Feeley said. "He told me what he wanted the money for and I gave it to him."

Feeley said he thought the motor in court was the one he bought from Fontaine, but had made no note of its serial number. He identified it by the size of the horsepower and the make.

He told the court he met Fontaine Sept. 11 and told him he had heard the police were looking for the motor. A day or two before he had given the motor to a man who worked for the Call-A-Cab taxi company as security for a $10 loan.

He said he went Sept. 11 in an Independent taxi with Fontaine about nine p.m. to the Call-A-Cab office where Fontaine gave him back the $40 and took back the motor. He said Fontaine left in the Independent taxi with the motor. Feeley remained at the taxi office for a time before leaving.

"On a Bender"

Feeley said he had been "on a bender" the whole time the transaction was in progress.

Defence counsel John W. Corkery argued that although only probability was required for commitment he thought positive identification of the motor by Feeley was necessary. This identification had not been made, he said.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said Feeley's identification was more than sufficient.

As is usual in preliminary hearings, no defence was presented.

YW Executives Attend Course

A YWCA leadership training course concluded Wednesday evening has given executive members of the various groups a knowledge of the background and ideas for future planning and expansion.

Mrs. C. K. Hurst gave the talk on history of YWCA and the meaning of a membership and Mrs. Paige Rowell outlined parliamentary procedure and the duties of club executive members.

Miss Margaret McIntosh spoke on public affairs in the Y last evening and Miss Marion Foster gave some program and money-raising suggestions. Mrs. Betty Killingbeck was chairman for the meeting and Miss Dorothy Graham led in a short worship service.

Miss Audrey Hustwitt directed an enjoyable period of square dancing with Miss Helen Kelly at the piano. Afterward, the Overseas Club served refreshments.

LINDSAY AGAINST INCREASE

Following the lead of a number of other Ontario cities and towns, Lindsay is opposing the proposed increased rates of the Bell Telephone Co. Mayor Moore said he thought some consideration should be given to making the telephone company a public utility. Included, however, in the motion of disapproval was the rider "unless good reason can be shown."

MAIN STREET RUMOR

It won't surprise several of the business residents around the corner of Dalhousie and George streets if another chain store rises up among them. One of the owners remarked the other day, quite casually, that the building at the northeast corner was slated for razing to make way for a new store. His information was obtained from another source looking for additional land needed for customer parking space. Rumors from that block were lively several weeks ago, but they ran out of anything looking like fact that might give them support.

DIES IN COBOURG

Morgan Newsom, Cobourg postmaster, died Wednesday after an illness of more than a year. Mr. Newson joined the postal service 30 years ago as a clerk under his father, Andrew Newson, who was then postmaster. He is survived by his widow, a daughter Adelaide at Port Hope, and a son Victor, in Coborough.

Building Costs Under Review

CLARKSON, Ont. (CP).—Nine professional office employees turn manual workers two evenings a week, and every week-end, to build their own homes at an estimated saving of $50,000. The money saved represents about 50 per cent of the cost of each house.

The men ,employees of a large oil company 15 miles from Toronto, have given up golf and other pastimes to build their homes on a co-operative money-saving basis. Ofter their wives and children accompany them to help with lighter tasks.

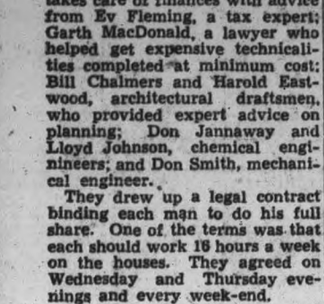
The scheme was originated last March by C. E. Campbell, an electrical engineer with the old firm. He was so disgusted with trying to find a home that he decided to take matters into his own hands.

Eight of his fellow workers did not hesitate to pool their spare time in the scheme. They are accountant Jack Runnalls, who takes care of finances with advice from Ev Fleming, a tax expert; Garth MacDonald, a lawyer who helped get expensive technicalities completed at minimum cost; Bill Chalmers and Harold Eastwood, architectural draftsmen, who provided expert advice on planning; Don Jannaway and Lloyd Johnson, chemical engineers; and Don Smith, mechanical engineer.

They drew up a legal contract binding each man to do his full share. One of the terms was that each should work 16 hours a week on the houses. They agreed on Wednesday and Thursday evenings and every week-end.

A record is kept of the number of hours each man works, and in turn he is entitled to the same amount of work from the other eight when working on his own house.

"We decided that each one should be responsible for his own financing," explained Campbell. "In addition, each chooses his own house plans and his own building site."



However, purchase of materials is carried out on a co-operative basis, often resulting in a discount when large quantities are ordered.

Runnalls believes that the system works "amazingly well." He said slow and difficult jobs, such as laying foundations, were complete in short order because "it doesn't get so tiresome when a gang work together."

Work such as plumbing, plastering, wiring or brick-laying for chimneys has been left for skilled tradesmen. Although each man hires the skilled help he needs, said Runnalls, "we usually hire the same man to do our work."

All it takes, they say, is careful planning, hard work and enthusiasm. But, of course, the professional training of each man has done much to help the group on its way.

130 Bird Types Found In Yukon

OTTAWA. Oct. 27 (CP) — A National Museum party working this summer in southwestern Yukon found 130 species of birds in the area, including several never before noted in that part of Canada.

The great blue heron, ruddy duck, Macgillivary warbler, downy woodpecker, least flycatcher, and old squawduck, were a few of the new birds discovered.

The party, working from base camps at Kluane Lake, Kathleen River and Carcross, also found 22 species of mammals. Among these were black and grizzly bears, moose, coyotes and red foxes. Squirrels, weasels, mice and shrews also were numerous.

Biologist W. E. Godfrey headed the party, which included C. L. Thacker of the National Museum staff, and a student assistant, I. V. F. Allen of Haney, B.C

Boys See Rainfall First Time In Canada

VANCOUVER; — (CP) — The soft patter of raindrops is something new for two little boys now in Vancouver. The night they arrived here it rained—the first rain they had ever seen.

The boys, Patrick and Robin Landes, came from their desert home in Talara, Peru, where the heavens send down hot, dry sunshine, but no rain.

The Landes family—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Landes and the boys—are here on a vacation. He is an oil company geologist at Talara.

Mr. Landes is a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon and married Mrs. Landes, who grew up in Vancouver, in Edmonton before going to Peru some years ago.

Whale For Exhibit May Appear As Steaks

THE PAS, Man., —(CP)— The question of whether to eat or to exhibit a recent gift to the third annual Northern Manitoba trappers' Festival is troubling the men planning the winter frolic.

The gift, presented by Adanac Fish Products, Ltd., is a baby white whale, now stored in a freezer at Churchill, Man., It was donated as an exhibit for the festival, which will probably be held in February.

But whale steaks are very tasty and the organizers of the festival can't agree on how to exhibit the mammal—in one piece or a steak at a time.

Labor Dept. May Step In At GM Plant

If Strike Prolonged Daley Hints Intervention Possible

TORONTO, Oct. 28—(CP)—The Ontario Labor Department may step into the automotive workers' strike at Oshawa if the work stoppage is prolonged.

This was indicated by Labor Minister Daley at a conference he and members of his department held late Thursday with representatives of the striking United Automobile Workers of America (CIO). There was no indication that the discussions had brought the end of the strike, called by the union Wednesday, one step nearer.

Union representatives asked Mr. Daley to bring General Motors management and union men together for talks. Mr. Daley replied that he had no plans at the moment to bring company officials into the discussions. He said the company and union should get together by themselves.

Spokesmen for the union aired aseries of alleged grievances, including charges of a company speed-up on the production line.

The strike of 5,200 workers was called in protest against dismissal of four union officers last Tuesday. The Company said three of the men were discharged for refusing to work and the fourth for encouraging others not to work.

Pickets On Duty

Approximately 250 pickets are patrolling the 18 gates of the Oshawa plant, denying entrance to non-strikers but letting fire protection men, boiler - room crews and plant police through the lines. Wives of union members have been distributing coffee and sandwiches on the picket lines.

The company says the strike violates a collective agreement intended to run until June 11, 1950. A company statement said: "This strike is a direct violation of the terms of the collective agreement and the law, as all situations now put forward by the union as reasons for strike action are capable of solution under grievance procedure set out in the agreement."

Truman Fires Top Admiral In Forces Row

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, who charged that the United States Navy's offensive power is being ruined under the unified defense setup, was fired Thursday by President Truman from his post as top admiral.

Truman told his weekly press conference that he is ousting Denfeld as chief of naval operations on the advice of Navy Secretary Matthews that it is vital "for the good of the country."

Matthews said in a letter to the President: "A military establishment is not a political democracy. Integrity of command is indispensable at all times.

"There can be no twilight zone in the measure of loyalty to superiors and respect for authority existing between various official ranks. Inability to conform to such requirements for military stability would disqualify any of us for positions subordinate to the commander-in-chief."

Denfeld himself heard the news when an aide handed him a copy of a news-ticker report. He was attending a meeting of the joint chiefs of staff. He had no comment.

Truman told reporters he does not know whether Denfeld will accept transfer to other duties or resign.

The demotion of Denfeld to unspecified "other duties" came just two weeks after the 58-year-old admiral, testifying on Capitol Hill accused the military high command of waging a campaign to strip the navy down to a mere "convoy and anti-submarine service."

Hope To Ease Hydro Ban In Time For Christmas

WINDSOR, Oct. 28—(CP)—Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, says he hopes to be able to ease hydro restrictions in time for Christmas. Speaking here Thursday to Municipal Electrical Association members from Essex, Kent and Lambton counties, he said:

"Given normal water supply and the continued co-operation of consumers, we are hopeful we can give merchants some easement in time for their Christmas shopping season. They (the merchants) have rendered a distinct public service, particularly during the last four weeks."

He added that "we believe we should be able to carry on without further restrictions than those at present in effect."

The restrictions, in force since Oct. 1, ban outdoor electric signs which use commission power and limit lighting of stores during business hours to one watt a gross square foot. Not more than 10 watts a lineal foot is permitted for lighting store windows.

Domestic consumers are prohibited from using electric space heaters and no electric water heaters may be installed unless they are insulated and equipped with thermostats.

Jail Priest 2 Years Must Pay $3,000 Fine

MONTREAL, Oct. 28 (CP) — Rev. Joseph Arthur Taillefer, Roman Catholic priest who pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to possess, distribute and sell narcotics, was sentenced today to two years in prison and fined $3,000 with the option of an additional year sentence.

Father Taillefer, a Vicar of Ste Madeleine D'Outremont church in greater Montreal, pleaded guilty three weeks ago. Sentence was pronounced today by Chief Judge Edouard Archambault.

There were five charges in all —two of conspiring to sell and distribute and three of selling. The sentence was two years on each charge, a total sentence of 10 years but all are to run concurrently.

A-Power Possible Within 5 Years

WINNIPEG, Oct. 28 (CP) — Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the National Research Council, said Thursday night use of atomic energy for peacetime purposes is making progress in the face of "hampering restrictions of secrecy."

In an address before the annual meeting of the Manitoba Chamber of Mines, he said Canada's experimental work so far has placed her in the forefront of the nations in the industrial field.

"Canada's main interest is in the peacetime application of atomic energy."

He said the director of reactor projects for the United States Atomic Energy Commission had described the Chalk River reactor (the pile used to generate heat and energy from uranium) as the world's most advanced.

Concerning the possibility of atomic piles for commercial purposes, he said a small power reactor may be operating within four or five years, after technical difficulties are reduced. But "there is no indication that atomic power will become generally competitive with ordinary central power plants for many, many years."

Say Conference Held In January

OTTAWA, Oct. 28. — (CP).— The Dominion-Provincial conference on constitutional amendments will be held early in January, it indicated today.

Federal government sources said they expected the conference will be over by the time the next session of Parliament begins late in January or early in February.

The suggestion of Prime Minister St. Laurent that a preliminary exploratory conference of constitutional experts be called apparently has been abandoned because no general agreement between the Dominion and the provinces could be reached.

U.S. Revokes Ban Against Professor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)— The Justice Department said on Thursday it has lifted a temporary order barring Glenn Shortliffe, a Canadian teacher, from entering the United States.

The immigration and naturalization service last June blocked Shortliffe from coming to the United States to teach at Washington University at St. Louis. He has been a professor of romance languages at Queen's University in Kingston.

The Justice Department said then it had information that his entry would be prejudicial to the interests of the country. The department said Thursday, however, this information was found to be wrong and the exclusion order therefore was revoked.

Reds Criticize Bing Crosby Angry Czech Fans Boo

PRAGUE, Oct. 28 (AP) — An overflow Prague theatre audience Thursday night burst out with a storm of angry protests when a program commentator criticized Bing Crosby as a "greedy American money-seeker who sacrifices his art for gold."

The Czech audience, including many bobby-soxers, jammed the little theatre to hear a two-hour program of Crosby recordings. It loosed salvoes of shouts and whistling in defence of Bing.

The crowd didn't even relent when the announcer said some kind words for Bing's rival, Frank Sinatra.

Some of the pro-Crosby feelings may have been pent up from the little cold war over western jazz which is currently rocking Prague's youth. Ardent Communists in the Czechoslovak youth front have been campaigning against jazz and jitterbugging as decadent examples of western culture.

Disregarding reserves signs on some seats for representatives of the government ministry of information, youngsters grabbed these and refused to budge. Many had come to the theatre direct from their factory jobs.

Before the program started, an unidentified announcer speaking over the amplifying system declared:

"Now first let us consider this Bing Crosby. He's a typical example of a man who sacrifices his art to get money. He sings in a way so sentimentally sweet it makes you sick (Czech expression unprintable.")

The audience burst out with whistles and boos, but the voice over the amplifier continued:

"And politically, this Crosby stands for nothing that could be identified with the principles of Jefferson or Lincoln."

More indignant boos and cries of "Pfui" from the audience.

Truman Has Refused To Meddle In Strike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. — (AP)—President Truman's decision not to intervene now in the big steel-coal strikes was expected today to bring redoubled efforts toward voluntary settlement of the two disputes.

Truman said the 28-day steel and 37day coal strikes have not hurt the United States enough to call the situation a national emergency. That time, he told a press conference Thursday, is still a long way off.

There must be an emergency before strike-halting court injunctions can be sought under the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Reds Build Theatres

LONDON Oct. 28.—(AP). — Russia has spent more than 280,000,000 rubles building up her network of movie houses this year, Tass, official Russian news agency, said Thursday night. The ruble is quoted at 5.3 to the United States dollar—about 19 cents a ruble.

48 Are Killed In Azores Plane Crash

Aircraft From Paris Sighted On Mountain, 2 Canadians Aboard

PARIS, Oct. 28—(CP)—An Air Force Transatlantic plane crashed in flames in Sao Miguel Island in the Azores, killing all 48 persons aboard.

The airliner, en route from Paris to New York, had been missing for eight hours when search craft sighted the wreckage on a mountain peak on the Azores Isle. Aboard the plane were a Montreal newspaper man, his mother, and French boxer Marcel Cerdan.

Air France said it received a cable confirming the disaster at 5.10 p.m. (1.10 p.m. EDT).

Rescue parties reached the remote island of Sao Miguel where the plane rammed into a mountain side and found all dead, the company said.

Guy Jasmin, editor-in-chief of the Montreal French-language newspaper Le Canada, was aboard with his mother, Mrs. Rachel Jasmin.

First reports from the Azores said some survivors had been sighted, but this was not borne out in an announcement of Air France here.

The Constellation, on a flight flight from Paris to New York, also carried the noted French woman violin virtuso, Ginette Neveu, and Louis Boutet de Montvel, widely-known French painter and illustrator of children's books.

Stories On Holy Year

Jasmin had been travelling in Italy and France to gather material for a series of stories in connection with the 1950 Holy year.

Cerdan's manager, Jo Longman, and his trainer, Paul Jenser, also were aboard. Cerdan, former world middleweight champion, was on his way here for a title bout scheduled Dec. 2 at Madison Square Garden, New York, with Jake Lamotta, to whom he lost the title in Detroit June 18.

The announcement by Air France said:

"At 12.45 French Standard Time (7.45 a.m., EDT) Air France received a message from one of the search planes looking for FBAZ (code identification of the missing plane) which said it had sighted the wreckage of the plane near Algarvia Park, 1,100 metres (about 3,500 feet) high, located in the northeast portion of Sao Miguel Island.

Rescue Party Sent

"A rescue party immediately left Santa Maria to search for possible survivors."

The rocky island is about 90 miles from the Azores airport at Santa Maria, which is some 1,200 miles west of the Spanish coast

Company officials said they had no idea what had happened to prevent the plane from landing at Santa Maria. However, the weather was bad at the time, they said.

Immigrant Statistics

MONTREAL, Oct. 28 (CP) —Approximately one half of the 343,0000 immigrants who have entered Canada since the end of the Second World War are of British extraction, H. C. Cresswell told a meeting of the Montreal branch of the Royal Empire Society Thursday night. Mr. Cresswell is the chief commissioner for the Immigration and Colonization Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Plane Crashes On Take-off, 6 People Killed

LONDON, Oct. 28 (CP)—Six persons including two officials of the Superior Oil Company of Los Angeles, Calif., were killed early today when a twin-engine amphibian plane crashed and burned as it was taking off from London airport.

First reports of the crash erroneously referred to the plane as being owned by Imperial Oil of Canada.

Killed in the crash were four Americans and two Britons. There was one survivor, an American member of the crew.

The American dead were identified as:

Robert Allen, about 45, vice-president in charge of Superior's foreign operations, I Angeles;

James Lewis, 40, counsel for the firm, Los Angeles;

Capt. Joseph Jordan, the plane's pilot, San Fernando, Calif.;

Andrew Cole, wireless operator, Long Beach, Calif.

The surviving co-pilot, Earl Oscar Sivage, was hurled 50 feet from the plane. He was taken to West Middlesex Hospital where a doctor said he had extensive burns on his face and legs but there was no anxiety over his condition.

Standing On Head

Sivage later told reporters:

"We were going down the runway when all at once the plane started swerving to the left. I found myself standing on my head with my safety belt still fastened. It happened so quickly.

"My clothes and my hair were on fire when I let myself out of my safety belt. There was nothing I could do after I left the plane, as it was all in flames.

"I had my head down watching the instruments for the takeoff. They were all o.k.

"I think the cockpit must have busted open, because I felt the pilot come over me.

"As soon as I let my safety belt off, I plunged forward and fell clear of the aircraft, but I fell into fire. I put out the flames on me by rolling in rainwater puddles. . . .

"The plane was on fire immediately after the crash. After I got clear, I picked myself up and went round to see if I could do anything for the pilot, but he was engulfed in flames.

"My pants were burned off.

"I am anxious to get in touch with an official of my company because I haven't any clothes."

One eyewitness said: "The plane seemed to get into some sort of trouble but the pilot appeared to be trying to land her. Then she bumped and burst into flames."

Operators Of Two Car Lots Sought By Police As 'Racket' Is Uncovered

Finance Company Advanced Loans On Cars Claimed Purchased By Fictitious Owners in Rural Areas

What is believed to be the biggest car financing swindle ever to be perpetrated in Canada came to light today when Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw revealed warrants had been issued for the arrest of Aubrey S. Hancock, a Toronto man operating in Peterborough this year, and Paul Imming, Peterborough, on charges of forgery and false pretenses. The victim of the alleged swindle Colonial Finance Company of Toronto, say these two men cheated it of at least $100,000. The amount may increase as the company continues to check its clients. The two men skipped town a fortnight ago and police across the province are on the look out for traces of them. They are believed to have left the country, and it is thought they may have fled to Mexico.

Police tell the following story of the alleged swindle: From April until three weeks ago Hancock, who has no relations in Peterborough, and Imming, in his early twenties and raised in this city, were operating as used car dealers, and received payment from the finance company for non-existent cars which they sold to fictitious people, on the instalment plan.

Using the names Hancock Motors and Imming Ideal Auto Body, police say, they forged agreements of sale which included applications for loans from the finance company. Hancock, said to be the brains behind the scheme, operated from the Midtown Motors car lot.

Make One Investigation

The finance company, when it receives an application makes only one investigation. The company writes a letter to the alleged car-buyer outlining the terms of the loan. A note is added that if any of the particulars are wrong, the company is to be notified. If not, the loan would automatically go through.

Working A System

If all seems in order a cheque for the total amount of the loan against the car, less the finance company's discount, is mailed to the car dealer. If for instance, the buyers of the used car were

Ontario Winning Fight Against Power Cuts

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—(CP). — Premier Frost said today that Ontario is winning the battle against further power cuts, despite a 10 per cent increase in overall distribution.

He said this is being made possible through conservation efforts of Ontario citizens. Officials of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario are quite optimistic" over the power situation at the moment, although early freeze-up of northern waters might change the situation, the premier said.

Navy Thinks Philip's Plan "Crazy Idea"

VALLETTA, Malta, Oct. 28 — (BUP)—Malta's British navy wives today described the Duke of Edinburgh as "nice and ordinary" following a dance last night at which he was the centre of attraction.

He left early after dutifully dancing with the hostess and the wife of his commander.

It was one of the few social functions he has attended since his arrival a week ago for a tour of active duty as a lieutenant aboard the destroyer Chequers.

Philip has announced his intentions of being an ordinary naval officer while here. But his attempts have been handicapped somewhat by the prejudice of a large section of the navy who think the idea is "a crazy experiment."

Socialites here are looking forward to a bumper Christmas party season with the arrival of Princess Elizabeth to join her husband.

Meantime, Philip plans to take up polo, sailing and other sports as soon as his baggage, sailing yacht and new car arrive from Britain.

It was not believed likely that he would attend official functions until his wife arrives because "two stripers" are not invited to them.

Can Take Case To Higher Court

OTTAWA, Oct. 28—(CP)—Dissatisfied with the size of last month's freight-rate increase, the Canadian Pacific Railway Thursday won the right to carry its case for higher rates before the Supreme Court of Canada.

In a quick decision at the end of a 3½-hour hearing the Board granted the CPR leave to appeal a point of law in the board's Sept. 20 judgment awarding the railways an eight-per-cent general increase.

The CPR, which with other railways asked for a 20-per-cent rate boost, wants the high court to rule on whether the board failed in its statutory duty by giving only an interim increase and leaving a final settlement until it has completed some further studies of its own and received the report of the Royal Commission on Transportation.

Canada Can Aid Western Union—Abbott

Say Importers Can Play Big Part In Easing Economic Crisis

TORONTO, Oct. 28—(CP)—Canada's importers can help unite the western world, Finance Minister Abbott said today.

It was in "Canada's interest" to buy more from Europe and the sterling area and less from the United States, he said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Canadian Importers and Traders Association.

But it was "easier to prepare blueprints than to build; it is easier to plan than to act." There were "obvious limits to what the government can do."

In a Democracy, governments can lead the way, but "it rests with the people to translate policies into action, "Mr. Abbott said.

It would be up to the importers —"in their day-to-day decision" —to help determine whether Canada can achieve the common purpose set out at the recent tripartite talks at Washington.

"Your efforts will contribute in no small degree not only to the economic welfare of Canada but also to the unity and political security of the western world."

U.S. Can Do More

While Canada had to step up purchases from the United Kingdom and the other Sterling areas, it could not be expected to do as much as the United States.

Canada's trading surplus this year is estimated at only "a modest amount," Mr. Abbott said.

"The Canadian position differs greatly from that of the U.S. where there is a very large current account surplus running into billions.

"The U.S. is in a position to increase its imports by large amounts from all sources and at the same time to make heavy investments."

Canada could not do his in the same proportion. It was in Canada's interests to buy more from Europe and the sterling areas to help these areas solve their economic troubles and to help the Canadian economy, too.

Pre-War Standing

Before the last war, said Mr. Abbott, Canada took nearly 18 per cent of her imports from the U.K. This compares with the current purchases of 11 per cent.

"The proportion of our imports which cover the Marshall Plan countries of Europe is only one-half of the pre-war ratio. If we could at least restore the pre-war relationship in the sources of our imports we would have gone a considerable distance in achieving a better structure in our trade."

In grips with an economic crisis, the U.K. already had taken steps to increase exports to the dollar countries by devaluating the pound by 30½ per cent.

It was up to Canadian importers to help the British earn dollars so that they could buy more from Canada.

Second Man Injured In Pheasant Shoot

PELEE ISLAND, Oct. 28 (CP) —A second man has been injured at the Pelee Island pheasant shoot.

Joseph Gardiner, 58-year-old resident of this small Lake Erie island five miles offshore from Leamington, was shot in the leg during the first day of the two-day-annual classic Thursday. He is bedridden today but his injuries are not serious.

Earlier Thursday Barney Storer, 51, of Cleveland, one of the 1,000 American and Canadian visitors to the island received superficial wounds to the head and upper body from a shotgun blast. He was flown across the lake to hospital at Clinton, O.

At final tally last night more than 8,000 birds were reported on the ground after the first day's shooting. Each hunter may take off the island a total of 10 pheasant cocks and two hens.

Labor Government Wins Confidence Vote, Opposition Strongest Yet

See Indications Further Cuts On Way For People Of Britain, Morrison Warns Government Means Business

LONDON, Oct. 28—(CP)—Mindful of the largest vote yet mustered against it in the House of Commons, Britain's Labor government today pushed ahead with its economy progam. And there were indications that further cuts than those already outlined by Prime Minister Attlee were in store for Britons. The two-day parliamentary debate on the government's belt-tightening program reached its climax Thursday night with Labor defeating a Conservative motion to censure the Cabinet's economy plans as inadequate. The vote was 353 to 222.

Some Labor opinion has shared the opposition view that Prime Minister Attlee took only half measures when he ordered an eight-per-cent cut in the country's spending plans.

Backed by Liberals, Liberal Nationals and most of the 14 Independents, the Conservatives rallied 10 more votes than ever before were cast against the Attlee regime. The result, nevertheless, was a go-ahead for the program.

Conservatives Abstain

The Conservatives abstained from a second vote on a government motion of confidence. Labor won it 337 to 5.

The London press today generally refrained from commenting on the vote. The Times parliamentary correspondent, however, said "this debate, like that on devaluation last month, developed a strong electioneering atmosphere and the line of battle in the coming appeal to the country are being ever more firmly drawn."

A general election is due sometime before next July, when the Labor Government's term of office expires.

A warning of further cuts to come came from Herbert Morrison, deputy prime minister, who after duelling with Winston Churchill for an hour turned on the government's critics and said:

Mean Business

"Don't assume that economy begins and ends with the Prime Minister's statement. Other cuts will be made in the light of reviews now proceeding. We have simply served notice that we mean business about economy."

Morrison's words acted as a cold wind on a crowded Commons which earlier in the day had worked itself into a genial mood over bantering exchanges getween Churchill and the Deputy Prime Minister. But though the protagonists displayed sunny humor, there were serious undertones that later reached a crescendo.

Warming to the attack, Churchill charged that the country had been led through "four years of unprecedented and unparalleled expenditure, of ceaseless interference with every form of private enterprise and activity to taxation unparalleled in times of peace and unequalled throughout the world today."

House Adopts Resolution To Change BNA

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP) — In a historic move, the Commons on Thursday adopted a resolution seeking for parliament the power to amend the constitution on matters under federal jurisdiction.

By a vote of 133 to 38, members approved an address to the United Kingdom Parliament which now has the power to make amendments to the Canadian constitution. A similar resolution must be passed by the Senate before the legislation will be sent to the United Kingdom Parliament.

Progressive Conservative and Social Credit members fought to the last to have passage of the resolution delayed to permit consultation with the provinces and further study by the public.

Two Independents, P. E. Gagnon (Chicoutimi) and R. Poulin (Beauce), joined the Progressive Conservatives and Social Crediters in voting against the resolution.

The CCF and Raymond Bruneau (Ind. L.-Prescott) voted with the government.

Lengthy Ovation

The vote, one of three during the sitting, was taken after Prime Minister St. Laurent defended the government's method of procedure in a speech that brought him one of the lengthiest ovations he has received this session. Applause lasted about three minutes.

He said he believes that a majority of the Canadian people support the way the government is obtaining for parliament the power to amend the constitution. Everyone agreed that the power should be in the hands of Canadians, but Opposition members were saying that there should be prior consultation with the provinces.

The Liberal party did not subscribe to the doctrine that the provinces should be consulted on constitution changes involving matters within federal jurisdiction. He felt it would be a very grave error to give control over federal matters to men elected to provincial legislatures.

A Dominion-Provincial Conference will be held, he said, but it would deal only with ways of amending the constitution on matters outside complete federal jurisdiction.

Want To Have Say

Progressive Conservative spokesmen agreed that Canada should have the power to amend the constitution, but they held that the provinces should be consulted on procedure.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver-Quadra) accused the government of trying to soften the provinces for negotiations to take place shortly on renewal of tax agreements. The government, he said, was attempting to attain enough power by constitutional amendment so that the provinces will be continually on the defensive at any conference with the Dominion.

Combined Amendment

One of the votes was on a combined government-C.C.F. amendment. Early in the debate, Stanley Knowles (CCF - Winnipeg North Centre) moved that parliament not take into its hands the power to extend its own life beyond five years or to change the provision calling for a parliamentary session at least once a year.

Mr. St. Laurent accepted the principle of the amendment, but changed it so parliament's life could be extended in wartime by a two-thirds majority vote of the Commons.

The amendment, with that provision, was adopted by a vote of 147 to 27. It was opposed only by the Progressive Conservatives. George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, had announced earlier that he would oppose the amendment because he did not agree with the whole constitutional procedure.

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) moved a second amendment asking that the United Kingdom parliament give Canada the power to amend the constitution only if the provinces agreed to it. The amendment was defeated 136 to 38, with Social Credit members supporting the Progressive Conservatives.

16 Communist Schools Reported In Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP) — A Toronto paper said Thursday 16 Communist schools operate in the city to indoctrinate high school students with Communist philosophy.

The newspaper said about 60 young people attended lectures Wednesday night at a "college" in West Toronto. Students had to be approved by the Labor-Progressive party before being admitted.

Copies of the Communist manifesto were distributed and a mimeographed sheet announcing future lectures entitled "Canada Independent," "Youth Action," "The Marshall Plan and the North Atlantic Pact," "The Real War Party," the paper added.

The Constellation was last heard from at 10:50 p.m., EDT, Thursday night when the pilot radioed he was ready to land at Santa Maria in five minutes. Then for eight hours there was no word. Planes and boats set out to look for the missing craft.

Normal Trip

In the message received just before the plane was due in the Azores, the pilot said he had "accomplished first part of trip normally."

At the time the plane last radioed it was going to land, it had gasoline reserves for four more hours flying, airline officials said.

Also among the 37 passengers was the famed young French woman violinist, Ginette Neveu, and Cerdan's manager, Joe Longman.

Cerdan was exceedingly gay when he took the plane at Orly Airfield Thursday, headed for his bout with Lamotta.

"With all my strength I want to get back that title I so stupidly lost," he told friends on the way to the airport.

"For those who say I'm washed up," Cerdan said, "I can say that despite my 33 years and my 110 fights, I feel myself at my peak, not a bit touched by age or the wear and tear of the game."

Competent Pilot

Also on the passenger list were a Mr. Kay Kamen and Mrs Kate Kame, described as commercial managers of the Walt Disney Film Company.

Air France said that Jean De La Noue, 37-year-old captain of the plane crew, was "one of the best pilots of the North Atlantic line." "He had 88 flights over the ocean to his record, representing 6,700 hours of flight," the company said.

Also aboard was Louis Boutet De Montvel, well-known French painter and illustrator of children's books.

Add 4,000 Beds For Hospitals

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP) — A $35,000,000 construction program to add 4,000 beds to mental hospital accommodation in Ontario during the next five years, was announced Thursday by Premier Frost and Health Minister Kelley.

Two new mental institutions will be located in northern Ontario with approximately 1,000-bed capacity. Patients from northern Ontario, now at suburban New Toronto Hospital, will be transferred to the new hospitals when completed.

Mr. Kelley said approximately 2,000 beds would be added in the Toronto-Hamilton area to provide for patients from the central part of the province.

Patients from east-central and eastern parts of Ontario would be accommodated by an additional 1,000 beds to be provided in the Kingston-Brockville area.

Mr. Frost described the plan as "the greatest program for the improvement of our mental hospitals and mental facilities which has ever been undertaken in this province or in any part of Canada."

Operators Of Two

applying for a loan of $1,000 on the car, to be repaid on monthly instalments, the finance company would send the dealer a cheque for, say, $850. In the Hancock-Imming deals, there were no cars, and the buyers were fictitious, the Company alleges.

The pair were smart enough to see that the monthly payments were made on time in the right fictitious names, police say. When a payment came due, one of Hancock's men bought a money order using the false name for the correct amount and sent it to the finance company. Thus the company had no reason to suspect any skullduggery.

In many cases real names, but with fictitious addresses, were used. They also used local convenient addresses, including general delivery as well as villages in the district, Bailieboro, Millbrook, Bridgenorth, Young's Point, and Lakefield.

Altogether so far, there are about 80 cases involved. To prevent the letters from the finance company reaching the people believed to be applying for loans, the pair had some of their men call into the various post offices and ask for the letters they knew were due.

The whole scheme came to light when, after the pair had skipped town, the finance company sent out letters asking why payments had not been made. The people whom the post office had been able to find in spite of the wrong addresses on the envelopes, wrote in asking what the finance company was talking about.

The company received a whole flood of these letters, but only one man, Aaron Nieman, took the due-bill and company letter to Peterborough police.

Both Hancock and Imming are believed to have left the country. The only local record police have of Hancock, aged 35, is a gambling charge. He was frequently seen locally with a couple of tough looking henchmen, police say.

Softball Supporter

The Attorney-General's department and the Post Office department have been notified. Possibly a charge of fraud through the mails could be used.

This summer Hancock was co-sponsor of the Uniteds softball team and was its playing-manager. He has played quite a good deal of fastball in a Toronto league.

Imming, a man in his early twenties, has lived most of his life in Peterborough and is a veteran of World War II. He is well known for his mechanical ability, as is his father, who has been away from his Peterborough home for some years, and his present address is not known.

When it was suggested that Colonial Finance Company was conducting business in a very loose manner, it replied it was the only way to do business. Nothing of this sort has happened to the company since 1938 and then it was a small affair.

Richard O'Brien, 512 Stewart Street, was brought to the Police Station this morning for questioning. He was an employee of Imming and Hancock.

Appeal Court Lifts Lashes From Sentences

Joseph Rail, sentenced earlier to three years in penitentiary and 10 lashes for assaulting and robbing George Harrison, Aug. 6, had the lashes eliminated from his sentence.

Carl Patrick, sentenced to five lashes and a prison term for his part in robbing William Edwards of $25 and a British passport by using violence, had the lashes removed from his sentence.

Had Four Reds Guest Speakers

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP)—Rev. Gordon Domm, replying to controller David A. Balfour's charges that Bathurst Street United Church Forum is "catering to the Reds," said today that four known Communuists have shared the platform with Premiers, Senators, Cabinet Ministers and business men.

"The Forum is an attempt to present under religious auspices all significant viewpoints," he said. "So long as the government feels that the Communist party is legal and free to air its views, the Forum will continue to hold the same opinion.

"Out of some 250 speakers in the almost six years the Forum has been conducted. I know of four definite and a possible fifth Communist who have spoken here."

Mr. Domm said that about eight or nine months ago Mr. Balfour "got a rough reception" at the Forum.

"But he asked for it. The whole board of control spoke at that time and Mr. Balfour was the only one who got other than a good reception. He made his listeners restless by his methods. They didn't want to know what he was against so much as what he was for."

Heavy Oratory Heard In Leeds

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 28 (CP)—The Leeds provincial by-election is entering its final phases, with barrages of oratory coming from the camps of the Liberal and the Progressive Conservative candidates.

H. Reynolds, Conservative candidate, in a broadcast appealed to the voters on the record of the government. He said the government extended rural hydro lines by "hundreds of miles" in Leeds. It was restocking the lakes and streams of the county and building a fish hatchery at Westport.

Farquahar Oliver, Liberal leader in the Ontario Legislature, said it was "just a myth" to say that Leeds should have a Progressive Conservative member just because a Progressive Conservative government is in power. He spoke in support of Ernest Miller, the Liberal candidate, at a meeting in Mallorytown.

Mr. Miller, at the Mallorytown meeting, criticized removal of cheese and hog subsidies. He said it would have been better for farmers to have had that money, which had been spent on cold storage and curing plants.

W. L. Houck, Liberal member of the legislature for Niagara Falls, said the Ontario Government, while under the leadership of George Drew, "set Hydro back 100 years" by refusal to proceed with the Des Joachism Ottawa River power project started by the Liberals in 1943.

Leeds votes Oct. 31.

Coalition Returned In Icelandic Election

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Oct. 28 (AP)—Final returns from Sunday's election for the Althing (parliament) showed Thursday that the coalition which has governed the country since 1947 is still firmly in control.

The Independence party (Conservative) won 19 seats, the same as in the last election. The Agrarians (Progressives) won 17 seats, a gain of three. The Communists won nine, a loss of one. The Social Democrats hold seven, a loss of two. Total membership in both upper and lower houses is 52.

OIL'S VALUE

The 1948 revenue of Alberta crude oil producers amounted to $35,127,751.

Bidault Heads New Government

PARIS, Oct. 28 — (AP). — France's longest political crisis in 50 years ended early today with the confirmation of Georges Bidault as Premier.

Bidault had formed his Cabinet line-up before the National Assembly approved him 367 to 183.

For the 50-year-old leader of the predominantly Roman Catholic Mouvement Republicain Populaire today's coming to power was a full circle of the political wheel. Head of the wartime resistance in France, Bidault was his country's Provisional President and Premier from June to December, 1946, and her Foreign Minister from 1945 until July, 1948.

Bidault's new government was based on the same coalition of the middle-of-the-road parties which have been governing France for more than two years. His program was almost identical with that proposed by Socialist Jules Moch and Radical Socialist Rene Mayer who had failed in forming governments.

Editor's Firing Causes Rumpus

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 28 (CP) —Dismissal of Editor P. Bernard Gill of the bi-weekly Western Star at Cornerbrook which has caused a rumpus among west coast trade unions, was broached on the floor of the Newfoundland legislature Thursday.

Premier Smallwood read a telegram from five labor union heads protesting Gill's dismissal. The telegram read: "Due to the threats of a prominent businessman here the editor of the Western Star, Bernard Gill, has been dismissed due to recent editorials regarding the cost of living. This is, in our opinion, absolute muzzling of the freedom of the press. The labor organizations are loud in their protest against such an undemocratic principle."

Mr. Smallwood said "this is a disgusting and intolerable situation. I do not blame the people of Cornerbrook, who have been compelled to pay the highest prices in Newfoundland. It could be no worse in darkest Russia."

The Western Star is owned by Bowaters Pulp and Paper Mills Ltd. Company officials declined comment.

The Newfoundland government now is in the process of setting up a Royal Commission to investigate the high cost of living in the province.

Policemen Need Good Temper Common Sense

A good supply of commonsense and the ability to hold his temper are two top qualities in a policeman, Chief Constable Arthur Webster of Lindsay told the Kiwanis Club at the Thursday meeting.

Chief Webster in his short address touched on the duties of the RCMP, Provincial and municipal police forces, stressed certain aspects of present-day training, and referred to the work of the Ontario Police Association.

As the retiring president of the Association he was particularly interested in its achievements. Its aims are twofold, he said: to better working conditions and salaries, and to improve the police services for the citizens of the province.

Can Bargain Collectively

The Police Act, legislated under former Attorney General Leslie Blackwell, does not permit the right of police to strike but allows them to bargain collectively and take any outstanding grievances to arbitration.

These concessions in favor of better living conditions also meant there was a corresponding responsibility on the part of police to raise their standards, Chief Webster said. He pointed out that there are certain minimum physical and education standards required, and the educational one, in particular, was gradually being raised.

While listing the requisites of a good policeman he stated: "If he is ever to be successful he must have a good supply of commonsense and he must be able to hold his temper most of the time."

Local Force Complimented

He complimented Chief Constable John Thompson of Peterborough on the high standard of the local force, and explained some of the problems that must be dealt with by a municipal policeman. Two very important things that consumed much of his time are domestic troubles and juvenile law-breakers.

"The police are beginning to make a very special study of juvenile problems . . . It is up to the service clubs and the police to work together and realize what the other one is doing in this field."

It is necessary for a competent policeman to be an amateur psychologist, particularly in understanding juvenile problems, he declared. All children need affection, a sense of belonging, independence, sense of achievement, recognition and self esteem. A law officer investigating a juvenile offender who finds some of these basic necessities lacking in the juvenile's background can begin to understand his motive.

Chief Webster was introduced by Jack Allan and thanked by Jack Sinclair, President Vincent McCabe was in the chair.

School Nursery Affords Trees For Teachers

Seven hundred trees were swept from the Normal school sub-nursery during the give-away program of the school last week. During the first four nights of the program teachers from the Peterborough district secured about 300 trees, while on Friday night, set aside for the general public, 400 trees were taken. There are now only 100 trees in the nursery.

Each year students of the Normal school celebrate Arbor Day in the spring by planting trees in their lot immediately south of the school. The trees are left there to mature and if the students wish trees to beautify their schools upon graduation from the Normal school they may have them.

Only Sub-Nursery

As the nursery is only a sub-nursery the trees are kept only for two years. Some were becoming too large and the Normal school staff thought that the nursery should be thinned out.

The sub-nursery school is a recognized feature of the Normal school and other schools are being encouraged to do the same, said Quirt McKinney, a staff member of the Normal school.

Some of the trees which were in the nursery were: white elm, white ash, silver maple, walnut, yellow and white birch, butternut, red oak, bur oak, white willow, elm, red maple, white oak, black cherry, red cedar, jackpine, white spruce, red pine, European larch and white cedar.

No Happy Birthday

Today is the anniversary of what used to be a proud day for Czechoslovakia. On October 28th, 1918, that country achieved independence, following the defeat of the German and Austrian armies and the collapse of the Austro-Hungarian empire. It was as big a day for the Czechs as July 4th is for Americans and Bastille Day for Frenchmen. How will it be celebrated in this graceless year for Czechoslovakia? Her great patriots and democrats Masaryk and Benes are dead, and their work held in little honour by the present Communist leaders in Czechoslovakia. Lip-service they may pay to the venerated architects of the nation, but not to the freedom to which these two gave their lives. Freedom is now considered undemocratic by the lords of the Czechs.

A Bitter Responsibility

Although parliamentarians of varying opinions seem agreed that Mr. Attlee's proposals for meeting the latest phase of Britain's economic crisis are insufficient, the Trades Union Congress takes an opposite view. It seems that the T.U.C. is facing a very heavy responsibility—the opposite side of the medal to the great power which it has wielded for many years, and particularly during the regime of the Labour Party.

Trades unions have, for a century, fought for better conditions for workers. They have fought successfully, and they have improved the conditions of millions of working men and women immeasureably. In the course of that fight the unions have gained great power, but they have rarely been called upon to relate that power to specific national problems; their struggle has largely been a class struggle. Now the trades unions, through their Congress, have to face the fact that they are on the top of the heap, and that they must make decisions which are not directed toward the good of a class alone, but toward the good of a nation.

The unhappy thing, from the T.U.C. point of view, is that the situation calls for the exact opposite of what the trades unions have been fighting for during the past fifty years. Having got better pay and shorter hours than their fathers would have dreamed possible, they must now agree to longer hours and harder work, if the nation is not to go on the rocks. It is no wonder that the T.U.C. hesitates to give its full approval to Mr. Attlee's very moderate proposals. They are making their first bitter acquaintance with the awe-inspiring responsibility which is inseparable from great power.

No Sentiment In Trade

When ragamuffins or bankers, individuals or nations do a dicker sentiment flies out the window. Trading is trading. We pointed out on Wednesday in these columns that Britain, bound to the Dominions by many ties of sentiment, does not feel fettered when it comes to trade. Why should she? A nation trades for her own economic good—with careful assessment of political aspects in which sentiment may be threaded—and not primarily for the profit of the other party in the deal. Canadians are hard-headed traders, too, and yet some are prone to prate sentimentally about the mother-country, the Commonwealth ties and the like. Trading ties should not be maintained to cater to sentiment; if other than purely commercial considerations enter into a deal, they are political or social, not sentimental.

For years Canada has been economically part of a trade triangle; this triangle has acquired almost the sanctity of a religious creed. Present financial and economic realities are removing the veils from the triangle and showing up its bare bones for what it is: a symbol of unbalanced Canadian trade. For fifty years Canada has been buying more goods from the United States than she can afford without sucking in American dollars from other than her own sources. The source has been Britain. For years Britain has bought more Canadian goods than Canada has British. She has paid the bill with American dollars. Now Britain has no more gold and dollars in her sock to make up for Canada's overstuffing herself on American goods.

If Canada is going to continue her huge demands for American goods—and it would be crippling to reduce them drastically—she will have to sell more goods to the United States, or find other markets for her exports which will bring in American dollars. Those are the hard realities, and sentiment cannot mitigate them, nor should it be expected to.

The trade triangle need not be shattered completely. Looking at it coldly, a balance may be achieved trilaterally as well as bilaterally, even based as it must be on the new realities. Britain is not completely bankrupt of dollars, and looks forward to the time when she will have enough for equitable dealing. The triangle which has been so useful in the past—particularly to Canada, but also to Britain and the United States,—may prove not only desirable but essential in the future. It makes long-term sense that efforts should be made by all parties to preserve its shape now.

Exclusive Soldiering

Trygve Lie, Secretary-General of U.N. has proposed that U.N. get on with the formation of its army. An international army under U.N. is provided for by the Charter, but U.N.'s military staff committee has not been able to reach a decision about it in the last three years. The army which the Secretary-General suggests would not be grandiose. It would have 300 men.

Such an army tickles our fancy. Would it put the Papal Swiss Guards out of countenance, the only other exclusive army with a semi-international mission? And how should it be uniformed? A Russian helmet, a Tyrolean feather, a British Sam Browne, smooth American jacket, Anzac pants, Punjab bandolier, Chinese boots, and Canadian stockings? We suggest Nicaraguan underwear for comfortable summer wear, and Byelorussian flannel for winter days. We are at a loss to say who should supply the gun for the U.N. soldier. Czechoslovakia might oblige with a pea-shooter.

An interesting point is raised, if the army is raised. If the 58 United Nations can get along with 300 soldiers, are not the armies of Canada, the United States Britain, and, yes, even Russia, not a couple of hundred thousand times too large? It seems to us that U.N. is setting a model of armed strength which single nations may be pleased to copy—a millenium hence.

Offending Fagin

An announcement was made at a meeting of the Canadian Jewish Congress in Montreal that Premier Duplessis of Quebec has forbidden the showing of the British film Oliver Twist in that province. The chief motion picture censor of Quebec says that he has not heard anything about it, and no doubt the matter will soon be cleared up. The reason why the Jewish Congress favours the ban is that the film contains the character of Fagin, a receiver of stolen goods who trains boys to become thieves. Although Fagin is several times described as a Jew in Dickens' book, he is not so described in the film; nevertheless, the picture offends some Jews, though by no means all. In Toronto the Jewish leaders who expressed opinions on the subject took a very reasonable view of it: to pretend that there are no bad Jews, they said, was as ridiculous as to pretend that there are no good Jews. Extremes of national sensitiveness invariably bring bad results.

It is interesting, in this connection, to recall that when Oliver Twist was first written, a group of London Jews called upon Dickens and asked him why he was caricaturing their people? Dickens was very greatly surprised, and replied that he did not consider that a portrait of one wicked Jew constituted an indictment of the whole race. However, he introduced into a later book, Bleak House, a sympathetic portrait of a Jew, 'Riah, who was victimised by a Gentile employer. When we hear of complaints about Fagin, we sometimes wonder why the offended parties do not trouble to recall 'Riah.

It is a curious characteristic of our time, however, that members of several races which have suffered deeply from national humiliation demand that their races should now be treated with very special consideration. Any strong criticism of a Negro, for instance, is likely to be interpreted not as a criticism of a man, but of all Negroes. Many Jews also show a sensitiveness which makes criticism of individual Jews a very dangerous matter. We sympathize with them when we recall their past sufferings, but we cannot agree that it is proper or desirable to exempt whole races from any breath of criticism on this account. The wrongs of the past cannot be set right by an uneasy and repressive silence in the present.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

QUESTION: Did Champlain pass through Peterborough in 1615?

ANSWER: This question is a carry-over from two weeks ago, when I gave a partial answer, and said I would pick Professor G. H. Needler's brain for the rest. Professor Needler has not only consented affably to the picking; he has given me an off-print from an article he has lately written for the review of the Ontario Historical Society (Vol. XL. (1949), No. 4). Professor Needler is uniquely qualified to make a study of Champlain's Trent route, because first, as a native of Millbrook and long acquainted with our lakes, he knows the topography; secondly, as professor emeritus of modern languages in the University of Toronto, he is fully qualified to deal with Champlain's French. He has made a close study of the relevant parts of the fundamental document in Champlain's own original French. What Professor Needler has to say on the subject may therefore be taken not only as the latest word, but as the accurate and final one.

THERE are several firmly-established opinions about Champlain's route from which Professor Needler removes the props. The variants are: (1) That Champlain went from the Huron village not far west of Lake Couchiching by portage to Balsam Lake, and thence through the Kawartha-Trent system. Professor Needler shows that despite the historian Parkman and others, Champlain did not go through Balsam Lake at all; that he portaged about 20 miles directly to Sturgeon Lake and the rapids at Bobcaygeon, and did not touch Fenelon Fals. (2) That having reached Buckhorn, the Champlain party turned to the right up Chemong Lake, and then portaged from it across to the Otonabee at Peterborough, and so missed nearly all the Kawarthas. Professor Needler shows this to be a mistaken interpretation, despite Parkman and Guillet. He follows the wording of Champlain's narrative closely, and puts special emphasis on the phrase 'tousiours auat' —downstream continually'. If the party had gone south through Chemong Lake, they would have been going up-stream.

For the same reason, Professor Needler rules out a theory held by many present-day natives of the district, as well as (judging from Parkman's map), by Parkman. That theory is that Champlain and his party portaged out of Stony Lake, and into the upper stream of Indian River, and so down it directly to Rice Lake. This would have meant that Champlain never passed through the Otonabee or Peterborough, and is of special interest to us in the city. Professor Needler points out that a portage out of Stony to the Indian River would involve going up and over a separating height of land, which is at variance with Champlain's statement that their route was continually down-stream.

AND so in that summer of 1615 when Champlain, some 15 French companions armed with arquebuses and 500 braves with bow and arrow, made the expedition from Huronia to the south shore of Lake Ontario in order to attack the Iroquois at Syracuse their route was as follows: Lake Couchiching, the Narrows, Lake Simcoe, portage direct to Sturgeon Lake, then on through Pigeon Lake, Buckhorn, Deer Bay, Lovesick, part of Stony, Clear Lake, Katchewanooka, Otonabee River and Rice Lake, Trent River, Bay of Quinte and across the eastern end of Lake Ontario.

Professor Needler has written: "From Lake Couchiching to the mouth of the Trent the distance is about 180 miles. Champlain made the fairly accurate estimate of 160 miles from the foot of Sturgeon Lake to the Bay of Quinte. The whole waterway appeared to him as a great river, of which the lakes were expansions".

The party stopped for a big deer hunt, so the Champlain narrative records. Professor Needler remarked on this in conversation with Alpha, and said he thought that this deer hunt (when the bag was exceptionally good and all had a grand time) took place in the area of Wallace's Point.

BLACK BRIDGE: Here is another explanation of the term which a gentle lady long familiar with Peterborough's ways gives: Inverlea Bridge was always called Smith Street bridge, and never The Black Bridge. There was a G.T.R. railway bridge across the river a street or two below the Smith Street bridge, and that was "The Black Bridge". It carried the Grand Trunk over the river and on to Lakefield; it was a trestle, wooden bridge and always painted black. It was taken out of use a long time ago.

DEAR ALPHA: Can you tell me what the score is for polio this season in Peterborough? Why all the hush-hush? Just recently read a reference to polio in Peterborough in a Toronto daily.

ANSWER: The farther a newspaper is from the locality of the events which it reports, the more freely, even wildly, it often states the alleged 'facts'. It never occurred to me that polio in Peterborough has been hushed up, for the reason that there has been little to report. There were in all five cases in the city area, and in only two of them was there some paralysis. There were no deaths. Three of the afflicted persons were taken to Toronto —one of them after the acute stages of the disease had passed and the patient had virtually recovered. They ranged in age from 15 months to 22 years. There are no cases now.

SIR: You seem to delight in a bit of etymology, so perhaps you will explain the word "news". How does it happen to be a noun, and is it singular or plural?

ANSWER: Words shift and increase through the years, their parts of speech—consider for instance the word winter, which is a noun. Yet we have "A winter day" (adjective), "The Agha Khan usually winters on the Mediterranean" (verb). "News" is a noun, and plural, but usually it is treated as singular. Compare the French word 'nouvelles' as a noun, which of course, like our noun news is the same word as the adjective. 'Nouvelles' is always treated as plural. Both come from the Latin neuter plural 'nova', meaning new things, news.

Here is a whimsical derivation of the word, put forward by De Quincey: "Mails from the North — the East — the West — the South — whence, according to some curious etymologists, comes the magical word "NEWS".

FOR THE RECORD: First snowfall—a mild flurry — came shortly after six Wednesday evening. The only sign of it a few minutes later was wet pavement. Persons filling coal bins in their cellars, those enclosed in windowless halls like Masonic Temples, and patrons of cloistered beer parlours missed it entirely. It is for their information that I here record the event.

GOLDILOCKS

Useful Words Being Lost

(WINDSOR STAR)

HOW quickly the English language changes was impressed upon us the other day. We had used a word with which we had been familiar since childhood, and were startled to get a note from the proofreader: "What is this? Not in dictionary."

Three of our learned colleagues, smart young fellows, also questioned its use. They had never seen the word; didn't know what it means. We checked with several members of the intelligentsia and, with one exception, they didn't know either.

It wasn't a "ten-dollar" word found only in a dictionary or in the high-flown language of those who pride themselves on use of words no one understands. It was a simple little five-letter word, a common household expression only a couple of decades ago in at least some parts of Ontario.

It was "forby" and it is in Webster's Dictionary, with an alternative spelling of "forbye." One of its meanings is "hard by" or "close to." The more common meaning, however, is "in addition to" or "not taking account of." Such as in "you are none the worse, forbye a scratch or two."

Farmers would use it in this sense: "There are 20 head of cattle on the back 50, forby those in the field by the barn." They weren't using slang, but perfectly good English. Little did they know this handy word was living on borrowed time, soon to become obsolete.

Another kindred expression was "fornent" or "fornenst." When we were a lad, we never thought of leaving a hoe leaning up against the fence, or a fork stood up by the stable wall. The hoe would be "fornenst" the fence; the fork "fornenst" the wall. No one had any doubt as to what we meant.

Still another word seems to be slipping into obscurity, thought not so far into it yet as those we have mentioned. It is "fetch" and it was expressive of so many things. It meant, variously, to go and get, to achieve, to reach, to deduce, to sell (as to fetch a good price), or to strike.

Or to attract, as "He doesn't fetch the girls like Harry, does he?" The use lingers on when someone, trying to be quaint, describes a charming girl as "fetching."

Language is for use, and as the uses expand so must new words be coined and the vocabulary enlarged. But we do regret the passing of once familiar terms, which were solid, descriptive words.

So the next time anyone tells us there is no such word as forby, we are apt to put him fornenst the wall and fetch him one on the jaw. With one on the ear, forby.

The Childish Mind

The childish practice of defacing and damaging road signs is by no means confined to the Ottawa district. Police authorities in Cornwall and other cities and towns have had to contend with this problem for many years. Usually, the main offenders are children who allow their enthusiasm for doing something different get the better of their judgement.

Often, however, road sign vandals are teenaged youths of the irresponsible type who do not stop to consider the danger their actions create for motorists who depend on the signs for guidance.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand ... For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures: and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures ...

Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead?....And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain....But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept....

O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law. But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. (I Cor 15: 1, 3, 4, 12, 14, 20, 55-57.)

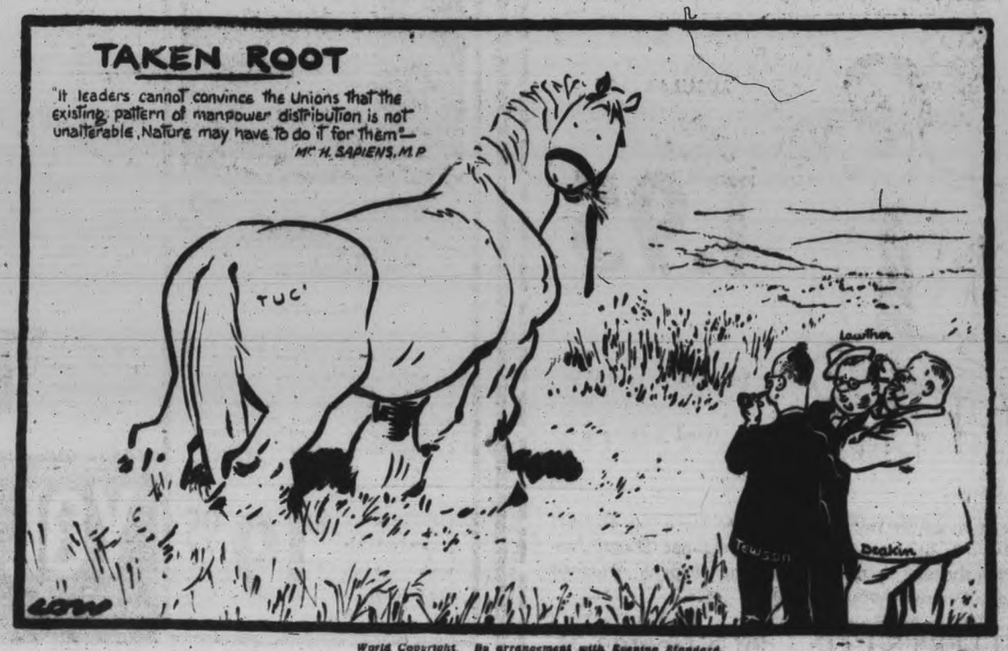
Letter To The Editor

LIKES EXAMINER BOOK REVIEWS

Sir: As former citizens of Peterborough who still follow hometown news with interest we receive, through the good offices of a friend, copies of the Examiner two or three times weekly. The editorial page, partly for its editorials, also for the book reviews and formerly, the journal of the late lamented Marchbanks, claims our first attention. Local history, written up and preserved in the files of the Examiner, should be of value to the new Historical Society, as well as being highly entertaining to all who know Peterborough County.

Having missed it this summer, we noted with joy that the book review column is being revived. All too few newspapers "have their say" about new books. The most one can hope for, usually, is a meagre outline of plot or contents, or perhaps a blurb copied from the dust jacket, with never an attempt at evaluation or critical judgement. The reviewers for the Examiner, it seems to us, are refreshingly original, truthful, and keen critics of current literature. We are sure they will not lower their standards, even though a few wrong-headed publishers have seen fit to withhold books. If these gentlemen were convinced of the high quality of the books they publish surely they would not be afraid of the critics' appraisal.

Yours truly,
. TWO EXPATRIOTS.



The Supreme Court

What matters to Canada is not what the Supreme Court will be like as Mr. St. Laurent reconstitutes it now to meet its enlarged responsibilities but what it will be like 25 and 50 years from now when Mr. St. Laurent has disappeared, when its responsibilities have become routine and when it or — the then Government—is subjected to extreme political pressure.

One does not have to go far back in the history of the United States to find out how President Roosevelt, if he did not "shatter" the Supreme Court "to bits", certainly "remoulded it closer to his heart's desire".

103 ON SATURDAY, Mrs. Margaret Ashby Jennings, Belmont Lake, is in the best of health and looking forward to a family gathering in honor of her birthday. She came to this country from Lincoln, England, at the age of eight with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson, who twice pioneered in this part of the province. They cleared the bushland to establish their farm in Clark Twp. and later pioneered in Pontypool.

Six Stray Calves Upset Family Life

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. Oct. 28 — (AP)—Six stray calves have upset the serene life of Mrs. Nelson Dinkle.

They also are eating like they want to get real fat, quickly.

Mrs. Dinkle, 30, and her husband, operate a small grain and garden farm and there are no facilities for the six calves.

Mrs. Dinkle brought the calves home a few days ago after she found them roaming along the highway. She put them in her chicken yard hoping the owner would come and get them.

When they were unclaimed, Mrs. Dinkle asked her lawyer what she should do with the calves.

The law relating to estrays—valuable animals, not wild, found wandering from their owner — says Mrs. Dinkle must care for the cattle for one year, if unclaimed. Then she can sell the calves, deduct the cost of their year's upkeep from the proceeds and turn the balance over to the county.

Mrs. Dinkle says she has no way of caring for them for even three days. She ran a display advertisement in the Champaign News Gazette. She hopes the calves' owner will see it and claim his livestock.

Mrs. Margaret Jennings Celebrates 103rd Birthday

HAVELOCK, Oct., 28 (ENS)—Mrs. Margaret Ashby Jennings, Peterborough County's oldest resident, will celebrate her 103rd birthday on Saturday at the home of her daughter. Mrs. Ezra King, Belmont Lake. The event will be marked by a family gathering.

Mrs. Jennings still enjoys good health and has not known a day's sickness since her last birthday. Her eyesight is good and she enjoys reading the daily newspaper and listening to church services over the radio.

An expert needlewoman she is able to attend to all her sewing requirements. She suffered a broken hip several years ago which makes it rather difficult to get around.

Mrs. Jennings has been resident of this district for 56 years. She was born in Lincoln, England, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson and came to Canada with her parents at the age of eight when the family settled in the township of Clark near Port Hope. Her parents hewed their farm from bushland.

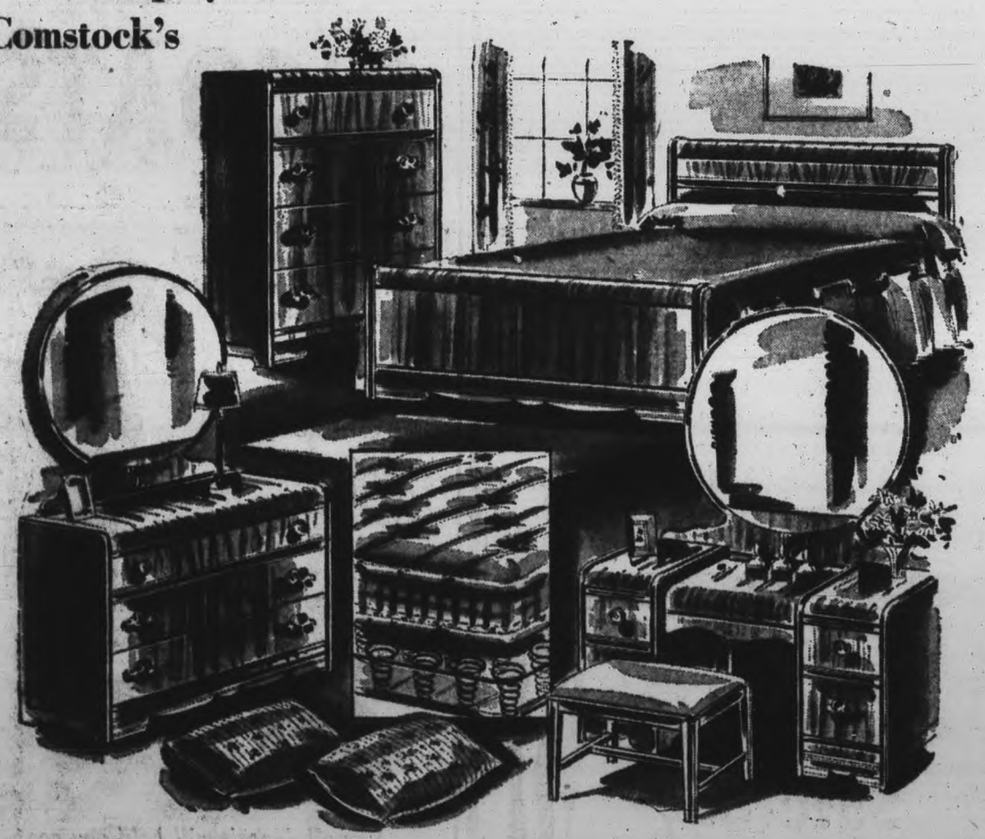
Later moving to what is now Pontypool, they were again pioneer settlers. At the age of 20 Mrs. Jenning married Charles Ashby who died 32 years ago. Several years later she married Simon Jennings who died in 1927.

Mrs. Jennings has a daughter and a son living. They are Mrs. Ezra King of Belmont Lake with whom she lives, and Thomas Ashby of Peterborough. She has eight grandchildren Mrs. Wilbert Barton (Hilda Ashby) and Mrs. Edward Henderson (Lois King) of Havelock; Mrs. George Boyd (Aileen Ashby) of West Hill; Clyde Ashby of Peterborough; Mrs. Ray Forbes (Ila King); Mrs. Edward Barker (Wilma Ashby); Mrs. Eric Ellis (Olga Ashby); Mrs. Raudal Anderson (Thelma Ashby) of Belmont Township. She has also eleven grandchildren.

MP Requests More Facilities

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP)—John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member for the Saskatchewan constituency of Lake Centre, yesterday urged that increased research facilities be made available to the opposition parties in parliament.

Research facilities are needed so the opposition "can discharge its rights to the responsibilities of all Canadians," Mr. Diefenbaker said in an address prepared for delivery before the Empire Club at Toronto.



If the opposition failed to discharge its rights "the result is dictatorship."

"There have been tremendous changes in government," said Mr. Diefenbaker. "Complex administrative machinery has been set up and no matter how industrious a member may be, it is impossible to master all problems that come before parliament. The opposition should have outstanding research trained experts to assist it, paid for by the state."

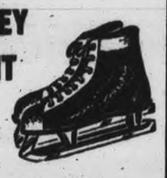
Aussie Champ Beats Taylor In Hot Pro Wrestling Bout

Burly and bad-tempered Fred Atkins, Australian heavy mat champion, hung another scalp on his belt in the main bout of the pro grapple card at the Brock Arena last night. He took the final fall in four minutes over Frank Taylor when he clipped Frank on a third flying tackle, threw him into the ring turnbuckles and then pinned him. Earlier Taylor had roughed the Aussie up with smashes, head rasps, fists and tackles. It wasn't a popular fall.

The pair put on a hard bout, with the agile Taylor, weighing 228, to 250 for Atkins, winning the opening fall in 15 minutes, with a reverse body scissors. He got it off Atkins' back when he crossed him up on a series of slams. He held his own the first part of the fray but the stronger and rougher Atkins kept wearing him down, always getting in a few licks after being warned to break by Referee Bunny Dunlop. Atkins was not liked and Taylor got the cheers from the crowd throughout. Dunlop was unpopular, too.



Atkins evened the score at 17½ minutes in the second round, bulldogging his opponent brutally several times into the turnbuckles and making him concede with a punishing hammerlock. The referee appeared afraid to yank Atkins off illegal holds, though he pulled Taylor away whenever he felt like it. Fred was out of the ring once when Taylor put on a spurt to lead, but he forged in front with rough tactics and superior weight and strength. He fought with fury when he saw his opponent weakening and Taylor came out of it with a sore left arm and shoulder.

An unusually fine semi-final was served up between Seelie Samara, 240, and the Red Devil, a pound less. It ended in 19 minutes in victory for the colored husky, who peeled the mask off the red one, showing him to be Red O'Malley. Seeley won it when he came over the ropes in a flying catapult hold. They were at it hot and heavy all the way. Both tried their specialties, but Dunlop took a dim view, claiming the "devil dance head twist" was a choke hold and Samara's head smash was butting. Seelie was deceptively fast for his bulk, escaping holds with sudden twists, spins and trips in jig time, missing a tackle once with a fancy flying leg scissors. He was popular as the masked one pulled a lot of villanous stuff. The fans liked the go and the decision.

A Rough Go

Pat Flanagan, 224, and the 235-pound rough Angelo Cistoldi went to a prelim draw, both being counted out of the ring in 22 minutes. They were fighting furiously among the fans and they resumed it upon leaving the ring after the bout. They started with straight grappling but Angelo started to play it nasty soon and it got real warm with the place in an uproar. The referee threw his weight around, too, cuffing grapplers when they were slow breaking, and a large time was had by all in the sizzling opening bout of a good card.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Margaret McBurney, captain of the Edmonton Grads, unconquerable girls' basketball team, retired 14 years ago today after 10 years as the team's captain. She had played 159 games, scoring 2,064 points. The Grads passed out of existence shortly after celebrating their 25th anniversary in 1939.

Stewart Leads PCVS Juniors With 50 Points

In four PCVS league games for the juniors Bill Stewart, halfback, rolled up 10 touchdowns for 50 points to lead the scoring in the league. Bryon Young, the PCVS quarterback, trailed Stewart with 31 points, 16 single points and three touchdowns. Fowler, with 20 points and Langhorne with 15 are third and fourth in the PCVS scoring.

In rolling to four league victories in four starts the PCI'ers scored 143 points having 22 against them. In their three exhibition games they were outscored on the totals 55 to 26.

St Peter's High School, in winning one and losing three league games scored 38 points while the opposition scored 112. In two exhibition games St. Peter's outscored their opposition 50 to 21.

Lindsay Collegiate juniors who finished with one victory and three defeats in league play were outscored 78 to 31.

School Teams Tie To Open Playoffs

After battling two hours at King Edward Park Thursday afternoon, including two overtime periods, Prince of Wales and King George soccer elevens failed to declare a winner to meet Central in the elimination series; then Confederation in the final game for the senior soccer championship of the Public School League. They will meet again, next week, date not selected. The game ended 3-3.

Prince of Wales introduced a close-passing combination that proved successful when Pagett shot into goal with Downer opening the scoring. A little later, a King George player put the ball through his own goal from a flag-kick taken by Downer. A foul kick taken by Evans rattled the inside of the upright to make it 3-0 at the interval. King George on resuming, eclipsed the Westenders in every department by their systematic play that finally resulted in Withers putting the ball in below the cross-bar, a shot the goalie partially cleared.

At this point Barker, King George, was chased by the referee. Quickly Withers went back to register the second goal. Then the climax arrived when Withers converted from a spot kick to get the equalizer thereby forcing them to go into overtime and it was unproductive of goals and finally declared enough at six o'clock. They started at four prompt.

Prince of Wales—D. Coit, goal; H. Bowes and C. Whitney, full backs; B. Spiers, G. Pagett and J. Heron, half backs; W. Downer, L. Barrie, P. Evans, B. Faiers and K. Lowell, forwards. Subs: D. Livingston, H. Pullybank and B. Dummitt.

King George—P. McIlmoyle, goal; D. Barclay and D. Fell, full backs; L. McKenzie, R. Fuller and R. McKenzie, half backs; G. Barker, B. Simpson, R. Withers, B. Fairs and D. Crowder, forwards. Subs: O. Thompson, C. Butcher, F. Johnson, D. Roote.

Referee—Mr. Burns and Mr. Patterson.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

There are some fine bespectacled athletes in every line of sports. Jim Swanston, ex-PCVS hustler, is playing for Queen's juniors this semester and doing well. In his first term at college, he thought he'd go out for junior. The coach frowned when he saw him wearing glasses and said nothing doing. Jim argued that he'd worn them in PCVS play and that they were unbreakable specs. He had to go before the medico, who threw the glasses against the wall to test them—when they didn't break, Jim got the green light. He'd be up with the intermediate squad but for eight ends being cut off the senior team this season and dropping back. He says the ex-PCVS boys have found they were better blockers and knew more football than most other high school grads, speaking well for the coaching here.

A copy to hand of the booklet "How We Play Hockey" by the NHL all-stars, edited by scribe Andy O'Brien of Montreal. Good stuff, and these aces actually differ on some points of play. Wingmen Conacher and Richard don't agree on the question of high-speed passing or on how to dodge a persistent cover. Sid Abel says it's wrong to regard today's centre as primarily a playmaker. Defencemen Stewart and Quackenbush have their own angles on how to hand out a bodycheck or skate a rusher off. And Bill Durnan deals in interesting fashion on today's busy goaltending job. It's worth reading.

St. Mike's A-Comin'

Puck fans will get a peek at the 1949-50 local junior "B" team tomorrow night at 8.30 in Civic Arena when the Oddfellows play St. Mike's Buzzers. Father Flanagan will bring down his full junior "B" team, which plays in the Varsity grouping, the boys who are being prepped for junior "A" play with St. Mike's Majors. They dish up a speedy, wide-open brand of hockey, and it should be a real test for the IOOF outfit. The latter have some of last year's good crew—which ousted Oshawa—plus a raft of newcomers of the city and district. Everyone knows that the juniors dish up more action than older players.

* * * * * *

Coach Bun Kingdon has Red Wasson of Lakefield (who had a Galt trial) and a sub named Hahn for goal. On defence are Lewis (who played senior lacrosse here) and Fennell of Norwood, along with Millar, Wasson and Shearer. One line includes Birch, Floyd and Wyatt of last season, while the Stirling TVL line of Desjardin, and the Mason brothers form another. Then, there's Pammett, Doris and Baker of Haliburton—who had an Oshawa tryout. Extra forwards are Robinson, Casey and Douglas. We don't know all their first names yet. This will be pretty much the Triple Link lineup for the season coming up, and it has a mixture of huskies, lighter chaps and experienced players. Speed and hustle are indicated in their workouts.

Lakefield Enters OHA

Lakefield plans to enter an OHA intermediate "B" club this season, dropping out of the Trent Valley League. Most of last year's good team available, plus about four newcomers, so it'll be a strong squad in a district or Central Ontario grouping. Percy Nicholls will be playing coach, with Ernie Nicholls also moving over from 'Caygeon to play. Percy is arena manager with Ernie there as ice-maker. Two valuable additions to any team, and our Legionnaires could use those two former members of that club. Tom Staves is prexy of the Lakefield Hockey Club this season, with Chief Garnet Samis secretary-treasurer, and George Chappell manager. The arena is being painted up and will be all ready for ice soon. The small debt still due on its should be wiped out easily this winter.

Tubs full of action in the three pro mat bouts at the Brock last eve. Flanagan and Cistoldi opened it with a hot one that wound up among the spectators, going to a scoreless draw. Head-butting, colored Seelie Samara unmasked the devil-dancing Red Devil in the semi-final and it comes out Red O'Malley. Main go saw Fred Atkins, Aussie champ, beat Frank Taylor with a lot of rough stuff. He got away with it, too, as Referee Bunny Dunlop—himself a wrestler who takes no nonsense from most matmen—seemed afraid of Atkins. It is a fact that the Australian is not only powerful and ruthless in the ring but real short-tempered. No one kids him between bouts. And Dunlop had a healthy respect for that temper.

Race Showdown Coming In Pimlico Today

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28—(AP)—The showdown in 1949 horse racing is all set today in the Pimlico Special.

At stake for the taking by Coaltown or Capot are the year's major laurels of the American turf. Everything has been thrown into the pot for this one race.

Both trainers, John Gaver of Capot, and Jimmy Jones of Coaltown, said it probably will be the last start of the year for their colts.

So the special is it, a final meeting head to head with the track to themselves between the leading contenders for the championship.

Calumet Farm agreed to make it all or nothing in honors as well as the $15,000 special purse which goes entirely to the winner. They had a pat hand in Ponder and Coaltown but consented under presure by the Maryland Jockey Club to break it up and let Capot in.

Toe-to-Toe Race

Caver told the club that if both the Calumet eligibles started he would have Capot sit it out. Calumet was informed of the Greentree stable's stand and grudgingly passed up the third walkout in the special which it has won five out of 12 times.

All signs point to a toe-to-toe race for the entire 1 3-16-mile special. Both thoroughbreds are record-breakers.

Capot set the Pimlico track mark of 1.56 for the special distance in the Preakness last spring. Coaltown never has raced at Pimlico before, but he holds the world's record for the mile and has equalled the world standard for two other distances.

The two will go to the port at 5.15 p.m. EDT with jockey Steve Brooks on Coaltown and Toronto-born Ted Atkinson on Capot. Coaltown will carry 126 pounds and Capot has been assigned 120.

Leafs Blank Canadiens 2-0 As Red Wings Edge Hawks

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The still - young National Hockey League race has tightened up its diapers. Things are getting rugged.

The six clubs have just started biting into a 70-game schedule and already there's a miniature war for the lead—two teams are tied for first place and three more for second place—one point behind.

Thursday night, Detroit Red Wings moved into a first-place tie with Montreal Canadiens with a 3-1 victory over the winless Black Hawks at Chicago and Toronto Maple Leafs gave netminder Turk Broda his first shutout in five games by beating the Canadiens 2-0 at Montreal.

Victory for the Leafs gave them six points—with two victories and two ties—and a second-place deadlock with the idle Boston Bruins and New York Rangers.

The situation may be unravelled Saturday when all six clubs move into action. The Bruins meet the Leafs at Toronto, the Red Wings clash with the Canadiens at Montreal and the Black Hawks will be gunning for their first victory in six starts when they meet the Rangers at New York.

Robbed of Shutout

At Chicago, 12,819 fans, one of the smallest crowds in several years, saw Detroit netminder Harry Lumley robbed of a shutout midway through the final period on a goal by Doug Bentley. Lumley had 29 saves to 25 for opposing goalie Frankie Brimsek.

The Red Wings went ahead before the second period was a minute old when Al Dewsbury plunked the buck past Brimsek on a pass from Gord Howe. At 10.31 Howe made it 2-0 when he streaked in from mid-ice on a solo dash and beat Brimsek cleanly.

Detroit made it 3-0 at 2.24 of th final period. Sid Abel picked up a loose puck and passed to Ted Lindsay who scored.

At Montreal, Big Bill Durnan in the Montreal nets held up the whole Canadien team for 58 minutes before he gave way to the hard-pressing Leafs.

Penalty Break

The break came at 18.13 of the last period after Ken Mosdell of Montreal drew a major penalty for high-sticking Bill Juzda and drawing blood.

Fleming MacKell blasted the puck past Durnan on a close-in shot when he picked up the loose disc from well-inside the Montreal blue line.

Still shorthanded, the Canadiens pulled Durnan and sent five forwards into the battle. But Harry Watson got the puck in his own defence area, skated over the blue line and sent a long shot into the empty Montreal cage.

Capitals Edge Buffalo 2-1

By The Canadian Press.

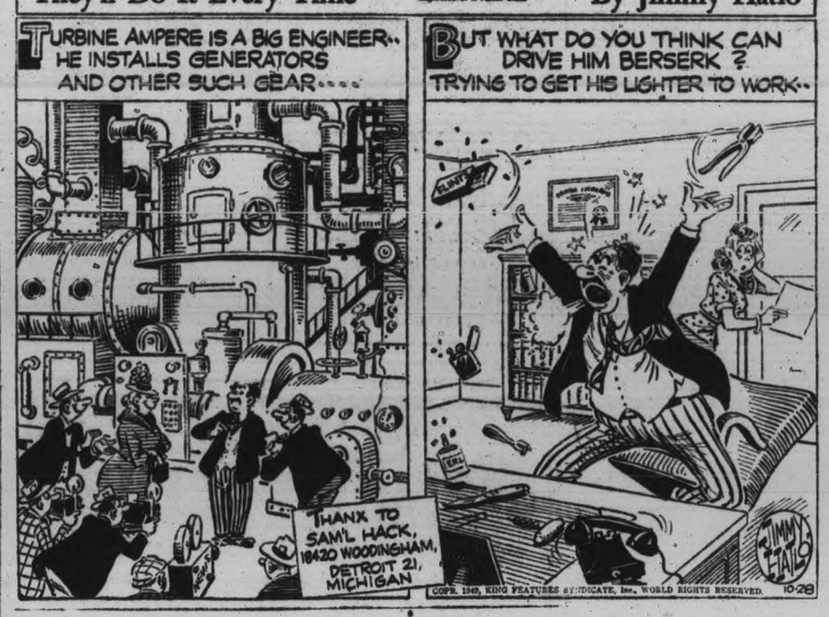
St. Louis Flyers and Indianapolis Capitals share the top rung in the Western Division of the American Hockey League today as the result of victories over the two leading clubs of the league's Eastern section last night.

The Caps downed Buffalo Bisons 3-1 while St. Louis edged New Haven Ramblers 5-4. The victories enabled both Indianapolis and the Flyers to take a one-point lead over the idle Cleveland Barons. New Haven and Buffalo remain deadlocked in the East.

The Bisons tallied first early in the second period when defenceman Gordon Davidson fired a long shot past Terry Sawchuck in the Indianapolis cage. Gerry Reid tied the score wth 17 seconds remaining in that period.

Rookie Lyle Wiseman notched the winning counter at the five-minute mark of the third period with Ab Demarco of the Bisons in the penalty box.

Meanwhile at New Haven, Ernie Trigg and Cliff Simpson sparked the St. Louis attack with a pair of goals each. The Flyers' fifth marker was scored by Vic Griff.



Freddie Brown, Jean Pauldenis, Jack Lancien and Denis tallied once each for the Ramblers.

MOHAWKS MAKE TRADE

Cincinnati Mohawks of the American Hockey League announced Thursday a one for two trade with Buffalo Bisons.

The Mohawks swapped winger Les Hickey to Buffalo for Bob Thorpe and Bob Blake, both wingmen. Blake, a natice of Ashland, Wis., will join the Mohawks immediately while Thorpe, a product of Port Dalhousie, Ont., will join the team Nov. 6.

Junior Hockey Tops In Montreal

By VIC MORRIS, JR.

MONTREAL, Oct. 28 —(CP)— Senior amateur hockey is this metropolis is taking a back seat to the juniors these days. The secret is that the juniors are giving the customers more for their money.

The juniors, who received a shot in the arm last season when Montreal Royals brought home the first Memorial Cup in Quebec's history, report increased attendance in the seven-team circuit. But the main senior circuit—the Quebec Senior Hockey League—is reluctant to release any attendance figures although league President George Slater admits "they are well below last year's."

Deeply Disorganized

The Junior Amateur Hockey Association, the oldest league in organized hockey, wallowed deep in disorganization for many years until Frank Selke, General Manager of the Montreal Forum and Montreal Canadiens, decided to do a face-lifting job. He brought three of the loop's clubs directly into the Canadien farm system and subsidized other weak teams by sending them top-calibre players.

All this had a remarkable effect on Junior Hockey.

When the —Juniors Royals advanced to the Memorial Cup finals against Brandon Wheat Kings an dsubsequently beat them out in an eight-game final series, many of the Montreal fans took a closer look and decided they liked the brand of hockey the smooth-faced kids dished out.

As for the kids their ambtions today are to jump direct from Junior to the National Hockey League rather than from Senior ranks.

Offer $200,000 For Roy Sievers

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28 —(AP)—Philadelphia Athletics are willing to pay $200,000 for Roy Sievers but St. Louis Browns say that isn't enough for their star outfielder.

Arthur Ehlers, director of the Athletics farm system, said yesterday the Browns turned thumbs down on the $200,000 offer during his recent conference with Bill and Charles Dewitt, owners of the Browns.

"We want some of their players and they want some of ours," Ehlers said, "but we didn't agree on anything."

Ehlers indicated the Browns want players rather than cash for Sievers—selected by Sporting News as the American League's rookie of the year.

Amtorg Finally Signs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Amtorg, which was indicted last week for failure to register as an agent of the Russian government, signed up Thursday with the justice department. Department officials said the registration papers were being studied to see if they fully comply with the 1938 law the Soviet trade agency is accused of violating.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Bruce Woodcock, Empire heavyweight boxing champion, doesn't want to accept any challenges for his crown until after his "world title" bout against Lee Savold at London next spring. But Harry Levene, fire-breathing fight manager, refuses to take no for an answer.

Levene has posted two challenges to Woodcock's throne on behalf of two Toronto Negro fighters—Earl Walls, 21-year-old fighter with a strain of Cherokee blood in his veins, and Verne Escoe, national champion with plenty of experience in United States rings.

Levene has offered a £1,000 ($3,100) even money wager on behalf of Escoe and a £1,000-£500 bet to back Walls. Woodcock and his manager, Tom Hurst, just aren't interested. With an eye on bigger money, say the Empire heavyweight champ will not fight until the Savold contest—"then we shall be prepared to receive offers."

That sort of talk makes Levene hopping mad.

"I will force Woodcock to meet one of my boys, or I will ask the British Boxing Board of Control to void his title. The rules only allow a champion six months between title defences. He has had four months now since he beat Freddy Mills. He's got to quit making excuses and fight or lose the title."

The power house plunging of football's golden boy, Tony Golab, may thrill football fans once again before the gridiron season closes this year.

Golab, side-lined by a leg injury for three weeks, limped onto Ottawa's Lansdowne Park field Thursday night and took part in a light calisthenics drill although his left leg still is in a cast.

"I'm keeping in shape just in case I can play once the cast is removed," Golab said.

The 31-year-old fullback with Ottawa Rough Riders said X-rays have been taken of his injured left knee and that the cast is due to be removed next week. He said the X-rays showed marked improvement in the ailing knee.

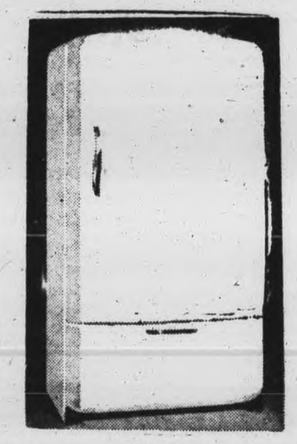
Only last week Golab said the knee injury meant he had played his last game. He said he wanted to play just one more, but intended to retire at the end of the season.

St. Louis Browns of the American Baseball League announced Thursday that all of their players over 28 years old—including Gerry Priddy and Bob Dillinger — are up for sale or trade.

At the same time, Bill Dewitt, president of the Browns, announced a reshuffling in the club's farm system. Nine clubs are being dropped and three new ones are to be added—leaving the Browns with a total of 14 farm clubs.

Bill Dewitt and his brother Charlie, Brownie vice-president, said they are interested in getting "good ball players" but especially need a shortstop then a pitcher.

At Philadelphia, the State Athletic Commission Thursday ruled women wrestlers out of rings in Pennsylvania.



"We feel," said Commissioner George S. Jones, Jr., in a statement "that women have no place in the wrestling ring."

Jones said also:

"While the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission does not recognize wrestling matches as contests, but only as exhibitions, we feel that too much clowning is injurious to the sport."

At Calgary, Tom Brook, president of the Calgary Stampeders, announced Thursday that the first game of the home and home series with Saskatchewan Roughriders in the Western Interprovincial Football Union playoff will be in Regina Nov. 5. Second game will be at Calgary Nov. 11.

Stamps, who have the league clinched lead in the nearly-completed schedule were given the choice of naming the venues in the total point playoff.

To Build Oil Pipe Line Gretna To Superior

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP) — The 360-mile leg of a pipe line designed to carry Alberta oil to eastern Canadian markets, will be built from Gretna, Man., to Superior, Wisc., at a cost of $22,500,000 and will employ 400-500 in construction, Imperial Oil Company officials said Thursday.

The leg, part of a $90,000,000 1,150-mile line, is crossing the United States because it would cost at least $10,000,000 more to build and $400,000 annually to operate the line if it went through the rugged country leading to a Canadian Great Lakes port, officials added.

NORONIC REFLOATED—Steam pumps have almost emptied the water in the hulk of the Noronic, once proud queen of the Great Lakes passenger fleet, and salvage operations hope within the next few days to tow the vessel to Hamilton from the Toronto harbor pier where it has rested on the bottom of the harbor since the disastrous Sept. 17 fire. As this photo shows, most of the top decks have already been cut away and only the hull remains to be dismantled.

Leftist Unions Meet Philip Murray For Talks Before Convention

CLEVELAND, Oct. 28 (AP)—Harry Bridges, leader of 65,000 Longshoremen, said today the only way his union would leave the C.I.O. "would be if we're booted out."

The west coast leader — who takes pride in calling his union a left-wing organization—admitted he thought next week's annual convention would be "rough as all hell."

That is because right-wing forces are determined to have a showdown with the 11 or 12 unions under left leaders. But Bridges said a committee of about a dozen representatives of key locals in the Longshoremen's Union will meet with C.I.O. President Philip Murray.

Murray holds the answer to how tough the fight becomes.

The fact that Bridges was seeking a private conference with Murray in advance of the convention indicated the left-wing forces were anxious to head off that showdown—or at least to pin the blame on Murray for what happens next week.

To Meet U.E. Group

Murray also agreed Thursday to meet a delegation of the United Electrical Workers, biggest of the left-wing groups, on Sunday.

The U.E. group served a six-point ultimatum on Murray after the U.E. convention here in September. The union said it would hold back its per capita payments of eight cents a month for approximately 375,000 members, unless Murray met U.E.'s terms.

Bridges told a press conference that his delegation wanted to discuss two major points with Murray:

One was the Longshoremen's continued participation in the Soviet-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions, despite the C.I.O.'s withdrawal last spring. The other was what Bridges terms the "autonomy" of his union, meaning he wants to be able to put to a referendum vote any policy questions raised by the C.I.O. over which the Longshoremen might be ousted from the C.I.O.

Sale Of Canada Savings Bonds Success Story Of Year-Gordon

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Oct. 28—(CP) — A wave of enthusiasm swept the Bank of Canada today as sales of Canada Savings Bonds climbed to unprecedented heights.

Donald Gordon, the bank's deputy governor, said in an interview that the spectacular increase in sales was the "success story of the year."

It was the latest proof that Canada was in the middle of an "economic boom."

J. E. Coyne, the bank's securities adviser, said the sales reflected the country's prosperity. Canada was basking in the warm sun of peak income and employment. These conditions currently were the best the country had ever known.

The sales campaign opened Oct. 17 and is expected to run well into 1950. But after reviewing the first week's returns, officials frankly admitted they were "jolted by surprise." General bond sales during the week totalled $85,543,850, compared with $39,688,800 in the same period last year. Payroll sales climbed to $59,097,350.

Double '48 Quota

This was more than double the $27,868,950 worth sold during the first week of the 1948 campaign.

If the trend continued, said the officials, Canada this year would crack the record $260,000,000 worth of bonds sold last year with a likely total of $300,000,000.

Mr. Gordon said the big hoist in sales was particularly gratifying because it showed that people were "making hay while the sun shines."

The bonds, most of which were sold on the payroll plan, were "catching on" as an instrument of thrift. It was "spectacular" in the way the small holder was going in for increased purchases.

He gave credit to the employers and employees teams that were volunteering as salesmen and to the small band of investment dealers' salesmen, performing "wonderful jobs" in getting Canadians to buy the bonds.

Senate Wants Closer Look At Finances

OTTAWA, Oct. 28—(CP)—The Senate followed up Commons words with Senate action Thursday in seeking better ways to give parliamentary scrutiny to the way the government spends hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

Capping a debate that brought forth several suggestions, Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, gave notice that he will bring in a motion which, in effect, would allow simultaneous study by both chambers of government estimates of expenditures and budget resolutions.

Senator Robertson said he will ask that the estimates and resolutions be studied by a Senate committee while they still are before the Commons. This, he said, would get around the present system under which both reach the Senate from the Commons in the last days of the session and allow virtually no time for study.

The debate came up on an interim supply bill which would grant the government the right to spend $130,155,000 with the proviso that members can check the details later. It passed the Commons Wednesday after debate there brought forth numerous proposals for improving parliament's method of checking on money spending.

The bill passed the Senate after proposals for improvement from Senators John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, and Arthur Roebuck (L, Ontario).

Senator A. C. Hardy (L, Ontario) said that, whether the Senate liked it or not, it had no practical power to amend money bills. No such attempt had been made in a half century or more.

Hold Red Tape Talks

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP)—Talk towards cutting United States customs "red tape" are expected to begin in Washington Monday between Canada and the U. S. it was learned Thursday night. The talks are understood to be preliminary to consideration by U. S. officials of ways and means of modernizing customs regulations which may hinder the import of Canadian goods to the U. S. market.

Can't Visit Mexico

YORK, England, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Archbishop of York wrote Thursday that Mexico denied him the freedom of attire he was permitted even in Russia. The Rt. Rev. Cyril Foster Garbett reported in a diocesan letter that on his recent trip to North America he had intended visiting Mexico. But, he said, he was told he wouldn't be allowed there unless he dressed as a layman in keeping with Mexican law. He cancelled his visit.

TURNING THE PAGES OF "CANADA UNLIMITED"

The sharp crack of axes pierced the frosty air . . . rollicking songs of shantymen rang through the Maritime woods . . . this was the lumber industry in the 1600's. Log cabins and ships were built from Canadian timber from the beginning of our history.

By 1700, export trade in ship-building materials was carried on with the West Indies. After 1760, sailing vessels braved the stormy Atlantic to carry New Brunswick timber to England for the ships of the British Navy. Canada took the lead in forest industry.

Lumbering opened up vast new areas along the St. Lawrence and the Ottawa valley. In 1803, Canada's first pulp mill was erected at Argenteuil, Quebec. There followed a rapidly expanding demand for pulpwood and newsprint. By 1900, Canada was supplying a major portion of the world's needs.

Today Canadian production of newsprint is greater than the combined output of the next five leading countries. 4,800,000 tons were produced in 1947. Research has led to the development of other wood products, such as cellulose, rayon and plastics. This rapid growth points to a wide future for Canadians. Yes, there's room to grow—in Canada Unlimited.

Get Seven Years In Drug Case

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28—(CP)—The doors clanged shut Thursday on one of Vancouver's most profitable—and most "diabolical"—business organizations.

The organization: an illicit narcotics ring; the profit: $1,000 a day, and the doors: the steel bars of a prison cell where five men were sentenced to spend the next seven years.

The men—Carmen Chiovitti, of Toronto; Dan Gasberini, of Hamilton, Ont.; Mike Kushman, Steve Bohach and John Smokler of Vancouver—received the maximum sentence plus $20,000 in fines for what Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane termed "a diabolical traffic that robs individuals of life and character."

Chiovitti was fined $10,000 or an additional three years; Kushman and Smokler $5,000 each or an additional two years.

Clean-up of the Dominion-wide ring, whose operatives shuttled between here and eastern cities with the organization of a business firm, climaxed "the most ambitious attempt ever made by the RCMP to combat illicit narcotics distribution."

Medical Care Plan

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP)—The Dominion Civil Service War Veterans' Association Thursday asked the Federal Government to institute a medical care plan for all federal civil servants. Another resolution asked that an association member be appointed to be the national joint council of the public service of Canada.

Big Swine Entry

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP) A record entry of swine and near-record figures of other classes is expected when the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto's big agricultural fair, opens Nov. 15. Western Canada breeders have served notice of keener competition, while for the first time Prince Edward Island has entered a large number of swine.

State Dept. Official Starts Peace Prayer Movement

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—(CP)—A "Daily Prayer for Peace Movement", started by a State Department official whose parents came from Quebec province, is spreading across the United States. It began less than a year ago when a group of war veterans at Manchester, N.H., resolved to stop whatever they were doing for one minute at noon each day to pray silently for divine help in obtaining "an equitable and binding peace."

Since then, more than 600 other organizations have embraced the movement and adopted similar resolutions. It has won support from a number of members of Congress and inquiries have begun to come in from interested organizations in Canada and other countries.

The movement originated with kindly, chubby-cheeked Herve J. L'Heureux, 50, veteran United States Foreign Service officer and now chief of the States Department's Visa Division here.

Wounded Veteran

A wounded veteran of the First World War and one of the founders of the American Legion, L'Heureux is no pacifist. Like many Americans, he believes the United States must be prepared to fight if necessary to preserve liberty. But, he says, he hates war and believes prayer will help to establish a just peace.

He explained his philosophy to fellow members of the American Legion post at Manchester, his home town, and suggested the resolution which the club adopted to start the movement.

Movement Non-Sectarian

Though L'Heureux himself is a devout Roman Catholic, his movement is non-sectarian. Those who have endorsed it include Protestant, Jewish and Catholic church leaders and laymen.

L'Heureux has spent most of his spare time sending information about the plan to groups and business firms. But this is not, he says, "something you can ram down the throats of people."

"All I am trying to do is to get the idea before as many people as possible. To be effective, it must be adopted spontaneously."

And it has been spontaneous. There is no "master" organization, no offices, no financial assistance. L'Heureux has refused offers of financial contribution. His name has not been mentioned in any of the 5,400 circulars he has sent over the country.

Has No Fingerprints

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 28—(AP)—William F. Williams, 42-year-old dishwasher, held on a charge of passing a worthless cheque puzzled police today—he has no fingerprints. Lieut. James J. Collins, Jr., the department's finger-print expert, said he is "one in 10,000,000." He said there may be some type of skin growth on Williams' fingers that hide the lines.

Horse-Trading Marks World Trade Talks

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Sometimes we forget that international agreements are carried out by people.

We hear that this or that delegation has gone here or there, and then a little later we get a government pronouncement that affects our lives in all sorts of ways, big and little.

Under the weight of official announcement it is easy to overlook that the event came about through one group of men or women, talking to another group.

Paul Hoffman, administrator of the Economic Co-operation Administration, the United States body which directs the flow of money for European recovery, allowed a tiny peak behind the curtain yesterday in a matter affecting Canada.

First he quoted advice he had received nearly 40 years ago from the American industrialist, H. M. Studebaker. It was:

"Young man, if you want to succeed, always give your customers more than you promise—but, mind you, not too much more or you'll go broke." Then:

"We (ECA) had been requested by Britain to finance a part of a 1946 contract for the purchase of Canadian wheat. As a condition of that financing, I did a bit of horse-trading with the British representatives and then turned to your ministers and asked them to remove Canadian restrictions upon quite a list of United States exports.

Got Much More

"They promised nothing at that time except to consider my request. A few days later they came through with more than I had asked, removing all restrictions upon United States food and vegetables; but not too much more, since they put restrictions back on iron and steel.

"I can think of nothing more important than for you in Canada to continue to give us in the United States more than you promise and for us to give you more than we promise.

"That has been the underlying tenet in our relationship, and it is why from decade to decade the friendship between our two countries has continued to grow. That is why we stand together today not only in meeting our own particular problesm but, also the problems confronting a troubled world."

Mr. Hoffman gave this glimpse in an address Thursday to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Montreal. He proceeds to Paris by air today, and will be back in the United States a week from Saturday.

Use Halifax As Port

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Oct. 28—(CP)—Canadian Pacific Steamship in-bound liners again will use Halifax this winter to disembark passengers, a CPR spokesman said Thursday. As usual east-bound passenger will be taken on at Saint John.

2 Ships On Ways

MONTREAL, Oct. 28 (CP) — Two Canadian-built, Canadian-designed ships, the first of six coastal freighters ordered last May by the Venezuelan Navigation Company, will slide down the ways today at the Canadian Vickers yards. They are Dieselpowered, 170 feet long and 600 tons.

LAKEHEAD TRIO — Triplets born this week to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stenlund of Red Rock, 60 miles north of Port Arthur, continue to progress as this photo indicates. Mrs. Stenlund is shown with her two daughters and son. Carolyn, on her mother's right, was born first and weighed four pounds three-quarters of an ounce. Sheryl, born second and weighing four pounds three and a quarter ounces, is on her mother's left. Murray, in front of Sheryl, weighed six ponds 15 ounces. Miss Betty Wiggans, left, and Miss Eileen Holt are the Port Arthur General Hospital nurses in the photo.

Denies Sub Missile Can Carry A-Bomb

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, Oct. 28—(AP)—Cmdr. John S. McCain, Jr., Thursday denied having a submarine-launched guided missile that could carry an atomic bomb.

The Associated Press quoted him Wednesday to that effect in a story of navy planes to launch 15,000-pound "loon" missiles from two submarines off Hawaii Nov. 7.

McCain said Thursday he had stated the submarine "has become a siege bombardment weapon," but declared, 'the fact is, I don't know anything about the atom bomb. In my naval experience ,I've never had anything to do with atomic experiments."

Woman Dupes Stores With COD Racket

BRANTFORD, Oct. 28 (CP) — Police said Thursday they received several reports from merchants who had been duped by a woman who ordered goods at their stores, took part of the order with her and asked that the remainder be sent COD to "her home" where she promised to pay for the full order.

In each case, the delivery man found a vacant house and the merchants found themselves short of the articles she had taken with her. Police said the woman has preyed mostly on hardware firms.

A warning has also been issued by the Brantford Board of Trade that cheque forgers are at work in Kitchener and Galt and may come to Brantford.

Net Debt Reduced

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP)—Canada's net debt has been reduced by $262,798,521 since Dec. 31, 1948, it was disclosed Thursday in a return tabled in the Commons for Ross Thatcher (CCF-Moose Jaw). At Sept. 30, 1949, the debt was $11,495,881,920.

MacDonald Raps Transfer Fees

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (CP)—High transfer fees of certain provincial law societies Thursday were described by Vincent C. MacDonald, eDan of Law at Dalhousie University, as nothing less than "protective tariffs."

He told a symposium on legal education at University of British Columbia that the high fees almost prohibit importantion of lawyers from outside provinces.

"This tariff requires the outside trained barrister to pay transfer fees ranging from $200 to $1,500," he declared. "In sober truth, the system reflects little credit on a body which purports to take the public welfare as its great charter."

To Prevent Influx

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP).—G. W. Mason, secretary of the Law Society of Upper Canada, said Thursday night that Ontario transfer fees—ranging from $200 to $1,500—were set to prevent any great influx of legal men into this province. "The purpose of the fees is not to create any revenue," he added.

Trying To Liquidate $5,000 Guay Jewels

QUEBEC, Oct. 28 — (CP) — L'Evenement Journal said today in a newspage story that Bertrand Marcotte, counsel for J. Albert Guay, is trying to liquidate about $5,000 worth of jewels owned by the Quebec jeweler, charged with the murder of his wife in the Sault au Cochon air crash Sept. 9.

The report said Marcotte was told by RCMP and Quebec provincial police that there was no embargo on Guay's property. He proceeded to liquidate the jewels, kept by Guay in various towns on the north shore of St. Lawrence River where he did business.

Belgians To Choose

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct. 28 (A)—A bill to let the Belgian people decide whether exiled King Leopold III should return to the throne was passed by the Senate today, 109 to 65. The Chamber of Deputies next takes up the bill. Parliamentary observers expect approval there also.

Restricts Voting

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP) — Speaker Ross Macdonald told the Commons Thursday night that members should not vote in a division if they enter the chamber after he starts reading the question to be put. He made the statement after Progressive Conservatives protested against a vote by R. M. Warren (L.-Renfrew North), who entered the chamber while Mr. Macdonald was reading.

High British Birthrate Creating School Problem

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, Oct. 28 (CP)—British children start school when they are five. But many parents see the day coming when they will be told "no school until your child is six."

Because of the high birthrate during and after the war, a serious squeeze is developing. By 1953, it is estimated 1,000,000 more children will need school desks than in 1947.

Apart from the record crop of youngsters, congestion is already bad because school construction came to a standstill during the war years. Many schoolhouses were blitzed, others fell into disrepair.

Education Minister George Tomlinson tackled the problem with a scheme to build 3,000 new schools. But now the government is sharpening the economy ax, and the £90,000,000 ($279,000,000) program is in danger.

With few exceptions, all children of five so far have been accommodated.

Use Halls

In some communities, church halls and vacant buildings have been converted to school rooms.

A teacher shortage in another worry. Many classes now hold 60 to 70 children because teachers are not available for smaller groups. Post-war industrial prosperity is to blame. Girls no longer are attracted to Britain's poorly paid teaching profession.

"It is asking a lot to persuade a girl to turn her back on £4 10s. A week that she can get elsewhere," said one education official. He explained girls leaving school want jobs right away and shy away from the extra years it takes to become a teacher.

In four years an emergency training scheme has turned out 20,000 teachers, but 70 per cent of them are men. And males teachers are not at their best coping with infants, officials say.

Japan Gives Pledges Not To Cut Prices

TOKYO, Oct. 28 — (AP). — Japan pledged today not to cut prices drastically on exports or dump them on the world market.

The assurance came from the Minister of International Trade, Heitaro Inagaki. He replied with an emphatic "not at all" when asked if Jaapn might return to pre-war price cutting and other trade practices.

General MacArthur's elimination this week of floor prices on Japanese products has caused some concern in foreign trade centres that the Japanese might slash prices in an effort to increase sales. Floor prices set by Allied Headquarters were the lowest at which Japanese could export their goods.

ALBERTA TRADE

Wholesole trade in Alberta during the first seven months of 1949 was valued at $216,190,552, compared to $180,150,107 for the same period in 1948.

Store Cattle Prices Remain Steady

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP).— Best types of slaughter and store cattle were steady while other cattle were a shade lower in the trading on the Toronto Livestock Market this week, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today.

Hogs, sheep and lambs were unchanged. Calves were strong to $1 higher.

Fresh offerings of 9,604 cattle were added to 850 left from last week. Small lots of good to choice weighty steers sold from $22.50-$23.50. Good light steers were $19-$20.50 and a few good heifers sold from $18.50-$19. Plain to medium steers and heifers were $16-$18 and boners sold as low as $12 a hundredweight. Good cows were mostly $14-$14.50 with tops at $15.

Good export bulls closed at $16-$17 and plain light bulls sold downward to $13. Fed yearlings were mostly $20-$25 a hundredweight. Good store cattle moved readily at $18-$20 while plainer kinds sold at a slower pace at $14-$17.50. Indications were that the holdover would be heavy.

Calf receipts totalled 2,655 head. Prices were strong at $26-$28 a hundredweight for choice quality vealers with a few tops at $29. Plain to medium vealers were $16-$25, and grassers for slaughter sold at $13-$15.50.

Hogs totalled 3,174 head. The prices were unchanged at $29.50 for Grade A and $29.10 for Grade B1. Sows were $19 dressed.

Sheep and lambs offered totalled 3,757 head. Lambs were firm at $23 for good ewes and wethers and $22 for bucks. Good light sheep brought $10-$11.50 and the culls were mostly $6-$8 a hundredweight.

Great Crowds View Lady Godiva's Statue

COVENTRY, England, Oct. 28 (AP)—They've had to put a fence around Lady Godiva's statue. It's to keep the peeping Tom's away.

A statue showing the lady, clad only in her tresses and sitting side saddle on a horse, was unveiled last Saturday by Mrs. Lewis Douglas, wife of the United States ambassador.

Almost at once crowds wanting a closer look began trampling over the surrounding turf. City officials put up a three-foot high barricade Wednesday to save the grass.

Godiva rode forth in the nude, legend says, some 900 years ago to shame her husband, the Lord of the town, into giving tax relief to the people. The townspeople went indoors to let the lady pass unseen. But one man looked and was struck blind. His errant ways gave birth to the term peeping Tom.

JOCK AND MRS. JOCK—Known to thousands of Canadian airmen, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Oswald shown here arriving in Montreal aboard the Empress of France, operated the famous "Jock's Place" cafe at the Canadian Bomber base in Leeming, Yorkshire, during the war.

Police Open Fire Puncture Tire Of Truck

GALT, Oct. 28 (CP)—Police, who pursued a Brantford motorist to the outskirts of Brantford shortly after midnight, fired two shots, one of which struck the fleeing driver's truck tire and ended the 90-mile per hour chase.

Thursday morning J. G. Morrow 35, was fined $50 and costs in court here upon conviction of a charge of reckless driving.

Lower Wages Likely For Trappers In Manitoba

By DAVE CROSS

WINNIPEG, Oct. 28— (CP) — The traps are all set for another of Manitoba's fur-catching winters.

Trappers are out in force but they will meet a different situation than in the past. This year royalties from the government will be less and wages will likely be lower.

George Malaher, Director of the Manitoba Game and Fisheries Branch, said they'll also be avoiding long-aired animals such as the fox. Fox fur has dropped so much in price it is practically valueless to the trapper.

The present fashion trend away from long-haired pelts is the reason — milady doesn't want to wear fox any more.

The decline is followed in the new rate of royalties released by both Alberta and Manitoba. Silver fox fell 40 cents to an average of 35 cents per pelt for the trapper. Mink has decreased 25 cents to $1.

War Boom

The war years boomed the fur trade. In 1940, the average muskrat price was $1.32. It increased every year until it reached $2.98 in 1945, then fell in 1946 to $1.38 It jumped back to $2.85 in 1948, but staggered downward to $1.38 again this spring.

Mr. Malaher said a good muskrat crop is indicated this year, barring adverse conditions. Extremely cold weather would kill the animals when they are too young for good hides.

New royalty payments to trappers announced by Manitoba and Alberta, with Saskatchewan expected to follow suit, are: Martin, $1.50; mink $1; otter $1; lynx 75 cents; blue fox 50 cents; white fox 50; silver fox 35; cross fox 30; red fox 20; weasels 10; and squirrels and jack rabbits one cent each.

Manitoba, with its 10,000 trappers was the first province to introduce a system of registered traplines which was adopted later by other provinces. It is designed to eliminate destructive competition by introducing planned for harvesting—a system which stops random hunting.

Manvers Man Lost Arm Shotgun Blast

BETHANY, Oct. 28—(ENS) — David Kidd, 38, of R.R. No. 1, Pontypool, early today had part of his left arm amputated in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, as a result of a shot gun blast while duck shooting.

Late Thursday afternoon Kidd left the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Challice where he boards.

In some manner the shotgun discharged and he received the full blast in the lower part of the left arm. Although fast losing blood he remained conscious and walked two miles back to his residence where Mrs. Challice called Dr. George MacNeill, of Pontypool.

Dr. MacNeill gave him first aid and then took him to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his arm was amputated, just above the elbow.

Hospital authorities say today his condition is "pretty serious" due to loss of blood.

Besides Police Chief Arthur Webster of Lindsay, speaker at the luncheon-meeting, there were two other guests of the Kiwanis Club on Thursday. They were Jos. Walsh of Lindsay and Chief John Thompson of Peterborough.

VILLAGE STUFF

Painting the name "Peterborough" on the new aerial tank at Civic Hospital is likely to be dismissed as a village blazoning of municipal identification. Besides there are too many letters in the word, even if it were clipped to Peterboro.

REPAIR WATER SERVICE

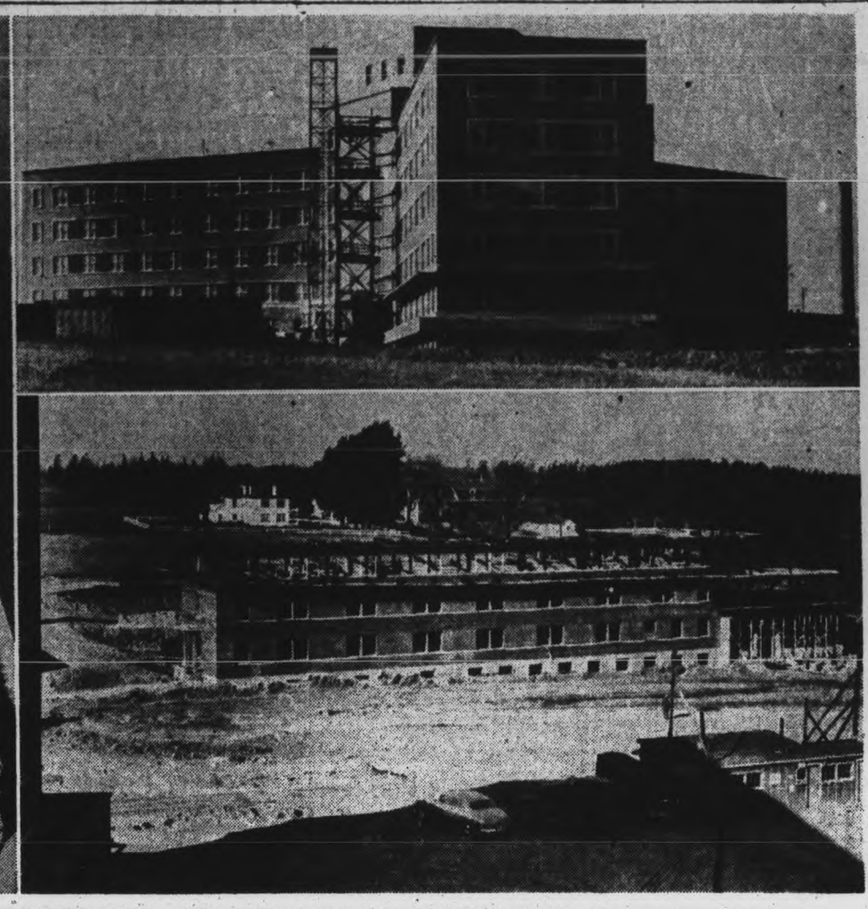
Workmen of the Utilities Commission are completing repairs on a broken water service, on George St., just north of Hunter. The usual large number of sidewalk superintendents was on hand to watch the workmen at their task.

NEW PETERBOROUGH PEAK

The top of the water tower at Civic Hospital will be the highest point in the Peterborough area. R. L. Dobbin told the Utilities Commission Thursday that it would probably be necessary to place a light on the top as a warning signal to airplanes. He is writing the Department of Transport for instructions.

Drunk Driving Charge $3,000 Bail Required

Charged with drunk driving, and leaving the scene of an accident, Bruce Parker, 341, Reid St., was remanded to Wednesday and was released on $3,000 bail without pleading.



The charges arose from an accident in which a car owned by Genevieve O'Brien, 204 Wolsley St., was struck while parked on Monaghan Rd., about 9:25 a.m. Thursday.

Police report, on a tip, they found Parker in his car at the corner of Stewart and Charlotte Sts. They said he was drunk. Claude Johnson, 627½ Oxford St., was an eye-witness to the accident.

Health Council Unites Efforts Of Six Groups

In order to avoid overlapping of public health projects, six health organizations in the city have appointed representatives to a joint health education body. The joint organization, which is expected to be called Peterborough and District Health Education Council, was officially set up Thursday evening when George Barns, representing the Health League was elected chairman and Jim Dutton, secretary.

The council will not undertake the functions of any existing organizations. It was decided that it would meet at least once a year, when representatives of member organizations would present their programs for the year to enable each group to know what th others were doing. This, it was felt, would avoid overlapping.

Combined Program

The chairman expects to call a meeting within the next two months to afford an opportunity for each group to announce its program for Public Health Week next February.

Three additional organizations which are to be invited to be represented on the council are the Red Cross. Milk Foundation and VON.

Those attending the meeting at which the council was set up were: W. R. Philp, K.C. and Edward Brown, National Institute for the Blind; Leo Thompkins and Mrs. Betty Warren, St. John Ambulance; Dr. Ralph Honey, Dental Public Health Association; Mrs. P. M. Miller, Cancer Society; George Barns, Health League; R. A. Kelly, MOH, and Jim Dutton.

Mr. Cluney spoke at a banquet climaxing a three-day union school sponsored by the Greater Cornwall Textile Board. The Tuberculosis Association is also a member.

Water Mains and Sewers Laid In 1949 Cost $207,411

Investment of the Utilities Commission in new water mains and services from the beginning of the year until a few days ago amounted to $207,411.43.

Five miles of water mains cost $183,182.30 and 419 connections, most of them to new houses, cost $24,329.13.

"That is our biggest year's work in the laying of water mains," Ross L. Dobbin, manager, told the Commission Thursday afternoon.

Major expenditure was on the 24-inch pipe line from the pump house to the corner of Aylmer and Bennett Streets. That amount was $67,376.60. That work was the completion of a project begun during the war, and necessarily postponed until the resumption of peace. It was laid down as an improvement in the system by providing for the new business of the Commission flowing from the growth of the city.

Another bulky item was $24,894.55 for an 18-inch main on Bethune St., from Park Hill Road to Wolsley St.; on Wolsley St., from Bethune to Aylmer; and on Aylmer from Bethune to Bennett St. This was part of the new trunk pipe line, and cost more than $90,000 for nearly a mile of work.

Crossing of River

Next in detail amount of expenditure was the crossing of the river between Burnham's and McDonald Points. That cost, as shown in the statement, is an estimated $16,832.06, half of which is to be paid by the city council. Utilities Commission undertook the water job, and the council took advantage of its plans to lower a sewer line from Ashburnham to the main sewer on George St.

The public may be interested in Utilities costs as related to the extensions on their streets. These are actual figures quoted from the pay sheets

Simcoe St., 8" main, from Bethune St. to Peterborough Lock Manufacturing to accommodate improved fire protection system in the plant: $5,883.05.

Western Ave., 8", $4,226.61; High St., 88", $1,103.76; Clonsilla Ave., 8", $9,807.14.

McKellar St., west of Monaghan Road, 8", $6,608.88. Weller St., Albertus to Monaghan Rd., 8", $2,252.37; also Weller St., from Stewart's Lane to the hospital tank tower, 8" main, $3,376.11.

The rest of the work was 6-inch pipe, with probably one or two exceptions. Frank St. $3,558.88. East end of Sherbrooke and Water St., $1,778.38.

St. Luke's Ave.—$771.79; Charles St., $260.12; Hillcrest, Manor Hill and Hopkins Aves.—$1,887.36.

McKellar, from Chester easterly, $1,309.95; Montrose Ave. $1,743.50; Lillian St., south from McKellar, $1,394.38.

Plan Hospital At Ft. William

TORONTO, Oct. 28—(CP) — Health Minister Kelley said today that one of the two mental hospitals the Ontario Government plans to build in Northern Ontario will be at Fort William or Port Arthur.

No site has been chosen for the second hospital, he told the Canadian Press. It would be located "where it will be most convenient for the people of the rest of the north."

A decision likely would be made "inside a month."

Mr. Kelley announced Thursday that the two institutions will be built as part of a $35,000,000 construction program to add 4,000 beds to the province's mental-hospital accommodation.

Believe It, No? Local Fish Feat Makes Column

Ripley's Believe It or Not recently published an item on Jack Arnott of Benson Avenue, Peterborough. The article said that Mr. Arnott saved a man from drowning with a fishing rod and line when he made an accurate cast of 60 feet to an overturned canoe. Readers will recall the incident as reported in the Examiner last May.

Mr. Arnott was on a fishing trip at the beginning of the trout fishing season with Pete McGillen and Jack Hayward, north of Madoc at Green Lake. A Toronto fisherman in a canoe became excited while making a catch. Losing his balance, the fisherman upset the canoe.

An expert fisherman, Mr. Arnott made a cast nearly 60 feet to the fisherman and the canoe. He reeled in the fisherman and the canoe until the Toronto man was able to touch bottom. With a second perfect cast the paddle was retrieved.

Wood Products Will Be Made By New Industry

Canadian Timber Structures Limited are breaking ground Saturday morning for the building of a factory west of High St. and immediately north of the CPR.

This unit, which may eventually expand into others, will be 40 feet, and will be constructed of the company's own product. W. A. Davidson, vice-president and manager, said today that the prospective growth of operations would depend on the business in the Canadian market.

This new industry for Peterborough, on the proprty once occupied by Sandstone Brick Co. of years ago, is a Canadian organization of which Mr. Robt. M. Peirson is president.

It is the result of the enterprise of Mr. Peirson, who in the beginning of negotiations five years ago with the manufacturers of Timber-Rib in Portland, Oregon, wished to acquire a Canadian connection operating through Co-Op. Services. That company objected to selling through a retail outlet, and the plans to make it an adjunct of Co-Op. Services had to be dropped.

Eventually, the business was assumed in a partnership by Mr. Peirson and Mr. Davidson. Another circumstance forced expansion. The conection with the Oregon firm required some national advertising. That bid for business brought enquiries and orders that necessitated further action in the organization of a Canadian company, and a plant to turn out the product.

That is the background of Canadian Timber Structures Limited which had to follow a course far from the original intentions of Mr. Peirson. Its glue laminated rafters and other construction members have already been used in some sections of Ontario and elsewhere in factories, and a wide variety of other buildings. The timber is select structural grade British Columbia fir, and it is expected that some clear stock Ontario timber will be used.

Nine distributing agents have already been engaged throughout Canada. Timber Structures is the only business of its kind in this country.

MARMORA, Oct. 28—(ENS)—Seventy-fifth anniversary celebrations at St. Andrew's United Church will commencue Sunday.

This is to be followed by a commemorative program in the Town Hall, when the guest speaker will be the Rev. H. C. Vaclavik, pastor of Rawdon, charge of the United Church.

Educated Fellow Gets Best Job Says Syl Apps

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 28 — (ENS)—"Concentrate on your studies because the better educated fellow gets the better job," said Syl Apps, former hockey star, to boys at the Rotary Club's annual father and son banquet on Thursday. More than 100 sat down to dinner, served by the women of the Parish Guild.

"To play hockey you must be in good condition," he warned. "The fellow who can skate faster than you will score the goals. An athlete needs plenty of rest and a sensible diet. It is unwise to smoke when participating in strenuous games," he added.

Mr. Apps stressed the need of co-operation in sports. If a goal is scoced against your team, don't blame the goal-keeper, he said. Blame every man on the ice because hockey is team work. "Unless there is the spirit of cooperation, your team will meet with failure," he declared.

"A good sport," he stated, "is one who does his level best to win the game and plays it according to rule. When a fellow skates past you, do not trip him but say to yourself, 'he skated past me today but next year I'll skate past him,' and see that you carry it through."

Word to Parents

Parents should see to it, he said, that coaches teach their boys to become good citizens as well as good athletes. He stated that there are very few hockey players today who would conduct themselves in such a manner as to let the Canadian youngsters down.

Frank Long entertained with magic and Fred Palliser gave two humorous recitations.

W. Brady proposed a toast to the boys and it was responded to by Al Taylor. The guest speaker was introduced by A. K. Loucks and the vote of thanks moved by H. Carr.

Souvenir hockey sticks, presented to the boys by the club, were autographed by Mr. Apps. President Charles Calver was in the chair.

New York Finds Stage Costs Have Tripled

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 —(CP)— New York stage producers, finding it increasingly difficult to charm money from the pockets of "angels," are gazing enviously across the Atlantic to London, where the theatre is booming and where operating costs are roughly one-quarter what they are in Manhattan.

This week New York has 20 stage productions running; the corresponding figure in London is 38.

Play costs in New York have roughly tripled during the last 14 years. A straight play which could be staged in 1935 for $15,000 to $20,000 now requires $50,000 to $60,000, producers maintain. A musical which could be brought to Broadway then for less than $100,000 now may cost anywhere from $160,000 to $300,000.

Why the difference between costs in London and New York? The general manager of an American producing firm put it this way "in London expenses of initial production are much smaller than here and running expenses are correspondingly lower."

Ballet Flourishing

The Sadler's Wells Ballet at the Metropolitan Opera House, and Les Ballets de Paris at the Winter Garden have been playing to standing-room audiences night after night.

The British Sadler's Wells troupe has engagements in three Canadian cities. It will be in Toronto Nov. 24-Dec. 3 and in Montreal Dec. 6-11 following a one night stand in Ottawa Dec. 5.

Team Anniversary

When Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne open in "I Know My Love" in New York Nov. 2, it will be a landmark in their joint stage career. The occasion will be their 25th anniversary as an acting team. The date also will make them their partnership longer than those of two other celebrated acting partners: Henry Irving and Ellen Terry who were together 24 years, and Edsard Sothern and Julia Marlowe, who appeared together for 22 years.

Aisle Jottings

Ann Harding has returned to Broadway after 21 years. She replaced Ruth Hussey in the feminine lead role in "Goodbye My Fancy" this month. Miss Harding's last appearance on the local stage was in "The Trail of Mary Dugan." . . .The leading part in "The Rat Race," a new play by Garson Kanin, will be taken by Betty Field. Leland Hayward is producing "The Rat Race," which is expected in New York in December. . .

Health Program Infants Do Well

SYDNEY, Australia, —(CP) — Australians are proud of their country-wide infant welfare system—and with cause. The plan has given the country one of the lowest infant mortality rates in the world.

In 1948 the infant death rate (the number of deaths under one year of age per 1,000 births) reached the record low of 27.76.

Only New Zealand and Sweden have lower death rates. Last year New Zealand hit its lowest point of 21.93.

One of the first countries in the world to establish a comprehensive system of infant welfare, Australia now has baby health centres in all her cities and in most country towns.

These centres give pre-natal and post-natal advice to mothers, and check the health of babies regularly. No treatment is given, but if there are any symptons of illness, infants are sent to a doctor or public hospital.

In addition to the centres, mobile baby clinics in railway carriages or motor caravans visit many rural areas. Trained nursing sisters who staff them give expert mothercraft advice to women of the outback. There is no charge for any of these services

Started In 1904

New South Wales was the first Australian state to set up baby health centres, in 1904. Since then all six states have established similar systems.

The basic principles of infant care taught at these centre are the same throughout Australia. Breast-feeding of infants to nine months of age is the standard dietetic advice given. Where this is not possible, and when the child is old enough for solid foods, modern diets are suggested.

Proof of the effectiveness of the Australian system is the fact that in the last 45 years the infant mortality rate has dropped from 120 in every 1,000 live births to 27.76.

Sexiest Women In United States Actress Decides

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct 28 (AP)—The sexiest wome in the world, says Ella Raines after a tour of Europe and Africa, are in the United States.

The actress spent a year abroad with her husband, Major Robin Olds. Back to star with Vaughn Monroe in "Singing Guns," told her observations of foreign women.

Contrary to the average United States male's opinion, she declared, "French women don't emphasize sex in their dress. They look at the idea of sex differently they don't try to dramatize it or hide it; they just accept sex as sex.

"English women are badly underrated as far as sex goes. They aren't nearly the conservative dressers or reserved women most people think they are. Those that can afford sexy clothes, buy and wear them.

No Falsies

"Nowhere in Europe do you see the wide use of falsies and other devices to play up sex, devices you find in wide use here in the United States. Lots of European women don't even wear brassieres."

The French bathing suit — which Ella herself likes and wears—is worn in Italy as well as France, she reported. She said the suit examplifies the French woman's attitude toward sex:

"They either have it or they don't."

English women wear the American type of suit, she said But Ella finds the Bikini (French) beach garb offers just as much comfort and social security.

"There's nothing indecent about it. I think American women object because it shows their stomachs. Of course, the suit does require a good figure."

Three Reasons

The first time out is a hard problem, she admitted. On her beach debut in one she remained in her chair and covered herself with a magazine.

She concluded with three reasons why U. S. women take top honors in sex

1. They have better figures.
2. They have more clothes.
3. They have more modern ideas about sex.

Fear Film Board Retards Arts

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (CP) — A sharply-worded brief to the Royal Commission on arts and sciences, charging that the National Film Board and the CBC operate to the detriment of free enterprice, Drew sustained questioning Wednesday night from Commission Counsel Peter Wright.

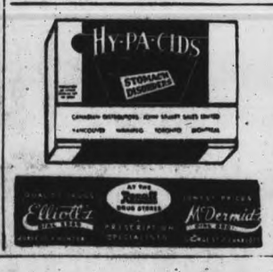
The brief was presented by T. G. Norris, President of the Vancouver Broad of Trade, in the commission's last Vancouver session before moving to Victoria.

The brief contended that "in the matter of arts, letters and sciences, the restraining, and often oppressive, hand of government is to be seen. . . in many cases to the detriment of the Public Welfare."

Mr. Wright asked examples Mr. Norris replied the statement "was general," as applying to business.

"This isn't a commission on business," Mr. Wright said.

"But those restraints might spread to the arts, letters and sciences." said Mr. Norris.



Mr. Wright replied the commission so far had heard mostly submissions which said the government had not gone for enough in the cultural field.

Seven contestants participated six from Havelock School and one from Old Havelock School. McNeely's subject was Medical Science Progresses.

Second prize winner was Mavis Ellis, grade eight, whose subject was Oil, and Betty Toms and Lorraine Thompson, both grade seven pupils, tied for third prize. Their subjects were Cotton and Building the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Others taking part from Havelock School were: Jean Kennedy, grade seven, whose subject Mosquitos; Jack Rowat, grade eight, subject North West Mounted Police; Joan Mack, grade eight, was the pupil from Old Havelock School, whose subject was Winston Churchill, a Prisoner During the Boer War.

Nearly All Villagers

R. D. Buchanan, principal of Havelock public school, officiated as chairman. He regretted there was only one contestant outside of the village, as the event was open to pupils of grades seven and eight in all the schools of Belmont Township. He noted that the contestants were much younger than those who had taken part last year, when there were six entries, three from town and three from Old Havelock.

The prizes were as follows: first $5; second $4; third $3. As there was a tie in third place two prizes were awarded. The remaining contestants received $1.75 each.

The prizes were presented by Mrs Harry Pollock and Mrs. H. J. McNeely representing the Havelock Women's Institute and Home and School Association respectively.

Mrs. McNeely explained that the oratorical contest was sponsored throughout Peterborough County by the branches of the Women's Institute and that the money for the local prizes was donated as follows: Havelock Women's Institute $5, Havelock Home and School Association $5, Belmont Women's Institute $3. The balance was made up from the door receipts.

While the judges were reaching their decision, Miss Jo-Ann Kennedy entertained with a tap dance and community singing was led by Mrs George Kennedy with Mrs. Harry Pollock as accompanist.

Nurses Defy Bevan's Orders

LONDON, Eng., (CP)—Nursing Sister Margaret Morris has been a nurse for 25 years. Now she's taking an office job.

"I'm not going to be a slave and Bevan tell me what to do," said Sister Margaret testily.

She's mad because Health Minister Aneurin Bevan has ordered a reduction in the rates of pay for free-lance nursing. He's bringing the rates down to the level prevailing for regular hospital nurses.

Sister Margaret isn't alone in calling it quits with her profession. Nurse Marjorie Buchanan of Pinner, Middlesex, is looking for a non-nursing job rather than accept the terms.

Nurse Lilian Dee, another one who's throwing up nursing, says the health ministry is cutting nurses' salaries because the free health serivce is costing too much.

The land, ruled by the 15-year-old Dalai Lama, is said to be "under examination in the light of current deevlopments in Asia, and its strategic position." This would bring Soviet expansion to the borders of India and create a threat to the non-Communist South Asian sphere. Map shows Tibet's strategic position in relation to China, Russia and India. She was granted full custody of her and Jackson's 3-year-old daughter, Jessica Louise.

Miss Durbin said Jackson became restless in their marriage and went to New York when he quit their home.

Chinese Permitted To Adopt White Child

BOSTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Chinese laundryman Jack Ho and his white wife now can adopt a 4-year-old girl whose mother wanted her back.

Judge Robert G. Wilson gave permission to Mr. and Mrs. Ho today to adopt Judith Ann Rouff after describing the girl's mother as not a fit person to care for her.

He and his wife took the little girl into their home some time ago with the permission of the mother, Mrs. Dora Rouff. The mother recently sought to regain the child's custody.

Ho's argume: for retaining Judith Ann was simple: "I can be a good father to a little white girl. It will be easy, because I love her."

Breeders Search For Dream Cow

By LORNE FRAME.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP) — Breeders of blue-ribbon cattle are engaged in a never-ending search for a "dream cow."

The search, and the lucrative financial returns from prize livestock, explains the long hours of painstaking feeding and grooming cattlemen expend in preparing entries for the show ring.

For show ring victories mean much more to the breeders of championship cattle than the mere collection of a few strands of colored ribbon.

Awards won at fairs such as this week's Ottawa Winter Fair, enhance the reputations and prestige of the breeders. That, in turn, increases the value of the breeders' herds.

Primarily livestock fairs are held to encourage cattlemen improve breeding strains and to give them an opportunity of comparison with other breeders.

Lots of Milk

Beef cattle aside, aim of breeders is to breed cows to give fabulous quantities of milk. In their breeding, they keep an eye on a standard used in judging competitions.

Although the "standard" is perhaps something of a "dream cow" W. R. Wilson of Kenmore, Ont., chairman of the cattle committee, at the 40th annual Winter Fair, says many cows have come close to the fictitious standard so that it is not something beyond reason.

Theory behind the ideal cow is that given symmetrical build, ideal quality, strength, conformation, among many other points, that cow will give the greatest quantity of milk possible.

But Mr. Wilson explains, it isn't just a matter of mating a grand champion bull with a grand champion cow. It doesn't necessarily follow that grand champion stock will come from such a combination.

Matter of Genetics

"It's a matter of genetics," he explains. "Theoretically, mating of the best bull and best cow should result in a calf that perhaps will be even better than sire or cow."

But today's cow is an artificial creature differing vastly from the cow originally supplied by nature and nature often compensates with a lower-quality calf from blue ribbon parents.

It is when such a situation arises that a farmer stands to lose money on a big investment. A person buying a large herd of good quality cattle will lose heavily if that herd doesn't reproduce quality cattle. Sometimes the milk obtained and sold does not cover capital expenditure.

Good Example Better Than Legislation WCTU Is Told

"Sulkiness, bad temper and ill patience are the primary home-wreckers" members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union were told at their meeting Thursday evening in the YWCA. The speaker, Mrs. R. M. Seymour of Enniskillen, urged all people "to live a life more fitting and evils will be overcome much quicker than by any legislation."

To live more fittingly she pointed out "We have to be cheerful Christians or we're no advertisement for the Christian faith. No one wants to be sad, sober and solemn all the time. We must set an example of Christian living which others will look to for the strength to carry on."

The speaker outlines three categories in which all humans can be classed. Those who run away from life, live in sentimentalities, enjoy poor health; those who are always making excuses for their shortcomings; those who live courageously, really taking a stand and trying to do what is right.

"How many people calling themselves Christians get into arguments have bitter and jealous feelings?" Mrs. Seymour gave a quotation "The Golden Rule is so simple most of us pass it by" and said "There would be no room for communism if all Christians were doing their duty and practising the golden rule. People want peace, happiness and contentment but they need help to attain it from those who are brave. Finding fault will not do, and it doesn't take any brains to find fault", she added.

Mrs. Seymour took as her text "Comfort ye, my people" giving the translation of "comfort" from the Latin as "be brave". "Never was there a time when we needed to be brave as today", she said. "We should leave a sense of security with those we come in contact or we have no right to occupy space." She suggested it would be well for all to memorize the Alcoholics Anonymous prayer, speaking with admiration of this organization and advising study of it. Their prayer is: "God give me grace to accept what cannot be changed; strength to change what can be changed; wisdom to discern between the two."

President Mrs. J. Adams in conducting the regular meeting asked members to use their influence to get temperance lessons taught in the Sunday Schools and have pupils enter the WCTU contest. She announced a mass meeting in Massey Hall, Toronto, on November 3, which is to be a women's protest against the present liquor laws.

The Misses Oryce McIlraith and Lou Ann Kempt entertained with a vocal duet and Mrs. G. H. Cutmore contributed a pleasing solo. Mrs. T. Glover was pianist.

Scripture selection was read by Mrs. L. Cunningham and Mrs. E. Alton led in prayer. Notes from radio interview of a Toronto bartender and a WCTU worker were the monthly clip-sheet on the read by Mrs. H. T. Rehill and Mrs. W. H. Morton with Mrs. D. Hewitt as the announcer.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Man's Attraction for Women Reaches Peak at 40 Years

At what age is a man most attractive to women? In Paris the playwrights, critics, actors, and actresses once sat in solemn conclave debating this important subject, and their unanimous decision was that it is the man of 40 who is most attractive to women. Women will generally agree with this verdict. Of course bobby-soxers may dissent from it and continue to fall for schoolboys and regard the man of 40 as interesting only as an antique, but this is because they have as naive a taste in men as they have in food.

Dorothy Dix

But that even young girls are not insensible to the superior charms of the middle-aged man is abundantly proved by the fatal fascination that married men have for them and explains why so many of them fall in love with their employers. And certainly for the sophisticated woman it is undoubtedly true that a man reaches the peak of his fascination somewhere in the early 40s.

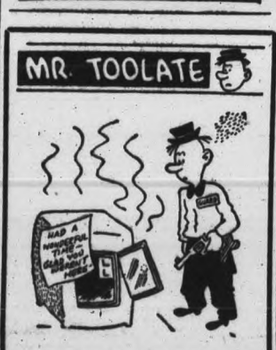
He may not be as handsome as he was a few years earlier. He may have lost something of the boyish figure he had as a stripling. His ambrosial locks may have retreated a bit higher on his forehead, but that does not matter. But very often a man at 40 is even better looking than he was at 20 because he has "jelled," so to speak. He has acquired poise and distinction and looks like somebody instead of just a pretty lad. Not without reason is the villain in melodramas, whom no woman can resist, always depicted with a little dust of gray in his hair or a single white lock.

Many Reasons

There are many reasons why the middle-aged man is more attractive to women than boys are. The first is, of course, that he is more interesting. He has seen more, done more, read and thought more. Then a man of 40 talks to a woman about herself, whereas the boy always wants to talk about himself and no woman, unless she has a strong maternal complex, longs to hear all the details of college pranks or can laugh at college humor.

The man of 40 has taken a post-graduate course in women and understands them, which the younger man never does. A boy believes that all women are alike and he has one formula for the entire sex. But by the time a man is 40 he has found out that women are individualistic and that no woman wants mass production attention and flattery. She wants something that touches the sensitive spot in her own vanity and that is handmade for her. So he never praises the beauty for her beauty, but for her intelligence and, conversely, he never exploits a highbrow's degrees, he sings paens of praise to her eyes.

Then the middle-aged man has developed a technique in lovemaking and women go through life from the cradle to the grave hungering and thirsting for romance that is romance. It is to see love properly made that sends them by the millions to the cinema and the theatres, but they never get it in real life unless a man of 40 falls in love with them.



Can Handle Situation

Perhaps experience has made him perfect in the art of wooing a woman, but at all events he knows enough not to mess up a situation that is the sweet morsel that a woman is going to roll under her tongue the balance of her life. He showers her with all the little attentions that women adore, and when he finally pops the question he doesn't do it as the youthful lover is apt to, while dodging automobiles on the street or across beefsteak and onions at a restaurant table. He chooses his time and place and gives the woman her great moment with its proper background of beauty and sentiment.

It is because the man of 40 knows women and can play upon them as upon a harp of a thousand strings that makes him more dangerous to women at that age than any other.

Toys Inducing Visit to Dentist

MONTREAL, — (CP) — Some may call them bribes but dental nurses insist they're just "inducements to children to co-operate with dentists."

These inducements may take a variety of forms, but dolls, small toys and similar articles are the most customary.

An exhibit of such articles was on display as part of the three-day convention of the Montreal Dental Nurses and Assistants Association at Montreal.

Walt Disney characters are the most popular with children, said Miss M. Lefebvre, in charge of the exhibit. The figures are about three inches high and are made from plaster used by dentists. Medical supply companies provide the necessary rubber moulds.

The customary procedure is to give the child a white figure to be painted in time for the next visit "to the man with the drill." If the child has to return for a third visit the nurse can always say someone else has done a better job, so won't he try another.

Other articles used are salt and pepper shakers, pussy cats and elongated animals.

"I understand it's a reply to the Channel swimmers!"

Social Situations

SITUATION: You have house guests in a servantless home.

WRONG WAY: Feel you must not let them help with the work, even though they offer to do so.

RIGHT WAY: Let them help you, since it will make them feel less of a burden to you if they can help out.

Ontario Woman Second Diplomat In New Zealand

By J. C. GRAHAM

WELLINGTON, N. Z., — (CP) —Miss Agnes Ireland, acting-high commissioner for Canada in New Zealand, who has made history by becoming the first woman ever to head a diplomatic mission in New Zealand, believes there are new, increasing and excellent opportunities for women in the diplomatic service.

Tall and slender, Miss Ireland was sent to New Zealand in 1947 as third secretary. Later in the same year she was promoted second secretary. The absence of High Commissioner Alfred River in Canada and the departure for the Canadian Embassy in Washington of the acting-high commissioner, Dr. Clayton Hooper, gave her her opportunity, and she is now filling with distinction the role of senior Canadian representative in New Zealand.

Miss Ireland was born in England but went to Canada with her parents at the age of two. She was educated at Sandwich High School and the Windsor Business College, Ontario. Later she was engaged in general office work at the Sandwich Board of Education. An able musician, she filled the post of organist and choir leader at St. John's Anglican Church, Sandwich, and also taught music privately.

Then followed a four-year course at the University of Toronto where she grauated with honors in modern history. She later took her M. A. at Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

In 1943 she joined the Canadian external affairs department as a member of the wartime staff and remained with the department until her appointment to New Zealand.

She thoroughly enjoys the work and its opportunities to see other countries. She has fallen in love with New Zealand and has travelled over a large part of it. Of all its scenic beauties she favors Milford Sound, in Fiordland, which she thinks "absolutely breathtaking."

Miss Ireland's appointment in New Zealand will end next year. She has at present no idea where her next posting will be, but says: "If I had my choice I would take India. That is one country that I hope to see during my career."

FEMININE MILESTONE

The eligibility of women for appointment to the Canadian Senate was declared by the Judical Committee of the Privy Council in 1929.

Lakefield Boy Injured By Car

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 28.—(ENS) Jackie Chatten, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Chatten of Queen St., narrowly escaped serious injury on Thursday night when he ran on to the road and was struck by a passing car.

The car, driven by David Burtchall of Coboconk, an employee of the Hydro Electric Power Commission, was going south on Queen St. at the time. Burtchall told Chief Garnet Samis he was able to stop the vehicle almost immediately after hitting the child because he was going slowly at the time.

Jackie's injuries were miscellaneous cuts, scratches and bruises. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital early today for an X-ray which revealed no bones broken.

He was given medical treatment after the accident by Dr. Lloyd Bailey of Lakefield.

Chief Samis said the driver was blameless and no charge would be laid.

Magistrate Acquits Drunk Driving Count

H. M. Campbell, 407 Gordon Ave., was acquitted of a charge of drunk driving by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, in police court, here Thursday afternoon. On charge of speeding the crown offered no evidence when the verdict of the first charge was given. The charge arose from an accident Sept. 18 in which Campbell smashed his car against a post on the west side of Monaghan Rd. at the corner of Wolfe St.

FIRST GOVERNOR-GENERAL

The first governor-general of Canada was Viscount Monck, 1867 to 1869.

Tells Canadians To Develop Showman Traits

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP) — Merrill Denison, author and playwright, said today that Canadians must develop traits of publicists and showmen if they are to win the kind of recognition they hope to receive in the United States.

In an address prepared for delivery at a Canadian Club luncheon, he said the story of Canada has been told only in "bits and fragments and certainly never with eloquence or passionate conviction"—except in the case of Bruce Hutchinson's descriptive book "The Unknown Country."

"I do not know why there have not been more Bruce Hutchison's," he said. "Some of the reasons might possibly be found in the involved and somewhat pitiful economies of the publishing industry in Canada. . . Others in the needs of your poets and writers and novelists for greater recognition and more sympathetic understanding, spiritual and economic.

Wholly Inarticulate

"I don't pretend to know the reasons, but I do know that Canadians are wholly inarticulate and almost completely devoid of the dramatic instinct that characterizes both the British and the Americans. In other words, they are neither publicists nor showmen.

"Furthermore, I know that you will have to develop those traits and you will have to find more Bruce Hutchisons to tell about them before you can hope to win the kind of recognition you have wished from across the border. You will have to find out about yourselves and know and appreciate yourselves before you can expect other people to know and understand you."

Mr. Denison said that, born in Detroit of Canadian parents, he felt subjected to a loyalty to both Canada and the United States. He attended school in Toronto. Now, as a journalist and author, he spent part of his time in New York and part "among the more tranquil beauties of the backwoods of Ontario in the heart of the Laurentian shield."

Mr. Denison's books include "Canada, Our Dominion Neighbor."

Pontypool Pair Suffer Injuries

BETHANY, Oct. 28.—(ENS)—Two Pontypool brothers narrowly escaped serious injury Thursday when their motorcycle crashed into a car on Highway 35, a mile north of Ballyduff.

Alex Ninigon, 19, driver of the motorcycle, was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, with a severe cut on one ear and head injuries. His brother, Morris, escaped with a shaking up and a few bruises.

The motorcycle was approaching the farm of Lloyd Strong, RR 1, Bethany, as the latter backed out of his driveway to the highway. Strong had driven the car partly into the road and then stopped when he saw the oncoming motorcycle, but the latter crashed into the car.

Both brothers were thrown from the motorcycle and landed in a nearby ditch.

Alex was attended to by Dr. George MacNeill of Pontypool and then removed to Lindsay hospital.

Provincial Constable R. Kowal of Bowmanville, investigated.

Make Final Search Of Noronic's Hull

TORONTO, Oct. 28—(CP) — Police today are making a final search of the hull of the cruise ship Noronic for bodies of victims of the Sept. 17 fire..

Late Thursday night salvage workers pumped sufficient water out to allow the vessel to float on an even keel and at its normal level. Police said they located a large amount of bonds, suitcases and clothing.

After today's search the vessel will be towed to Hamilton and broken up for scrap.

4 Hunters Drown

WALKER, Minn., Oct. 28 (AP) —The bodies of four men missing since Tuesday on a duck hunting trip were recovered Thursday from Sand Lake. Dead were Andrew Lehmann, 34; his brother, Steve, 55; J. M. Cavanaugh, 38; and C. F. Wachter, 42. All were from the Minneapolis area. Their two overturned boats drifted to the shore of the lake Wednesday.

Pig Breaks Leg

CAMBELLFORD, Oct. 28—(ENS)—Fate is unkind even to the lower animals. A pig sustained a broken leg recently when Tom Chadwick, falling from the hayloft, made a pancake landing on its back.

Mr. Chadwick escaped uninjured but the porker is now supplying the family's meat needs.

Aims and Motives Selfish When Man Feels Frustrated

Service to fellow men as a philosophy of life should be taught in schools from the lowest grades up, B. W. Switzer, director of vocational half of the Peterborough Collegiate, said in an address to members of the Kinsmen Club Thursday night.

It was of the highest importance because it was a means by which people might find relief from leading lives of insecurity and frustration. The evidence of the desperate lives people in North America live is seen in daily newspapers and in a welter of magazine articles which offer an easy solution of how to find happiness, Mr. Switzer pointed out.

The source of the frustration which most people have in their lives is in the fact that their aims in life and motives for the things they do are selfish.

The man who has set wealth as his goal is never satisfied because he never has enough money, just as the power-seeker never has enough power. A third goal is self-glorification. Self-glorification is a basic instinct in men. Men like to be well thought of by others, but it depends too much on the ever-changing opinions of other people and as a result leads to the heights of elation one day and depths of despair the next.

Seeks Only Security

Many people seek only security. But always present with those who have attained some measure of security is the fear it will disappear. Similarly the motive which aims at ensuring that the individual gets to a hereafter is always subject to soul-shattering doubts.

Because all these motives are selfish they cannot bring peace to the individual, Mr. Switzer asserted. The motive of service is the only one that is purely unselfish and therefore able to give contentment.

"If a man's primary motive is service, his secondary motives will automatically be taken care of," Mr. Switzer declared. He will be a more responsible employee and citizen and therefore more valuable to his employer and fellow citizens.

He proposes that service be taught in lower grades in school through stories with a moral. These stories, such as "The Dog in the Manger," although at the moment out of fashion, do leave lasting impressions in young minds.

Discuss Life Problems

In higher grades, the philosophy could be taught through discussions of life problems. In all grades the idea of service and each individual having a responsibility to the group could be put into practice. Under such a system, the teacher would not be an object of fear, but a member of the group, a member who interprets the rules and gives advice.

But, said Mr. Switzer, service, like everything else, should be applied with common sense. Extremely important was the aspect of the theory which held that it was the duty of the "worker bees" to see that the "drones" assume their share of responsibility so that they too can learn the pleasure of serving.

Mr. Switzer was introduced by W. B. Gordon.

Y's Men Hear Old Epitaphs Of Weird Humor

Tombstone epitaphs which now seem humorous were actually meant to be serious 100 or more years ago, Harry Baptie, Personnel Manager of the Western Clock Company, told the Y's Men's Club Thursday night at their weekly meeting. Mr. Baptie was speaking to the club on "Tombstone Epitaphs."

The present purpose of tombstones, Mr. Baptie explained, is to record the date of birth and death. Very seldom verses or inscriptions are seen on present day tombstones, he added.

One hundred years ago the purpose of tombstones was not only to record the date of birth and death but to give something of the characteristics of the deceased. Some of the epitaphs, Mr. Baptie said, dealt with the last illness of the deceased, his philosophy, or took a sly dig at his character.

New England Epitaphs

Mr. Baptie said that many of the "humorous" epitaphs appear in the cemeteries of the New England States, England and Ireland. In many cases there are pictures to prove they are authentic.

With each of the 20 epitaphs which Mr. Baptie read he explained a possible reason for their being written.

Some of the epitaphs were: Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough, in memory of Daniel McDonald,

"Ye weak beware, here lies the strong,
And here he lies at length."
A victim to his strength
He lifted 1,600 pounds,

Shutesbury, Mass.: To the four husbands of Miss Joy Saunders,

"Here lie my husbands, one, two, three,
Dumb as men could ever be;
As for my fourth, well praise be to God,
He hides for awhile above the sod;
Alex, Ben, Sandy were the first three's names,
And to make things tidy, I'll add his—James."

Mr. Baptie was introduced by Joseph Watson and thanked by Jack Thornton.

Reports were given to the club by George Moore (Y's Men's Club conference here last weekend) and Rick Cochrane (Christmas Turkey Draw).

Hospital Governors Must Request Service

"I don't want to be critical, but I think we've done pretty well for them," said Fred Hills in a reference to a water main for fire protection at Civic Hospital at the Utilities Commission meeting Thursday.

"Darn well," was the expression of emphasis by G. A. MacDonald.

R. L. Dobbin estimated the footage cost at $4.50, and it was reported that the Governors wanted a main that would circle the new buildings, with five or six hydrants. It seemed to be understood that the Board would expect the Commission to absorb the cost, and the sentiment of G. S. Matthews and his two associates was that they had been "doing prety well for the hospital."

"We'll wait for a written request from them," said Mr. Matthews, indicating the source of initiative if the Governors desire a set of hydrants on the hospital property.

Jury Reduces Manslaughter Driving Charge

LINDSAY (Special)—Oct. 28—Aylmer A. Davies, Toronto, was Thursday convicted of dangerous driving when he faced a charge of manslaughter following the death, in a car accident, of Miss Elsie Prior. The verdict was brought in by a Supreme Court jury and Mr. Justice Gale remanded Davies for sentence to be announced late this afternoon.

Miss Prior, whom Davies told the court was a model for his firm, was killed June 27 on Highway 35 east of Lindsay at the CPR crossing, when she was a passenger in his car.

He had been travelling from Lindsay to Peterborough, Davies said in evidence. While driving at a speed of 50-55 m.p.h. he noticed a school sign and slowed down to 37. Then his attention was taken by two boys wrestling in the school yard and he watched them until he was past the school.

Glancing to the right again, he saw the engine of the train coming at a terrific speed not more than 75 feet away. He had not seen the railway crossing sign, the side road sign, nor the second crossing sign. He heard neither whistles nor bells.

"I jammed on my brakes and was almost slowed to a stop," he said "but couldn't avoid hitting the train."

He leaves one sister, Mrs. Stauffer (Margaret), of Regina, and a brother, Scott Kerr, of Lawson. A brother, Raymond, predeceased him six years ago. An uncle, T. Armstrong, and cousin, William L. Morrison, both live in Bancroft. Mr. Kerr visited Peterborough and South Monaghan three years ago.

Make Bigger Bombs

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP) —A larger atom bomb is possible, in the opinion of Professor Richard P. Feyman of Cornell University's physics department. "Neither the United States nor Russia is making atom bombs as large as they could be," Feyman told a Syracuse University class Thursday. Feyman was a member of the atomic energy calculating staff at Los Alamos, N. M., during the Second World War.

18-Seat Bonus Accorded Manitoba Gov't

WINNIPEG, Oct. 28 (CP)—The Manitoba government got a nomination day bonus of 18 free seats Thursday and the chief opposition spokesman conceded Premier Douglas Campbell's coalition will be returned to office in the Nov. 10 general election.

"We haven't any alternative but to agree that they will be returned," said E. A. Hansford, leader of the C.C.F. official opposition in the last legislature.

The premier, six of his cabinet and seven other coalition members were re-elected by acclamation. The coalition parties also were sure of four more seats in the 57-member legislature in ridings where there will be a vote.

The Liberal-Progressive party, which Mr. Campbell heads, got 11 of the acclamations and the Progressive Conservatives three.

Winnipeg South, a four-member constituency, will provide the coalition with another seat since only three opposition candidates are entered there. In addition, the contests in Killarney, Lansdowne and Hamiota involve only candidates supporting coalition.

Political observers said the 18 seats assured on nomination day constitute a record for Manitoba. However, the 1941 general election produced a larger number of acclamations when 16 members were returned without opposition. There were seven acclamations in the last general election, in 1945.

TRUCK HITS TREE, HASTINGS MAN DIES

G.M. Strike Stalemated, Up To Daley

Car Production Cut 360 A Day, St. Catharines Hit

OSHAWA, Oct. 29 (CP) — The strike of 5,200 General Motors workers over claims of an assembly line speedup is stalemated.

Hopes of bringing the union and company together for settlement talk appear to rest with Labor Minister Daley of Ontario. Such a conference was suggested by the United Automobile Workers (CIO), which called the strike Wednesday.

The strike is causing anxiety to 28,000 residents of this city 30 miles east of Toronto. Oshawa's business and industrial life is centred on General Motors, the main industry, which draws supplies from smaller plants in this area.

Loss in production of automobiles exceeds 360 a day and the total since the strike started is more than 1,000, company spokesmen say.

The strike also is being felt at St. Catharines, where McKinnon Industries Ltd., a General Motors subsidiary, Friday went on a "day-to-day" employment schedule until the strike here is settled. The St. Catharines plant produces automobile parts.

Charge Violation

In telegrams to heads of the International Union, the company charged Friday that the strike is "a direct violation" of a contract intended to run until June, 1950. The company said all situations put forward by the union as reasons for the strike are "capable of solution under grievance procedure set out in the agreement."

The strikers are maintaining picket lines day and night at 14 gates of the plant. Tents have been thrown up to provide night-time rest and warmth for the picketers.

Oshawa residents are comparing the industrial tieup with the 16-day strike staged by General Motors workers in April, 1937.

Settlement terms provided for a 44-hour week, wage increases and recognition of Local 222 of the United Automobile Workers, the union local which called the present strike.

School Loses 50 Million Gift

NATCHEZ, Miss., Oct. 29—(AP)—George W. Armstrong, Sr., last night withdrew his offer of a $50,000,000 endowment for Jefferson Military College. Today the trustees were to meet to determine if the 147-year-old school with an enrolment of 47 students must close for lack of funds. The 84-year-old Mississippi and Texas oil man said he withdrew his offer because a statement by three trustees of the school "repudiates" a condition of the endowment.

That condition called for changes in the Charter to bar all persons of African or Asiatic descent and to operate the College primarily for Christians.

After Armstrong withdrew his offer, Stanley N. Murphy, Chairman of the Trustees' Executive Committee, told newspaper men:

"It is obvious why we couldn't accept Judge Armstrong's offer under his terms. We don't need money that badly. We would close the school first."

Nothing Objectionable

Murphy said that Armstrong made his offer last Feb. 14 asking only that persons of African and Asiatic descent be barred from the school and that the number of trustees be cut from 12 to five, of which the Judge Armstrong Foundation would name three.

He said nothing appeared objectional in that request.

But later, Murphy added, Allen Jack Armstrong, son of the oil man, told newspaper men without authorization of the trustees that the school would teach "the superiority of the Anglo-Saxon and Latin American races."

"That," Murphy said, "was utterly foreign to the thinking of all other 11 members of the board of trustees."

Armstrong, Sr., said in a statement "I am not opposed to the Jewish and Negro races as such," Armstrong said, "but I am opposed to mongrealization."

Bulgaria Rushes Jails To House Purge Victims

LONDON, Oct. 29—(AP)—Premier Tito's Communist party newspaper, Borba, reported today a new purge in Bulgaria to weed out Communists who stray from the Moscow line. The report broadcast by Tanjug, the official Yugoslav News Agency, said 200 already have been arrested, including three former government ministers.

The mass arrests "have provoked great bitterness among Bulgarian workers," the newspaper said.

It added Bulgarian leaders are putting so many people in jail the country is having to build new concentration camps to house them.

It listed Ivan Stepenov, former Minister of Finance; H. Sekelarov, former Minister of Public Works; and Petko Kunin, former Minister of Industry as being among those arrested.

Borba said Gen. Vasil Marjov, member of the central committee of the Bulgarian Workers (Communist) party, also had been taken into custody.

There have been periodic purges in most of the Soviet satellite countries since the end of the war.

Clark Promoted Young General

OTTAWA, Oct. 29—(CP)—Samuel Findlay Clark of Toronto and Kingston was made the regular army's youngest major-general Friday and named Canada's spokesman in Atlantic pact planning for Europe.

The 40-year-old native of Winnipeg was appointed by Defense Minister Claxton as head of the Canadian joint staff in London in the role of Canadian military representative on pact organization in the United Kingdom. He will represent the chiefs of staff on the military committee of the Western European group.

His post parallels somewhat that of Air Vice-Marshal Hugh Campbell, 41, who was named recently a Canada's main permanent spokesman at pact headquarters in Washington and head of the Canadian military staff there.

Gen. Clark has been Canadian observer on the military committee of the Brussels Pact powers for the last year, a post which is a direct prelude to his new one.

The difference is that Canada is not a member of the Brussels Pact and the position as an observer was a courtesy gesture by the nations which comprise it—the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

It Takes The Women

OSHAWA, Oct. 29—(CP)—Marion Bannon was appointed city Relief Administrator Friday night because "it is the feeling of the Welfare Board that an irate man wouldn't strike a woman as readily as he would another man," Ald. Evelyn Bateman, chairman of the Welfare Board, said at a council meeting.

Sees Missing Son Mother Dies

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Oct. 29 (AP)—A woman who traced her missing sailor son around the globe, fell dead of shock here when she faced him. The story was related Friday by the woman's husband as last rites were said at her grave.

Mrs. R. Levi of Aden, saw her sturdy 19-year-old son early in the Second World War when he kissed her goodbye and left to join the Royal Navy.

After several months she was advised that his ship was torpedoed and all hands lost.

She refused to believe her son was dead. She wandered through Mediterranean ports seeking him. She visited Britain, the United States and Australia in the weary search. At one time she spent 11 days and nights of terror and starvation in an open boat.

Then in an asylum in Observatory, near Capetown, she found her son. The war victim was a human wreck who could only mutter "shalom, shalom," the Hebrew words for "peace."

She looked at him, crumpled to the floor, and died.

Cost Of Living Rises In United States

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The cost of living rose one-half of one per cent in September, the largest monthly increase in consumer prices for a year.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the prices of all major items contributing to city living costs went up except clothing.

The rise, however, still left the price level three per cent below the all-time peak of September a year ago. It was 27 per cent higher than in June, 1946, and 72 per cent more than August, 1939.

Holdup Turns Manhunt To Philadelphia For Trio

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29 (AP)

A manhunt for three gun-toting convicts still at large from a Delaware prison turned to Philadelphia today after a cafe holdup which police said was pulled by two of them.

The two gunmen forced 15 patrons at a cafe to stand with their hands up while they took $85 out of the cash register and fled.

Police said victims of the tap-room holdup were shown newspaper photographs of the escapees and positively identified the bandits as Willie Edwards, 28, and Joseph A. Lankford, 25, two of the three men still at large from New Castle County Workhouse near Wilmington, Del.

Five of the eight prisoners who broke out Wednesday night have been taken into custody, and are in solitary confinement at the prison.

Delaware State Police Friday night captured Danny Norris, 20-year-old life-term murderer, and Victor M. Bryson, 20, at the home of Bryson's brother-in-law, John Andes, Minquadale, Del., not far from the prison.

The pair surrendered without a struggle.

A few hours later another prisoner, Edward Ernst, 25, Wilmington, walked into Penny Hill State Police Station about two miles north of Wilmington and told Capt. Harry S. Shew: "I know you're looking for me. I want to surrender."

Thursday night Maryland State police seized John Henry Minor, 28 Bear Cleve, Fla., and Jesse W. Palmer, 23, Tuscumbia, Ala., after a wild highway chase at North East, Md.

Still at large besides Edwards and Lankford is Edward J. Hardy, 23, Gloucester, Mass.

Use Sausage Casing To Save Many Lives

HALIFAX, Oct. 29 — (CP). — Sausage casing has been the means of saving a number of lives by doing the work of non-functioning kidneys.

Dr. D. W. Gordon Murray, senion demonstrator in surgery and clinical surgery at the University of Toronto, described the process Friday at the Dalhousie University refresher course for doctors. More than 160 physicians and surgeons are taking the course.

The patient's blood is circulated through the sausage casing, which is sufficiently porous to allow impurities to filter out while retaining other ingredients.

Dr. Murray said it was the first such process in North America. It had been used successfully in a number of cases where other measures did not work.

Wants Information

QUEBEC, Oct. 29—(CP)—Premier Duplessis said Friday that he had asked Prime Minister St. Laurent to obtain "within the shortest possible delay" date and venue of the proposed Federal-Provincial conference on constitutional matters.

Crash Occurs 10 Miles Out Of City

2 Cars Out Of Control On No. 7 Highway, Thaine Barker Dies

HASTINGS Oct. 29 (ENS) — Thaine Barker, 47, of Division St., Hastings, was killed Friday night when the panel truck he was driving left No. 7 Highway and crashed into a tree, about 10 miles east of Peterborough.

A car driven by John S Kidd of RR 1, Warsaw, also going east and following the Barker vehicle was involved. It is believed Kidd was attempting to pass Barker when the two vehicles went out of control, possibly due to a sideswipe.

Traffic was coming in the opposite direction at the time.

Barker's truck ran off the highway and hit a tree on the south side of the pavement dead-on Kidd's car sideswiped another tree about 30 feet away but he escaped uninjured.

Still Alive

Barker was alive when passersby got to him, and they had difficulty extricating him from the crushed panel truck. The door had to be pried open and he was found wedged under the instrument panel.

Sgt. B. R. Smith of the Peterborough Armories staff, came upon the scene of the accident within a minute of its happening. He helped to pull the injured unconscious man out of the front seat, where he was wedged. He died before they could free him.

Coroner Dr. Herbert Young had ordered a post mortem which will be performed later today by Dr. Russell Morgan. It is believed Barker died of a broken neck.

Provincial Police Corporal Lloyd McClure investigated together with Constables G E Henderson and Norman De Bow.

He leaves a wife, the former Jean Sherwin, two small boys, Wayne 7 and Larry, 2; a sister, Mrs. George McGregor of Campbellford, and two brothers, Eldon of Armour Road, Peterborough, and Gordon Barker, of Havelock.

Barker was employed as a superintendent with the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission. During the war he served with the Army Signal Corps, enlisting in Hastings but did not leave Canada.

Sure Britain And U.S. Act Together In China

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—Sir Oliver Franks, British Ambassador to the United States, says Britain and the US "probably will go along together" in the matter of recognition of Communist China.

"At least we will not act until after full consultation with you," he told a press conference after he and Lady Franks arrived Friday for a four-day stay.

"It is not well said that there is a difference of opinion in the matter of recognition between the British and Americans," he continued. "It is rather a difference in approach growing out of the situation. British Chinese trade is greater—to put it bluntly, we have a bigger stake than you."

VICTIM OF A CAR accident Friday night was Thaine Barker, 47, of Hastings. He was killed when his car ran off the Highway and crashed into a tree. He leaves two small boys, one age seven and the other two. Barker was a member of the Royal Canadian Army Signal Corps.

P.C. Hierarchy Planning Hold Conference

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 — (CP). — First meeting of the hierarchy of the Progressive Conservative Party since the general election of June 27 will be held here Monday and Tuesday.

The sessions will bring together the executive of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, a group largely responsible for the party's organization and, to some extent, for policy.

The discussions will be held in camera, but party headquarters have disclosed that one of the main items of business will be the question of party organization.

In the general election, Progressive Conservative representation dropped fro 69 to 41 members while that of the Liberals climbed from 125 to 193. In eight by-elections October 24, the Progressive Conservatives retained Toronto Greenwood. Small Boy 3, Imprisoned 3 Hours In Pipe, Escapes With Scratches

Quick-Thinking Companion Sounds Alarm Volunteers Swarm To Scene; Child Slides Down 18 Feet, Only Scratched

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 29—(AP)—Slight scratches on the face and side were the only physical reminders today that Bobby Andrew Gow, a tiny three-year-old, was imprisoned three hours Friday deep in an eight-inch cistern pipe. Bobby, whose 26-pound body dropped from view at 2.48 p.m. CST, just 50 feet from his back doorstep, was reported in good shape in hospital where he spent the night under observation.

Maybe he owed his life to quick-thinking 12-year-old John Schneider. It was Johnny who shouted the alarm when Bobby slipped feet first into the abandoned pipe.

Johnny dashed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gow and told them what had happened to their little boy, youngest of three children.

Firemen and policemen were on he scene in 10 minutes. Civilian volunteers rolled in.

They swung pick axes and shovels. A steam shovel went into action less than half an hour after Bobby disappeared from sight. Two more shovels and compressed air hammers joined the scooping-out operation which allowed workers to get to the base of the pipe.

Pump In Oxygen

An oxygen line dangled in the pipe near Bobby's head and kept pumping until rescuers with cold chisels and tin snippers cut through to the lad at 5:42 p.m.

Master mechanic M. R. Miller of the fire department held Bobby's hand to comfort him as the section of pipe was removed. Miller then lifted the youngster out.

Bobby was kicking. He hollered "Daddy." The cry was almost lost in the roar of some 2,000 spectators who had remained silent until those pressing against police ropes saw the child move.

"They've got him . . . he's alive" the front-line onlookers cried out.

"Oh, Lord, just to see that boy . . . ," Gow said tenderly when asked how he felt when he saw Bobby released.

Drop Down Rope

Workers dropped a small rope down the pipe and succeeded in working it on to Bobby's wrist. They did not attempt to pull him up. They feared the rope might slip off or Bobby might be injured by any upward movement in the narrow confines of the pipe.

Bobby's body first lodged about 14 feet down in the pipe. The cistern had never been used by the Gow's. They did not know whether there was water at the bottom. Bobby continued to slide downward as the work progressed

He was standing on the dry bottom when rescuers reached him at a depth of 18 feet.

Murray Ready To Clear Out Pro-Red Groups

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29 (AP)—C.I.O. President Philip Murray indicated today he was ready to rid his labor union federation of all pro-Communist groups.

Murray said so in a report prepared for the annual convention opening here Monday.

He used the most vigorous language in C.I.O. record to describe his feelings toward Communist and pro-Communist unions in the C.I.O.

The C.I.O. leader was reported ready to tell the 11th annual convention there is no room in his organization for pro-Communist unions.

He also was said to have described the left-wing anti-Murray program as one of destruction.

Murray and other top C.I.O. leaders have threatened to toss all left-wingers off the powerful executive board.

They also have made plans to throw at least three pro-Communist unions out of the organization. The left-wing unions scheduled to get the boot are the United Electrical Workers, the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and the Farm Equipment Workers. The three have a combined membership of about 500,000.

Three Families Homeless In Fire

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 29.—Three Belleville families were homeless Friday night as the result of a two-alarm fire which gutted the attic and upper story of a three-apartment terrace in the eastern part of the city.

The fire, which started at 1.30 p.m., was brought under control at 3 o'clock through the expert work on the par o he Belleville Fire Deparmen!, which saved the building from total destruction. Investigation is being conducted to determine the cause of the fire.

There has be no official statement as to the extent of damage, but one insurance official placed it between $15,000 and $20,000 as the whole interior of the building was damaged by fire and water.

The residents saved most of their belongings with most of the loss, caused by water, coming to one family which lost half the contents of their home.

Blames Steel Firms For Strike Deadlock

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—Senator Wayne Morse (Rep. Ore.) today blamed the big steel companies for failure to settle the industry-strangling steel strike.

With negotiations deadlocked in both the steel walkout and the equally-important coal strike — and United States industry showing the effects—Morse called on steel producers to grant the 10-cent welfare package proposed by President Truman's fact-finding board.

Federal mediation chief Cyrus Ching, calling three more steel firms into peace talks starting in Washington Sunday or Monday, reported no "tangible evidence" of progress toward ending the strike.

Similar reports came from coal talks, as negotiators put off further discussions for a new contract until Tuesday. Meanwhile, government reports showed output shrinking and layoffs rising in the industries which feed on coal and steel.

Go-Between Talks With Arabs Out—Israel

Knock Out UN Conciliation Props, Face-To-Face Meeting Unlikely

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Oct. 29 —(CP)—Israel has kicked the props from under the United Nations Palestine Conciliation committee by refusing to take part in any more go-between peace talks with her four Arab neighbors—Hashemite Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Egypt.

United Nations sources said there was little immediate prospect that the Arabs would consent to face-to-face negotiations with the Israelis.

Israel Friday night notified the commission, made up of representatives of the United States, France and Turkey, of withdrawal from the indirect peace talks. An Israeli spokesman said Israel is willing to deal directly to all outstanding political and territorial problems.

The Arabs have refused since the Commission was established by the 1948 general assembly in Paris to sit down at the same table with Israeli representatives. The Arabs have contended that would constitute recognition of Israel as a state. The Commission met separately with Israelis and Arabs for months in Lausanne, Switzerland, and recently moved to New York.

The Israeli note replied to a letter from the Commission asking all five countries concerned to re-examine their territorial claims. The Arab replies have not been made public.

Not Exact Terms

The Israeli representative would not divulge the exact terms of his government's reply but he outlined it to reporters.

The statement said indirect talks were considered useless by Israel and "can even make the situation more difficult."

There was no indication from either side that armistice arrangements negotiated by mediator Ralph J. Bunche were in danger.

The conciliation commission has submitted to the general assembly a plan for an international regime in Jerusalem. This has been opposed by the Israeli government, which insists on retaining control over all the territory it now holds in the city except for holy places.

On the future of the Italian colonies, a special subcommittee decided Friday night on its recommendations.

The 21-country group agreed that Libyia should be independent by Jan. 1, 1952; that Italian Somaliland be given independence by 1959, with interim rule by an Italian-U.N. trusteeship administration, and that a five-power commission go to Eritrea and report next year on the situation there.

Poland Purges High Officials In West Deals

WARSAW, Oct. 29—(Reuters)—At least three vice-ministers whose names have been withheld have been dismissed in a widespread purge of Polish public life, following disclosures in the Hungarian treason trials of the alleged existence of an espionage network in Eastern Europe.

Communist Party commissions and state security officers have quietly started a cleanup of ministries and state enterprises to remove from office those suspected of being unreliable in the light of recent developments over Marshal Tito and the treason trials.

Scores of officials of all grades have been dimissed or demoted.

Targets of this latest sweep of "untrustworthy" elements appear to be men who have spent long periods abroad in western countries and those considered sympathetic toward the "nationalist" stand of Wladyslaw Gomulka, former Deputy Prime Minister.

Gomulka, dismissed last summer for differences with the Cominform attitude on the Tito issue, has virtually disappeared from public life. He has not been seen and has made no public utterance for several months.

The purge campaign is being carried out without any atmosphere of violence or uneasiness.

Strict security measures have been introduced in all government departments. Particular care now is being taken in the Ministry of Foreign Trade to preserve secrecy about industrial output and economic progress. All information on production ranks as top secret.

Grant Company Tax Reduction On Old Building

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 29. — (ENS).— The Court of Revision was held Friday morning in the council chamber with Deputy-Reeve Ralph Locke, Councillors P. H. MacMillan, W. Nicholas and Howard Wilson as members. Councillor MacMillan was chairman and Clerk J. F. McGregor, secretary.

W. M. McComb, superintendent of the Campbellford Cloth Co., claimed the assessment on the mill should be reduced from $142,400 to $122,400. He based his claim on the fact that the building is of the old type, that the costs had to be reduced to compete with the import of British cloth and that closing down the mill would create an unhealthy labor situation. On motion of Wilson and Nicholas the claim was allowed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Newman claimed their assessment on two back lots and house was too high, being out of line with adjacent properties. On motion of Locke and Nicholas the assessment on the two back lots was reduced from $100 to $50 each. The assessment on the house was reduced from $1,725 to $1,600. on motion of Nicholas and Wilson.

Appearing for Mrs. J. Rappaport, J. F. R. Douglas claimed that the assessment of $9,150 on the Aron theatre, Bridge St., was excessive in comparison with adjacent properties. He further claimed the building had no basement and that a great deal of old material had been used in its construction.

Claim Dismissed

Assessor Harry Townsend pointed out that the assessment was low considering the high cost of the building. On motion of Locke and Nicholas the claim was dismissed.

David Ness asked that the Holdaway Furniture Co. be classified as a planing mill instead of a manufacturing concern for fixing the business tax assessment. The request was granted on motion of Wilson and Locke.

Reeve J. C. Anderson notified the court that he had sold half of Lot No. 12, Block 2, and asked that the necessary change be made in the 1948 assessment roll to transfer the property. On motion of Wilson and Locke, the assessor was instructed to make the change.

Who Stole Three Billion? China—Reds Can't Agree

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 29 (CP)—A Chinese delegate offered Friday to let the UN decide who is a robber—the Soviet Union or the government of Nationalist China.

The question of robbers was injected into the UN Political Committee's Greek-Balkan debate on Thursday when Chinese delegate Chieh-Hou kan told a story about a foolish robber.

According to the story, the robber stole $300, and hoping to protect the money, buried it and put up a sign saying: "The $300 is not buried here."

The Chinese delegate said Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia was doing the same thing when he became angry at remarks about an unnamed "new imperialism."

Foreign Minister Dmitri Z. Manuilsky of the Soviet Ukraine referred to this story Friday afternoon, and said: "The group to which the Chinese delegate belongs stole from American taxpayers $3,000,000,000 in hard cash."

Chieh-Hou kan retorted that whatever amount of money the US Government had given China was in the form of a loan and was duly authorized by the American Congress.

He added that Russia had gone into Manchuria and taken away forcibly more than $3,000,000,000 worth of equipment and machinery.

"This is robbery," the Chinese delegate said. "The committee can judge who is a robber."

French Mission Checks Cause Of Air Crash

PONTA DELGADA, Sao Miguel, The Azores, Oct. 29 (AP)— A French technical mission sought today to determine the cause of the crash of a Transatlantic Air France Constellation plane in which 48 persons died. There were no survivors.

The dead included Guy Jasmin, editor-in-chief of the Montreal French-language newspaper, Le Canada, and Mrs. Rachel Jasmin, his mother. Another victim was middleweight boxer Marcel Cerdan.

Rescue workers combed the charred wreckage of the Paris-to-New York plane on a Sao Miguel mountain, seeking bodies of the victims. Some of the bodies found were more or less recognizable, others were charred beyond recognition.

The bodies, watches, jewelry and other personal articles found were taken to the church at Aldea Algarvia, the coastal village nearest the scene of yesterday's crash.

Directs Investigation

French Civil Aviation Inspector Louis Mirepoix was directing the investigation of the crash. The plane Friday struck near the tip of 3,500-foot high Algarvia Peak. The peak is 90 miles by sea north of the Santa Maria air base, where the big airliner had been scheduled to land for refueling.

Shepherders in the vicinity of the crash said they saw the transport aflame before it fell. It was last heard from early Friday when it radioed it would land in five minutes at Santa Maria airport.

The dead in the crash included 37 passengers and 11 crew members. Among the dead were Miss Ginette Neveu, noted 28-year-old French concert violinist, and the French portrait painter Bernard Boutet de Monvel.

To match this higher egg-making energy, Purina Research has added more vitamins and worked out a new protein balance — not more protein, but a blending of the amino acid "building stones" which make up the protein.

Practical testing at the Purina Research Farm proves that these new Laying Chows really do make more eggs from less feed. Whatever your grain supply and egg market situation may be, there's a Chow built to fit. Try the one that fits your situation, on your new pullet flock. See us about a supply.

FOR TOP PRODUCTION, TOP FEED CHECKERS

Five Parliamentary Papers Go Daily To House Members

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Oct 29 —(CP)—All alone in the great chamber, a pageboy moved from desk to desk one day this week in the quiet hours before the Daily Assembly of the Commons.

He was about a perennial chore, or part of it—the distribution of the daily papers of Parliament.

There are five of them that come streaming from the government printing offices five days of every week Parliament sits. Of these only one— the so-called Hansard or Official Report of Commons debates—is well known to the general public.

The other include its Senate counterpart bearing the title "Official Report of Debates," the "votes and proceedings" and the "routine proceedings and orders of the day" of the Commons and Senate's "minutes of the proceedings."

These have a large basic importance, particularly for backbench members. A few of them say they often have to wait for the newspapers or Hansard to find out what has been said in the front rows, it's that hard to hear.

Records

The papers are the chart and record of daily proceedings, the ready indication of what has happened and what is coming up.

The two official reports of debates are just that, printed versions of shorthand notes taken the day before as members and Senators unfolded their views. Commons' Hansard has a fair circulation around the country at a rate of $3 a year and is closely studied daily by such people as High Civil Servants who watch for comment on their departments.

Commons' votes and proceedings" contains a bare, bony account of what happened the day before outside the debates themselves—the bills passed, the divorce bills submitted, questions answered with tabled replies by the Cabinet, the movements in procedure — "and the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to."

Looking Ahead

The "routine proceeding and orders of the day" is a handbook of business ahead, including the motions transferred from "votes and proceedings" after one day. It keeps a chart of that business before members until they take care of it one way or another—questions asked the government, notice of bills, motions, the order of precedence in the daily activities.

Hint Oliver May Run For Leadership Again

OTTAWA, Oct. 29—(CP)—The Ottawa citizen said Friday that Farquhar Oliver has told friends he will be a candidate for the Ontario Liberal leadership at the forthcoming provincial convention of the party.

Mr. Oliver, member of the Legislature for Grey South, won the leadership in July 1945 and resigned the post recently.

In a front page story, the newspaper quotes Mr. Oliver as telling friends: "My hat is in the ring again."

The story adds that Mr. Oliver's supporters believe his re-endorsement at a convention would strengthen the party in Ontario.

Drew Charges Constitution Being Broken

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Friday night charged that the Liberal government is "tearing the constitution down the middle" by disregarding the voice of the provinces.

The government's desire to obtain power to amend the constitution "is a clear exposure of the Federal Government that power should be centralized here in Ottawa," Mr. Drew said in a speech before a meeting of the Ottawa Young Progressive Conservative Association.

Prime Minister St. Laurent had told the Commons that the changes in the constitution on Federal matters are no concern to the provincial governments Mr Drew added. But that wasn't so.

The Canadian constitution was one constitution, and if the constitution was to be amended, then there should be a meeting of all governments having a common interest in those amendments.

He referred to the fact that the government has obtained authority from the Commons to proceed with a request to the United Kingdom Government for power to amend the constitution on federal matters.

The very reason the constitution has been dealt with at the present time is that there are not enough educated in this country as to what it is."

Neighboring Honor Family Leaving Douro

DOURO Oct. 29 —The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs James Healey and family gathered at Harmond Hall, Douro, on Wednesday evening to say farewell and wish them good luck before leaving for their new home in Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. Healey have lived in Douro for a number of years.

The evening was spent in card playing and dancing. Prizes for the card were won by Mrs. F. P. O'Brien, Joseph V. O'Connor and consolation prizes by Mrs. Harry Ayotte and John P. Sheehan.

After the lunch a suitable address was read to the parting family by Mrs. Victor Kennedy and a presentation of a plate glass wall mirror was made by Mrs. Dan Dwyer. Mr. Healey replied briefly. John P. Sheehan was master of ceremonies for the evening.

TASTE THE DIFFERENCE—When Good Taste finished second in the Cambridgeshire handicap, it meant a $31,000 windfall for 50-year-old Harold Blackmore of London, Ont., whose Irish Sweepstakes ticket was drawn on the second-place horse. It was the Bell Telephone Company construction clerk's first sweep victory in a lifetime of unsuccessful attempts to cash in.

220 Workers Stage Sit-Down

KINGSTON, Oct. 29 —(CP)—Charging that the firm is failing to take their demands seriously, 220 employees of the Frontenac Floor and Wall Tile Company staged a two-hour sit-down strike Thursday. Protest action involved about 92 per cent of the staff. They were back at work today, but planned a noon-hour meeting to consider further action.

"The boys just got tired of being stalled off," declared Douglas Tyner, business agent for Local 522 of the United Electrical Workers of the CIO.

At present the men work a 44-hour week, though some kiln operators are on a 48-hour week.

"We are seeking a 40-hour week with the same take-home pay," said Tyner. "In addition, we have asked for a full union shop, group insurance, and elimination of some of the absentee penalty clauses in the Vacation With Pay Act."

P. H. Swalm, general manager of the company, could not be reached for comment.

Union Authorized To Take Strike Vote

KINGSTON, Oct. 29.—(CP).—Two hundred and twenty employees of the Frontenac Floor and Wall Tile Company, who staged a two-hour sitdown strike Thursday, have authorized their union to take a strike vote. All were back at work Friday.

Douglas Tyner, business agent for Local 522 of the United Electrical Workers (C.I.O.), said he had asked for the Ontario Labor Minister to help settle the dispute. Tyner said the dispute arose because the company refused "for over a month" to discuss the union's request for a shorter week with the same take-home pay. Company officials could not be reached for comment.

See Ash Tray On Desk Does Elizabeth Smoke

LONDON, Oct. 29 — (CP) — Newspapers Friday published a picture of Princess Elizabeth's private desk showing an ash tray on it. The question promptly arose: does the Princess Smoke?

Princess Elizabeth, part of whose job is to be held up as a model for young folk, has never been seen with a cigaret in public, or even at semi-private functions.

"So does the Princess smoke?" Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express headlined its set of the pictures. It left the question unanswered.

The photographs published were of the interior of Clarence House, the town residence of the 23-year-old heiress presumptive.

The Buckingham Palace press officer said he does not know whether or not Princess Elizabeth smokes.

But Francis J. Phillips, organizing secretary of the National Society of Non-smokers, accepted the ash tray as evidence and said he is sorry about it.

4,000 Cancer Deaths

MONTREAL, Oct. 29—(CP)—The annual death toll from cancer in Quebec Province exceeds 4,000, Percy W. Ward, executive director of the Canadian Cancer Society, Quebec Division, said Friday. "For every death it is estimated that there are eight to 12 victims of this dread disease," he said. "The cost of detecting, diagnosing and treating the disease is greater, perhaps, than that of any other."

Charged With Murder

LONDON Oct. 29 (Reuters) — Brian Donald Hume, 38-year-old Londoner, Friday night was charged with the murder of Stanley Setty, London car dealer whose headless, legless, stabbed torso was found five days ago in a marsh. Hume will appear in Magistrate's Court today. That hearing will decide whether he is to be put on trial.

Movies Need More Flynns To Get Glamor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct 29 (AP)—What Hollywood needs, says Robert Young, without cracking a smile, is more Errol Flynns.

This may cause turmoil among Hollywood's public relations worriers, but Young has a point to make.

"I think a lot of excitement has gone out of the town," he said. "Movie stars have become social workers, political thinkers and family people. Of course, that's good for the community. But it makes Hollywood lose some of its glamor.

"What we need is more Errol Flynns to raise some cain now and then."

This makes Young virtually speak against himself. He is a pillar of local society. Father of four fine girls, he is as normal a citizen as you will find in Hollywood.

$80,000 Breakage

He still yearns for the wild days of Hollywood's past.

"When I was a kid, back around 1920, I used to get jobs at Mack Sennett's old lot. (His major career began in January, 1931.) I used to do acting jobs at $3 a day. If there weren't any, I'd sweep out the place or do anything.

"Sennett would send a company off on location for six weeks to some place like Balboa. They'd be like a bunch of kids on a picnic. And Sennett would get a bill for $80,000 for breakage at the hotel where they stayed.

"A remember once when Norman Kerry walked out of a door at the end of a Sennett picture. They wanted to shoot the scene again, but they couldn't find Kerry. He had walked through the door and met Jack Pickford, who was going on location to San Francisco. So Kerry went along.

"Ah, those were the days."

Many Religious Sects Grow In Japan Since Freedom

By O. H. P. KING

TOKYO, Oct. 29 —(AP)—Hundreds of odd cults and sects have sprouted since freedom of religion was brought to Japan with the occupation.

An occupation official who was a missionary here for years doubts this flowering is a spiritual matter, however. He suspects materialism.

Before the war, the Japanese government officially recognized only 43 religious bodies. Today there are 340 denominations, sects or cults registered with the Education Ministry.

"There are several explanations and I am afraid the spiritual ones are the least important," said the official, who asked that his name not be used.

"In the first place, a good many so-called new cults are not new at all. They existed before the war but by paying a fee to a recognized religion obtained an affiliation that permitted them to operate. This practice no longer is necessary.

Break Off Relations

"Next, many temples and groups have broken off from the parent faith, not because of any change in creed or belief but merely for administrative reasons.

"They refuse to contribute further to the National Organization or to bow to the central church authority.

"This anarchy is material rather than spiritual. Chief priests perhaps are disgruntled over assessments. They decide a schism would approve their position and give them greater tax exemption as a separate cult with a resulting higher net income."

The Education Ministry agrees with this and has a few more explanations.

A spokesman said most of the new cults are mere variations of Buddhism and Shintoism, the basic faiths of Japan, or are a mixture of the two.

Revenue From Tax Free Federal Properties

It is good news to hear that Ottawa may announce payments to municipalities in lieu of taxes on Federal properties. According to Section 125 of Canada's constitution, property owned by the Dominion government is free of local taxation. There are cities and towns and even villages where this arrangement creates real hardship. Peterborough is not one of these, for we have comparatively few Federal buildings here; nevertheless, we are sure that the municipality will be glad to receive something as a substitute for the taxes which would otherwise be levied upon these properties.

The city of Ottawa has for many years received an annual grant in lieu of taxes; the sum, we believe, is $300,000, which is not much when one considers how much of Ottawa's finest property is owned by the Crown. Still, it is unfair that one city should receive a grant of this kind, however small, when other cities receive nothing. There are several cities in Canada which are heavily burdened in this respect, and a change of policy will mean a great deal to them.

Discretion At Hallowe'en

Without wishing to play the role of spoilsport, we suggest that Hallowe'en be celebrated with reasonable discretion this year. The observance is an old one, having its origin in pre-Christian times; in some ancient mythologies the time which we celebate as the Eve of All Hallows was regarded as the time of the death of the year. We think that it is picturesque and pleasant to keep up the old festival, and the visits of children in costume are very welcome. But sometimes the fun gets out of hand, and real mischief is done.

We suggest to those who think it funny to destroy property and cause accidents on Hallowe'en that they reconsider the matter. It is not easy to have repairs of any kind done at the present time, and in these days of high costs it is not pleasant to be put to needless expense. Further, there is no reason whatever why anyone's fun on Hallowe'en should be paid for with somebody else's property, money and annoyance; a hoodlum is just as much a hoodlum on the 31st of October as on any other day of the year.

Greatness Was Not Thrust Upon The United States

The United States is now the greatest world power, with all nations of the western world to some extent dependent on it. This is the most impressive historical and political development of the last hundred years, surpassing even the Russian achievement. At Lincoln's death (1865) the population of the United States, Confederate and Union States, negroes and whites combined, numbered little more than thirty million. It was a second-rate power, inferior to Britain, France, Germany and half a dozen other nations. It was a country torn by dissension, scarred by civil war, bankrupt of solid currency (its paper money was badly depreciated). Yet within eighty years, even within the lifetime of thousands of its citizens who were born in Lincoln's day, it was to become a united nation of 150,000,000 people enjoying the highest standard of living any people have ever had anywhere, and able to succour from their surplus the very countries to which the U.S.A. was inferior eight decades ago.

This transformation did not happen accidentally. It is not just to say that the U.S.A. could not help but achieve greatness with the great area it has and its vast natural resources. Russia and China are greater in extent and have greater potential resources. The British Commonwealth is much greater, and so are its natural resources.

The United States has achieved greatness as much through the efforts and attitudes of the people who have directed and inhabited it as by its favourable place in space and history. It has had its Hamiltons and Lincolns, and Roosevelts who gave it direction at critical times when other policies would have marred its development; it has had its Carnegies, and Rockerfellers and Fords. But chiefly it has had a door open to foreigners. In the fifty years which followed the Civil War 33,000,000 immigrants were admitted into the U.S.A., or more than its total population at the beginning of that period. In some years as many as a million came in during the twelve months.

Sir Norman Angell in urging freer migration policies in the western world, has recently written: "While it is true that the factor of free migration could not of itself, without political sagacity, have achieved for the United States today's results, it is also true that without free migration no political wisdom would have sufficed". Another new nation is now developing, with much less natural advantage than the U.S.A. possesses; that nation is Israel. In its first year it has taken in a quarter of a million people, with all their talents and weaknesses; it is still receiving some 15,000 a month from D.P. camps. Israel is not only acting compassionately; it is building largely.

Sir Norman makes this observation, which Canadians could heed: "If we of the Commonwealth decide that we cannot do what our forbears did, cannot duplicate with our larger resources what the Americans have done so recently with smaller resources, then we may also be deciding that Western civilization cannot be defended against the alien and hostile forces which now challenge it". Is Canada too small minded, too cautious? Do Canadians think big enough?

Records For Submarine Endurance

The French submarine 25-18 submerged on August 22 last, with a crew of fifty-four, not counting the commander, Lieutenant Guerard; it did not come to the surface again until September 8; it had been travelling under water without a break for seventeen days.

This is not a record. A British submarine was once submerged for twenty-one days. An American submarine has crossed the Atlantic, entirely under water, in fifteen days. Nevertheless, the French exploit is a spectacular one.

The exploit of the 25-18 reminds us that in spite of the atom bomb, naval warfare is still of great importance, and that the atom bomb may give a new value to the submarine. We do not know whether large areas of water can be made radioactive by bombing, or not, but it seems probable that in a type of warfare when all the combatants, and as many non-combatants as can manage it, will need to take cover in the most obscure and untouchable places, an apparatus which can travel for seventeen days at a depth of 650 feet under water will be of great value.

Shoe Shine

It is gratifying that Peterborough movie houses are bringing to the city the occasional good foreign-language film. We think there are folk in the city sufficiently unprejudiced to believe that a language which they cannot understand, and a film technique which is different from Hollywood's are not insuperable barriers to the enjoyment of the movie. A great film is a work of art and can tell its story without words, or with a little aid from superimposed scripts on the screen.

The Italian movie Shoe Shine was shown commercially in the city in midweek. It is one of the finer films of recent years, and tells with simplicity, artistic restraint and dramatic skill a story of Italian waifs during the last year of the war in their country. The story of the lads gives a poignant insight into the social stress and human strain which the war produced where it was waged. When such an warm, emotionally exciting drama of the screen comes to town, we feel privileged to see it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There have only been three murders in sixty years in Iceland. All three, of course, committed in cold blood.

An Alberta drama group says that Canada is in the diaper stage of cultural development. All wet?

Dwarf cattle are being bred in Dakota. We have not yet heard if they yield condensed milk.

Autumn colour, we read, is caused by alcohol in the trees. And what a gorgeous bun some of those maples had tied on!

General Eisenhower says that with unified armed services the U.S.A. "can lick the world". May we politely suggest that one of the world's biggest problems for centuries has been nations who were convinced that they could lick it?

Bob Hope boasts that he has the largest library of unused gags of any comedian on the air. We don't know what he is proud about; it would be fatal for a radio comedian to use an unused gag; his audience wouldn't know when to laugh.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Esteemed Sir:

I am in receipt of your letter in which you instruct this firm, as your legal advisors, to bring action against Richard Dandiprat for having wilfully and with malice aforethought induced, instructed or compelled a skunk to misconduct itself in your motor car.

Immediately upon receiving your communication I dispatched my efficient and discreet secretary, or confidential clerk, Miss Prudence Bunn, to Marchbanks Towers to examine the scene of the alleged misdemeanour. Miss Bunn's report was as follows:

Confidential to Mr. Mouseman: "At a distance of a quarter of a mile from Marchbanks Towers the atmosphere became noticeably heavy. Asked to describe this odour in court I should use the phrase "old gym shoes". At 100 yards from the Towers it was clear that a skunk, or some animal indistinguishable therefrom, had committed a nuisance. In order to carry out my instructions I was compelled to soak my handkerchief in eau de cologne and hold it over my mouth and nose. Thus protected I examined the garage, but found no evidence of violence or felony. Determined not to fail in any requirement of duty, I opened the door of the car, and at once lost consciousness, collapsing head foremost into the rear seat. I regained consciousness to find that I was being sniffed in what can only be described as a searching manner by a large white dog with pink eyes—a bull terrier, I should judge. Whether this was Mr. Dandiprat's dog Bowser I cannot say, though I have my opinion (which is not evidence). However, I can state without fear of successful contradiction, and if necessary upon oath, that a skunk or some animal indistinguishable from a skunk has been living with the utmost freedom in Mr. Marchbanks car and has sustained an emotional shock therein.

Yourts faithfully,
PRUDENCE BUNN.

Now, Mr. Marchbanks, we cannot advise you, as your lawyers, to prefer a charge against Richard Dandiprat without further evidence to show that it was he who put the skunk in the car. My father, Mr. Jabez Mouseman, is at present unable to attend to business, as rheumatism and great age render him incapable. However, I have consulted our other partner, Mr. Cicero Forcemeat, who does all our court business and his report is as follows:

"Tell Mr. Marchbanks that unless we have something to pin the skunk to Dandiprat, we wouldn't have a Chinaman's chance in court".

"Chinaman's chance," Mr. Marchbanks, is a legal expression signifying "slight likelihood of success".

Yours faithfully,
MORDECAI MOUSEMAN.

To the Rev. Simon Goaste, B.D.
Dear Mr. Goaste:

Could you, as a clergyman, visit Dick Dandiprat and ask him, on his honour, if he put a skunk in my car in order to depreciate its value, during my absence abroad? If he says yes, would you mind getting him to repeat his confession in the form of an affidavit before an attorney — Mouseman, Mouseman and Forcemeat would be best. I know that you are on the side of righteousness, and Dandiprat is a crook, and ought to be shown up.

I am now in Wales, and yesterday I was talking to a man who had seen the Holy Grail only the week before. As a clergyman, I am sure you will be interested. A very old Welsh family has in its possession a cup which is traditionally the veritable Grail, brought by Joseph of Arimathea to England about thirty years after the Crucifixion. It used to be at Glastonbury, but came into private hands when the great abbey there was destroyed.

My friend, who is of a sceptical nature, said that the cup looked like a piece of good thirteenth century silver work to him, but the owners are still much bothered by people who want to touch it, hoping to be cured of their diseases. Personally, I would give much to see it. Probably it is not the Grail, but there is just a chance that it might be, and where is the Grail more likely to be found than in this land of mystery and enchantments, Wild Wales?

Your parishioner,
Samuel Marchbanks

To Mrs. Morrigan
My very dear Mrs. Morrigan:

One of the great delights of my present visit to Wales is that it gaves me a chance to hear once again some Welsh folk music —to my ears, the loveliest in the world. You know, of course, that I do not mean the half-dozen tawdry tunes which turn up in every song-book — "The Ash Grove" and "The Bells of Aberdovery", which is not Welsh at all. I mean those charming songs which, as they have no English translations, are never heard by English ears.

Oddly enough, a musical friend of mine was talking about Welsh folk songs recently to Ralph Vaughan Williams, who said: "Do you know a woman called Mrs. H— J—? She sings Welsh songs better than anybody. Whenever I think of Welsh music I think of her". Now it happens that Mrs. H—J—is a good friend of mine, and yesterday she sang most beautifully for me. It was an experience to remember for a lifetime, and to carry back to Canada as a treasure.—I am, as always, your admirer and servant.

SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

I am making a short stay in Wales with my Uncle Fortunatus before coming back to Canada, and to work. You have never been to Wales, I believe? A great country, and the people have immense charm. For some reason the English seem to think of the Welsh as rascals and cheats, and this unjust notion has taken hold in Canada. Of course some Welshmen are curmudgeons, but on the whole I think they are wonderfully high-spirited. As a matter of fact, the only man in medical history who died of joy was a native of the very district where I am now staying. His name was Edward Burton, and in 1558, when Queen Elizabeth came to the throne, his own patriotism and the celebrations drove him into such a frenzy of delight that it killed him. He died while roaring with laughter, and uttering loyal yells.

He was refused burial in the churchyard of St. Chad's, in Shrewbury. Presumably the authorities took the view that no real Christian can be as joyful as that, and didn't want him making trouble among the glum ghosts. So he was buried at home. I would like to meet Burton in the hereafter, and ask whether the strange manner of his death caused him any trouble with St. Peter.

From my bedroom window I can see the hill upon which Thomas Parr lived his uncommonly long life, from 1483 to 1635—152 years. This remarkable old party married for the first time when he was 80, and was made to do penance for adultery when he was over 100. Rubens painted his portrait when he was 140.

I am not surprised that Parr refused to die: life here is too good to be given up—though I must leave soon.

Yours,
SAM.

THE CAT AND THE CANARY

LET'S HAVE HALLOWE'E N WITHOUT HOODLUMISM

Letters To The Editor

RESPECT THE LIVING AND HONOUR THE DEAD

Sir: Many times it is reported in papers where people in foreign countries, especially Holland, have made it a custom to make regular visits to graves of unkown or known soldiers of foreign lands having fallen in battle or illness in the land o'er seas; those regular visits are made to carry flowers with which they decorate certain graves and many of those visits are reported to friends and relatives. Such visits are made to honour those dead ones, who fought and died that we may live.

One little Dutch girl followed such a custom for a family across the sea and to her surprise, she was rewarded by that dead soldier's parents by an invitation for her to visit them in the U. S. and remain there with them, if she so desired. The visit was made and a happy and fruitful one it was, but that young girl returned to her native land of Holland to continue caring for a grave of a dead soldier, whom she had seen only once while that family protected him from the enemy.

How many, today have forgotten their duty to care for the graves of those of our ancestors who worked, suffered, deprived themselves in so many ways to build foundations for us. So little thought, regard and honour is given those ancestors, that their graves in the little country grave yards are covered, hidden and disgraced by rambling vines, weeds, bushes and even trees to puncture the very boxes in which those bodies or the dust of those precious ones repose. During several lengthy trips, I have given special notice to the care given the little country churchyards and I have found none more neglected, forgotten and hidden, than as two in our own county where a tall tombstone can scarcely be seen among the locust trees which have covered the precious grounds. Think how far those roots will penetrate.

I do not believe in raising taxes where it can be diverted but this is one time, I feel that something should be done before another snow falls with it's silence deep, pure and white. Could a county fund be made to keep them cleared as is done by clearing the highways with weeds and brush? Are not those grave yards and the remains of those ancestors of greater value and honour to us, than the unused roadsides along the highway? If so, why neglect the dead and their consecrated ground but clear and beautify the roadsides for the fast travelling public today? Why not make our taxes cover the clearing of both? They are precious.

Yours,
(MRS.) JOSEPH HAMILTON.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And he spake to his disciples, that a small ship should wait on him because of the multitude, lest they should throng him. For he had healed many; insomuch that they pressed upon him for to touch him, as many as had plagues.

And unclean spirits, when they saw him, fell down before him, and cried, saying, Thou art the Son of God. (Mark 3: 9-11.)

Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly.

Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me. . . I and my Father are one. . .

If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know, and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him. (John 10: 24, 25, 30, 37, 38.)

A BRITISH OPINION

"In view of the news and the weather, I should have thought we could leave the Chopin Centenary Week to somebody like Ivone Schuster."

London Express Service

The battle is not over, brother, when you bring your duck trophies home for the Little Woman to admire, prepare and cook. It has just begun. Should the birds be eaten fresh or left to hang on cellar rafters till they drop from the hook? Should the dressing be wet, dry, with herbs or chopped apples and onions? Trenchermen fight about these points at home or with each other as sure as the season rolls around. Forest rangers, who are experts on the cooking technique, say this. After the birds have been plucked dry and drawn, body hairs and down singed, place them in the roasting pan, breast down, with bacon strips across the backs. Turn birds over at the end of three minutes and turn them back five minutes later. Turn again in three minutes. Mallards, canvas backs, red-heads and pintails should be cooked for 20 minutes, smaller birds, 16 to 17. These experts also say that dressing should be used for flavour and not for eating. And watch your bridgework.

Wild Geese Tattled

The recent case of a man being caught taking two deer carcasses out of the Eel's Brook Game Preserve, and now serving a long stretch "on the Hill", should be a grim reminder to others with the same thought in mind. The east side of Highway 28 along the Brook means "No Hunting", regardless of people who busy themselves tearing down the warning signs as fast as they can be tacked up. The jailed offender — apparently a bushman — will never know how Game Warder Bob Trotter sensed there was something wrong going on in the bush. A large flock of low-flying honkers spied the law breaker and broke formation with raucous cries. He investigated the approximate spot and saw the whole picture from ambush before making the arrest. Just another interesting case of the stories wild life can tell the intelligent observer.

Among the mass of reading matter that comes to hand each week none is more intriguing than Outdoor Canada and Norwestern Ontario Sportsman, both published in Dryden, Ont., a papermill town of a couple of thousand people in the heart of Ontario's de luxe tourist country. D. Edward Scott's editorials and choice of outdoor articles are timely and profound, without being stuffy. There are lots of good pictures and articles of the I-was-there sort of thing which all add up to entertaining reading. Perhaps my personal interest stems from a visit I paid to the printing plant about a month ago by courtesy of plant superintendent Jim Wilson, brother of Alex, the publisher who was absent. It is one of the neatest and most business-like layouts one could come across anywhere. Hope I may join their thousands of readers in wishing them good luck and a bright future.

Yes, Pickerel Season Is Closed

An American fisherman from New York City came into the Kawartha district last week for a spot of pickerel fishing. He was assured by his host-resort operator before leaving home to "come along, the fishing's fine." The only catch was that pickerel season closed on Oct. 15th and yet, regardless of repeated reports in newspapers and posters of the Fish and Game Act, the operator was under the impression that the season closed on Dec. 31st. He printed this information in his folders. There are many other cases of this nature in the district. There doesn't seem much point in screaming about the lack of tourist trade when this sort of thing goes on. It is certain that this New Yorker will never come back to the Kawarthas and will blast the district to all his friends.

Following the tourist attraction business a little further are cases of downright surly service being handed out to the travelling public. In a village, 70 miles from Peterborough, some people stopped last Sunday for some tea and coffee. The waitress only had one cup of java left in the perc and said she didn't intend to make more. When the customers settled for tea, it was brewed and slammed down at them without milk, sugar or teaspoons. It was quite a tussle to get the waitress to produce the latter accessories to the cups of brew. This village is trying to build up a tourist business but they might as well stop as long as they allow this sort of thing to pan it.

Alack! The Apple Cider Press

Another old-time custom that has gone by the boards is Fall cider making. The craft is not quite extinct, however, for there are a few small custom mills in this part of the province, at Orland, another near Trenton, at Harmony, just east of Oshawa, and the Wilson Settlement near Warkworth. There was a day when even the most terrific teetotlars put down several gallons of golden brew for the making of cider vinegar. This was considered the bottom or dryest rung of the social ladder and those who enjoyed life and its bounties —more had large pitchers on their dinner tables while it was still "sweet". The roisterers slipped a few jugs down to the barn to cure and, come Christmas, loud talk from the stables at evening chore time gave the show away. Each consumer had his pet brand of apples, some said Snow apples, others Talman Sweets, and all agreed on Russetts. The only modern reminder of this past craft is grandpa's cider jug wired as a lamp in the occasional den or living room. This is a sorry pass, indeed.

Safer To Dine Before 5:30 In Britain

By WILLIAM TINKER

(Ed. Note: This is the third instalment of Mr. William Tinker's observations on Britain, which he and his wife visited for four months this summer.)

British housewives do not have the electrical appliances we have here. Thre is a fair number of electric irons, but refrigerators, washing machines and even pressure cookers are very scarce. Perhaps on the principle of "what you've never had, you never miss," the British women appear to be quite content with the old type iron, the scrub pail and wringing machine, and the meat safe. Telephones are also the exception, but this is partly overcome by telephone booths in the streets.

Newspapers are only four or six small pages, and a sight of our own daily papers makes Britons envious, while a look at the "Weekly Star" or "Montreal Standard" gives them a shock. Very large circulations are the rule (eight millions for one paper). The editorials—or leaders as they are called—are very well written, but it is difficult to state how much real influence they have. If they are any criterion at present, the Labour government will be defeated at the next election, but we shall see what we shall see.

People do take life easier than we do in Canada. Many stores close for 1½ hours at mid-day, and every one who can do so has a long week-end, and uses it for pleasure—not to work at another job. Professional men, particularly, take life easy, and seem to combine work and holiday in a manner unknown to us here, while every one who labours in any way, does not regard earning a lot of money as the "be all and end all" of existence. The thought occurs to me they might "have something here", and we might, with advantage, take a leaf from their book for "What is this life, if, full of care, We have no time to stand and stare?

IT'S THE LAW

There are many customs and laws which appear strange to one from Canada, and which annoy the tourist, and, while some appear rather foolish, it is a fact that thousands of uniformed men spend the whole of their lives enforcing them. Some of these laws and customs are: No sitting on the grass in parks (public), even though there are no other seats. No walking on the grass, or taking short cuts across it. No sitting on the seats in public grounds before certain hours. No lounging on the seats in public buildings — one must sit upright even though the seats have no backs. No walking—even on the roads—through public grounds before and after certain hours. The difficulty one has trying to enter certain buildings which are supposed to be public. The impossibility of obtaining a cup of tea with lunch in restaurants, or hotels. The arrogance of "civil" servants, especially in the food offices. The indifference—and even worse—of certain clerks in stores, who don't wish to be bothered with one, and the impossibility of obtaining a meal in the majority of towns and cities after 5:30 p.m.

In connection with the latter statement, I would like to state that it is quite true if one knows where to go, one can obtain a meal in London, but the great majority—I would state about 95% —of the restaurants close in London at 5:30, and the diner is reminded of this fact about 5:20 p.m. In some cities like Chester, Peterborough, or York, where we stayed several days, the restaurants close at 6 p.m., but no person is allowed into the dining room after 5:30 so that all present at that hour will have eaten and be away by 6 p.m.

There are no snacks after the show, as there are here, and the stranger in these cities will have to go hungry, unless he eats quite early, for there are no exceptions made, and as far as the restaurant-keeper is concerned, the would-be customer "has had it."

I used to smile when the President of the National Union of Restaurant Owners—or some such name—would, on the public platform, state how happy they were to welcome North American visitors, and how the restaurant keepers would do all in their power to make their stay a happy one. They must have spoken with their tongue in their cheek, for it did not mean a thing. The diner-out was still kicked out at 5:30 and still was denied a cup of tea at luncheon.

All these were, of course, quite trivial matters, and I am sure could be traced to experiences suffered during the late war, but they did seem to leave a poor impression, and were one of the main sources of conversation whenever tourists met, whether in hotels, on trains or on shipboard.

The thought must arise: How did the British people react under these rebuffs? Well, they all, as far as I could see, accepted them with meekness, and without a murmur, although they complained a lot when out of hearing of the party who had treated them badly. When I asked several people the reason for this meekness, I was told that the British public had experienced so many frustrations, and been denied during the past ten years so many things they felt they were entitled to, that they now had become apathetic, and didn't feel like "making a fuss", but rather felt like saying "Oh, what's the use?" and went about their business, without the information required, or without the article they wished to purchase.

WARM HEARTS

I must not close this part of my impressions without mentioning the kind welcome and wonderful reception friends from Canada receive from the British. Once the traditional reserve has been pierced, there are no warmer hearted people under the sun, and they cannot do too much for the visitor from Canada. Every visitor, I am sure, would confirm this, and many kind and sincere friends are made during the stay in Britain; and many meals set before the visitor are the result of real sacrifice by the host. Nothing is too good for a guest, and it is with sadness and sincere regret that the Canadian — by birth or adoption — bids adieu to this kind and friendly people, who have suffered so much during the last 35 years, and who are still passing through the valley of tribulation.

T. Chaplin of Seymour Grew World's Fattest Wheat, 1891

By A. J. THOMAS.

Mr. V. J. Chaplin of Trent Bridge breezed into the Examiner the other day more lightly than any man in his seventies should be expected to do, and planked two things on this recorder's desk: a potato and a "Rural New-Yorker." Both needed explanation, and Mr. Chaplin gave a good earful.

"What do you think of that face? Ever seen one like it? Ever seen one as good?" I said, "What face?" He pointed to the end of the large potato, and sure enough, there was a face—two eyes (potato eyes), a nose etched in the right place, a mouth, and even a cleft chin. "That's the way she grew," Mr. Chaplin said. I admired the natural design as fully as if it had been Mr. Chaplin's own.

But the Rural New-Yorker was what he most wanted to exhibit. This was a farm journal—"for the suburban and country home," and was dated New York, September 12, 1891. "It's been lying in a drawer at home for years and years," the visitor said. "Look at that wheat."

Half the front page was devoted to pictures of heads of wheat—six of them. "My father grew those" he said. "Largest heads in the world at that time. He took first prize for them in the New York competition." Pictured were three heads: 'Beal," with the beards cut off ("Had to cut off the beards to get them into the box when we shipped them, they were so long," Mr. Chaplin said); 'Stewart,' and 'Johnson.' Those were the now unfamiliar names of the wheat hybrids.

The first prize went to Canada —that is to T. Chaplin of Campbellford, the second to Oregon, and the third to New Jersey. Here is a description of the prize winning heads submitted by Mr. Chaplin, "weight of 18 heads, three of each kind, 3⅞ ounces." Mr. V. J. Chaplin, son of the grower in 1891, wants to know if that record has been bettered since.

Here is the Rural New-Yorker's description of the Beal prize heads: "The prize heads averaged 5¾ inches in length, 13 breasts to a side counting the double breasts as one each. There was an average of six kernels to a breast (or spikelet) making in all 156 kernels to the head. This variety is heavily bearded. It is a pure wheat cross from Armstrong originally, but how far removed by subsequent crossings we cannot say. The chaff is white, the berry amber-colored. It is medium in stature."

Mr. V. J. Chaplin said—but before I say what he said, let Mr. Chaplin explain the V. in his name, which he did right merrily. "V for Valentine. They called me Valentine because I was born so near to St. Valentine's day. Yes sir, just one day before." Mr Valentine Chaplin said: "I remember tilling the ground for that wheat, by oxen. "And if I remember correctly, he said he used a wooden implement.

Mr. Chaplin's father took great interest in wheat cultivation and improving the strains. He had been a school teacher. The wheat was grown at the family homestead, seven miles north-east of Campbellford—"Lot 20, tenth concession of the township of Seymour."

It was interesting to see the old paper and the advertisements. One for "Beecham's Pills" (Sir Thomas is a long way removed from them). "What to do with a troublesome lamp. Have you an enemy? Make him a Christmas gift of it. Then get the 'Pittsburgh'"; an advertisement for "Hair Vigor"; another for organs and pianos, with pictures. The reed organ was a magnificent affair, with fretwork and high overhanging wooden canopy; the piano was most elaborately carved, in the ornate Victorian fashion. Then there were many advertisements for feed, "Makes Hens Lay," "Save Your Cow—Scotts' Hoof Paste"; for buggies and harness. In a news column was a line drawing of a new type "little farm engine"—it looked to be a thoroughly dangerous steam contraption.

It was good to see the paper and to read of Mr. T. Chaplin's triumph in growing wheat almost sixty years ago, and good to see and talk with the vigorous and cheery Mr. V. J. Chaplin, who has been living the last 31 years at Trent Bridge.

Local Men In Boer War of 50 Years Ago

The Boer War may be just a hazy memory in minds of schoolchildren and their parents, but for many men in Peterborough it is a vivid recollection of the days when the British Empire had reached its height of power.

Sunday will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the start of the Boer War. October 30, 1899, the first Canadian contingent of 1,000 men was raised and sailed from Quebec.

Another step in Canada's progress toward nationhood had been taken. Never before had the Canadian parliament acted to supply troops to fight a foreign war with the British army.

Of the 8,000 Canadians who served in the Boer War, or the South African War, as it is also called (1899-1902) Peterborough and district contributed its share. Many of those men are still engaged in active business lives in Peterborough and other cities.

George A. Macdonald, former mayor of the city was one of those who enlisted at the later stages of the war with the 3rd Canadian Mounted Rifles which was raised mainly in Ontario. Col. V. A. S. Williams, who was later an inspector with the Ontario Provincial Police, was officer commanding the CMR's. A platoon officer, Lieutenant Shaw, became a colonel in World War I. He was a casualty of that war.

The unit sailed from Halifax after encamping there six weeks waiting for mounts. They arrived in South Africa and engaged mostly in fierce guerilla warfare. Dunbar, Ladysmith and Mafeking, Mr. Macdonald recalls.

Victor Hamilton, 40 Robinson St., was another of the unit who is still in Peterborough with Frank Hughes and Reg. Turner. Another veteran, Bill Donovan is now living in Oshawa and Harry Wilson is in Toronto. Another local veteran is Mr. Chill Turner.

Mr. Turner was among the earliest Peterborough men to enlist. He was too young to be accepted for overseas service but added a couple of fictional years to his age and joined the 2nd CMR and was in South Africa in 1900. It took his ship 28 days to reach Cape Town from Halifax. He took part in the relief of Bloemfontein, the general advance of that year across the Vaal and to Johannesburg and Pretoria, and he with the advancing troops went up-country as far as the Portuguese border.

His generals were General Hutton, and General Sir John French. Richard Turner (later General Sir Richard) was his lieutenant, and during that time won the VC. One of his officers in that year was Major Victor Williams, later to become Colonel, of the 3rd CMR, and, in the Great War, a General. General Williams came of a military family. His father's monument stands in the square in Port Hope, a memorial to his service in the North-West rebellion.

Another Peterborough man of whom Mr. Chill Turner speaks highly is Mr. Percy Price, who farms three or four miles outside the city on the Norwood road. Mr. Price was a sergeant with the CMR's, and was "a wonder every way," Mr. Turner says. He helped Sergeant (later Major) E. J. Holland win the Victoria Cross—one of the earlier awards of the VC to a Canadian.

Mr. Chill Turner left South Africa on December 13, 1901, and the Queen's Big Memorial Hall Vice-Regal Opening Sunday

KINGSTON, Oct. 29—(CP)—In memory of Queen's University men who fought and died in two world wars, a large recreation hall on the university grounds will be opened officially Sunday by the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander.

The building, to be known as the Students' Memorial Union, replaces a smaller structure destroyed by fire in 1947 shortly before the opening of that year's fall term. It contains a great dining hall where 1,500 meals are served daily to students. It has rooms for reading, study, music, games and debates.

Offices of the Queen's Journal, university newspaper, also are in the memorial union. It has a tuckshop, snack bar and lounges for both men and women students.

On the main floor, a special room has been set aside in honor of men of Queen's killed in battle. An altar, a memorial window and war souvenirs, together with seven large oil paintings presented by the Queen's Alumni Association, recall Queen's contribution during the first and second world wars.

In the first world war, of the 1,500 Queen's men on active service, 194 were killed in action. During the second world war, 3,000 Queen's students and Alumni saw active service and 168 were killed—eight in the Navy, 79 in the Army and 81 in the Air Force.

Rev. John Weir Foote, a Queen's graduate who landed at Dieppe in 1942 as a padre with the Canadian forces, was a second world war Victoria Cross winner.

The Memorial Union was built of Queenston limestone at a cost of $850,000, made possible in part by the current $3,000,000 public subscription campaign for Queen's and by donations from graduates and friends. In Gothic design, the building has four storeys and contains 750,000 cubic feet.

For the first time in the history of Queen's, women students are admitted to the Union. Women were barred from the former building by a rule which recalled that Queen's was a men-only institution until 1870 when women allowed to register, thereby were first permitted to take lectures. In 1879, women were making Queen's the first co-educational university in Ontario and Quebec.

Queen's was the first university in Ontario. By Royal Charter of Queen Vicoria, it was opened in 1841. The Presbyterian Church founded it, but it now is interdenominational with no church control. Its colors—red, gold and blue —were adapted from the arms of the University of Edinburgh.

From a humble beginning in a rented house with two professors and 10 students, Queen's has grown until now its 35 buildings on the campus on the shore of Lake Ontario are the academic home of a staff of more than 350 and of 2,600 students. Some 1,400 additional students are enrolled in extramural and summer school courses. There are 12,000 living graduates scattered throughout the world.

Apart from the dedication ceremonies, the week-end will be a busy one at Queen's. The Queen's football team played host to McGill today. Rt. Hon. Philip Noel-Baker, minister of Commonwealth Relations in the British Cabinet, is being given an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada is among the notable visitors.

Rookies Lead Way

Rookies rolled high this week in the Kawartha Girls Bowling League, having a cross of 2671 and single effort of 1020. Doris Hendren of Wrens led in singletons with 299 while Joan Rowan of Eagles led in threesomes with a 672 mark. Easy Aces split points with Majorettes. Wrens and Eagles also broke even, while Rookies took a 3-1 win over the Bobolinks.

More Stringent Rules

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—A grand jury investigating the ring death of the Italian heavyweight boxing champion, Enrico Bertola, recommended adoption of more stringent boxing regulations.

Bertola died Oct. 5, less than 15 hours after losing a 10-round decision to Lee Oma of Newark, N. J., in a Memorial Auditorium bout. The 27-year-old Italian suffered an inter-cranial haemorrhage.

IN MAIN BOUT—Hi Lee, pictured above, who meets Seelie Samara in the main bout of next Thursday's mat card at the Brock Arena. Samara lived up to advance notices this week by cutting short the identity of the Red Devil. He is one of the cleverest matmen to ever appear here, but will be given the acid test when he takes on Hi Lee. The remainder of the card will be made known Monday.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Leo Dandurand, president of the Big Four Montreal Alouettes, Friday endorsed a proposed plan to amend the Canadian Rugby Union constitution to allow a more flexible arrangement of east-west championship football games each fall.

He gave his official support to Myer Insky, president of the Quebec Rugby Football Union and second vice-president of the CRU, who suggested that the 1950 classic be on the home ground of the Big Four champions.

"I'm sure the idea of staging the east-west final on the home grounds of the Big Four champion will meet with the solid support of Hamilton and Ottawa. Perhaps even Argonauts."

Under the present CRU constitution, Toronto must be the site of the Grey Cup classic, on suitable grounds selected by the CRU.

Rookie left wing Bill McDonagh was released to the New Haven Ramblers of the American Hockey League Friday by the parent New York Rangers of the National League.

McDonagh, 21, played with Detroit Goodyears in the International Amateur Hocey League last season. He was promoted to the Rangers at the start of the season because of his good showing in the pre-season drills.

Ivan Irwin, rugged Sherbrooke Saints' defenceman, left here Friday for Cincinnati where he will play three games with the Cincinnati Mohawks of the American Hockey League on the Amateur-professional lend-lease basis.

The Quebec Senior Hockey League player is allowed to play three games in professional company without losing his amateur status.

Frank Selke, Cincinnati's general manager, has been trying for the last two weeks to get Irwin to sign a professional contract. Irwin refused but now has agreed to the three-game stretch on the lend-lease basis. Manager Ivan Dugre, of the Saints, said Irwin will return to Sherbrooke Nov. 6.

Ottawa Rough Riders Friday night nominated quarterback Andy Gordon and middle John Wagoner for the Jeff Rusell Memorial trophy. The two United States imports were selected by their team-mates by vote.

Each club in the Big Four selects two candidates for the Jeff Russell trophy, awarded annually to the player considered the best combine gridiron ability and sportsmanlike behaviour. Final selection is made by the referees and governors of the league.

Joe Louis, retired world's heavyweight champion, will trade punches with Pat Valentino, San Francisco, in a 10-round no-decision exhibition in the Chicago Stadium Dec. 7, the International Boxing Club announced Friday. Ezzard Charles, NBA heavyweight titleholder, disposed of Valentino with an eight-round knockout in San Francisco two weeks ago.

The Calgary Albertan said Friday in a sports-page story that George Sutherland, De Winton, Alta., athlete, has been named to Canada's British Empire Games team. Sutherland, who has been a member of three other Canadian teams to the Empire Games missed selection this year at the Toronto trials when he was beaten in the 16-pound hammer throw by Svein Sigfridsen, of Winnipeg.

Only One Point Separates 5 of 6 NHL Teams

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

If they finish the way they've started, there's going to be an awful jam in the National Hockey League playoffs.

Only one point separates the first five teams—the sixth and last, Chicago Black Hawks, are five points below the top.

The six games carded this weekend are highlighted by the two-game clash between Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings currently tied for first place. It's the first meeting this season for the two clubs, at Montreal Saturday and Detroit Sunday.

Here's the lineup:

Saturday—Detroit at Montreal; Boston Bruins at Toronto Maple Leafs; Chicago Black Hawks at New York Rangers.

Sunday—Montreal at Detroit; Toronto at New York; Boston at Chicago.

Any one of five teams can take over the lead by Monday.

If the Canadiens and Red Wings split their two games a double victory for either Toronto, New York or Boston—all tied for second place—could produce a new leader.

Test For Durnan

At Montreal, it'll be a real test for Bill Durnan. The big, ambidextrous netminder has been supplying most of the spark for the Montrealers. He has chalked up two shutouts in six games to prove it. Only six pucks have got past him.

Two of those goals came last Thursday when the Leafs blanked the Canadiens 2-0. But the six-foot star toiled for 58 minutes before he gave way.

The Red Wings will be at full strength—including 23-year-old Harry Lumley in the cage. Lumley has also turned in some stellar performances. He has allowed 11 pucks to get past him in five games.

It will also be the first meeting between the Bruins and the Leafs.

The Leafs arrived home yesterday from their 2-0 win over the Canadiens. They were put through a brisk workout and coach Hap Day says his charges will be at full strength for the game.

Bill Juzda, who sparked the Leafs with a terrific performance Thursday later counted the stitches he has accumulated on his face—all 19 of them. The burly Winnipeg-born defenceman went unscathed last season but the previous year he picked up 26 stitches while playing with the Rangers.

PRIMED FOR PLAYOFFS—Burly Pat Santucci, place-kicking specialist of the Saskatchewan Roughriders, is all set to kick extra points after any touchdowns the Regina-operated club makes in its two-game series against Calgary Stampeders for the Western Canada football championship. Santucci's accurate placements won a league title for Hamilton Tigers in the Ontario Rugby Football Union last season.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

St. Mike's Buzzers play the local Oddfellows at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an exhibition junior "B" puck fray. Coming of the Irish squad will recall memories of Brock St. nights to many fans when St. Mike's met our [illegible] Colts more than once in OHA playoffs. Especially when Fr[illegible]land was coach and he was bringing along such young stars as Bill Calladine, Jack Gardner, Ned Vitarelli, Bun Kingdon, Eddie Starr, Drake Jopling, Les Burton and a raft more. We're not sure if Jim Ellis or Honey Tompkins played against the Saints at that time, but quite a few future stars here did —and they were all rousing battles before packed houses. St. Mike's and Barrie will always be remembered here for those bygone junior hockey sizzlers.

* * * * * *

Bun Kingdon is on the coaching end of the local team this time as his hustling young IOOF-ers face a stiff test tonight. St. Mike's invariably come up with strong junior "A" and "B" teams, boys that dash slam-bang all over the ice every minute they're on. Many will be in "A" company another season and eventually in pro ranks. Same might well apply to the Peterborough boys. This year's edition has several first-class district players abroad, and every guy wearing local livery will be fighting to keep a spot on the squad. Generally, there's more hot action seen in a junior duel than in one served up by older players, and we're sure this one rates a big crowd.

Red Expresses Thanks

Scribe Campbell of Oshawa has been asked by Red Jubenville—in Toronto hospital with polio—to thank his Oshawa, Peterborough and Toronto friends for staging the "Jubenville day" recently in the Motor City. Red was most happy about it all, including the softball and baseball autographed by the Petes, Merchants and the other players. As George says: "For the satisfaction of all those who supported the double-header, we'll explain that the nicest gift which Red mentions in his letter was a brand new little bank book, with hardly any ink marks on it. Just one entry in the deposite column—$1,219.65." The Petes were glad to help an old diamond friend.

Irvin (Ace) Bailey is in business now in Welland, where he hopes to coach an OHA junior "B" club this winter in a group with Niagara Falls, Fort Erie and Port Colborne. The Ace, of course, will never be forgotten here as he sparked the Petes to an OHA senior title—same as "A" then, as they didn't have senior "B"—back in 1926. Along with Joe Dwyer, Snap Parker, Bert McLeod, Biffer Ranger, Frank Collins, Ab Rose, Cox and Babe Bogardis, under management of Eddie Wright. Bailey went pro then with the Leafs but had to quit hockey after a severe head injury handed him by Eddie Shore in Boston. He coached Varsity before moving to Welland.

If The Man Had Time

Looks like Jack Dane definitely intends to pull out of Peterborough in another month as recreation director. And, at the moment, it appears doubtful if the Commission will employ another full-time director. If such is the case, who is going to take over in a part-time capacity? A chap suggested to us the other day that a first-rate man for such a job (if he is agreeable and permission could be obtained from the Board of Education) would be Bev Goulding of the Collegiate. Paid a salary, of course, for full-time summer work and part-time efforts the rest of the year, where it does not interfere with his teaching or PCVS coaching. The suggestion was that Mr. Goulding could supervise, after helping organize, the various phases of the local recreational structure. He'd be an ideal man for the job. Anyway, it's just a thought.

Play is expected to commence in the PMHA on Nov. 7, this hefty association of minor puckists having 17 teams aboard in juvenile, midget and bantam. There's also a six-team peewee section playing outdoors. Trojans, St. Peter's and Keene have entries in each of the three divisions. Oddfellows this year are sponsoring a juvenile squad as well as the OHA junior "B" team. Conveners are: Len Symonds, juvenile; Harry Dunn, midget; and Ed Woodcock, bantam. Looks like a large and lengthy puck season for a flock of Peterborough boys under the PMHA banner, which is headed by Les Mountney. Schedule or arena practices for next week is in tonight and should be clipped.

Capot Records Smashnig Win Over Coaltown

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29—(AP)—Capot just about had "horse of the year" honors wrapped up for Greentree Stable today, wresting them from Calumet Farm in one stunning race.

Capot forged ahead as the 1949 champion of the American turf by beating the horse with the most formidable record of the year, Coaltown, in Friday's Pimlico special.

It may be that Capot beat a horse which became lame sometime during the 1 3-16-mile race.

Trainer Jimmy Jones and other horsemen who gathered around to watch Coaltown during his cooling out period noticed the Calumet Star favored his right hind leg.

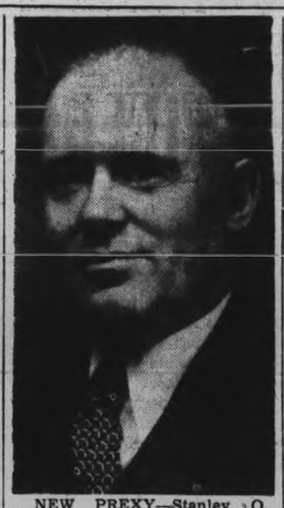
He wouldn't put his heel down—just moving about on the tip of his hoof. Calumet experts began an immediate check to see what the cause might be, but no one seemed to have the answer.

The way Capot won — by a smashing 12 lengths— came like a bolt out of the overcast sky.

Will Take Both

The special evidently ended the year's contention for division honors, as "horse of the year" and best three-year-old colt. Capot figures to take both, the latter from Calumet's Ponder.

The two thoroughbreds ran as figured for the first quarter of a mile, head and head down the stretch. That was the only time jockey Ted Atkinson said he was worried.



After that, Capot pulled out and jockey Steve Brooks on Coaltown later confessed, "I knew we were beaten" at the three-quarter pole.

Capot was being eased up slightly down the stretch else he might have equalled his track record of 1.56 for the 1 3-16-mile. As it was, the time was four-fifths slower.

Greentree took the whole $15,000 special pot and Capot nibbled on the floral wreath in the winter's scheduleaattoipd winner's circle. Capot's backers got $5 for 2 Coaltown went off the 3-to-10 favorite.

ALBERTA OIL FLOW

In 1948 Alberta produced 10,973,583 barrels of oil—an increase of 61 per cent over 1947.

NEW PREXY—Stanley O. Shields is the new president of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, being elected to head the club in 1950 at the annual meeting two nights ago.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

A Babe Siebert memorial benefit hockey game at Montreal 10 year sago today realized $15,000 for the family of the Canadiens' defenceman who was drowned at Zurich, Ont., two months earlier. The Canadiens played a National All-Star team.

Harper Likely Starter

LINDSAY, Oct. 29 — Little Britain Combines, idle from baseball playdown wars for one month, will probably rely on the strong left arm of former senior player Bill Harper in the first game of the OBA intermediate "C" Ontario finals in Milton this afternoon. Britain won the Eastern Ontario championship by eliminating Cambray, Stouffville and Colborne, and taking Petawawa by default. The second game will be played in L'Britain, Wednesday afternoon.

SADDLER WINS

Lanky Sandy Saddler blew the first three rounds to Paddy DeMarco Friday night and then cut the rugged Brooklynite to ribbons to win a technical knockout after nine rounds in the scheduled 10-round feature at New York's Madison Square Garden. Saddler weighed 129½, DeMarco 134½.

Stan O. Shields President Lawn Bowlers

At the first meeting of the newly elected board of directors of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Co. held on Thursday evening, Stanley O. Shields was elected president, A. Black vice-president, and F. H. Dearborn secretary-treasurer.

In electing Mr. Shields to the office of president, the board chose a man who has had wide experience not only in lawn bowling, but in many other fields. He was vice-president last year, and was for several years chairman of the local tournaments committee.

Well Known

He is well and favorably known all around and is one who meets everyone half way, whether it be on or off the green.

He is well supported by A. Black as vice-president and with the experience of other members of the board he should go a long way in promoting the welfare of the club.

The committee chairmen are: H. Beatty, house and property; J. D. Fitzpatrick, greens; A. Black, games; K. Shadgett, membership; W. Moorhead, open tournaments; W. Perks, local tournaments; H. R. Martin, publicity.

Michigan Governor Involved In Squabble

DETROIT, Oct. 29 (AP)—Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan took official notice Friday of the squabble over the Kid Gavilan-Lester Felton prize fight decision.

Williams acted on request of State Boxing Commissioner Floyd Stevens. The Governor instructed State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard to aid in the investigation of the disputed decision.

"We want to determine if the decision was wrong as a matter of carelessness or whether there was outside influence," the Governor said. "If there is anything wrong we will take action. If not, the people involved will be cleared."

Say Graziano May Get Chance At Lamotta Title

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—The death of Marcel Cerdan may mean that Rocky Graziano will get a June outdoor shot at Jake Lamotta's middleweight title.

The tumultuous Rocky, former ruler of the division, would seem to have the inside track over other leading contenders—welterweight champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson and France's Laurent Dauthuille.

All three hold claims to a crack at Lamotta's crown.

Graziano, who has had almost as much trouble with the boxing powers as he has with his actual ring opponents, is a warm friend of the champion, but it seems unlikely he would let that interfere with a chance at the title and a big pot. He and Jake might draw $500,000 in a place like Yankee Stadium.

Robinson has beaten Lamotta four times in their five fights. Another meeting between them champion against champion, couldn't miss attracting a big gate —if the two could be brought together.

Dauthuille won a unanimous 10-round decision over Jake in Montreal last February. The blond Frenchman, a rugged counter-puncher, gave the Bronx Bull plenty to remember on that occasion.

Cerdan's death removed the No. 1 challenger for the crown.

The stocky, smiling Frenchman, acclaimed the best and most popular French athlete since prewar days, had won the title from Tony Zale in September, of 1948, but lost it to Lamotta last June in Detroit.

POSTER FOR HOLY YEAR—The above poster is being circulated to stimulate interest in the Holy Year of 1950, as proclaimed by the Pope in Rome for Catholics of the world. It bears the hopeful slogan: "May this genuinely Holy Year be for the human family the harbinger of a new era of peace, prosperity and progress."

Anglican Young People Urged To Help Church

OTTAWA, Oct. 29—"There are still bases to be captured and posts to be leagued by the youth of Canada and the members of the Anglican Young People's Association," said Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP, when he addressed 700 AYPA members and friends at the closing of the 18th annual conference in the banquet hall of the Chateau Laurier.

"You, the youth of our nation, should go out and work for the church," he added.

During the day the delegates to the conference held business sessions in the morning and toured the city in chartered buses. On Sunday the executive held a business meeting and remaining portion of the delegates were guests of their hostesses at morning worship in the Anglican churches.

The guest speaker told the gathering that history in Canada is often forgotten but unconsciously it is borne out by the youth of today.

"If you work as hard as our forefathers and the founders of the church of England in Canada, you will have accomplished much on the road of life."

General Pearkes continued in saying that he would like to be the author of a prayer in which he would put the words procrastination, verbocity and humor.

Lack of Humor

"A sense of humor is what is lacking today; many things are killed by the lack of humor," added the speaker.

He added that the youth should harness all the resources of Canada and make them benefical to Christianity and the solidification of the church.

Hebrew Prophets Taught Tragedy Of Rejection

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Beneath and above everything that the Hebrew prophets thought, said, and wrote, was their conception of God, and their faith in Him.

God was not for them an abstraction, nor even an object of worship, distinguishable from the idols their idolatrous neighbours worshipped, only because He had life and intelligence. It was the righteous and holy nature of the life of God in which their vision and their faith centered. The living God was the creator and upholder of the universe.

His laws guided the planets in their course. The heavens declared His glory, and the firmament showed His handiwork. Integrity was in the laws that governed His world.

And, corresponding to that integrity of the laws governing the world was the moral law of God for the souls of men, and for the governing of their relation with one another. These prophets were as sure of the moral law, of the spiritual nature of man, and of the laws of the world of the spirit as thew were of the sure foundations that they observed in the physical world.

With this conception of a holy God was that of a holy people—a people called and chosen of God, and responsive to His will and purpose. Why did they believe that God had chosen Israel? Was He not the God of other nations and peoples? One gets in the Old Testament some indications of belief in a tribal God, but these soon pass into belief of the God of the whole earth of whom Job asked, would He not do right. The conception of a national religion in isolation passed before the vision that the later prophets had of Israel as a spiritual nation in which all the nations of the earth should be blessed.

With faith in God, and the worship of God, the prophets associated integrity of character, and righteousness in word and deed. God meant a standard of living, as well as an object of worship. "Be ye holy, for I am holy," was the word He spoke through His prophets.

With that conception, faith and vision, it was inevitable that the prophets should react as they did to sin in the individual life, and to evil in the national and social life. They saw tragedy in the refusal of the people to accept God's choice and call. They spoke in denunciation and in words of solemn warning. They made their indictment of evil most specific. Because they rebuked the nation they were charged with disloyalty though their hearts burned with a patriotic zeal for Israel.

But their message was not all of denunciation and warning. In times of distress, when trouble had come as in days of destruction and exile, their message was of hope and comfort. There was hope for a people repentant and seeking again the ways of truth and right that they had neglected. The prophets were spiritual physicians who were deeply concerned with prevention. But when the illness of sin assailed they were physicians of healing.

And the record is not all of darkness, and ruin, and tragedy. The light of Israel shone again in the exile in Babylon, and religion broke forth into joy and song as the Psalms so gloriously testify.

Every Devout Jew Believed In Existence Of A Throne

By REV. E. R. JAMES.

Behold, a door was opened in Heaven.—Rev. 4:1.

This book of the Revelation of St. John the Divine is fascinating—it grips your imagination. It is full of word pictures which are extremely hard to understand. No book has been more misunderstood; yet this Scripture is more easy to understand. Behold, a door was opened in Heaven. It was a time persecution. The Jews hated the Christians as a sect within their body teaching division and separation. The Roman government put them to cruel deaths because they refused to burn incense to Caesar, teaching that he was god. The Jews escaped this horror by special edict.

The Apostle has a vision. A throne was set up in Heaven. Every devout Jew was taught to believe in the existence of that throne. "The Lord sitteth above the water floods be the people never so unquiet." "The Lord omnipotent reigneth" thus saith the Old Testament. It is a fundamental truth of Jewish theology, important for us to remember.

One sat upon the throne. As a devout Jew the writer cannot mention the name of Jehovah. It is too sacred. What a lesson for Christians who glibly speak of God. Before you can pronounce the name reverently you must be deeply impressed by his character. That is why the cherubim veiled their faces in the Divine presence. "With twain they covered their faces."

Round about the throne were four and twenty elders sitting. Very probably they represent the Old and New Testament Church. They are sittling in the place of honor; the highest place for a created being under the protection of God. In your darkest day remember that you are under God's care. "If God be for you, who can be against you."

A door was opened in heaven. A door means separation; it separates those within from those without. When the door is opened it speaks of entrance; the going out and the coming in. It is one of our Lord's favourite symbols. "I am the door by Me if any man enter in he shall be saved."

To St. John that open door means that God is no longer separated from man. He has passed through the open door in the person of Jesus Christ. God has become man that He might know must suffer in this life. Deny that and experience what man Jesus is not the Son of God in this sense then you place yourself on the wrong side of the door.

There was a rainbow round about the throne in sight like unto an emerald. An emerald is green, symbolising the mercy and loving kindness of God. "God is the Father of mercies and the God of all comfort."

Perhaps you may be moved to offer this ancient prayer through the open door:

Almighty God, to whom all hearts be open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid: cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit, that we may prefectly love Thee, and worthily magnify thy holy name: through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Lord, teach us to pray.

Sir W. Mackenzie, Kirkfield Railway Magnate Centenary

One of Canada's most outstanding late 19th century capitalists and a long-sighted railway pioneer was born 100 years ago, Sunday, in Kirkfield. Kirkfield is the birthplace of Sir William Mackenzie (1849-1923), who with Sir Donald Mann projected and built the Canadian Northern Railway system. Later he became president of the Canadian Northern Railway Company and a large numer of subsidiary companies.

It was at this Trent Canal hamlet, 16 miles north-west of Lindsay, that he met his wife Margaret Merry, and he lies buried beside her in the family plot at Kirkfield.

Within the scope of his 77 years the major part of Canada's vast network of railways was constructed. By 1912 he and his partner had built 3,325 miles of railway in the northwest which they owned and operated together with 2,000 miles in Eastern Canada.

Basic Financier

By 1907 he was rated a millionaire, and at one time was described by the Montreal Standard as at the basis of Canadian finance. From the standpoint of honor and prestige perhaps the height was reached in 1908 when he was presented to King Edward at St. James Palace and three years later to King George and Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace.

He was knighted by the King on January 1, 1911.

But later in his life his enterprises, pushed with pioneer cour-

Davies' Play Abroad

TORONTO, Oct. 29—(CP)—Norway soon may see "Fortune My Foe," the play by Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner.

Clarke, Irwin and Company of Toronto, who published the play this week, announced Friday night that they have received a request from the National Theatre of Norway for permission to translate and produce it.

They also said a Spanish publisher is interested in the possibilities of another Davies play, "Eros At Breakfast," which was staged by the Ottawa Drama League during last summer's Edinburgh festival.

CGE Employees Lead City In Savings Bonds

Employees of Canadian General Electric Company were reported Friday afternoon to be leading the other industries of the city in the amount of the average application for Canada Savings Bonds in the present campaign.

W. A. Reid, representing the Bank of Canada in the present national subscription for savings purposes, provided the information that up to Friday afternoon 2,285 employees of C.G.E. had signed for $912,250.

That represents an average of $399.23 as compared with $289.50 generally throughout the country as reported to the Bank of Canada.

Splendid Response

Mr. Reid commented that the subscription at C.G.E. was a splendid response. "That average indicates that it exceeds what was considered to have been a great job well done last year. It really is a fine stimulant to see so many men and women in one plant following the plan of saving which many of them learned with advantage during the war. These savings bonds are their own investment."

The subscription at C.G.E. last year was $923,500 by 2,013 employees. Mr. Reid said that if the totals for the two years were added together they amounted to $1,835,750.

Some of the other industries in the city were also making a strong showing of saving among the employees, Mr. Reid said, mentioning especially one which he said would be close to C.G.E. staff.

Fined For Hunting Without Licenses

Two Gooderham men were fined on separate occasions for hunting without licenses during the week.

Game Warden Robert Trotter said Lester Billings was fined $10 and costs in a Haliburton court for hunting in Anstruther township without a license. Albert Medill was fined the same amount in police court, Peterborough for hunting without a license in Monmouth township.

OSHAWA POST OFFICE

Construction of a new post office building in Oshawa will be begun next spring, according to a letter received from the Department of Public Works by Oshawa Labor Council. The informing letter from the secretary of the department said: "At the present time it is anticipated we will be in a position to call for tenders for the construction of this building in the spring of 1950."

JOSEPH JEBSON who takes over the management of the Braund Home Food Markets. The appointment was announced by Ernest Braund at a luncheon meeting of store managers, who said he was relinquishing the management owing to continuing pressure of other business.

Examiner Tenth Most Quoted Canadian Paper

Windsor Daily Star had the highest standing among 93 daily newspaper published throughout the Dominion in the three months, July, August, September, judging on the basis of the number of times it was quoted by other newspapers. According to the Dominion Press Clipping Bureau, Toronto, the Windsor Star was Quoted 948 times.

The Ottawa Journal was runner up with 882 quotations to its credit.

Peterborough Examiner was second among the provincial daily papers with a score of 434, beaten only by St. Thomas Times-Journal which was quoted 462 times. The Examiner was 10th on the entire list, including the Financial Post, a weekly.

The Windsor and Ottawa papers stand far ahead of the other leading papers, the Hamilton Spectator coming third with 552. The first leading 20 papers after these three are:

Ottawa Citizen, Edmonton Journal, Financial Post, Winnipeg Free Press, St. Thomas Times-Journal, Toronto Telegram, Montreal Star, Peterborough Examiner, Toronto Globe and Mail, London Free Press, Kitchener Record, Kingston Whig-Standard, Brantford Expositor, St. Catharines Standard, Stratford Beacon-Herald, Toronto Star and Winnipeg Tribune.

City, District Cash To Britain Totals $108,000

With a previously reported total of $3,326 raised in the city and county of Peterborough by the local branch of the United Emergency Fund for Britain, this amount has been further enhanced by the addition of a cheque for $400 received from the city treasurer and $25 in personal gifts from Miss Maud Rush, Miss F. MacNaughton and C. J. Ray.

This makes a combined total of $3,751.22 that has been raised locally for this one particular object, and added to previous efforts of a similar nature for the British people, reaches a total of well over $108,000 contributed in actual cash in this city and district. The other two funds included in this total are British War Victims Fund and the Ontario Flood Relief Fund for Britain.

Both the county and city have officially given their support in a tangible way to all three separate funds, which this amount is involved in towards assisting the people of Britain.

The Emergency Fund has been a coast-to-coast national effort which has been confined to the raising of funds with which food parcels have been purchased in this country, conveying them thither with a minimum of cost, and given to needy families in the British Isles. This serves in a dual purpose of helping them, and also providing an outlet for our own produce, which otherwise would have had that much less restricted market.

Look To Christmas

During the summer months, the fund locally has not been active to any large degree, but with Christmas looming in the near future, with a very sure possibility of more austere conditions in Britain, it could be that many would feel the urge to at least give them some assistance for that festive season.

All so interested are invited to express their sentiments in this regard, to any member of the active committee, in the persons of the Mayor, Reeve Melville Johnson, and Messrs. G. Monkman, J. L. Thompson, P. Rowell, G. Melton, E. Humpage, H. Steggles and P. E. Moore, and D. J. Eldred, secretary, and Fred G. Mann, chairman.

CHANGE TIME

The town of Lindsay and County of Victoria will revert from daylight saving time to standard time Sunday. Lindsay Town Council did not extend the fast time period although bordering counties with the exception of Haliburton are not changing until Nov. 27.

INSURANCE BRANCH MANAGER D. V. KETCHESON inspects the silver tray he has just received at the hands of E. H. Hanley, Superintendent of North American Life agencies. The occasion of the presentation was Mr. Ketcheson's retirement from active management of the Peterborough branch.

LIGHT SKI RUN

Peterborough Ski Club have asked Utilities Commission to light Kempt's Hill on the Warsaw Road. The reply to the club requires them to get permission from Hydro, to dig the post holes, supply some of the materials. They say they have arranged for rural Hydro power. Commission is willing to encourage winter sports, but are a bit dubious about extramural affairs.

TWO CARS BRUSH

When two cars just brushed each other Friday night while going in opposite directions on Highway 28, about a mile north of Lakefield, a total of $45 damage was caused. Cars driven by Mrs. Grace Ireland, of King St., and Norman Rendell, of Chamberlain St., were involved. Provincial Constable D. W. Coffey investigated.

RECEIVES CUT FACE

Knocked down by a passing motorist at Selwyn Friday night, J. W. Blewett, of R.R. 1, Lakefield, received a gashed face and had to be brought to Dr. A. G. Howson, of Peterborough, for treatment. After a few stitches were put in the cut, he was permitted to return home. Driver of the car that collided with him was J. G. Leonard, of 354 Stewart St.

TWO FIRE PRECAUTIONS

During Fire Prevention Week, Fire Chief George Smith observed that the majority of fires are due to carelessness. And some are due to neglect. He suggests that householders make sure their chimneys and pipes have been cleaned out before it becomes too cold to let the furnace out. This well help reduce the large number of chimney fires reported to the Fire Department during winter months. And use a metal container for your ashes, advises Chief Smith. Don't put them out in a cardboard or wooden box. Sooner or later red-hot ashes will ignite these.

Conciliation Bd. Ends Hearings Proposals Made

Sittings of the Conciliation Board set up to arrange a settlement between the CGE and the UE-CIO have concluded in Toronto. And the parties are still far from agreement.

The company submitted two new proposals, according to Ian F. McRae, CGE Works Manager. The first dealt with seniority, providing that an employee with more than a year's service and subject to layoff under the present agreement would be eligible for a job held by the shortest service employee in the plant.

A modification of the union security provisions was the second proposal.

Union Will "Streamline"

C. R. Sullivan, union representative told the Examiner today the Union had given the Board members an undertaking it would "streamline its demands" if the company showed any indication of bargaining.

He claimed further the company was using the Conciliation Board to delay proceedings and the only reason there was no agreement reached over the weekend was that the company refused to bargain despite the union concession.

All UE locals in the UE-GE Joint Board will hold membership meetings early this coming week to decide on future action now the Conciliation Board is through.

Both parties in the dispute anticipate an early report from the Board under Chairman Judge J. C. Reynolds.

Increase Jap Ships

TOKYO, Oct. 29 — (AP) — Occupation officials said today plans are being considered to increase Japan's ocean-going merchant fleet by 130,000 tons, by overhauling 20 Japanese ships built during the war. It has been estimated that Japan has about 1,000,000 tons of potential ocean-going shipping. Japan's pre-war merchant marine was 6,000,000 tons.

DRESSED IN THEIR COLORFUL COSTUMES these young folk have already made their plans for the biggest night of the year for the young of Peterborough, Hallowe'en (Monday night). The Witches (ABOVE) hold off an attack by the Ghosts and Devil—all in fun of course but it would not be fair to mention their names.

Goblins, Spooks Prepare For Hallowe'en

Hallowe'en preparations are in full swing, although the official spooks night is not until Monday. The people with orderly minds who always like to have their plans lined up in good time, have already chosen their fancy costumes and there are many other last minute people who have not yet got beyond the stage of talking about them. A few of the more original people have set to to make their own costumes but there are many who have been seeking to hire them.

A number of children appeared as oysters, clams, sun beams and a host of sea creatures, wearing costumes at a YWCA party this morning. Hallowe'en candies are being bought in enormous quantities and one store alone expects to sell a ton before Monday evening.

There are plenty of noise makers, table decorations, candles and masks which are always fair sport for adults as well as children.

Store keepers say that paper costumes are not selling quite as quickly this year as last. But it's early yet, most of them say—too early to predict how big the last-minute demand will be.

Mrs. Marion Laird, who hires out costumes every year, has been busy this week fitting both women and men with fancy dress. The men are as enthusiastic as the women, she says, and most popular costumes are Spanish and gypsy dresses.

Traditionally Hallowe'en is the night when ghosts, goblins and witches are abroad to pull all sorts of weird tricks and work magic spells. Little thought is given today to its origin, which is believed to be part of a Druidical belief many years before Christianity.

Observance of All Saints' Eve, or Hallowe'en started in Ireland and today is celebrated not only throughout the British Isles but in the North American continent and the Dominions.

Leeds Voting Hottest Fight In Many Years

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 29 (CP)—Voters in the eastern Ontario constituency of Leeds—23,802 are eligible—go to the polls Monday to settle the hottest provincial by-election battle in years.

Their choice lies between Progressive Conservative and Liberal candidates who have had the oratorical support of a flock of outside speakers in the drive for votes. Hugh A. Reynolds is the Progressive Conservative candidate and Ernest I. Miller the Liberal standard-bearer.

Mr. Reynolds, a Brockville coal merchant, is a second cousin of W. B. Reynolds whose death early this year brought on the by-election. W. B. Reynolds, a Progressive Conservative, held the seat since 1937. In the 1948 Ontario general election he polled 9,018 votes, Mr. Miller got 6,413 as Liberal candidate and William J. Miller, CCF received 1,932. The CCF is not contesting the by-election.

Attack Gifts Act

Liberal speakers centred most of their attacks on the charitable gifts act passed at the last session of the Legislature. It provides that charitable foundations, such as the Atkinson Foundation which owns the Toronto Daily Star and the Star Weekly, be required to dispose of all but 10 per cent of their interest in any one business within seven years.

Mr. Reynolds said that the constituency was flooded during the campaign with thousands of free copies of the Star, which supported the Liberal cause.

Ontario Cabinet Ministers who spoke for Mr. Reynolds urged his election on the basis of the government's record. Premier Frost made three speeches and toured the riding. Other Cabinet speakers were Provincial Secretary Welsh, Highways Minister Doucett, Welfare Minister Goodfellow and Hon. George Challies, Minister Without Portfolio and vice-chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Crosby Obliging

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (AP)—Bing Crosby will be glad to sing anytime in Prague, where he was criticized Thursday night as a "greedy American money-seeker who sacrifices his art for gold"—but first he wants a flak-suit for protection. Refusing to take a Czech official's barbs seriously, Crosby Friday commented: "I'll be glad to play Loew's Prague anytime. And I'll split with that commentator 80-20—he's on the short end of course. Where can I get a flak suit?"

Close Doors On CARE

WARSAW, Oct. 29—(AP) — Another country in the Russian sphere Poland, is closing its doors on a western relief agency. Care, a United States relief organization, has been told to leave the country by Dec. 1, a Care official said. Departure of Care (Co-operative for American Remittances to Europe) would leave only two foreign relief agencies in Warsaw—the American Joint Distribution Committee and American Relief for Poland.

Mercurys Get Four In Row By Dropping Marlboros 5-3

By The Canadian Press.

The battling Owen Sound Mercurys have hit a winning streak that could carry them to the Ontario Hockey Association leadership.

The Mercurys, showing improved form with every turnout since they dropped their first two games, made it four in a row last night as they defeated the leading Toronto Marlboros 5-3 at Toronto. Victory gave the Mercurys eight points—one behind the Dukes.

In the junior circuit Galt Black Hawks moved into a second-place tie with a 3-2 win over Barrie Flyers, St. Catharines Teepees swamped Toronto St. Michael's College Majors 10-3 and Guelph Biltmores won their first game in six starts by defeating Oshawa Generals 3-1.

At Toronto, only one penalty was meted out as the Mercurys, backed by a brilliant performance by netminder Bobby Gilson, came from behind a 2-1 first-period count for the well-earned victory.

Bruno Favero paced the Mercurys with two goals. Singles were scored by Hub Beaudry, Doug Gillespie and Fred Smith. Don Rope, Scotty Mair and Johnny McCormack tallied for the Dukes.

Check Flyers

At Barrie, the Black Hawks checked Flyers to a standstill.

George Ford sent the Black Hawks into the lead with the only goal of the first period. Ford got his second goal early in the second period when he tallied on a pass from Ken Green. Rick Hogg put Flyers in the game when he scored at 17:56.

The Black Hawks took a two-goal advantage before the third period was three minutes old and Ward Brandow got the final goal for Barrie minutes later.

At St. Catharines, the Teepees ran up their second double-figure victory of the season as they overpowered the Majors.

The Teepees were paced by Jack McIntyre, Frank Sullivan and Norm Corcoran, who each tallied two goals. Singles went to Con Switzer, Obie O'Brien, Bill Martin and Brown. Paul Alain tallied two goals for the losers while Ingoldsby scored one.

At Guelph at was the fourth consecutive loss for the Generals. The Biltmores tied their first two games and then dropped three in arow before their victory last night.

Fourth Loss

The Biltmores went into the lead in the first period on a goal by Andy Bathgate and then into a 3-0 lead in the second on markers by Ron Plumb and Joe Shaw. Ted O'Connor fired the only goal for the Generals—in the final period.

Reds Alter Czech Founding Celebration

PRAGUE, Oct. 29 — (AP) — Czechoslovaks celebrated Friday the 31st anniversary of the founding of the republic.

But portraits of the nation's two founders, former presidents Thomas G. Masaryk and Eduard Benes, were noticeably absent from the decorations which covered Prague's streets and buildings.

Pictures displayed in the country-wide celebration were those of Prime Minister Stalin of Russia and Czechoslovakia's Communist President Klement Gottwald.

Flags along the streets were those of the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia.

The country's workers went to their jobs as usual as the Communist-led government decreed they should "celebrate by work." Holidays for the occasion were put off until Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Tuesday is also All Saints' Day, an important holiday in the predominantly Roman Catholic country.

Bilked by Bourgeois

Long articles in the Communist controlled press were pointed to the theme that the workers had been bilked by the bourgeois when the republic was formed under the Versailles Treaty in 1918, and only came into their own 30 years later when the Communists took over.

The country was carved out of the Austro-Hungarian Empire after the first world war, following intensive diplomatic work of Masaryk and Benes among the allied powers. For the first time in history Czechs and Slovaks were united into one nation.

Pictures of the two founders, however, will even be removed from the country's postage stamps as of next Tuesday.

Prime Minister Stalin sent anniversary congratulations to Czechoslovakia's prime minister, Antonin Zapotocky.

The Stalin message said: "On the national holiday of the Czechoslovak Republic I send you and the government of Czechoslovakia and the brotherly nation of Czechoslovakia friendly greetings and best wishes for new success.

age and vision, began to fail. In 1918 the Canadian Northern Railway was taken over by the Canadian Government in a state of insolvency.

Was School Teacher

Born of Highland Scotch stock, son of John Mackenzie, he was educated in public school and Lindsay grammar school. Early in his lifetime he became a school teacher and then tried his hand in the lumber business.

He gave up this occupation and took a contract for constructing part of the Victoria Railway (later the Midland division of the Grand Trunk).

His choice as a bride was Margaret Merry, daughter of John Merry, also from Kirkfield. They had several children. Mrs. Mackenzie, who married him in 1872, also took an active part in public life. She was a member of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire and a director of the Toronto Humane Society.

Partnership Formed

Biggest step of his career was when he entered partnership with Sir Thomas Mann in 1886. Together they took contracts for building such railway lines as the Coboconk, Credit Valley, C.P. Maine short line, Fort McLeod and Edmonton, Regina, Hudson Bay and Dauphine, Qu'Appelle, Long Lake and Saskatchewan, Calgary and Edmonton and other roads.

Total mileage owned and operated by them in 1912 was estimated at 5,325 miles.

A host of subsidiaries including steamship lines, power and light holdings in South America came under his control. At one time he was president of the Royal Line of Ocean Steamships, Canadian Northern Railway, a number of coal companies and water power and electrical development projects. And he was a director of CGE.

Sir William was a staunch Conservative who declined being nominated for a parliamentary seat on several occasions. He opposed the controversial Taft-Fielding Reciprocity agreement with the United States in 1911.

One of his strongest beliefs was that if Canada were to have a navy the ships should be built in Canada. Sir William was a Presbyterian and an elder in the church.

He enjoyed collecting paintings and was credited with having a fine collection. Friends described him as possessing "a strong taste for art."

Death came in 1923 and he was buried in Kirkfield in the family plot.

This is the tribute paid him by the old Toronto News: "A man of unusual character, of amazing energy, of indomitable purpose and of positive genius for achievement."

Gladiolus Society

The annual meeting of the Peterborough and District Gladiolus Society is being held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Department of Agriculture rooms, with the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee the speaker. The society is out to obtain 200 new members for the coming year, including junior members. Don Carter is president and Mrs. J. Leslie secretary-treasurer.

Grand Master Says Canada At Crossroads

A public meeting was held Friday night by the Loyal Orange Lodge at which the principal speaker was J. A. Corrigan, Ottawa, Grand Master of Eastern Ontario.

Canada was at the crossroads, Mr. Corrigan said. She finds herself menaced by Roman Catholicism on one side and Communist and Socialistic ideologies on the other. Through the efforts of the 300-year-old Orange Association to a large degree, Protestantism has survived.

"There is room for men of good will in the Orange Order today to help protect our heritage," Mr. Corrigan said.

Canada needs a Martin Luther, or a John Knox or a John Wycliffe today to rouse the country to the Protestant faith, he stated. Orangemen believe in Protestantism and loyalty to the British throne. It is the duty of Orangemen to assist their ministers and take part in the activities of their churches as much as possible, he said.

Should Prepare For Crisis

He declared Orangemen should be preparing themselves for the crisis which is quickly approaching in which they may have to fight either with bullets as in the old days or with ballots, which is the modern method. He called for church union an declared that Orange Order had the basis of union within its organization.

Mr. Corrigan was thanked by E. F. Reid. Gordon K. Fraser, Member of Parliament for Peterborough West, also spoke. He caled on the parents to see that their children were carefully instructed in the Protestant religion.

Dr. Semple, who was chairman of the meeting, reminded the audience that October 31 was the anniversary of the beginning of Reformation in 1517. He said he believed that Reformation had not been a schism in the church but the rebirth of the old church.

Orangeman Ed Payne, Grand Master of Peterborough county, arranged the meeting and the musical program which was included.

Joins Police Force

WARKWORTH, Oct. 29 (ENS)—Mr. Donald Angus left on Monday for Toronto where he has been accepted as a member of the Toronto police force. He was a graduate of the Warkworth high school and has recently been employed in Peterborough at the DeLaval Company and Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. He is 6 feet 1 inch in height and weighs 180 pounds.

Coast Members Dominate House Debate

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP)—Members from the Atlantic and Pacific coasts had their day in the Commons Friday.

They had the floor practically to themselves as they debated legislation providing for closer inspection of fish products and discussed the need for improved life-saving services for Canada's shipping lanes.

Second reading—approval in principle—was given to the fish inspection bill and it was referred to the standing committee on marine and fisheries. Fisheries Minister Mayhew suggested that the first meeting of the committee be postponed until Nov. 7 to give representatives of the east and west-coast fishing industries time to come here and make representations.

The legislation would tighten and clarify the government's power to carry out fish inspection at all stages. Mr. Mayhew said it may be a year before the bill, the first ever sponsored by him, becomes effective.

The Minister said he believes the legislation will improve the quality of Canadian fish put on the market. If quality could be obtained there would be no trouble in disposing of the fish.

The legislation met general support from most members but A. Wesley Stuart (L-Charlotte), a former fisherman, said he could not support some features. He believed the bill gave too many powers to inspectors, many of them young and inexperienced.

Earlier, with Transport Department estimates under review, several members urged that Canada have her own coast-guard service. Transport Minister Chevrier said the problem of co-ordinating the life-saving services on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and the Great Lakes is under study by an interdepartmental committee.

Change Schedule

Members decided to devote future Wednesdays to government business instead of private members' resolutions. Members defeated on division—without a formal vote—a motion by Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) that would have given members one more Wednesday and allowed continuation of a debate on a resolution calling for Federal aid to education.

The Prime Minister, who had the floor when the education debate was adjourned, declined to accept the motion. He said Mr. Knowles was not only asking for one more Wednesday for private members but he also was asking that one resolution be given priority over 15 others.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Mr. St. Laurent should complete his speech on the resolution and indicate whether he planned to call the provinces together to discuss the question of Federal grants to education.

Fined $400

TORONTO, Oct. 29 (CP) — Michael Koran was fined $400 or four months Friday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of refusing to repay Gerald C. Rusk a $129 overcharge in rent for two rooms. Kiral, through an interpreter, admitted a 33 per cent overcharge for a one-year period. He said he repaid Rusk $75 and refused to give him any more.

To Join Husband

LONDON, Oct. 29 (Reuters) — Princess Elizabeth hopes to fly to Malta Nov. 20 to join her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, now serving in the navy there, for a few weeks, it was announced Friday night. Prince Charles, their son, will remain in Britain. An announcement from Clarence House, London residence of the Princess, said that she "hopes to stay privately for a few weeks" and expects to return to Britain before Christmas.

Board Rules Union Violates Taft Act

WASHINGTON Oct. 29 (AP). —The Nitaonal Labor Relations Board Friday held the International Typographical Union (AFL) guilty of violating the Taft-Hartley Labor Act. The Board said the big printers' union had set up illegally a "bargaining strategy" which tried to impose closed shop conditions in the newspaper publishing industry.

The Taft-Hartley Act bans the closed shop under which only union members can get jobs.

The Board ordered both the ITU and its Chicago Local No. 16 not to try to force "discrimination" against employees in violation of the Act.

Like Social Services

TORONTO, Oct. 29 (CP) — Newfoundland's people have been quick to appreciate social services provided by the Federal Government since confederation, Hon. Sir Albert J. Walsh, Chief Justice of the new province, said Friday night. "Family allowances have brought a new income to the homes of our people, and old age pensioners have benefitted by the increase in pensions," he said at a luncheon meeting.

Ask Gov't. Subsidy

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP)—H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) in the Commons Friday urged the government to pay a subsidy to the Canadian Pacific Railway to enable it to continue and improve steamship services on the Arrow Lakes of British Columbia. Some people in the area feared that the CPR will turn over unprofitable service to other interests. The people feared that no one could give a service as good as the CPR.

Standardize Bread

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP)—New federal regulations governing the standardization of bread will probably be announced before Christmas, Health Minister Martin said Friday. Health Department officials, he said in an interview, have been consulting officials of the National Council of the baking industry with a view to redefining standards.

Hold Building Costs

TORONTO, Oct. 29 (CP) — A meeting of Ontario Building Exchanges Friday passed a resolution urging that every effort be made to hold building costs to their present levels. Norman M. Fraser, an official of the Ontario General Contractors' Association, said that building exchange representatives from 17 Ontario cities urged that the wage line—and other costs—be held.

Use Chemical Therapy

HALIFAX, Oct. 29 (CP) M A degree of relief from certain types of cancer can be obtained through chemical therapy in cases where operation is impossible and radiation not effective, a group of doctors was told Friday. Dr. Robert Begg, head of the cancer research clinic at Dalhousie University here, recommended to the university's refresher course for doctors that chemical therapy be employed only where other types of treatment are not possible.

Second Schools Poor For Average Students

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 — (CP). — Dr. J. G. Althouse said Friday night that the majority of courses in secondary schools were not designed for the mass of students of average ability who form a large part of the enrolment.

In an address before the one-day convention of District 11, Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, the chief director of the Ontario Department of Education said the question of dealing with such students was "the major" problem in the field of secondary education today.

Dr. Althouse said that 40 years ago, only some 15 to 20 per cent of students who finished elementary school went on to secondary school.

Now, with present school laws, most students entered secondary school.

Steady Demand Increases Security Prices

By The Canadian Press.

Steady demand pushed security prices higher this week as the fourth-month advance on stock markets continued.

Business was brisk and many market leaders showed wide gains. The average price level continued to break into new high ground for the year.

Signs of a slowing down in the climb appeared on profit-taking sales, but the selling generally was well absorbed.

The advance continued despite the steel and coal strikes in the United States. Disruption in industry is beginning to appear because of the strikes and reports indicate that many final-quarter statements will be affected adversely.

Brisk buying appeared towards the close of Tuesday's session in New York and continued Wednesday and Thursday to lift the average price level to a new high. Profit-taking started in mid-session, Friday, cutting the advance.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed Friday at 67.8, a gain of .8 from the previous Friday.

Canadian Markets Stronger

Canadian markets were considerably stronger than Wall Street. At Toronto, industrial stocks marked up strong gains in each session although tending to taper Friday. Increased dividends by banks, an increase and an extra by Massey-Harris and other company news sent the Exchange industrial index ahead for a gain of 3.4 at the highest level in three years.

Brokers reported heavy New York buying in mining issues and oils. The gold index rose 4.03, led by key senior and junior producers.

Base metals gained 4.11 despite early adverse news. Reports of a tightening metals market helped the advance late in the week.

Selected western oil stocks were in heavy demand but a large amount of realizing sales held the gain on the index to 2.23.

Volume for the five days was 6,137,000 shares, compared with 5,135,000 shares the previous week.

All groups gained in Montreal. Advances on the averages were: bans .59, utilities .7, industrials 1.1, combined .9, papers 5.83, golds 3.13. Industrial volume was 329,726, as against 247,644, and mines 1,140,715, as against 776,041.

Grain markets moved narrowly. In Chicago, December rye and soybeans sliped while oats, corn and wheat held. In Winnipeg, October oats, barley and rye tended lower.

"THE PADRE" HONORED—Rev. Sydney E. Lambert, president of the War Amputations of Canada and known to veterans of two world wars as "The Padre," was honored at the opening in Toronto of Lambert Lodge, a home for the aged. The building was formerly the Christie Street Hospital for armed service personnel, where he served as chaplain after his left leg was amputated at the thigh in 1916 when he was wounded in action overseas. During the Second World War he held the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the chaplain service.

May Charter Ship

LONDON, Oct. 29 (CP)—The government of the Republic of Ireland is planning to charter a ship so that 350 Baltic refugees can make in safety the last leg of their long journey which they started in the overloaded landing ship Victory. The Victory, bound from Sweden to Canada, limped into Cork, Ireland, last month. The landing craft was put in dry dock for repairs and Irish offcials, on grounds of safety, refused to allow the group to continue.

Raps Teachers On Poor English

KINGSTON, Oct. 29 (CP) — University professors, ministers, and other educationists who are "needlessly unintelligible" when using the King's English have been given a sharp rap on the knuckles by Chancellor's Lecturer Dr. W. E. McNeill, Vice-Principal-Emeritus of Queen's University.

Pursuing his attack against those who abuse and misuse our language, Dr. McNeill delivered his fourth and last lecture on Thursday at the 57th annual conference of the Queen's Theological Alumni Association.

"Speech is the maker, preserver and measurer of a civilization," he declared. "How, then, can we maintain it in its former beauty?"

"Know enough good examples and know them so well that they become part of the mental tissue," he advised. "The mind takes its character from that upon which it feeds."

"Literature is the basis of education—let us not abandon it," continued Dr. McNeill. "Give English a more important place in our homes and classrooms by having it read, read aloud and memorized."

India Timely Topic As Soroptimists Mark UN Week

Soroptimists of Peterborough are proud of their affiliation with the International Federation of Soroptimists whose observers to UNESCO have now become consultants. The theme for all branches of the organization, outlined at the international conference in England last year, which was attended by a local member, is "Working for the world we want."

With this also in mind the Peterborough Club marked United Nations week by having their regular dinner meeting speaker on Friday evening give an outline of the governmental policy in a UN country. Mrs. T. J. Carley chose India, the last anchor in Asia of the free world as we know it. The topic was indeed timely since the ruler Nehru passed through Ontario just this week.

She pointed out it is the duty of Canadians to get away from the idea India is a far away country of no importance to them and to change their personal attitude toward the people. "We must accept them as a land and people equal to ourselves" she said. A great number of Indian students are attending schools and colleges here but it is not likely there will ever be many immigrants to Canada. At present they are almost prohibited from entering the country by an old statutory law which states the trip here must be entirely non-stop.

Many Improvements

Many improvements have already come to India during the short time of Nehru's rule. His first problem after the death of Gandhi was to stop rioting. He passed a law to do away with "untouchability" and abolished the princes' states and with it much of the poverty of the people they had ruled with iron hands. This ruler who is against regimentation, has a big problem to get the results he desires within 10 years and a noisy communist element, though quite small, is giving him quite a bit of trouble.

A new constitution is presently being worked out which Nehru hopes to put into effect in two months, and it promises many good things for India. It has been decided to make the Hindu language official for the next 15 years, then possibly it will be changed to English.

Mrs. May Thompson, president of Soroptimists, introduced the speaker and she was thanked by Mrs. Eva Brackenridge.

It was announced that the Golden Mile Club is holding the annual bazaar and tea on November 23 at the YWCA and Soroptimists will give assistance. Some plans for a rummage sale were made.

Miss Grace Sargent was winner of the draw prize which is a feature of dinner meetings.

Green, Mrs. David Foster, Mrs. M. Yelland, Mrs. N. Elliott and Mrs. W. T. Savage.

Reports were presented by convener of games committee, Mrs. T. Doughty; Saturday night committee, Mrs. M. McCartney; membership committee, Mrs. V. Selkirk; leads and seconds Mrs. A. Jones.

It was announced that ice will be ready November 7 and instruction periods will be arranged for those desiring them. The actual curling schedule will begin November 14.

Following the business session the women enjoyed a social hour during which tea was served by the social conveners, Mrs. F. J. A. Hall and Mrs. J. Fanning and members of their committee.

22 Hair Fashions Feature Coiffure Ball Style Show

Hairdressers of Peterborough made their first public bow since organization at the "Coiffure Ball" Friday evening. Less than two years ago they formed a branch of the Ontario Hairdressers' Association and are working together for betterment of their profession. The dance was their primary effort to raise money for operation and its success assures it becoming an annual event to look forward to. The 400 guests last evening vouched for their pleasure when they stayed up an hour later for extra dancing to Bobby Kinsman's Club Aragon orchestra.

A style show of hair fashions befitted such an event and set it apart from the ordinary. Customers of various hairdressing salons were chosen for models. Twenty-two individual coiffures were seen and each has an intriguing name.

Black Magic, Peter Pan cut, Heartache, Town Traveller, Bustleback, Evening Lure, Grey Flattery, Sweet Sixteen, Blossom Bob and Raven's Wing are some of the labels that illustrate the range covered. The models were Loretta Cavanagh, Florence Phillips, Jean Weyer, Mrs. Jos. Gatfield, Maureen Gravelle, Ileen Taylor, Jean Davidson, Helen Dafoe, Peggy Mackey, Mrs. Norma Holmes, Mary Scollard, Pat Hartt, Theresa Menard, Mrs. Jas. Logan, Marion Honour, Marjorie Reeves, Joyce Meiklejohn, Anabelle Hall, Marion Adams, Barbara Marchen and Marie Cuffe.

An expert was secured for master of ceremonies, Mr. Chas. Tugwell of Toronto, national program director for the Hairdressers' Association, and for several years Canada's representative at the International Beauty Show in New York. After introducing the models he called attention to the style points of their hair-do's to be looked for as they circled the dance floor.

President Marion Moore assisted the MC in giving away some very valuable gifts that had been donated by local merchants. There were door prizes for gentlemen and ladies and more than 30 spot prizes of which the men received a fair share. Bags of favors given to each couple entering contained shampoo, hair dressing, hand cream and a face pack.

Silhouettes depicting the attractive outlines of this year's hair fashions with glittering tinsel frames made effective ballroom decorations and a small replica centred each table. Colored balloons thrown out over the dancer's heads were pretty—while they lasted.

Those attending were:

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coones, of Keene; Mr. and Mrs. Don DeNoble, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Indulging Parents Given Blame In Later Years

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What to do with aspoiled, good-for-nothing brat? No, I haven't got one, I'm it. I have been petted and spoiled until I am of no use whatever. I am selfish, lazy, impudent. I had two years at one of the best schools in the State, but I did nothing with my chance. I am not fitted to earn my own living and I can't cook or sew. I get up at noon every day and sit by the fire until bedtime. I am utterly miserable and make everyone miserable around me. I am afraid to marry because I know I would ruin any man's life. When I tell my mother and father that I am their fault and that they should have disciplined me, they say I am crazy, it is no one's fault but my own. They have no use for me. What to do?

E. D. C.

ANSWER: A girl as intelligent as you are should see the answer to that question herself. Reform, and the way to reform is simply to face about and cure yourself of your faults. Fortunately for you, you are still young enough to make over your life and to make what you will of it.

You say you are selfish. Well, then, why not teach yourself to prefer others to yourself. If you are lazy, don't lie abed in the morning. Get up and go to work. Get a job if you can. If you can't, help your mother. If you are impudent, shut your teeth on the insolent speech that rises to your lips. Teach yourself to show consideration to your family. Break yourself of the habit of quarreling and fault-finding.

No Greater Crime

You are right in saying that the blame for what you are rests on your parents' head rather than yours. I don't believe that there is a greater crime in the world than spoiling children, for it not only wrecks the life of the child itself but of all who are brought in intimate contact wtih it.

Parents seem to think that if they will not discipline their children they will somehow slide through the world doing exactly as they please. Never was there a greater mistake. The discipline that father and mother did not give them life gives them with a heavy hand, and when they have learned their lesson it is too late to do them any good.

Don't let this be your unhappy fate. Save yourself while there is yet time.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Don't you think that wives should cooperate with their husbands to the extent of permitting them to invite their business friends to dinner when they happen to drop in from a neighboring city? Some wives do not seem to realize the importance of this bit of hospitality in the progress a man is able to make in the business world. I know some who dare not invite any of their business friends to a meal because of their wives' objections.

A CONSTANT READER

ANSWER: A wife is certainly a very poor helpmeet to her husband who isn't willing to take the trouble to get up a good dinner for one of her husband's customers, and who doesn't put on her prettiest frock and her sweetest smile and do her best to help sell her husband to the man who may hold his future in his hands. For these little friendly contacts are of the greatest importance to a man. More sales are made over a dinner table than are over a mohogany-top desk, and it is when a client is soothed and fed and in a melting mood that he is most apt to lend a willing ear to a new proposition.

More than that, employers and businessmen like to size a man up against the background of his home, and nothing creates a more favorable impression than for him to have a nice, well-ordered, well kept house with a wife at the head of it who shows she is clever and capable and a real asset to her husband.

DEAR MISS DIX: Our fathers and mothers do not allow us to go out with boys, but last weekend when they were away we had a wild petting party. We were drunk and did not know what we were doing. Please, please, tell us what to do. We dare not tell our mothers.

TWO FRIGHTENED GIRLS

ANSWER: Take your courage in both hands, girls, and go at once to your mothers and make a full confession of your folly. It is your only salvation.

Don't go to strangers for help. Don't tell your secret to other girls or to people you may find it easy to confide in. Tell it to your mothers, no matter how silly or indiscreet or wrong you have been. They will forgive you and help you.

The CGIT and Explorers met jointly for their meeting this week when Mrs. D. Hubbs was introduced as the new Explorer leader. June Drummond was in the chair for the business session. The Senior girls have already commenced their mission study for the year, and have been collecting material in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the United Church. Members of the Intermediate group planned a Hallowe'en party.

Recreation took the form of dramatization of Bible stories. The Seniors chose the story of Joseph being sold by his brothers, the Intermediates dramatized the parable of the Lost Coin, and Explorers did a splendid portrayal of the parable of the Good Samaritan.

St. Andrew's

Each girl brought a friend to their Hallowe'en party. Jean Smith led the sing-song which was followed by a scavenger hunt. Each girl had arranged to have a game which resulted in a hilarious time. Refreshments were served.

The meeting this week took the form of a dedication service for new members and was conducted by Miss Ruth Barns. Members of the executive were dedicated during a candle lighting ceremony and later initiated by Marion Crawford Margaret Munro initiating the new girls. During the business period it was decided to wear middies or white blouses to future meetings.

George Street

Everyone was ready for the Hallowe'en party held this week. After games, the costumes were judged, and the following girls received prizes from the Junior Group: Eileen Armstrong, Pan Neal, Marion Outram, Marlene Ellis, Arden Smith and Joan Youngs and Arlene Jarvis, Sybil Andrews Victoria McKim, Wilma Mahood, Marilyn McCulloch and Joyce Copp were the lucky winners from the Intermediate Group.

Of Interest to Women

After a ghost walk through the rooms and corridors, the girls returned to the CGIT room for refreshments.

Woman Shortage Facing Canada Need 1000 Nurses

TORONTO, Oct. 29 (CP). — Canada is face-to-face with a new and disturbing shortage—Women.

That is the warning given to Toronto nurses by Dr. Charlotte Whitton, one of the Dominion's foremost welfare experts.

"What is becoming increasingly and disturbingly evident is that there are simply not enough girls and young women in Canada to go round," said Dr. Whitton in an address prepared for delivery before the University of Toronto School of nursing.

Dr. Whitton suggested that the nursing profession should make a thorough "job analysis of nursing, present and future." The profession, faced with a shortage of some 7,000 nurses, should try to decide if it would be possible to reallocate "some of the duties, traditionally assumed by the all-round nurse in hospital, clinic and home."

"The United Kingdom needs 125,000 nurses and is 45,000 short; the United States, with 318,000 nurses, still has 33,000 hospital beds closed due to the shortage," Dr. Whitton said.

In Canada, added Dr. Whitton, "Ontario is best served in nurses of all the provinces yet, excluding public health, private duty and industrial nursing, the last reports indicated a shortage of over 1,000 graduate nurses, and over 400 other nursing personnel.

6—In Memoriams

GENGE—In loving memory of our dear son and brother Lorne, who passed away October 30th, 1946.
Beautiful memories are all we have left
Of him we loved dearly and shall never forget.
His loving smile and happy face,
A broken link we can never replace.
Sad was the parting, no one can tell,
So sudden on earth the sorrow fell;
Memories we treasure, no one can steal;
Death leaves a heartache nothing can heal.
—Ever Remembered By Dad, Mom, Sisters and Brothers.

McILVENA—In loving memory of our dear daughter, Verena, who passed away Oct. 30, 1940:
Wonderful memories of one so dear,
Are treasured still with a love sincere.
Still in our hearts she is living yet,
For we loved her too dearly, to ever forget.
—Lovingly Remembered By Mother and Daddy.

MANN—In loving memory of Sergeant S. S. Mann, who died in Belgium Oct. 29, 1944.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay.
Our love for him will still keep green
And never fade away.
—Lovingly remembered by Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

Utilities Caught Up With Service Needs

At the end of the war, the Utilities Commission had $300,000 in Victory Bonds to the credit of the electric department. Capital expenditures for new power lines, transformers, meters and other equipment and work have nearly wiped out the bond account.

Only $65,000 was left the other day, as reported by Howard Clegg, accountant. There are also a few bonds left in the waterworks account. As also reported the cost of the water mains laid this year was $207,000.

Ross Dobbin informed the Commission that "we are now caught up on applications". That means, the staff has put in connections to all houses ready for them, and that the providing of services has overtaken the building program.

Several small jobs remain to be done. One is at Swanston and Juliet Avenues, east of Nicholls Oval.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Skill Required In Planning Proper Dormers In House

The house they were viewing was newly built, but the prospective purchaser eyed it doubtfully. It had started out with every intention of becoming a handsome affair, with all the beauties common to Colonial architecture, but somewhere somehow it fell short. "No, I don't think I like it," the would-be purchaser remarked judicially. "There's something wrong with it, and I'm not sure what it is."

An architect could have told him that the fault lay in the dormers. Where they should have been tall, narrow, graceful in design, they were fat and awkward, with a clumsiness that overwhelmed all the fine detail of the exterior.

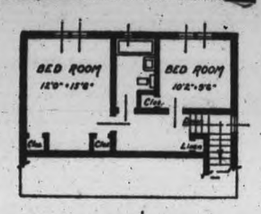
This is the danger of dormers. Their faults are many—or are liable to be so in the hands of designers and builders lacking in skill. They are expensive to build, difficult to make weather-tight. From an artistic standpoint they are something of a risk. Nevertheless their virtues are such that we would not willingly do without them. The low, homelike houses so popular today demand dormers, for how else could the second floor be adequately lighted and ventilated?

It is something of a consolation to know that we are not the first to struggle with their idiosyncrasies. In Latin the word dormire means to sleep. An old French word, dormeor, meant a sleeping room, hence our word dormers—the windows in a sleeping room.

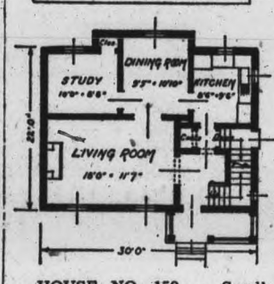
Gothic and Renaissance architects made use of this device, and examples of dormers exists from as early as the Thirteen and Fourteenth centuries. They were widely used in France, Belgium, and the Netherlands, all countries where the pitch of the roof was inclined to be somewhat steep. We do not find them in Mediterranean countries, not in domestic work, at any rate, for in these countries roofs of little or no slope are the general thing. A dormer window demands a pitched roof as a background.

At times we see the statement that dormers so extensively used today on houses of the Dutch Colonial style, were little used, if at all, on the original Dutch Colonial dwelings. This is somewhat hard to reconcile with the fact that we do see such houses with very obvious dormers. Almost invariably, however, these were added at a later date than that of the original construction. It is not that dormers were unknown to the old Dutch builders, by no means, but for one thing the metal necessary for flashing was scarce and not easily secured. Without it it was impossible to make them weather-tight, something of a problem today. Certain old laws restricting the number of storeys in a house undoubtedly also had something to do with this lack of dormers.

The most glaring fault of dormers on modern Dutch Colonial houses is their large size, because of which they give the appearance of over-balancing the roof. This is particularly true where the outer wall of the dormer is merely an extension of the first storey, across which runs the line of the eaves.

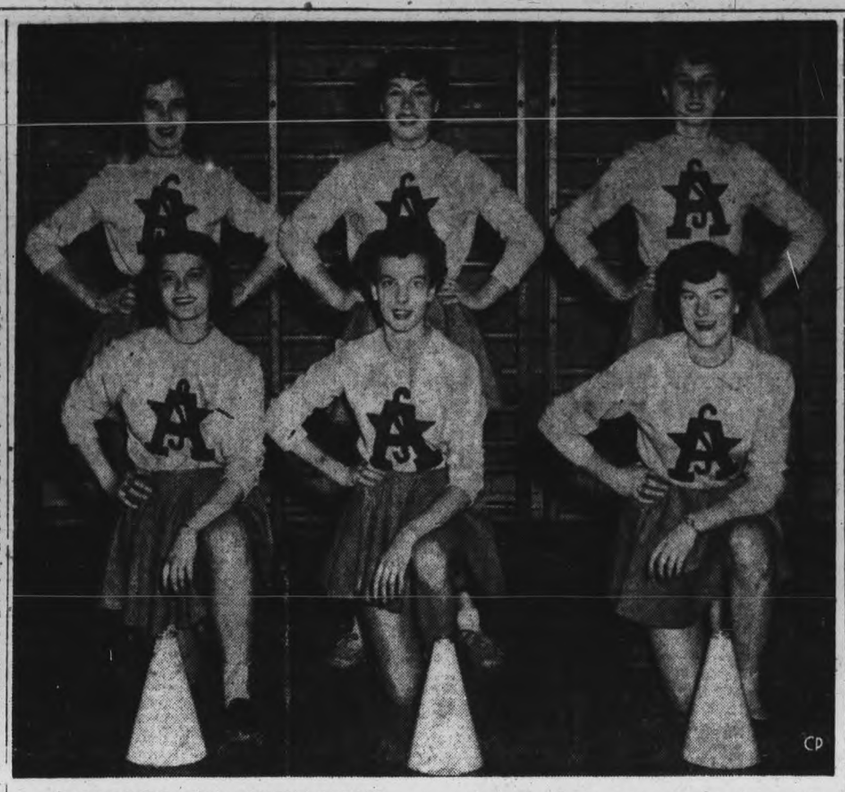


Although there are many variations, there are only some six or eight fundamental styles of dormer windows. The ordinary gable roof type is the most usual. Those with a hip-roof, snubbed gable, or shed roof are also in common usage. The semi-circular, the eyebrow, and the arched dormers are somewhat less general, but in their place highly attractive. The eyebrow dormer, by the way, in which the roof curves over it, is reminiscent of the old English cottages and the manner in which the overhanging thatch of the room was sometimes lifted and curved at the edge to allow a window in the wall beneath. The eyebrow dormer is used primarily for ventilating and lighting an attic space, for it would hardly be sufficient for a bedroom.



If the dormer is tall and narrow round-arched but with no angle between the side wall and the arch, it is sometimes referred to as the prairier schooner type, easily enough accounted for when you think of the shape of these old-time conveyances.

Often times the room is brought so low on the wall that the second storey windows break the cornice line, extending upward to form small dormers. When well executed these give great distinction.



Where the house is composed of a central mass with a wing at either side, the dormers on the wings and in the centre may vary in style. Now and then an additional dormer is required for purposes of light and ventilation where there are already a number of one style. In this case a cut-in or recessed dormer may be used in order not to spoil the composition of the exterior. Besides being comparatively inconspicuous, this type permits longer windows than do other types of dormers.

Dormers light and ventilate the interior, that is their primary purpose, but on the other hand they have a tremendously important effect on the exterior. Large clumsy dormers, although they give much additional floor space and practically level ceilings, should never be tolerated.

HOUSE NO. 159 — Small, convenient, economical, and with an air of dignity.... all these features combined in one house. Yes, this is the type of home our men overseas dreamed about....a little house under blue Canadian skies, with room enough for a growing family. But this house isn't just a dream, it is the real thing. Careful planning has produced a house which can be built on a narrow lot, since the frontage is only 30 feet, and principal windows look to the front or rear, giving high degree of privacy. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay Street, Toronto.

NO CHEER FOR CHEERLEADERS—Sherbrooke football fans no longer will see these six attractive girls in action—at least not in the yellow sweaters and short green skirts they are wearing here. City authorities stepped in at the last football game, pointed to a by-law banning the wearing of shorts or short skirts in public and ordered the girls to cover themselves with coats. They did and their team went on to take a 24-0 trouncing from Montreal Navy in the Quebec Rugby Football Union. The girls are, left to right, kneeling: Dorothy Doiron, Dorothy Hatch, Jackie Roberts; standing, Gladys Warren, Dorothy Rolfe and Joan Chilvers.

Jesuit Priest Dismissed From Order

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 29—The Rev. Leonard J. Feeney, SJ, central figure of a six-month public dispute with Roman Catholic Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, was dismissed Friday night from the Jesuit Order.

Father Feeney himself announced the dismissal and said it was "for disobedience."

The noted Jesuit author, poet, and lecturer — deprived of his priestly functions by Archbishop Cushing since January 1—summoned reporters to St. Benedict's Centre to tell the latest development in his argument with the hierarchy.

He said that at 6 p.m. he received a registered letter from the Rev. John J. McEleny, SJ, New England Provincial of the Society of Jesus, enclosing a decree from the Very Rev. Jean Baptist Janssens, General of the Order at Rome.

Father Seeney said the letter, in Latin, concluded with this sentence:

"By reason of a letter received October 21, 1949, written by the Very Rev. Jean Baptiste Janssens, General of the Society of Jesus, your dismissal from the Society of Jesus has been approved."

The Roman Catholic Chancery had no comment of the announcement. This was in line with its rule of silence throughout the controversy.

The dispute arose over the contention of a group led by Father Feeney that there is no salvation for persons outside the Roman Catholic Church. Late in July the Supreme Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office in Rome declared that this view was "far from being genuine Catholic teaching."

Local Men

day before had been one of the official guards at Cape Town when the general officer commanding all British forces during the war was trooped aboard ship, returning to England to be acclaimed there as the victorious leader who saved South Africa from the Boers.

The men held a unit reunion upon their return from South Africa, but there have been none since then.

Historians may not yet have decided whether the British or the Boers had right on their side, but they record that the fighting was often savage and ruthless and throughout the Canadians displayed great courage and endurance and resourcefulness and aided materially in the final defeat of the Boers.

Tries For New Record

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 — (CP) — Milton Reynolds announced Friday he will set out Monday to try for another around-the-world flight record. This time he'll try to better the record for scheduled flights. He hopes to leave Los Angeles and be back in about four days and 23 hours. This would be 30 hours better than the present scheduled air liner record.

Want Guay's Jewelry Settle Civil Affairs

QUEBEC, Oct. 29.— (CP). — Bertrand Marcotte, counsel for J. Albert Guay, said Friday legal steps being taken to repossess for Guay jewelry now in the hands of provincial police are merely to "regulate Guay's civil affairs."

Guay, a Quebec jeweler, is charged with the murder of his wife who died in an airplane crash at Sault Au Cochon Sept. 9. Police charge that a bomb explosion aboard the plane sent it crashing, killing 22 other persons.

Mr. Marcotte said "it is perfectly normal that we endeavor to satisfy the claims of merchants by returning jewelry not paid for."

At the same time he denied a report carried by The Canadian Press that there were rumors Guay was trying to obtain the services of Alexandre Chevalier and Lucien Gendron, Montreal lawyers, as defense counsel.

Mr. Marcotte said there never had been a question of retaining the Montreal lawyers. He said he will be defence counsel, assisted by Gerard Levesque.

Appeal Phone Rates

QUEBEC, Oct. 29—(CP)—Five Ontario and Quebec cities will appeal to the Board of Transport commissioners next week against an application by the Bell Telephone Company for higher rates in the two provinces. Benoit Pelletier, head of Quebec's civic legal department, told the city executive council Friday the cities of Montreal, Quebec, Toronto, Hamilton and Ottawa had decided to oppose the increase.

Authors Face Challenge

TORONTO, Oct. 29—(CP) — Arthur Stringer, Canadian-born poet and author, said Friday Canada should cease being a "Charlie McCarthy to a ventriloquist United States" and set forth her works "persistently and passionately" before men. Addressing the Rotary Club, Mr. Stringer said he felt Canadian poets and authors are facing a great challenge in achieving for Canada its rightful recognition among nations of the world.

Add Something New

YARMOUTH, N.S., Oct. 29 — (CP)—Lobster bootlegging is in for a severe blow around the Yarmouth County coast this winter. When the season opens Dec. 1— the industry is worth about $1,000,000 annually—there will be something new in lobster traps. A new federal law makes it compulsory for traps to be so constructed that small lobsters can escape through the slats. Previously, traps have had laths spaced so closely together that they held undersized lobsters.

Judge Allows Counter-Claim, Plaintiff Loses

An action brought against Desmond Hunt of Townsend Street by Mrs. Marie Anne Gordon of the same address has been dismissed by His Honor Judge J. A. McGibbon, Lindsay. A counter-claim by Hunt for damages was allowed.

Mrs. Gordon had charged the defendant with assault and had asked damages. She also claimed he had withdrawn about $1,600 from a lunch counter business and refused to give any account of it; that he had broken a partnership agreement; and that he had locked her out of her dwelling-house.

The case was heard at a non-jury sitting of the County Court on October 5, and judgment was handed down this week.

In dismissing the action Judge McGibbon described the plaintiff as a woman "determined from the beginning to make things as unpleasant as possible for the defendant."

Earlier Agreement

An agreement signed in December, 1946, included in its terms the provision for an $8 weekly rental paid by the defendant to the plaintiff for use of certain kitchen equipment. He agreed to pay Mrs. Gordon $500 and she would discontinue an action pending against him and also get living quarters for herself and family as soon as possible.

"This agreement settled all the differences between the plaintiff and the defendant and that she is now stopped from making any further claim whatsover upon the defendant," Judge McGibbon said in his judgment.

The several disputes arose out of the re-opening in November, 1945, of the lunch counter at first under the name of Gordon's Lunch Bar and later as Hunt's Restaurant. Business was suspended in 1942 after Mrs. Gordon's husband died, and Hunt, later a boarder, suggested it be re-opened.

Wanted Profit Share

Mrs. Gordon contended there was a partnership existing between herself and Hunt and she was entitled to the profits of the business. This the defendant denied and his evidence was accepted by Judge McGibbon.

Improvements on the property either through bank loans or personal investment amounted to $3,300, Hunt estimated, and the loans were all made on his signature.

Judge McGibbon ruled that Hunt was carrying on the business with hired help, of whom the plaintiff was one.

"In my opinion Hunt has been more than generous in his attitude and in his conduct toward the plaintiff and in regard to the evidence given by both the plaintiff and the defendant, I prefer and I do believe Hunt's evidence in preference to that of the plaintiff."

Reginald Chandler appeared for the plaintiff and V. J. McElderry for the defendant.

County Farm Notes

Harry Blewett Farm Seen In Soil Conservation Film — Durham Judging Teams Repeat In Provincial Competition — Burritt Mann Going To 4-H Congress In Chicago.

Scenes at the Harry Blewett Farm on the Chemong Road give the soil conservation film "Land in Trust" a special local interest. They are only incidental to the purpose and message of this picture which is a fresh appeal for widespread appreciation of basic soil values in the life and economy of the nation.

"Land in Trust" is not a local picture of new methods of soil management, strip farming, land use and so on. It is a synopsis of agencies of top soil loss throughout Canada, forest and orchard, prairies and rolling lands of the east. The treatment and planning is largely suggestive of the problem of conservation, with methods of prevention and correction.

The assistance of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in the practice that has been carried out in co-operation with Mr. Blewett is indicated in results of strip farming on the contours of several of his fields, together with new use of wood lot.

Persons appearing in the film are Mr. Blewett and his two young sons, Tom and Bob, and Reg McMullen and his son Jim. Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, is also seen and heard.

"Land In Trust" generalizes the need of soil care and improvement, and is repetitive in its appeal for farmers and others "to work with nature".

NORWOOD'S APPRECIATION

G. A. Brethen, president of Norwood Fair, sends a note on behalf of its board of directors and himself, expressing gratitude to all those who in any way contributed to the success of the exhibition on Thanksgiving Day.

"It is of interest that the activities of the Fair were filmed, and it is hoped that they will be shown during the winter."

Wallace Havelock Robb, Canadian poet and lecturer, who was a judge of the district high school beauty contest is writing his impression of the Fair in the Nov. 1 issue of Farm Magazine.

Mr. Brethen said Norwood Fair had lived up to expectations and proved itself one of the outstanding class "C" fairs this year. Its records of attendance and gate receipts were broken, and to thousands of people who were there Mr. Brethen extends Norwood's thanks.

SADDLE AND SIRLOIN CLUB

First step toward creation of a Canadian organization to promote the related interests of horsemen and livestock breeders in the Dominion was taken in Ottawa Thursday night.

Directors of the Ottawa Winter Fair and Horse Show adopted a proposal calling for the formation of a group tentatively named the Saddle and Sirloin Club of Canada.

The club program calls for holding of meeting to correlate activities, social and otherwise, for the betterment of horse and livestock shows. Question of a central headquarters will be dealt with at a later date.

In recognition of the service rendered Canadian agriculture by Dr. E. S. Archibald, president of the Ottawa Fair, the group made preliminary arrangements to hang an oil painting of Dr. Archibald at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Dr. Archibald is Director of Experimental Farms for the Federal Government.

Jos. T. Tully, Otonabee, sold a bred heifer for $785 to Clarence L. Keener, Manheim, Pa., at the All-Canadian Holstein sale in Toronto Monday. Mr. Keener also bought another bred heifer from Mr. Tully for $415. Sales total was $76,327 for 73 head, averaging $1,089.

CONTOUR PLOWING

Keith McIntyre and Everett McFarlane of Otonabee, second year Diploma men at OAC, won the fourth prize in the contour plowing match at the college the other day. There were 30 two-men teams, mostly of third and fourth year agricultural mechanics option. This was the second match on the contour plan, and although it was raining the competition attracted more attention and interest than last year.

The policy of the farm operators is to set down a plowed area to corn, leaving aside strips in sod so as to control soil erosion on the sides of the slope. The following year the plowed area will be seeded to oats which will act as a nurse crop to the good pasture mixture. After that the sod strips will be plowed and seeded back immediately to an improved pasture mixture. Thus in three years the entire field will be in improved pasture mixture.

Burritt Mann has been chosen as one of the Ontario juniors who will attend the national congress of the 4-H Clubs of the U.S.A. in Chicago Nov. 27-Dec. 1.

The provincial party is composed of 12 girls and 18 boys. J. R. Osler, agricultural representative in Leeds will be in charge of Ontario's guest representatives, and the chaperone is Miss Ina Lindsay of Perth, home economist of the Women's Institute branch. They leave Hamilton Saturday morning Nov. 26, travelling by special railway coach.

Don Milburn attended the 4-H Congress in Chicago two years ago, and reported a memorable experience both in the variety of program provided for the U.S. junior farmers and also in meeting many of them from various States of the Union.

CLUB WORK IN CANADA

Boys' and Girls' Club work in Canada, corresponding with the 4-H establishment south of the border, is under the general direction of the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club work.

This council is made up of representatives from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, a representative from each province, and industrial members such as the CNR, CPR, the Industrial and Development Council of the Canadian Meat Packers, and others. It operates on grants from the dominion and provincial governments and by a membership fee of $500 each from industrial members.

Government grants are used for administration expenses and the maintenance of a secretary's office in Ottawa. Membership fees from industrial participants help to pay travelling expenses, hotel bills, prizes and other costs of the national club contests at the Royal Winter Fair next month.

Approximately 11,500 boys and girls were enrolled in club projects in Ontario this year, and 50,000 in Canada.

In the spring a boy or a girl, 12 to 20 years of age, may enrol in a project, either in a dairy calf, beef calf, swine, foal, grain, potato, or poultry. Homemaking projects are conducted in clothing, nutrition and home gardens for girls. During the summer, a boy in a dairy calf club for instance, will attend three or four meetings on general dairy farming topics, fit, feed and train a calf, and receive coaching and actually judge classes of dairy cattle. Animals or crops are finally exhibited at the local Achievement Day and members show, judge, and answer 10 questions. Prize money amounting to $4.50 per entry at the Achievement Day in the case of live stock and $3.00 in the case of crop propects and poultry, is provided equally by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the local sponsoring organization. Each Club of course, is under the direction of a committee which includes the local leader, the agricultural representative, and perhaps one or two other people.

PASTURE FERTILIZATION

"Canada's top cattle are the best in the world, but it is the average producer who is falling down," Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of Dominion Experimental Farm, said this week at Pembroke. "Canadian farmers as a whole are not yet aware of the benefits of proper fertilization for grazing purposes. When the fields are not well cared for, cattle are not as well fed."

Dr. Archibald was speaker at Pembroke Rotary Club's Rural-Urban dinner meeting. He said Canada was miles behind some of the countries "with which our dairy herds are competing for honors in the international fairs". A recent visitor to New Zealand, Dr. Archibald said that country attacked the problem of fertilizing grazing land in order to increase the standard and productivity of their cattle.

DURHAM WINS THREE

Durham county juniors won three of the projects in provincial competition at O.A.C. Guelph last week for boys and girls' club teams. They finished in front in the swine, beef and potato club sections. Grenville county were first in the dairy club contest. Middlesex the grain club, and Elgin won the poultry club honors.

In girls' competition Carleton took the food project and Elgin clothing.

The winners of each project except poultry will represent Ontario in the Dominion finals against the other provincial teams at the Royal Winter Fair, November 14. All those competing on the national level will be guests of the Royal directors and will visit Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Ottawa with all expenses assumed by the several railways, and from grants received from many commercial and agricultural organizations.

The club scores out of a possible 1040 in each instance were:

Dairy Club 1st Grenville County, Score 934; 2nd Lambton County, 3rd Ontario County, 9th Victoria County. The Durham County Team, Marion Tink and Isobel Cruickshank, Hampton were twenty-third with 48 teams competing.

Beef Club: 1st Durham County — 937, Team members Donald Taylor, Enniskillen and Glen H. Larmer, Nestleton. 2nd Elgin County—934 3rd Renfrew—High contestant Glen H. Larmer, 475 out of a possible 520.

Swine Club — 1st Durham County 941, 2nd Middlesex County 918, 3rd Huron County. Team members Howard Trewin, Burketon and Donald Prescott, Burketon. High Contestant Howard Trewin 492.

Swine Club (Durham East) — 6th Team members Arnold Brackenridge, Millbrook Geo. Skelding, Newcastle.

Grain Club — 1st Middlesex County 937, 2nd Durham County 930. Durham Team members were Sam Turner, Bowmanville and Roy Werry, Enniskillen 3rd Ontario County.

Potato Club — 1st Durham County—915, Team members Elliott Dunbar, Port Hope and Lloyd Martin, Newcastle. 2nd Nipissing—896. High contestant Lloyd Martin—459.

Poultry—1st Elgin county 2nd Lincoln County.

On the Durham beef team were two first cousins who have competed in Beef Club classes and judging in the county for five years. They were Donald Taylor and Glen Larmer.

It has been recalled by some of those interested in the Durham teams that Mr. Taylor is the third member of the Taylor family of three who have won at Guelph in Ontario Competitions. The others were Bruce Taylor on the winning grain team in 1944 and Evelyn Taylor on the winning grain team in 1947.

Mr. E. A. Summers, agricultural representative, and his junior farmer temporary assistant, Bruce Taylor, of Enniskillen, who coached the teams, are proud of the excellent standing made at Guelph. One of their important tasks is to give further coaching to those three Durham teams in preparation for the Dominion competition at Toronto Nov. 14.

Forced To Drive 250 Miles Kidnapped Taxi Driver Chews Through Tie Bonds

3 Youths Arrested, Held For Questioning In Sudbury Armed Robbery; Believed To Be AWOL From Camp Borden

COCHRANE, Oct. 31—(CP)—With guns drawn, two policemen early today nabbed three armed youths suspected of the kidnap-holdup of a North Bay taxi-driver. Police identified the trio as Robert Macdonald, 22, Slave Lake, Alta.; Edward N. Hyder, 22, Jarvie, Alta., and Weldon Connors, 19, Stellarton, N.S. They were held for questioning. Each wore an Army uniform, police said. They were in touch with military authorities at Camp Borden to determine whether the youths are soldiers.

Provincial Constable Tom Speakman and municipal Constable L. C. Millaire, both of Smooth Rock Falls, spotted the wanted men near Driftwood, 17 miles west of this remote northern Ontario town.

They surrendered meekly, the two officers said. Nearby was the taxi stolen early Sunday from taxi-driver Frank Demarco of North Bay. It apparently had been abandoned a few minutes before the arrests were made.

Each of the youths carried a revolver, police said.

The capture ended an all-night hunt in which all roads between North Bay and Port Arthur were blocked or patrolled.

Demarco, 30, told police one youth hired his cab in North Bay Sunday morning, asking to be taken about three miles north of that city. Two others were picked up a few minutes later.

Does Some Driving

Outside North Bay, the "passengers" drew guns and forced Demarco into the back seat. Later they hustled him up front again and made him do some of the driving.

They drove all day and had gone about 250 miles when the trio headed down a side road, walked Demarco into the bush at gunpoint, took his clothes and bound him with a necktie and some wire. They robbed him of $8.00.

Demarco said he freed himself in about 15 minutes by chewing through the necktie. He made his way to a farmhouse where he told his story. It was relayed to police by a girl who rode by pony to the nearest telephone, at a general store.

Boy 14 Killed By Cave-in Of Play Fort

TORONTO, Oct. 31 (CP)—An inquest will be held into the death of 10-year-old Douglas Burnett in the cave-in of a play fort which he and two chums were digging.

The boy was buried under sandy soil Sunday night when the walls and roof of the tunnel-like excavation in suburban East York collapsed. Police and neighbors dug for 20 minutes to recover his body.

The boy, one of the nine children of Mr. and Mrs. James Burnett, was digging seven feet inside the tunnel. Allen Fitch, 14, was near the mouth of the tunnel, shoving out earth to Ronald Jobin, 13, who carried it away.

Allen said later:

"The whole roof suddenly collapsed on top of Douglas. I could see his legs and began to dig for him. Then more earth came down and he was completely buried."

When Ronald saw the earth crumble, he ran to the home of Ernest Swenson. Swenson called police and then ran to the scene. By the time the police reached the cave-in spot on the Woodbine Golf Course, five residents of the area had started digging.

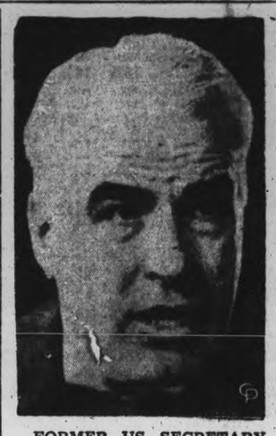
Cruiser On Way To Rescue 710

HONG KONG, Oct. 31 (AP) — The British cruiser Belfast, steaming to rescue 710 shipwrecked Chinese Nationalist soldiers, today sighted another vessel aground on Pratas Island in the South China Sea.

The cruiser radioed the Admiralty here she thought the vessel grounded on Pratas' southeastern tip, was the Chinese sloop Kiang Yang. The island is about 200 miles southeast of Hong Kong.

The Belfast reported she was unable to make radio contact with the Kiang Yang, which on Thursday rammed the French freighter Docteur Yersin while out of control 120 miles southeast of Hong Kong.

The Belfast started out for Pratas Island to pick up 260 men from the Cheung Hsin, a converted tank-landing ship, who are on the island. Another 460 soldiers still are on the Cheung Hsin, which has been stranded 10 days without food or water.



Train Jumps Tracks At 60 MPH, 17 Hurt

AZUSA, Calif., Oct. 31.—(AP).—The Santa Fe's El Capital, luxury all-coach streamliner, jumped the tracks at 60 miles an hour Sunday, but caused only minor injuries to 17 passengers.

One of the injured was Mrs. Gloria DeCarlo of Toronto. She was released from hospital after treatment for minor cuts and bruises.

The leading unit of the Diesel locomotive overturned and caught fire as it hit a broken rail. Several hundred feet of track were plowed up and power lines were torn down.

Five cars of the Los Angeles-to-Chicago train left the rails, tilting along the right of way. There were 206 passengers aboard the 15 coaches. Some of the passengers in the rear coaches of the train were unaware of the derailment, feeling only a grinding stop.

FORMER US SECRETARY of State, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., died today at Greenwich, Conn. He was 49 years old.

Ed. R. Stettinius Dies Suddenly, Ex-Secy Of State

GREENWICH, Conn., Oct. 31—(AP)—Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., former United States Secretary of State, died today. He observed his 49th birthday Oct. 22.

He was visiting at the home of Juan Trippe, his brother-in-law who is head of Pan-American Airlines.

The cause of death was not immediately known. Members of the Trippe household said Stettinius died at 7:30 o'clock.

The white-haired Stettinius, who at 37 became board chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, was the first United Nations delegate of the United States. He was named rector of the University of Virginia after leaving the U.N. post in 1946.

Rich Man's Son

A rich man's son, Stettinius went into government service and shortly became administrator of the $60,000,000,000 lend-lease program that played a major role in the final defeat of Nazi Germany.

The former cabinet member's secretary said members of the household found Stettinius unconscious in bed this morning.

He had suffered from a heart condition since last spring, his secretary said, and had been convalescing here.

His wife and her mother, Mrs. W. J. Wallace, were with him when he died.

Stettinius started his industrial career with General Motors, becoming a vice-president in 1931. He went to U.S. Steel three years later and became board chairman in 1938.

No Sign Of Break In Oshawa Strike

OSHAWA, Oct. 31 (CP))—The strike of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) at the General Motors plant here showed no sign of a break today.

Entrances were picketed—without disorder—for the fifth straight day.

Some 5,200 workers are striking in protest against the dismissal of four employees—three union stewards and a committee man. The company says they were fired for refusing to work.

The Union is also protesting an alleged company attempt to speed up production on one assembly line.

Sentence Oshawa Trio

OSHAWA, Oct. 31 (CP)—Two Oshawa youths and a 23-year-old woman were sentenced today for the Sept. 23 payroll robbery of an Oshawa plumbing firm. Carol Henry, and Clayton Patrick, Charged with robbery with violence, were sentenced to two years definite and three months indeterminate and one year definite and six months indeterminate respectively. Mrs. Kathleen Moore, 23, charged with receiving stolen goods, was sentenced to one year.

Demand Move To Protect UN Observers In Balkans

LAKE SUCCES, Oct. 31 (CP).—Britain and the United States pressed for quick action today to protect United Nations observers in the troubled Balkans.

The issue assumed urgency in the eyes of the Western powers because of reports that observers for the UN Special Committee on the Balkans had been fired on from Albania as recently as October 25.

Interrupting general debate on threats to peace in the Balkans, Britain's Hector McNeil Saturday asked for immediate consideration of a resolution on the situation. He was backed by Benjamin V. Cohen of the United States.

Both bowed to Russian insistence on a postponement, however, when the Soviet spokesmen insisted they had not had sufficient time to study the British proposal.

The Russians are expected to attempt to stall action again—this time contending that all proposals on the Balkans should be taken up at the same time—at the end of general debate.

The general debate, which has been both heated and prolonged, is expected to continue for some time.

Breaking into the Balkan debate in recent days has been the sharp animosity between Russia and the Chinese Nationalists. The Chinese have been making comparisons between the Balkan situation and that in China, charging Red Imperialism is at the root of both problems.

China's charges that the Russians violated a 1945 friendship treaty by aiding the Chinese Communists are on the agenda for this Assembly session and debate is expected to be the biggest of the year in the UN.

Won't Join Sterling Bloc Canada Says

Admit Dominion Would Suffer If UK Markets Lost

OTTAWA, Oct. 31—(CP)— A British suggestion that Canada switch her economy from the dollar to the sterling area has received a cold reception.

Party leaders and cabinet sources bluntly termed the suggestion of a British Labor member of parliament as "unrealistic" and "ignorant." They admitted, however, that Canada would suffer if United Kingdom markets were lost.

The suggestion was made by Sqdn.-Ldr. Ernest Kinghorn at a meeting in Stalham, Eng. He said he would propose in the U.K. Commons that Canada be asked to make the transfer.

Social Credit Leader Solon Low, staunch advocate of trade with the U.K., said the Kinghorn proposal would be an impossibility for Canada. It was difficult, he said, to see how Canada could cope with her American trade—most of the Dominion's trade is with the United States—if she were in the sterling area.

Shows Ignorance

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell said the British Laborite's suggestion to transfer of economy from one area to another shows a lack of appreciation of the "hard economic facts."

Cabinet sources said the suggestion showed "ignorance."

However, both Mr. Coldwell and Mr. Low took a serious view of another part of the British Laborite's statement in which he said:

"If Britain were in a position to import all wheat from non-dollar countries, Canada would be completely bankrupt."

A Severe Blow

Mr. Low said he doubted whether Britain could ever decide against buying wheat in Canada, but such a move, if made, would deal Canada's economy a heavy blow.

He suggested that Canada must increase her trade with the sterling countries and that a strong effort be made to wipe out the difference betwen the sterling and dollar blocs.

Mr. Coldwell said loss of the U.K. market would affect not only wheat but other Canadian commodities such as fish.

Wheat farming in Canada has been so deeply rooted in the Canadian economy that it would be difficult for farmers to make a switch to other crops within a year or two.

Charge Story Insult To King

LONDON, Oct. 31—(CP)—The Sunday Pictorial's "Personality Parade" column says Canadian author Scott Young "is responsible for a cheap and nasty insult to King George." The column summarized a story Young wrote in the Saturday Evening Post's Oct. 15 edition entitled "The man who said no to the King."

It said the story, though listed as fiction, used the King as its main character and had him deciding none of his own naval decorations as suitable for a young naval hero named Lieut. David Smythe.

The story recites a personal but unsuccessful attempt by the King to persuade a war-hero lieutenant to remain in the peacetime Royal Navy.

Young, 31, who served as a public relations officer in the Canadian Navy and who lives at Omemee, said: "To the best of my ability, I sought to present the King as human and kindly—the kind of man I'd like him to be."

Hockey Player Loses Pint of Blood On Ice

Artery Cut During Game, Two Doctors Operate And Save Life

OTTAWA, Oct. 31 (CP) — More than a pint of blood drained out of a deep skate cut in hockey player George Pumple's thigh Saturday night as he lay on the ice after a hockey injury.

Pumple, an RCAF Flying Officer, is in hospital at nearby Rockcliffe Air Station. Doctors said today his condition is improving.

He was flown here Sunday from North Bay where an emergency operation was performed by Dr. L. L. Crowe of North Bay and Sqdn. Ldr. A. G. (Sandy) Watson, a medical officer and coach of the RCAF Flyers.

Cuts Artery

Pumple was playing defence with the Flyers in an Eastern Canada Hockey League game against North Bay Black Hawks when he was cut, probably by the butt end of a skate.

Sqdn. Ldr. Watson said the skate cut an artery and "several" blood vessels in the left thigh, just below the groin.

Pumple lay on the ice for nearly 20 minutes while the two doctors applied a tourniquet to stop the bleeding before taking him to hospital. There, an emergency operation was performed to locate the damaged blood vessels. An RCAF surgeon was flown to North Bay but arrived after the operation was over.

Pumple, a 21-year-old native of Ottawa, received his wings as a pilot six months ago at Centralia, where he won a trophy for top flying marks in his course.

Secret Plane Hits Houses, Three Killed

YEOVIL, Somerset, England, Oct. 31 (AP)—A new, secret Royal Navy fighter smacked into a pair of connecting houses today and exploded. The pilot, a child and a woman were killed.

The blast of the plunging plane demolished one house, killing its occupant, Mrs. W. Brown. Police hunted through the debris for Mrs. Brown's sister, believed missing.

Ann Wilkins, six, was killed as she pedalled her cycle in the street in front of the house.

The pilot was Michael Graves, 28, assistant chief test pilot, for Westland Aircraft, Limited, makers of the plane, the Wyvern TF-2 turbo-jet fighter. He was the son of Sir Cecil Graves, former Director-General of the BBC.

Police reported another woman was seriously burned in the blaze which followed the explosion.

An official said the plane had been in the air about 30 minutes on a routine test flight. It dived into the houses a short distance from the company's air field. The plane is powered by one of the most powerful gas-turbine propeller engines in the world.

Leeds Voters Go To Polls

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 31—(CP)—Leeds constituency votes today in an Ontario provincial by-election, with cool, cloudy weather expected to bring a good turnout in this predominantly farming section.

The choice is between Progressive Conservative Hugh Reynolds, Brockville coal merchant, and Liberal Ernest Miller, farmer from nearby Mallorytown. The CCF did not nominate a candidate.

Eligible voters in this Eastern Ontario riding number 23,802. The 111 polls open at 8 a.m. EDT and close at 7 p.m.

The by-election fight was one of the hottest in Ontario in many years with much of its interest centred on debate on the Charitable Gifts Act, passed at the last session of the Legislature. The act requires charitable foundations, such at the Atkinson Foundation which owns the Toronto Daily Star and the Star Weekly, to dispose of all but 10 per cent of their interest in any business within seven years.

The Liberals accused Ontario's Progressive Conservative government of aiming the act at the Star in an attempt to legislate that newspaper out of business.

Steel Shortage Closing Windsor Chrysler Plant 2,500 Thrown Out of Jobs

WINDSOR, Oct. 31—(CP)—The Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited announced today gradual plant close-downs due to lack of steel supplies beginning next Monday, Nov. 7. The company statement said that "all passenger car production will be discontinued by Nov. 23, affecting a total of approximately 2,500 men." The announcement from the Canadian firm followed a statement from the parent organization in Detroit which said today that it is closing three divisions of its Detroit plant at the end of this week.

The Chrysler shut-down here will be the first closing of a Canadian plant because of the United States steel strike, now in its third week.

The company said:

"Our steel supply and that of our venders is almost exhausted and we will have no alternative but to close our passenger car plant. We hope to be able to maintain operations in our truck plant and motor plant for a short time beyond these periods, but they too will be affected in the near future, involving an additional 1,500 employees."

The Chrysler automobile employees are members of Local 195 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

Takes Six Weeks To Reopen

"When the steel strike in the United States is settled," a company spokesman said, "it will be at least a month to six weeks before we can receive materials from our sources that will permit us to bring back our men to work in any large numbers."

A spokesman for Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, largest automobile manufacturer here, said today he had no further comment on the affects of the steel strike on his company.

Ford, which employs more than 11,000 men in Canada, said two weeks ag that steel shortages had necessitated the company working from its present stock piles and that it expected to feel the pinch by the end of October. Then, officials said, it was possible production might be reduced by Nov. 15.

Peppered By Shot

TRENTON, Oct. 31—(CP)—William Lambert, 37, was peppered with shotgun pellets in what police said was the climax of a Saturday night quarrel with his neighbor, John Blakely, 67. Lambert, wounded in the left leg, was taken to hospital. Blakely was charged with wounding. Police said the quarrel was at Blakely's house.

British Troops To Leave Greece

LONDON, Oct. 31—(Reuters)—Britain will withdraw her troops in Greece in the near future, it was officially announced today in parliament.

The announcement was made by Chistopher Mayhew, foreign under-secretary. Mayhew said the Greek government had been informed of the British decision.

Mayhew said although the threat to Greek independence cannot be said to have passed, the Greek army has brought about an important change in the situation.

"The withdrawal of our troops in no way affects the position of the British naval, military and police missions in Greece," he said.

"Neither does it indicate any lessening of interest in the security and well being of the Greek people which will continue to be matters of the greatest concern to the British Government."

Run Over By Car Find Boy Uninjured

AURORA, Oct. 31 — (CP). — Police and hospital authorities were amazed on Saturday when eight-year-old Garry Knowles got to his feet uninjured after the wheels of an automobile had passed over his abdomen.

Mrs. Barbara Robertson told police the boy darted into the path of her car and, after one wheel of the vehicle had passed over him, he got up, told her his name, and went back to his playmates. "I can't understand how the child wasn't killed," she said.

The boy was taken to hospital where X-rays failed to reveal any internal injuries.

Terrible Curse Wipes Out Tough Town

Lone Survivor of Desolate Region, 105-Year-Old Negro Slave Dies

OLIVER, Ga., Oct. 31—(AP)—The lone survivor of Jacksonboro—the accursed town that was—is dead.

Out of that once-damned, now-desolate region on Beaver Creek came word that Richard Bryant, 105-year-old former negro slave, had died Friday night.

He was the only man alive who saw the terrible curse of a little hunchbaked itinerant minister, Lorenzo Dow, come true.

He saw the once-bustling town disappear, house by house, store by store until but one house remained—the house specifically spared by Dow.

When Bryant was only three, he saw the white residents give up in despair at the freaks of fire, water and wind and move lock, stock and barrel five miles away to found another town, Sylvania.

It was in 1794 that Jacksonboro, half way between Augusta and Savannah, was founded. It flourished as a coach stop and county seat.

A Tough Town

Jacksonboro was a rough, tough town near the hill country in a rough, tough time.

For 36 years the town went its boisterous way. Then in 1830 Dow drifted down and called upon its citizens to repent. People laughed. They pelted him with eggs. And they would not let him preach.

The tormented little minister with the burning eyes turned this way and that until a powerful man, Seaborn Goodall, gave him sanctuary in his home.

When the purposeful Dow strode to meet his tormentors again the following day, a mob drove him to rustic bridge and bade him never return.

Scornfully, Dow paused on the span, removed his shoes and shook the dusk of Jacksonboro from his feet.

He turned and swore that God would bring swift vengeance, the same that overtook Sodom and Gomorrah. The townsfolk laughed again.

But then, unaccountably, fires broke out, windstorms tore off roofs, the placid creek through the middle of the town became wild and unruly, sweeping away homes in flash floods.

The remaining settlers finally gave up and moved their county seat to Sylvania. Time removed all traces of the town but the Goodall place which still stands.

Seek Purge Of 12 Unions By Weekend

UEW, Mine Workers Among Those Slated To Be Ousted

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31 (AP)—President Philip Murray of the CIO touched off a rousing demonstration at the opening session of the 11th convention today when he promised to "cleanse" the organization of pro-Communists.

After referring to abuse directed at him by the Moscow radio, in his keynote address, said that at meetings of his own CIO executive board:

"I did not know whether I was talking to a Fink (strikebreaker), a Comunist, or an FBI man.

"If we are going to cleanse this movement, which by the way, we are going to do at this convention ...." Murray started to say when the more than 600 delegates broke into noisy cheers.

Murray was unable to finish his sentence.

At least three, and possibly a dozen unions under so-called left-wing leadership are threatened with ouster from the CIO.

Murray said that left-wingers follow the interest of the Soviet government, even "if that means destruction of democratic trade unions."

Have No Devotion

"They have no devotion to their unions," Murray shouted. "They have no devotion to their country."

The convention opened with the CIO torn wide open by the worst faction war in its history.

Ouster of at least three unions under left-wing leadership was indicated, and a roaring right-wing majority, angered by pro-Communist efforts to break into the CIO, clamored for the purge of 12 unions by the end of the week.

Selective Service Plan For Britain

LONDON, Oct. 31 (Reuters)—Britain may solve her defence reorganization problems through some variant of the American system of selective service, some political quarters said today.

Defence chiefs have practically completed an over-all review of the whole defence structure.

Three main aims of the review:

1. To ensure that Britain may make her proper contribution to defence arrangements under the North Atlantic Pact and Western Union.
2. Save money as part of the economy drive.
3. To conserve industrial manpower for the dollar export push which is the basis of Britain's recovery effort.

It is generally accepted that Britain will retain compulsory military service, and that any changes would be only by way of variation of the present arrangements.

Many quarters believe that the government may decide to lengthen the period of military service, though any alteration is thought to be unlikely before the 1950 general election.

Eastern Germans Face Higher Prices Now

BERLIN, Oct. 31—(AP)—Residents of Eastern Germany today faced the prospect of marked price increases for necessities after the Communists cancelled the subsidies that had kept down the cost of rationed goods.

The move, announced Sunday, was designed to stimulate trade in Eastern Germany's stores dealing in unrationed goods. Those Russian-style stores announced a broad cut in prices, ranging in some cases up to 60 per cent.

The two types of stores have existed side by side in the Soviet-occupied portion of Germany for some time. The ration-free stores have sold goods, mostly of the luxury type, at prices much higher than those in stores dealing in rationed foods, clothing and fuel. Their business has been ebbing.

Hoffman Warns Europe Form Single Trade Area Or Face Economic Disaster

Deadline Early In 1950 Marshall Head Says In Fight Against Barriers; Praises Truly Amazing Progress To Date

PARIS, Oct. 31—(AP)—Paul G. Hoffman, Marshall Plan administrator, today warned western Europe to show results early next year in promoting free trade by knocking down national tariff barriers and erasing complex money controls. He made it plain it might be hard to get more aid funds from the United States Congress unless the Marshall Plan countries showed more willingness to join in a single economic unit.

Goods in the big western European market, he said, must move freely across the many national boundaries.

Failure to achieve economic unity, Hoffman warned, means "disaster for nations and poverty for peoples."

He made his call for concrete action by early next year in a prepared statement to the general council of the organization for European Economic Co-operation, the European organization that helps administer the Marshall Plan.

Hoffman said the Marshall Plan countries have made "truly amazing progress" in restoring industrial and agricultural production in the last two years. But he said co-operative action between countries is needed if western Europe's economic problems are to be solved.

Means Integration

Hoffman said:

"This, I believe, means nothing less than an integration of the western European economy . . .

"The substance of such integration would be the formation of a single large market within which quantitative restrictions on the movements of goods, monetary barriers to the flow of payments, and, eventually, all tariffs are permanently swept away.

"The fact that we have in the United States a single market of 150,000,000 consumers has been indispensable to the strength and efficiency of our economy. The creation of a permanent, freely-trading area, comprising 270,000,000 consumers in western Europe, would have a multitude of helpful consequences.

"It would accelerate the development of large-scale, low-cost production industries. It would make the effective use of all resources easier, the stifling of healthy competition more difficult."

Prices Move In Rut In Dull Toronto Trading

TORONTO, Oct. 31 (CP) — Prices moved in a narrow rut in dull forenoon trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

A few industrials tended fractionally lower from recent gains and base metals weakened under profit-taking of Saturday's advances.

Western oils and golds showed hardly any change.

Market leaders were the losers in industrials. Brazilian Traction and CPR lost the minimum fraction in utilities and Abitibi Paper slipped into the minus column from an early high of 20½. Walker's, Powell River and Dominion Stores were also easier.

Consolidated Smelters went against an easier trend in base metals for a gain of ¼ at 104 Quemont, United Keno Hill, East Sullivan and Falconbridge slipped.

Senior golds held steady while a few junior producers marked up penny advances. Nicholson Mines continued a brisk mover for a slight gain.

Federal Boards Being Set Up In Rail Dispute

OTTAWA, Oct. 31 — (CP) — Federal Conciliation Boards will be established to try to break the deadlock between 146 000 railway employees and their employers.

Labor Minister Mitchell announced Sunday night that two boards were being set up following a report from conciliation officers that railways and their employees were in "fundamental disagreement" on all issues between them.

Negotiations to end the dispute, under way since last summer, bogged down 10 days ago and the unions requested conciliation action. Negotiations have revolved around union demands for wage and hour concessions that would amount to some $74,000,000 a year.

One board will deal with the dispute of 112,000 railwaymen who are members of international unions. The second board will deal with that of the 34,000 members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and the Brotherhood of Express Employees.

Companies involved are the two transcontinental lines, the Ontario Northland Railway and the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway.

While the two groups are carrying on negotiations separately, their demands are somewhat the same. The C.B., R.E. wants a 40-hour week with no reduction in take-home pay with a 10-cents-an-hour increase on top of that. The international unions want a six-cent icrease on top of the 40-hour week.

Generally, the working week for the employees affected by the demands—those not actually engaged in operating trains—is 48 hours.

17 Cases Of Beer Seized In Raid

Following a police raid on his house Sunday night, Joseph Fontaine, 75 Park Street, was charged in Police Court today with keeping liquor for sale and having liquor not purchased on his individual permit.

Police said seventeen cases of beer, two cases of wine, and a bottle of liquor were seized by Constables A. G. Edmison, Andy Dalton, and W. G. Scott.

Fontaine pleaded not guilty to both charges and was remanded for trial November 7, on $1,000 bail.

Steel Shortage Throws 35,000 Out Of Work

DETROIT, Oct. 31 (AP)—The automobile industry's first major shutdown resulting from the steel strike is set for Friday, when Chrysler Corporation plans to close three divisions indefinitely.

The move will throw a majority of 35,000 Detroit area Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler plant employees out of work.

Chrysler officials said they hoped to maintain production of Dodge trucks until Nov. 11, and to keep assembly lines moving at the Plymouth plant "as close to Nov. 24 as possible."

The Ford Motor Company, also running short of steel, expects to start closing down its big Rouge plants Nov. 11.

To Arrest Four Hunters For Wounding Youth

MILTON, Ont., Oct. 31 (CP)—Ontario Provincial Police said on Sunday they plan charges against four hunuters as a result of an incident Saturday in which a district youth was shot and wounded on a Halton County sideroad 12 miles northwest of here.

Alan Brooks, 17, of Brookdale, is in Guelph General Hospital with a bullet wound in his right shoulder. Hospital officials describe his condition as "fair."

Brooks told police that, riding on a horse-drawn wagon with his sister Alice and a friend, he had gone about 200 yards past a group of hunters beside a parked automobile when he heard a shot and felt a pain in his back.

Hydro Airplane Forced Down Near Pontypool

Clipping about two feet off the top of a pine tree, a helicopter, operated by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, narrowly missed another large tree and skimmed over a fence to make a force landing in a pasture field five miles southwest of Pontypool Friday afternoon. Both members of the crew, Smith Pruner, pilot, and James Riddell, observer, escaped injury and the only damage was a scrape on both blades of the large propeller on the top.

Patrolling the high tension wires which pass just south of Pontypool, the aircraft was westbound only a hundred feet over very rough and wooded country. When the engine developed a slight vibration, Pruner immediately started to gain altitude. Before he reached 200 feet, the engine was vibrating so badly, he was forced to close the throttle.

"He did a wonderful job in getting us down between the wires and those trees," Riddell commented. "He also had to be careful not to manoeuvre around the trees too much or we would have lost too much altitude and caught the fence as we came in."

Pruner, who has been piloting the helicopter for the H.E.P.C. for the past six months, said it was just a forced landing. It was his first forced landing in a helicopter, but he would have had little trouble if he had been flying higher. It is necessary for them to fly low to inspect the insulators along the line.

In clipping the top off the 35-foot pine tree, he only scraped a bit of the covering from the wooden blades of the large top rotar. The forced landing was made on the farm of Gabriel Kovac on the west side of the Manvers - Darlington Townline. The helicopter was dismantled and taken to Oshawa for repairs.

President Philip Murray, with 45 years in labor unions behind him, was caught in one of the most trying dilemmas of his career: should he preside over the carving up of the mass-industry federation which he, John Lewis, Sidney Hillman and others created more than 12 years ago?

The usually mild-mannered Murray seemed to have given his answer as he opened the convention with a blast at the "small but noisy clique" in the CIO he said was adhering to the Communist labor program.

"I want none of that," Murray said in a report to the 600 delegates. "The CIO wants none of that."

Set Up Rival Units

Casting out the 12 unions would not necessarily mean shearing off the nearly 1,000,000 members of those unions. Plans are ready to move in fast and set up rival right-wing units in the contested fields.

That would be certain to be resisted—possibly by creation of a third labor federation, even though such a step is pooh-poohed by the left-wing leaders now.

Harry Bridges, West Coast Longshore boss, and leaders of the United Electrical Workers made final appeals to Murray to give them a face-saving way to remain in the CIO. Murray listened in private, but pointed to the convention floor for the answer.

The three unions most likely to be booted out are the United Electrical Workers, Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and Farm Equipment Workers.

The other unions likely to be ousted are Bridges' Longshoremen, Marine Cooks and Stewards, American Communications Association, Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers, Fur and Leather Workers, Furniture Workers, Fishermen and Allied Workers, United Public Workers, and United Office and Professional Workers.

Coal, Steel Strikes Nearing End

Bethlehem Company Reaches Agreement With Steel Union

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—Steel industry sources said today a strike-ending agreement has been reached between Bethlehem Steel Corporation and the United Steelworkers (CIO).

These sources said an announcement of the agreement will be made at Cleveland this afternoon by Philip Murray, head of the CIO and its striking steelworkers union.

They said a major feature of the agreement calls for expansion of the corporation's existing pension plan, with the employer still paying the entire cost of pensions.

(In Bethlehem, Pa., officials of Bethlehem Steel Corporation declined to confirm or deny reports that it was about to come to terms with the steelworkers union.)

There were also rumors of a settlement in the offing on coal, but nothing to indicate that they were more than rumors.

Simultaneous Announcement

A usually well-informed government official said at Cleveland that announcement of Murray's settlement was being held up to allow simultaneous strike-end signals in steel and John L. Lewis's 43-day coal strike.

Well-placed Washington officials said they believed the time is near for the government to call the off-again-on-again coal talks to Washington.

For at least two weeks the government has centred all its peace-making efforts on steel. Cyrus S. Ching, top federal mediator, has spent most of that time talking with officials of United States Steel Corporation, biggest steel producer in the country.

Ching, it was learned, still believes that any settlement of the twin strikes in basic industries must start in steel, since many of the coal mines are owned or dominated by steel firms.

Five Days Jail For Theft Of Sun Visor

COBOURG, Oct. 31—(ENS)—Edward Hawke, of Grafton, appeared in court Saturday on a charge of receiving stolen goods, upon which a number of adjournments had been made. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman informed the court that the charge was being withdrawn and Hawke was dismissed.

Walter Olson, of Toronto, appeared on a charge of dangerous driving in Alnwick Township and was remanded on bail to Nov. 4.

Pleading guilty to theft of a truck sun visor, James Scriver, of Brighton, was sentenced to five days in jail.

A charge of theft of grain against George Puffer of Colborne, developed ito a legal argument on the wording of the charge. Defence counsel Malcolm Robb said that the charge was too vague, with insufficient reference to the amounts and dates of the alleged thefts. After a hearing of argument relative to defence counsel's motion to quash the information, Magistrate R. B. Baxter reserved his decision to Nov. 18.

Leslie Abrams, of Lindsay, charged with obtaining $15 by false pretences, was remanded until Monday. A charge of acting in a manner which would cause a breach of the peace was read against Alan Nastuk, of Hamilton Township. It was alleged that he had been peeping in windows. COBOURG, Oct. 31—(ENS)—Forty-eight members of the Knights of Columbus of Cobourg, Port Hope and Grafton, took Holy Communion on Sunday morning at St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church and afterward took breakfast at the Baltimore Hotel. Sales Of Beer Financed Weekly Fish Fry COBOURG, Oct. 31—(ENS)—Earl Chadwick, U.S. owner of a lodge in South Monaghan, was sentenced to the minimum of two months in jail when he pleaded guilty to keeping liquor for sale. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman in asking for the minimum sentence, said that Chadwick's situation merited consideration.

Provincial Constable Don Nicol testified that he visited Chadwick's tourist camp and found three men drinking beer inside. In a soft drink cooler at the rear, were a large number of full beer bottles and a total of 183 bottles on the premises. In a tin box with a slot were some IOU's and $12 in cash. There were 1,100 empties in the camp.

Chadwick told us that he ran it on the honour system. If one of his guests wanted some beer, he dropped 25 cents in the box and took a bottle. The money was used to pay for the weekly fish fry held every Friday night. He told us that he had tried to get a license to sell beer but was unable to get one," testified Constable Nicol.

Mr. Chadwick told the court that he didn't buy any beer. It was the property of his guests who kept it in the cooler. It was the only place on the camp where it could be kept cool. Mr. Chadwick, who recently underwent a serious operation, was allowed to sit down during his testimony.

Here attending sittings of the royal commission on arts, letters and sciences, he said in an interview there has been a marked lack of interest on the part of private operators in establishing television transmitting stations in Canada.

He attributed this in part, to lack of understanding of the extent to which CBC has developed its TV policy.

Manitobans To Vote

The neighbouring province of Manitoba is having elections on November 10th, when the 23rd Legislature in the province's history will be chosen. The present coalition government under Premier Douglas L. Campbell is certain of being returned to power. Of the 55 seats, eighteen are now in the Government's lap, because of acclamations. The Opposition leader, E. A. Hansford, of the C.C.F. has already conceded a victory for the Coalition.

This coalition government was formed in 1940 under the premiership of Mr. John Bracken, who resigned in 1943 to become head of the national Conservative party and handed over the reigns of government to his friend and Liberal party follower Mr. Stuart Garson. Premier Garson resigned last year to become Federal Minister of Justice in the St. Laurent Cabinet, and the Manitoba premiership was handed on to the present premier, Mr. Campbell.

The Coalition is almost completely made up of Liberals. It easily carried the Province in the last two elections—1941 and 1945. Voting in Manitoba is conducted on the proportional representattion system, which does give the chief urban centre, Winnipeg, a voice in the affairs. Nevertheless, the weight of political influence is rural. Mr. Bracken known at the time of his Premiership as "Honest John", was a farmer and professor of agriculture. Premier Campbell was born on a grain farm near Portage la Prairie, and is considered the spokesman for the rural constituencies. He has been a member of the Manitoba legislature for 27 years.

Denfeld Dismissal Recalls Pratt Case

Dismissal of Admiral Louis E. Denfeld from his post as United States Chief of Naval Operations recalls an incident in some ways similar to the so-called Battle of the Pentagon, in which the U.S. Navy is charging that the other U.S. armed services are trying to strip it down to an auxiliary service. The earlier incident occurred during the Hoover Administration's regime, and it arose over a conflict on the score of bigness, as did the fight only recently adjourned.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry Stimson was then working on a treaty of limitation, and warmly advocated that naval construction be confined to light cruisers with six-inch guns. All but one of the admirals insisted on 10,000-ton cruisers armed with eight-inch guns. The exception was Admiral William V. Pratt, who had privately favoured the light cruisers before the issue was made public. When it was made public, Pratt continued to back Stimson and was practically ostracized by the Navy. Similarly, Denfeld is reported to have said privately that the Navy could use money better for submarines and small aircraft carriers than for the giant carrier that started the present row. Denfeld differed from Pratt, however, in that he sided with his fellow admirals at public inquiries.

The course of events following the earlier incident completely vindicated Admiral Pratt. For some reason, the heavy cruisers early developed cracked stern posts, and rolled so badly that it interfered with gunfire. They were patched up and used, but were never very satisfactory. The light cruisers proved satisfactory in peacetime manoeuvres. Then, many years later, the famous battle which ended the Graf Spee proved the value of the light cruiser beyond doubt, when the little fellows soundly whipped the 10,000-ton German vessel. The verdict was strongly upheld by later U.S. naval experience in the South Pacific, where the light cruisers insisted on by Stinson and Pratt were the salvation of the U.S. Navy.

The sequel to the earlier incident, coupled with the weight of the evidence in the present case, at least encourages the conclusion that the proponents of the giant aircraft carrier are in the wrong. That conclusion is strongly bolstered by the report that many Royal Navy officers believe that the day of the battleship is over, and that the cruiser will become the most used and most effective vessel of the future.

We Examine A Comic Book

We found a comic book yesterday which had been lost by a child on its way to school. As we have heard and read a good deal about the wicked influence of this sort of reading upon children we brought the book to our office and read it from cover to cover, to see if it would corrupt us or turn us into a juvenile delinquent. We are able to report that it did not do so.

It reminded us, in fact, of the junk we used to read on the sly when we were ten years old. It contained the same advertisements, offering to teach us jujitsu, ventriloquism, boxing, lariat-twirling and dog-training by mail; it contained the same amazing offer of four screw-drivers in one handle for a mere 99 cents; it contained a familiar advertisement for a luminous paint kit. It also contained three longish illustrated comic strips, in all of which a pretty girl was the principal character. In addition there was a very short story about a girl who made a fool of her admirer by learning to be a champion bowler in private.

We found nothing of a deleterious nature in the book, though it was decidedly silly. Much of its contents was founded on the North American heresy that all women are cleverer than all men, and that they punish men for their stupidity with abuse and physical force. Very few children, we think, are likely to believe such manifest untruths.

The book which we examined was not a 'crime comic'; it was what is known to the trade as a 'comic book'. We did not think it comic, but neither was it harmful. Reading it, we should judge, was an indulgence neither beneficial nor harmful, like eating a bag of popcorn, another product which is superficially attractive, but without substance.

A Question About Kissing

Question time in the British House of Commons brings up some curious problems. Recently the Minister of Education (an office which does not exist in our Ottawa Cabinet) was asked what had been done about six boys in an English school who had been caned for kissing girls. The Minister replied that he had done nothing about it, and that he thought the boys probably considered the kisses worth a caning.

We know nothing about the circumstances leading up to this incident, which leaves us free to speculate upon it untrammeled by facts. It seems odd, on the face of it, to whip boys for kissing girls, for it implies that they have done something wrong. Yet we can imagine the dissatisfaction which would be felt among the girls if all boys were to take warning by this case, and give up kissing forever. We wonder, also, what schoolmaster felt it necessary to take a hand in this matter? Were the boys kissing the girls in class, to the neglect of their lessons? Or were the boys perhaps kissing girls upon whom the schoolmaster himself had his eye? Were the girls caned by whoever has authority over them, for permitting themselves to be kissed—for we think it unlikely, in these days of equality, that they were kissed against their will.

The whole affair is cloaked in mystery. We know nothing about it, except that it produced a question in Parliament. But we think the Minister of Education took the right line. After all, kisses are a very important part of anyone's education, though not a part for which government education authorities have ever made any adequate provision.

Introducing Peter Piper

In our Third Column today we publish the first of a series of Monday articles about music, written by an able musical journalist who employs the pen name "Peter Piper". For the past two years we have published occasional articles directed toward the large group of painters in Peterborough; we are now attempting to publish a regular feature which will be of interest to the hundreds of local people to whom music is either a profession or an important secondary pursuit.

There are in this city many children who are going through the laborious early stages of gaining a musical education. Sometimes they think of music simply as drudgery associated with one instrument—usually the piano. Peter Piper will have a few things to say to these young students, as well as to their elders, and we hope that they may come to look for his regular Monday article with pleasure.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Britain's National Health Plan is still a bit niggardly about supplying that medicine fellows drink when they are drinking healths.

A particular type of heart ailment can be helped by an operation in which the physician uses his hand to massage the heart. We have known severe heartbreak to be completely cured merely by holding hands with a physician.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE other day a sweet young thing said to me "I don't take music, I take singing". This statement would seem incomprehensible to Purcell, Handel or Rossini, and yet there is an element of truth in it. A singer should have at least as good a knowledge of music as his instrumental colleague, and yet the gift of a fine voice is all too seldom coupled with the ability to use it. If an instrumentalist dislikes his instrument he can change it for another, but the singer and his instrument are inseparable. When a fine voice is controlled by consummate musicianship that rare bird, the fine singer, is born. It is difficult for him to resist the atmosphere of exhibitionism and the temptations of cheap success, and many take the easy way. One world-famous contralto could not read music and had to learn all her songs by rote. Imagine a Schnabel or a Kreisler doing likewise! Singing is not a thing apart from music: It is the very fountain-head of all our western music from the earliest days. The enormous development of instrumental technique during the last 250 years has had an unfavourable effect on vocal music, and we badly need some great revitalizing force to rescue us from puling crooners and crabbed "modernists". Who knows that Canada, with her vigorous choral tradition, might not one day supply this need?

ONE of these days I should like to arrange a programme of spurious music. It would go something like this:

1. Ave Maria ..... Not by Arcadelt
2. Weber's Last Thought .... Reissiger (Not Weber)
3. Mozart's Twelfth Mass.. not by Mozart
4. Haydn's Cello Concerto....(critics disagree)
5. God Save the King. not by Henry Carey

I might even include the "Blue Danube" Waltz on the strength of an anecdote concerning Brahms. A friend of his asked him whether he would write something in her autograph book. He wrote the first few notes of the "Blue Danube", adding "unfortunately not by your friend Johannes Brahms".

SPEAKING of "God Save the King" as a concert item takes me back to the War years in England. It became customary to play the National Anthems of the Allies before the BBC 9 o'clock news on Sunday evenings. It was a most interesting little concert, and each new Ally brought a new tune. Unfortunately (or fortunately) by late 1941 we had accumulated so many Allies that the 9 o'clock news was in danger of being squeezed out of existence, so this feature was discontinued. The grave Northern hymns, modelled on "God Save the King" contrasted with the sprightly strains of the Latins, with the Marseillaise as their prototype.

I wonder how many Canadian know that the tune of "O Canada" was originally written as instrumental music, and the words were fitted to it afterwards? Blom points out that the tune is an adaptation of the Priests' March in Mozart's Magic Flute. It is a happy blend of the hymn and march types of national anthems and aptly symbolizes the two main strains in the population of this country.

THE other evening I was listening on the radio to a song by Grieg. The words were originally written in Norwegian, and would seem logical to sing it either in that language or else in a good English translation. But no, it was sung in German! Some years before the war at a production of "Prince Igor" at Covent Garden the principals sang in German, while the chorus sang in Russian. There is a case for singing in the original language, but this habit of avoiding English at all costs is devoid of all reason. English, with its many diphthong sounds, is admittedly a tricky language to sing, but so is German, with its harsh clusters of consonants, and so is French, with its nasals. Yet there are some who maintain that "Horch, horch, died Lerch'" is more musical than Shakespeare's "Hark, hark, the lark". Italian, with its pure, open vowel sounds and clean consonants is the ideal language of song, and this led singers in years past to ape Italian vowel sounds when singing in English, with ludicrous results. Happily this breed of "Ah lawve thee" singers is nearly extinct, though they are still occasionally to be found.

HOW broad is your musical repertoire? Probably it is bounded on one side by 1700 and on the other by 1890. If this is the case with you, it is high time that you took steps to remedy this condition, as you are thereby robbing yourself of much enjoyment. Let us start with plainsong, the music of the medieval church. First of all, rid yourself of all preconceived notions. In plainsong there is no harmony, no orchestral colour, and no measured rhythm. By measured rhythm I mean that it is impossible to beat time to plainsong, as it follows the subtle and wayward rhythm of the words. There is no "modulation", or change of key, but by way of compensation there are eight different "modes" instead of the modern major and minor. Plainsong is often sung nowadays to an organ accompaniment, but to my mind there is nothing more inspiring than to hear a large body of men singing plainsong without accompaniment. There have been some excellent recordings made by the Solesmes monks and it is due largely to their scholarship that the true and authentic method of plainsong was restored after it had become debased. It is a great pity that this splendid music has come to have an almost exclusive connection with the Roman Catholic Church, though there is really no reason why the Protestant Churches should not make use of this great treasure of devotional music.

At the end of a cricket match, a conceited player, who had batted badly and fielded even worse, approached the captain and said, "I think I'll go now. I have a train to catch."

"That's O.K.," answered the captain. "Better luck with the train."

STORM WARNING

Letter To The Editor

DON'T BURY MONEY IN SPAULDING'S BAY

Sir: In your issue of October 23rd 1946 you published the Memorial Committee's report to the Peterborough City Council of their prepared estimate, at that time, of the cost of the Memorial Centre project if built on the Rink Street property owned by the City.

Much water has gone under the Hunter Street bridge in the three year interval (in the vicinity of which the Memorial Committee unfortunately embarked and landed upside down, badly water-logged in what was Spaulding's Bay, commented on historically and otherwise in a recent issue of the Examiner by one of our citizens knowing the facts, past and present.)

As a consequence of the lengthy interval during which the mariners have found no relief and time is running out on all those who subscribed, it might not be amiss to refresh our memories as to certain of the facts embodied in the report and quite vital statistics relating directly to the problem.

This data may enable our citizens to all the better interpret and weigh the findings which will be tabled by the committee recently formed to study the feasibility of the Rink Street site, certain of whose members have committed themselves publicly to build there regardless of cost and other local conditions prevailing.

In order not to confuse the issue such facts as have been extracted from the original committee's report will relate to substructure cost only and omit any reference to the cost of the superstructure as the site ultimately selected has a direct bearing on the substructure cost.

Here are the committee's facts as interpreted:

(1) Of the total increase in cost between the estimate in March 1946 viz. $389,370 and the contractor's revised estimate of $708,641 or an increase of $319,271 the amount of $201,405 or 65.0% of the increase originated with the component parts of the substructure, due to the special design necessitated by subsoil conditions, stresses and strains to be carried.

(2) The contractor's revised estimate of cost of the substructure viz. $369,105 as against the March 1946 estimate of $167,700 indicated an increased cost of $201,405 or 120%.

(3) The Memorial Committee itself, quite conservatively, acknowledged the fact that the site because of sub-soil conditions added $85,000 to the cost.

Not having the data on which the $85,000 was determined one might question how much more of the $201,405 would be thrown into the former Bay for ballast to sustain the structure.

Either amount or any larger fraction of the total should have bought and still should buy desirable surface property I submit, spend the money by all means but spend it above ground to enhance the beauty and usefulness of the Centre and not relegate such a Memorial to a site where local conditions doth and will corrupt in more ways than one.

Quite recehtly it was reported in the Press that the City of St. Catharines was finding their arena inadequate. It is my understanding that to some extent at least, the committee was influenced in the design selected by the merits of that structure. Would it not be wise to review the situation in the light of the above?

It does not strain one's imagination too far that, at the rate Peterborough is growing, an arena with a seating capacity of 5,000 is not too ambitious. The bread and butter portion of our sport audiences should not be forced into standing room in an auditorium of lesser capacity when finals are reached and the "capacity to pay" crowd arrive because it is the former who have made the playoffs possible. Much stress has been laid on the standing capacity. Why such a lack of generosity to the faithful who attend win, lose or draw?

A city that does offer the best of facilities towards the culture and enjoyment of its citizens attracts new industries and makes for a happy citizenship. I maintain that economy in the matter of capital expenditure can be a step in the wrong direction.

There might appear to some to be a contradiction in these comments but in brief in the one case, they appeal against the possibility of burying money underground unnecessarily and in the other case of spending enough money above ground to provide sufficient facilities for all purposes for which the arena can be used.

Some one has said "the way to save lies in the knowledge of how to spend."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when Jesus departed thence, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, Thou son of David, have mercy on us. And when he was come into the house, the blind men came to him: and Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They said unto him, Yea, Lord. Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you. And their eyes were opened; and Jesus straitly charged them, saying: See that no man know it....

As they went out, behold, they brought to him a dumb man possessed with a devil. And when the devil was cast out, the dumb spake: and the multitude, marvelled, saying, It was never so seen in Israel. (Matt. 9: 27-30, 32, 33.)

There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death.

For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh: that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh but after the Spirit. (Rom. 8: 1-4.)

Toy Time Again

American toy makers, now busy with production for Christmas are featuring toys of peace instead of the toys of war. Tin soldiers, toy tanks and planes are giving way to peacetime trucks, astra-domed trains, taxicabs, mechanical sets and Diesel engines. For the girls there are dolls with washable Nylon wigs, dolls that talk, and a host of fanciful toys for the small fry.

Toys, however, like politicians, follow the trends of the times. In war the children play with guns and soldiers and bombs; in peace they take to trucks and ships and trains. The essential thing is to be young enough to enjoy the thrill of approaching Christmas and the thought of toys.

Any childless adult who may be in doubt as to the best way to find happiness this Christmas might consider buying a toy for some child. He will not discover greater happiness than in this toyish portrayal of the honoured role of Santa.

Looking Ahead In Ottawa

Leads 4-To-6-Man Group Into Dominion Conference

OTTAWA, Oct 31 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent will lead a four-to-six-man cabinet delegation into the Dominion - Provincial Conference in Ottawa early in January, acco ding to present indications.

It will include Justice Minister Garson, hi chief aide in getting through the Commons those preludes to the conferen e which involve abolition of appeals to the Privy Council and transfer from London to Ottawa of power to amend funeral aspects of the constitution.

Others might be Defence Minister Claxton, State Secr tary Bardley and Solicitor General LaPointe.

The proposed agenda now is under consideration for a parley that will seek a method to amend in Canada those parts of the constitution outside Federal Jurisdiction.

Federal sources say the conference should be over before Parliament reconvenes by late January or early February. They feel it will be obvious by then whether "we are going anywhere."

Deputy Governor

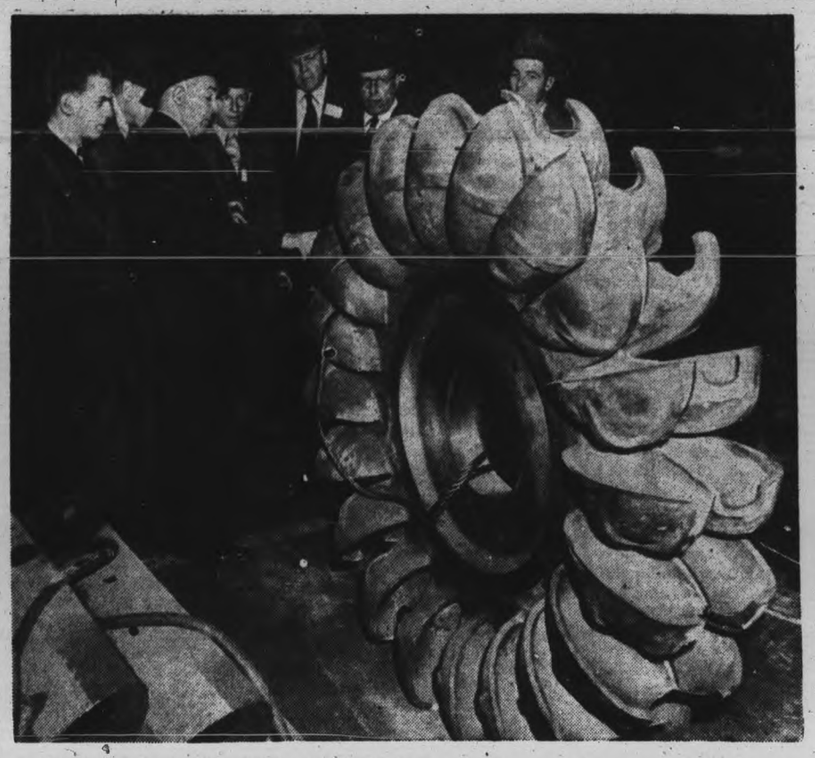
Directors of the Bank of Canada are expected to meet here Nov. 28 to decide who will succeed Donald Gordon as Deputy-Governor of the bank. Mr. Gordon has been appointed President of the Canadian National Railways, effective Jan. 1.

Speculation ranges among a half-dozen men.

They include D. G. Marble, Western Canada Bank executive now the Bank of Canada's Secretary; J. E. Coyne, Securities Advisor since 1946; and Louis Rasminsky, alternate chairman of the Foreign-Exchange Control Board.

The bank directors may pick from among these three or among former bank officials, now holding executive positions of their own in government departments. These include Max Mackenzie, Deputy Minister of Trade; John Deutsch, Director of International Economics in the Finance Department; and David Mansur President of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Trade



Officials of the Trade and Agriculture Departments will come in for some close questioning before Parliament prorogues from trade-conscious senators in the Banking and Commerce Committee.

This senate committee is scheduled to study a government bill which would extend controls over certain imports and exports for another two years after next March 31.

The bill hasn't reached the Commons, but it threw the Senate into a lively debate on free trade when it was introduced in the Upper Chamber last week. Most Senators showed interest in eliminating these controls, brought down in November 1947.

Originally controls were imposed on a list of some 500 exports and 67 imports. Since then, the list has dwindled to 137 exports and four imports still controlled by the government under the act.

The year was 1840...

. . . the month, May—an historic cargo was aboard the schooner "Fly" when she stood out from Gooderham & Worts wharf.

As her master, James Gooden, felt the lift of Lake Ontario's swells, it is unlikely that his thoughts went beyond the shipmaster's routine concern for his cargo's safe delivery. But this was no ordinary cargo—for the "Fly" carried the first recorded shipment of manufactured goods from Upper Canada!

The "Fly" sailed only to Montreal. Today, 109 years later, by ship and train, truck and plane, Canadian goods go to every part of the world. The enterprising men who led Canada to its present position as a great trading nation were nourished by the freedom of thought and action won for them at the polling place.

PCVS Seniors Oust Oshawa To Take Lakeshore Honors

Trampling the Oshawa Collegiate seniors 30-0 in Oshawa Saturday the PCVS footballers won the Lakeshore District championship in two straight games. The Peterborough boys defeated the Oshawa team October 7 in Peterborough 21-5 in the first of the home-and-home series.

The local team now moves into COSSA playdowns against the winners of the Bay of Quinte District on November 12. If they are successful, the final game of the COSSA will be played in Peterborough November 19. Next Saturday the locals will be playing an exhibition game here, likely with Jarvis Collegiate of Toronto.

Little trouble was had by the Collegians in downing the Oshawa squad as they tore down the field throughout the game with ease. Peterborough lead at the first quarter 7-0 and went on to make at 12-0 at the half. They added a major and a convert in the third and dominated play in the fourth, pushing across two touches and getting the two extra points to make it 30-0.

Northcott Hurt

Al Northcott, star quarter for the PCVS squad, was helped from the field in the last few minutes of the fourth quarter. On an end run play around to the left of the Peterborough line he was tackled on the 22-yard line of Oshawa. It was believed that he either broke his ankle or cracked it on the tackle. If this is so, Peterborough will be without their triple-threat man for the remainder of play this year.

Carl Sergeant replaced Northcott at the quarter position and immediately passed to Ward for a touch. He added the extra point with a nifty drop-kick between the poles. On the last play of the game Armstrong shot a bullet pass to Jenson from the Oshawa 23. For the extra point Sergeant faked another drop-kick and passed to Ward to make the final score 30-0.

Northcott had opened the PCVS scoring early in the first quarter when he booted from the Oshawa 40 to Corse well behind the touchline. Corse was rouged. A pass, Northcott to Evans and plunges by Armstrong and Brown, took the ball from the Oshawa 40 to the 3-yard line where Northcott flipped to Evans for a touch. Northcott booted the extra point.

Lowes Scores

In the second Northcott booted from the Oshawa 40. The ball dropped between the posts with Oshawa fumbling and Lowes, PCVS middle, was Johnny-on-the-spot for a major score. Runs by Northcott, plunges by Brown and Armstrong, put the ball on the Oshawa three-yard line midway through the third quarter. Northcott on a quarter sneak eked across for a touch which he converted. This made the third quarter score read 18-0.

The Sergeant-to-Ward pass and the Armstrong-to-Jenson pass, the Sergeant drop-kick and the pass from Sergeant-to-Ward finished the scoring in the late stages of the game.

Whenever Oshawa threatened Northcott's long punts shoved them back into their own territory. Ross, Clark and Corse were the Oshawa mainstays. The Oshawa team were shorthanded using only seven alternates. The PCVS line from end to end played a standout game with many holes being broken in the Oshawa line yet blocking their own plays to perfection. Killingbeck, Curtis, Lowes and Burns were the pick of the line. Donavan and Bilsky played well for the Oshawa line with Donavan being in on several tackles in the PCVS backfield. Armstrong went the best of the PCVS plungers while Brown and Grafstein travelled many a yard. Northcott's booting and passing shone until he had to leave the game. Sergeant sparked the PCVS boys in the dying minutes of the game with his quartering.

Grove Gridders Victorious Over Collegiate

Grove Senior defeated PCVS juniors 22-5 Saturday at the Oval, in a return football match to even up the exhibition home and home series between the two clubs. The first was a victory for PCVS 17-11 on October 10.

Tony Arnoldi, who starred throughout, carried for Grove to PCVS 20 at the 10 minute mark in the first following a local fumble on their 33 and Jim Wilkes tossed successively to Ben Leggett and Bill Boyd—the latter scoring on a nice play. Grove failed to convert but Arnoldi added a point as he later hoofed a high one to Langhorne, who was rouged well back of the line.

Started Early

Grove clicked early in the second on a neat pass, Wilks to Boyd, over right end for 12 to PCVS 15, and he can it in fast to score. The convert failed but the visitors continued to outplay Alex Londry's boys at this point, due in part to a painful leg injury to Brian Young regular quarterback, that put him out of the game and really disorganized PCVS' attack. Led by Facendi, Fowler, Craw, Langhorne, McIlraith, Forbes and Stewart, however, with each man doing his level best against the big red team, PCVS fought hard. Grove clicked again early in the third as a local fumble deep in home territory gave Coach Knighton's boys possession on PCVS' 10. They crashed through on first down failed to convert, but Wilks sent a low liner to the deadline later, to make it 17-0.

PCVS Started

Bill Boyd next pulled a fine 35 yard run to outrun the field for a major not converted. PCVS showed a remarkable reversal at this point to take the dominating role from their friendly rivals and, when Stewart passed 30 to McIlraith who sped 12 more to Grove's 10, Ferguson tossed a beauty across the line where McIlraith snared it in great style for five. The convert failed but PCVS continued to press hard in the final quarter—too hard in fact—as a few fumbles and bad snaps close in ruined further scoring opportunities. It was a clean game with Grove holding an edge in kicking and showing superior line play in this game Aerial honors were rather even with each team clicking on four of 13 attempts. Two Grove passes however, clicked for majors.

Remember When—

Harvey Pulford of Ottawa, whose athletic career of a quarter century brought him fame in almost every field of Canadian athletics, died in Ottawa nine-years ago today. St. Mike's Take Puck Win Over The IOOF

Carving out a two-goal edge in the first and third frames at Civic Arena on Saturday night, St. Mike's Buzzers, of Toronto, earned a 6-2 exhibition OHA junior "B" puck win over the local Triple Links. The second period of the speedy and lively tilt was even as fair-sized crowd cheered on the efforts of Bun Kingdon's bunch in their initial showing of the season.

It was a typical junior joust, wide-open and scrrambly with plenty of penalties handed out. Referees Brown and McArthur sent off 23 15 of them from St. Michael's, and each team drew one major when Grace and Richlark started a fight which nearly resulted in a free-for-all. The hockey wasn't too good at this early date but it was speedy and interesting and each side uncovered a lot of promising talent.

Floyd Got Two

The Oddfellows' first line of Robinson, Wyatt and Floyd went well, the latter player scoring both local goals, Birch and Robinson each having an assist. Baker and Ben Mason turned in a nice effort, with Richlark indicating promise on the rear guard. The rest of the boys, from the goalie out, worked hard for the losers, a bit lighter and hardly as fast as the Toronto team. Clune had two goals for St. Mike's, O'Heron, Murphy, Lemon and Stanutz getting the others in neat work as Lemon, Scanlon and Marshall each picked up an assist..

Early in the first, Lemon tallied alone, with Stanutz making it 2-0 late in the heat on Marshall's pass. Six penalties were handed out, two in the IOOF. Don Floyd counted from Birch to start the second, and Murphy got it right back from Lemon. O'Heron put them up 4-1 later on Scanlon's assist, but Floyd added another for the homesters with Robinson aiding. No less than 13 penalties were in this chukker—some for minor accidental trips—including two majors as a fight broke out in a corner and several more started before it was quelled. A police constable helped the referees break it up. Clune counted twice in the third of a fast, fairly even and clean canto. The Triple Links fought right to the final bell.

The Summary:

St. Mike's—Goal, Young; defence, Holland and Bourke; centre, Marshall; wings Plata and Mihilson; alternates, Clark, Stanutz, Grace, Clune, Murphy, Lemon, Groux, Barrett Ratchford, Wolochotuik, O'Heron, Scanlon, Harrison, McCarthy and Lee.

IOOF — Goal, R. Wasson; defence, Fennell and Shearer; centre, Robinson; wings, Wyatt and Floyd; alternates, Desjardin R. Mason, B. Mason, Pammett, Doris, Baker, D. Wasson, Lewis, Millar, Birch and Richlark.

Once again, the senior PCI-ers are grid champs of the COSSA lakeshore district. Hadn't any trouble in the Motor City on Saturday in racking up a 30-0 triumph o'er Oshawa Collegiate, taking the abbreviated group in two straight. Only grief was when Al Northcott limped off with an injured ankle, which may sideline him from here on in. The Goulding line looked solid and the backfielders kept on the march for the easy victory. This puts the PCVS pack, COSSA champions three years in a row, into COSSA playdowns, going against the Bay of Quinte victors next week and, if they win that, moving into the finals here on Nov. 19.

Grove's senior gridders of Lakefield—a smart squad—deserved their 22-5 exhibition win o'er the junior PCVS crew at the Oval on Saturday to get even for an earlier 17-11 win by Alex Londry's lads. Tony Arnoldi looked impressive for the victors, whilst the losers missed quarterback Brian Young, who suffered a leg injury. Grove played heads-up football but the Collegians drove hard toward the finish to make it an interesting scrap. The coaches of both the senior and junior PCI-ers prep their charges for COSSA playoffs by selecting stiff exhibition opposition, and that's one reason for PCVS grid success. The local juniors now meet Oshawa in district playoffs this week.

Future Stars Perform

Toronto Leafs had a scout down with St. Mike's on Saturday p.m. to see them play the IOOF-ers in an exhibition and he won't be gluing any of the lads of either team to a "C" form just yet. It wasn't exactly championship hockey—it was October hockey—but the fair-sized flock of fans seemed to enjoy it. Junior play is always exciting as they go gangling and dangling all over the ice at high speed and tossing elbows and knees in collisions. Often disorganized but, then, many of the players don't know their teammates' first names yet. Give them a month or so more together and the Triple Links will start shaping up as a promising pack. They dropped a 6-2 decision to St. Mike's but they showed plenty of promise.

* * * * * *

Lots of penalties in this one, some quite minor, and one good fight. Also some good plays here and there. The Buzzers are big and fast, besides being more used to each other at this early date. One home defenceman, Johnny Richlark—a husky from Saskatoon—just arrived in town Saturday p.m. Bob Baker of Haliburton, Gord Fennell of Norwood, and the Stirling line of Mason Bros. and Desjardins, all proved workers. Ditto with the local first line of Don Floyd (who scored both goals), Captain Brian Robinson and Bob Wyatt. Others, too, including the Wasson boys of Lakefield. Yeah, Coach Bun Kingdon should come up with a pretty fair junior "B" club.

On Senior "B" Horizon

Along the local OHA senior "B" front, we see where Lindsay Meteors—by way of Toronto—took a 19-7 exhibition triumph o'er Georgetown on Scugog ice Saturday. The Petes journey to Lindsay on Friday for a tilt with Meteors at 8.30, the time all group games there will commence this winter. The Petes are shaping up well now in workouts, with a lot of new stuff, and we may be able to pry a lineup from the club brass ere the week endeth. Petes and Legion are making plans for a two-of-three exhibition series before group play starts. Meantime, Midland is here this Wednesday to tangle with Legionnaires, and Stouffville plays Legion on local ice Friday Lots of hockey here these nights of an exhibition nature.

Annual membership meeting of the Peterborough Harriers Club is tomorrow eve at seven sharp in the YMCA. The club is entering its third year as a track and field organization, the last two years seeing a fair revival in interest for track and field athletics around here. The senior athletes have visited a number of centres in the province for competition, and occasionally go over to the States. Quite a few track meets and races in this city, too. Coach Morewood expects more members henceforth and he looks for some of the local runners to reach championship calibre in 1950. So, anyone interested should be on deck for the meeting Tuesday e'en.

Reduce Ends Played

MONTREAL, Oct. 31 (CP) — The Canadian branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club, which has jurisdiction over all clubs in Quebec Province and the Ottawa Valley, Saturday decided to reduce the number of ends played in competition to a maximum of 12 ends each game. Delegates from the Ottawa Valley and Quebec, at their annual meeting, decided that hence all games would last 12 ends instead of the 14 or 16.

OASA Drafts Set Of Rules

HAMILTON, Oct. 31 (CP) — Members of the rules committee of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association Sunday drafted a set of recommendations to be forwarded to the executive committee of the OASA.

Present at the meeting, which lasted most of the day, were president of the association, George Campbell, Oshawa; secretary, Frank Feaver Hamilton; Charlie Lewis, Toronto; Jack Garrett, Simcoe, and John Brewe, London.

One of the suggestions forwarded to the executive is that the quick return pitch not be allowed in future and time out is to be called if such a pitch is made. A change in the no lead rule has been suggested to clarify the ruling to prevent a runner juggling or hesitating. Another ruling that was clarified is that if a base runner on base is hit with a ball he is out regardless of the infield fly rule.

Arrangements are to be made for a Dominion softball final in 1950. It was decided that the first such final will be in Toronto in conjunction with the Canadian National Exhibition.

Cobourg Loses To Oshawa In Junior Grid

Oshawa Collegiate juniors will be the meat for the big PCVS junior grid this week as they battle for the Lakeshore junior football honors. As yet the Oshawa team has to taste defeat, having won six and tied one while the Peterborough boys have been on the sour side in three exhibition games and the sweet side in four league games and one exhibition. Games will be played this week likely in Peterborough Wednesday and Oshawa Saturday, points to count.

A light squad, the Oshawa juniors managed to hold the "Rip Van Winkles" from Cobourg High School to a 16-all tie Saturday in Oshawa. This was the second game of the points-to-count series, the first being taken earlier in the week by Oshawa at Cobourg in the dying moments of the game 11-5. This game decided who would play Peterborough, the winners of Division C. Cobourg had taken in the honors in Division A and Oshawa in Division B.

An Early Lead

In Saturday's game, the OCVI squad jumped to an early lead in the first quarter with a major and a convert. Midway through the second they added an unconverted major to make the half score 11-0. The boys from Cobourg, not to be outdone, started clicking in the third quarter with the sleeper play and when they finished the third quarter all was 11 points. Again in the fourth Cobourg used the sleeper to advantage as a fake and as a play. The latter enabled them to jump ahead 16-11. They attempted a pass for the extra point which would have tied the series and it failed. Oshawa, not wanting to win the series by one point, pushed across a touch in the last four seconds of pla yto make the game score 16-all.

Oshawa points were by: Langmaid, major quarter sneak; Hart, major, a plunge from the 3-yard line; Varga, major ,25-yard run around the end position; B. Kellar, convert. Cobourg scores were by: Douglas, major, plunge from the six after a sleeper pass from Dawe to Lingard; Lingard, major, sleeper pass from Dawe; Bowen, major sleeper pass from Dawe; Bowen, convert.

Ghosts Defeat Orillia To Open ORFU Series

ORILLIA, Oct. 31 — Cobourg Galloping Ghosts gained an impressive nine point advantage Over Orillia Silver Bombers here Saturday as the teams met in the first game of a home and home, points to count series in the ORFU intermediate semi-finals. Cobourg won 15 to 6. The teams play back in Cobourg next Saturday.

Bob Cooper and Bob Bevan were the big guns for the Ghosts. Taking advantage of the wind, Cooper booted seven singles and threw a touchdown pass to Bill Douglas to account for five more. The convert failed but later in the game, Art Jones kicked a perfect field goal to account for three more Ghosts' points. Bevan was the hardest man on the field to stop and he gained many yards and several first downs with his hard to tricky plunges and end runs.

Silver Bombers scored first when Jim Milligan moved the ball well into Cobourg territory with several bullet-like forward passes. Making use of the old Statue of Liberty play, the Orillians sent halfback Maurice Bond around the left end and he crossed the Cobourg line standing up. Playing coach Bill McGill kicked the convert.

Seelie Samara To Meet Hi Lee

What promises to be one of the outstanding matches of the present mat season will be staged at the Brock Arena Thursday night. It will bring together the sensational colored star, Seelie Samara against towering Sky Hi Lee. Samara proved to the fans last week that he is one of the best matmen to ever appear here. He polished off the Red Devil in short order, revealing the masked one's identity on his second appearance in the local ring. Samara has a barrel of stuff and keeps up a fast pace all the way. His opponent, Hi Lee, rates very high in mat circles. He is big and rough and it takes a good man to handle him. Samara appears to be the one to do it.

The semi-final will have the fiery Angelo Cistoldi pitted against Mayes McLean. Joe Christie hooks up with Pat Flanagan in the opener.

Manager Jim Laidlaw has arranged a well-balanced card with six top-flight men that should be productive of plenty of action.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

The schedule committee expects to be able to mail to each curler, his schedule book by this coming week-end.

However, it might be well to draw the attention of curlers to a few of the more important items in the schedule book. First, there are 70 schedule rinks divided into five groups of 14 each. The entire schedule is in two parts. The first 13 games commence on Nov. 14 and end on Jan. 11. The second 13 games commence on Jan. 12 and conclude the later part of March.

In the first half, your rink may be in group No. 3, and in the second half your rink may be in group No. 10. You play with the same schedule rink all the way through, but your opponents will be different. At the end of the season the 10 group winners play a straight elimination series for the Harry F. Foote Memorial Trophy. If your first schedule game should be at 7:00 p.m. your next will be at 9:00 p.m. and they will continue in that regular order all season.

Each Tuesday night has been set apart for the playing of the Neill Trophy. Vice-skips and Leads and Seconds, six ices, the odd ice is for Tankard and District Cup practice. Each winning skip will be expected to deposit his score card in a box prepared for this purpose. Don't miss out on this, you skips.

All bonspiels, open and local, are well advertised in the book. Many nights have been set aside for friendly games with out-of-town clubs.

The personnel of the ladies' rinks, their schedule, and the dates for all their activities are also in the book.

The complete program, from Monday, Nov. 14 until the end of March is all laid out and is easy to follow.

Read the book carefully, remembering at all times, you only get out of curling what you put into it.

Curling is a science, a study of a lifetime,
In which you may exhaust yourself, but never your subject.

Barons Grab Weekend Tilts

By The Canadian Press.

Cleveland Barons hold down the No. 1 position in the western division of the American Hockey League today as the result of a pair of week-end victories.

The Barons polished off Indianapolis Capitals 5-2 Sunday and smothered Buffalo Bisons 9-2 on Saturday.

It was a disastrous week-end for both the Caps and St. Louis Flyers who previously were deadlocked for first place.

The Flyers were deadlocked for first place.

The Flyers were beaten 3-1 by Providence Reds Sunday and edged 3-2 by Springfield Indians the previous night. The Caps, besides their loss to Cleveland, blew a 4-1 decision to Pittsburgh Hornets Saturday.

Meanwhile Buffalo retained their hold on first place in the loop's eastern section with a 4-1 victory over Hershey Bears Sunday. They now lead the runner-up Reds by a single point.

In other games Sunday, Springfield defeated New Haven Ramblers 4-1 and Cincinnati Mohawks outscored Pittsburgh 5-1. Hershey blanked the Ramblers 10-0 Saturday night.

Hawks Plaster Bruins 10-4 Leafs Take 2, Lead Series

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There was drama in the nets Sunday night when Chicago Black Hawks plastered a 10-4 defeat on the Boston Bruins.

In the Boston goal there was rookie Jack Gelineau, thinking to himself that the old spot as McGill's goalie in the inter-collegiate union never was as tough as this National Hockey League racket. And in the Chicago net there was Frankie Brimsek, who made his name as "Mr. Zero" in brilliant seasons for the same Bruins. That shower of Chicago rubber must have made Frankie wince, even though it was on his behalf.

The Bruins were beaten 8-1 at Toronto Saturday night, making a total of 18 counters past Gelineau in two nights. At that the rookie put up a valiant battle. He had 28 saves Sunday night to 29 for Brimsek. At Toronto he had to handle 40 shots on goal while the Bruins had only 20 chances.

Leafs Lead

The results of the full week-end card of six games knotted up the standings. Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago each won two games, and today the Leafs are in front by a point over Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens, tied for second. Boston, New York Rangers and Chicago are all tied for fourth place, another three points back.

On Saturday Detroit edged Montreal 1-0 and Chicago blanked New York 2-0. Sunday, the Leafs vaulted into the top spot by beating New York 4-2 and Montreal avenged themselves with a 4-1 victory over the Wings at Detroit.

Seven Hawks figured in the Sunday scoring at Chicago. Rookie Bert Olmstead, Gaye Stewart and Bill Mosienko each got two goals, and Gadsby, Prystai, Doug Bentley and Roy Conacher got the others. Bill Quackenbush, Ed Harrison, Zellio Toppazzini and Paul Ronty scored for Boston.

At New York the Leafs had to come from behind a 2-0 deficit. Bashing Bill Barilko scored two Toronto goals. Sid Smith and Fleming Mackell getting the others, while Pat Egan and Alex Kaleta did the honors for Rangers.

End Goal-Scarcity

The other Sunday game ended the goal-scarcity for Canadiens. When Billy Reay scored at 1:55 of the opening period, it was the first goal in 225 minutes of play for the Montrealers, shut out in three previous games. Leo Gravelle scored two and Maurice Richard got the other. Lee Fogolin scored the Detroit goal.

Two Red Wings were hurt. Gordie Howe suffered an ankle injury when he missed a body check and crashed into the boards. Ted Lindsay was taken off with a groin injury but returned to play part of the final period.

At Toronto Saturday night big Harry Watson scored three goals in the onslaught against Bruins, thereby winning a television set from team-mate Bill Barilko. Barilko and his brother Alex are partners in a Toronto radio store and Bill has offered a set to each Leaf scoring three goals in a single game.

Max Bentley scored two goals and Garth Boesch, Howie Meeker and Joe Klukay got the others. Cal Gardner had four assists. The only Boston scorer was Paul Ronty, whose goal made it a 1-1 tie early in the second period.

Rookie Steve Black's first-period goal was the only one at Montreal Saturday. Canadiens had 26 shots against 21 for Detroit.

Metro Prystai and Bill Mosienko were the scorers as Chicago blanked the Rangers at New York Saturday. Both counters came in the first period while New York was shorthanded.

Glamor Girls Not Thrilled With Beefcake

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31 (AP)- The latest thing on the exploitation front in Hollywood is "beefcake," the exposure of famous male frames. And what do the glamor girls think of it?

This male counterpart of cheesecake has been much in the movie news lately. Bare-chested pictures of Alan Ladd, Richard Conte, Victor Mature, Kirk Douglas, Robert Ryan, Lex Barker and others have been widely circulated to help advertise films.

The quest' n: are the female stars concerned about the men muscling in on their territory? To determine this I asked a number of actresses how they feel about beefcake. The replies:

Ava Gardner—"It's sensational Imagine if they showed Montgomery Clift that way! Really though, I don't think it will replace cheesecake. Women like men's minds."

Eleanor Parker—"I guess it's all right to show a man's chest when the situation in a picture calls for it. But I don't think it will have the appeal of cheesecake."

Mind over Matter

Jeanne Crain — "Frankly, I think it's what's in a man's mind that makes him attractive."

Pat Neal—"It's lovely."

Virginia Mayo—"I guess it's okay for those men who have builds good enough to expose But men can't wear falsies."

Janet Leigh—"I can do without it. The male form is usually better hidden."

Denise Darcel — "Zut! It's wonderful. I love it."

Shelley Winters —"I'm all for the men showing their handsome torsos. Let's have more of it."

Joan Caulfield—"Going to a musical show where the chorus girls are unclad is about as thrilling for a girl as a visit to a YWCA gym. I think it's about time the fellows showed their biceps."

Capsule Review

"Adam's Rib" (MGM) is one of the smartest comedies in years. It is a welcome return to the sophisticated spoofing that Hollywood seemed to have forgotten. This one concerns a Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer team who oppose each other in court over a husband-shooter. Katherine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy make an ideal couple. See it—you need a laugh.

Twenty boys have passed the beginners' test in swimming at the YMCA since it started a month ago, Donald Duncan, boys' work secretary, said today.

Mr. Duncan added that there are still 53 boys in the non-swimmers' class. This class, he said, increases as fast as it decreases. Eight or nine boys entered Saturday.

Those who passed the beginner's test recently are: Peter and Gerard DeNoble, Gordon Barnes, Bruce Rosebush, William Watters, Tom Wood Carl Anthony, John and Peter Myers, Donald Morrison, Ted Higgins and Gary Armstrong.

Uranium Ore Found Near Bancroft

OTTAWA, Oct. 31 — (C P) — B. W. Boland, prominent Ottawa mining man, Saturday announced that low-grade uranium ore deposits have been found at Bird's Creek, near Bancroft, Ont.

Mr. Boland said the deposits covered a considerable area in the district some 168 miles southwest of Ottawa. He said the ore beds were located about 12 miles north of Bancroft and that investigations by both Geiger counter and geologist indicated good possibilities for "major development."

Sink Test Pits.

Some 200 acres of property had been taken under control by a group of Ottawa business men and several test pits had been sunk, he said.

A spokesman for the Department of Mines and Resources said Saturday he could not recall any official report on the uranium find announced by Mr. Boland. However, he said , uranium ore is known to exist in that area.

Fined $30 And Costs

Pleading guilty to charges of careless driving and having liquor in his car Saturday night, Joyner A. Ryan, 380 Halloway St., was fined $15 and $2.50 costs on each charge by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court Monday morning.

Constable Sherman Keliele said he investigated an accident Saturday about 7:45 p.m. on Fairbairn St. in which a taxi had been hit and driven up on the grass verge at the side of the street. The taxi driver had said his car was stopped.

He said Ryan had told him he was blinded by the headlights of the taxi. Constable Keliele testified the lights on Ryan's car were dim and the windshield was fogged up. One bottle of beer was found under the front seat.

Support Religion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 — (A P)— President Truman urged every American Sunday night to take an active part in the religious life of his community and give generous support to religious institutions. He said in a broadcast that every problem in the world today could be solved "if men would only live by the principles of the ancient prophets and the sermon on the mount."

Fox With Murder Mystery In Mouth Killed By Car

A homebound fox with a book of who-done-it literature in his mouth was killed on the highway west of Omemee about 11 p.m. Saturday. Fred Pepe, relating the unusual incident, said: "He started to cross the road in the lights of our car, apparently became confused by the glare, turned back, and we could not avoid hitting him. We had a glimpse of something white in his mouth, and wondered what it was. So we stopped the car and went back. It was a detective story entitled "Murder Up My Sleeve", and on the first page was written the name, R. F. Donaldson.

Mr. Pepe was accompanied by E. J. Wolff and Ray Fitzgerald. "The brief flash of white didn't look like a chicken. That was what roused our curiosity. It must have been a lean foraging trip for Mr. Fox, and he simply picked up the book somewhere to have something to show for his absence when he got back to his den. A fox cadging home a detective story was something you never heard about in bedtime stories and nursery rhymes."

The unfortunate literary fox, all set with his Sunday reading, was a further exception to the normal hapepnings, in the fact that foxes are rare victims of highway traffic, night or day.

Main Street Topics

SPEAKS TO HI-Y.

Guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Senior B Hi-Y club of the YMCA Tuesday will be the Rev. Ivan Morgan of Murray St Baptist Church. The senior club has invited the intermediate club to attend.

THAT'S NOT FUNNY, MAGEE

Someone thinking the local Fire Department needed a stretch Saturday night at 10:50, pulled a fire alarm on downtown George Street. When the firemen arrived, no fire could be seen, nor the "jokers" who turned in the alarm. Nearly the same thing happened Sunday at 10:20 a.m. when firemen were called to the corner of Hunter Street and Armour Road to a car fire. There was no fire.

HOLD DANCE.

The Intermediate Hi-Y Club of the YMCA held a football dance in the YMCA gym Saturday night. Chaperones for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boorman Donald Hillis was master of ceremonies while Kenneth Pammett was in charge of the dance plans and Ted Cranfield the decorations

DISCUSS MODERN TEENAGERS.

A discussion on the modern teenager was held by the Senior A Hi-Y Club of the YMCA and the Girls' Senior Supper Club of the YWCA Sunday night at the weekly meeting of the Hi-Y Club. The problem of the teen/ger in school, the style of clothing and the behavior of the teenager were discussed. The problem of "going steady" caused a long discussion.

PICKET FOOTBALL TEAM

He went to South Africa with the Royal Canadian Regiment along with Victor LeBar. Mr. Mackness served as sergeant major with 85th Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders, in the First World War.

A-HUNTING I WILL GO

Pigeon hunting Saturday afternoon proved rather adventurous for nine-year-old Reggie Turner. He climbed to the roof of the Immaculate Conception School in search of the cooing birds and could not get down. The fire department went to the boy's aid hoisting their 45-foot ladder to the roof.

CHILDREN'S FILM

The Sabu film entitled "Elephant Boy" will be shown at the Public Library Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in the children's room This is a feature for boys and girls. Parents who wish them to see are asked to mention the time of the filming to them.

BREAKS ANKLE

PCVS' triple-threat man on the senior football squad Al Northcott broke his ankle in an end run play late in the Oshawa game Saturday, which PCVS took 30-0. Carl Sergeant will likely replace Northcott at the quarter position for the COSSA semi-final series with Belleville likely to start this Saturday in a home-and-home series, points to count.

RIFLES AND MOTOR STOLEN

An outboard motor, two rifles and fishing tackle were missing from a cottage on Stony Lake on Sunday when the owner, R. T. Bell, 403 Monaghan Road, discovered some one had broken in. He reported the break to Provincial Police, and Constables Hanson and Pope are investigating.

CIGARETTES STOLEN

Whoever broke into the Drive-In Theatre two weeks ago to steal cigarettes appears to have returned Saturday for some more. The door was pushed in, in the same manner as on the previous occasion, and 40 packages of cigarettes and three cases of Coca-Cola were missing. Provincial Constables Hanson and Pope are investigating.

A. E. Thompson Buried At Blackstock

Funeral service for the late Albert Edward (Ned) Thompson, 48, of 351 Park St., was held on Saturday afternoon at the Kaye funeral home. The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church officiated and pallbearers were Mervin Williamson, Ronald Jordon, Reginald Chandler, Marwood McKee, Jack Sinclair and Emmett Sheehy. Burial was at Cadmus Cemetery, Blackstock.

A well-known real estate broker for the past 15 years and former owner of trotting horses, Mr. Thompson died suddenly of a heart attack at his residence on Wednesday. He was born in Cartwright Township, and came to Peterborough 20 years ago. He was not married.

Plane Maker Dead

TOKYO, Oct. 31 (AP)—Japan's top wartime plane maker died Sunday in relative obscurity. Chikuhei Nakajima, whose vast factories turned out some of the most successful Japanese bombers, died at his home of a cerebral haemorrhage. He was 65.

CIO Membership To Repudiate Red Leadership

If and when the Communist-dominated unions are expelled from the CIO they will be able to take only a fraction of their membership out of the CIO, fifty "students" of the Textile Workers Union of America (CCL-CIO) were told by Joseph Glazer a representative of the union's education department from the international headquarters in New York.

"The overwhelming majority of CIO membership in these handful of unions will repudiate the Communist controlled leadership and will remain loyal to the CIO which still remains the militant and progressive center for workingmen and women in the United States and Canada," said Glazer during the week-end institute for textile union leaders in the TWUA Trent Valley Area Joint Board. "If the Communist-led unions form their own federation they will be an insignificant portion of the labor movement and their path will be downward from there."

Largest in Canada

During the discussion on textile problems Glazer pointed out that the Textile Workers Union of America is now the largest textile union ever to be organized in Canada. "Our union now has contracts protecting 22,000 Canadian textile workers in cotton, synthetic yarn (rayon), woollen and worsted, carpet and rugs, knit goods hosiery, dyeing and finishing and other branches of the textile industry.

"We have 70 local unions organized into eight joint boards from Nova Scotia to Saskatchewan. This is a remarkable achievement since 1945 when the Textile Workers Union of America was first established in Canada. We have made great progress —wages have been increased 50% and higher in some cases. Working conditions have been improved, insurance plans installed, discrimination and favoritism abolished and security on the job established.

"There are still more than 50,000 unorganized textile workers in Canada and if we want to continue making progress we must bring these unorganized workers into our union."

In a discussion to settle grievances and complaints in the mill in an effective manner, Glazer said, "there are always grievances and complaints in a mill. If the plant is to stay in business it must be up-to-date in machinery, methods and materials—and every time there is a new machine or a new style or new type of yarn or cloth, new methods of production or any other change—there is probably some kind of grievance because sombebody feels he is not getting the full benefit of the change. Our job as stewards and officers is to settle these grievances as quickly as possible with full satisfaction to the person aggrieved."

The educational program was arranged by A. E. Johnston director of the TWUA Trent Valley Area Joint Board. Representatives from the following locals in the joint board attended the sessions: Brinton Peterborough Carpet in Peterborough, Campbellford Cloth Company in Campbellford, Trent Cotton Mill at Trenton, Bradford Dyers at Cobourg, Knitters Limited in Lindsay and Horn Brothers Woollen Mill in Lindsay. The joint board represents 1,100 textile workers in these plants.

Police Add Extra Constables

Five deputy police constables will swell the ranks of the city Police Force to keep their eyes on Hallowe'en merrymakers tonight. "Lawless citizens will get little sympathy from us," Deputy Chief Constable John Naples said.

He added a warning that childish pranks by children would be tolerated within reason but the Force would be on the alert for adults who planned to use the occasion for trouble making. He said further that the spirit of All Hallow's Eve did not come in bottles and that there was no reason why children and parents could not have the usual good time without breaking the law.

Blame Heavy Fog For Car Collisions

Heavy fog was said to be the cause of Fergus O'Reilly, Hastings, driving his car into the rear of a tow truck parked on Water St. Saturday night.

O'Reilly said he was driving with his head out of the side window and could see very little because of fog and darkness. The right front corner of his car hit the tow truck owned by Russelle's Garage. Constables Andre Dalton and Louis Rodreque investigated.

Sunday morning's fog was believed to be partly responsible for an accident in front of the fire hall on Aylmer St.

A car driven by John Pruner, 594 Park St., was hit when he was turning into the fire station by a taxi driven by Elwood Hendren, 272 Sherbrooke St. about 7.55 a.m., Sunday. Constable E. E. McDonald investigated. No one was hurt in either accident.

MISS JACQUELINE BYERS, assistant pro at the Coppercliff Figure Skating Club, who will arrive in Peterborough about Nov. 6, to take over professional duties for the coming season with the Peterborough Figure Skating Club.

Oshawa Voters Face Bylaws Of $1,000,000

Debenture bylaws amounting to $1,000,000 will be submitted to Oshawa's ratepayers at its municipal elections Monday, Dec. 1. Their projects are: municipal building $375,000; central fire hall $165,000; police station $200,000; public library $250,000. Sites have been bought.

Oshawa is planning a municipal square on the west side of Centre St. bounded by Bagot, Queen and Athol Streets. Ald. F. Dafoe said he was opposed to spending a quarter of a milion dollars on a public library. "If you submit a bylaw for one million, the people will snow it under."

Oshawa council has made an extra grant of $2,500 to the community recreational association of the city. The annual contribution to the association is $5,000. At the first of the year, the recreational body asked for the extra financial help. They were refused twice.

"The money will be used strictly for maintenance purposes," said Ald. H. Murdock, a member of the C.R.A. board. The association had been asked to supervise five new parks this year, increasing to about 20 the number of parks it was expected to supervise. "We could not get along on a grant of $5,000, and we are already facing a deficit."

Hancock's Account Books Seized By Police Probe Moves Out of Town

Investigation into the $100,000 used car swindle said to have been worked by Aubrey S. Hancock, 35, has moved out of town as Detective W. A. Clarke seeks to gather up all the strings attached to one of the biggest car swindles in the history of Canada. Warrants for the arrest of Hancock and Paul Imming, 24, were issued last week charging them with forgery and false pretences. They are believed to be in Mexico.

Hancock and Imming were operating a phony used car business which netted them more than $100,000 in the months since April.

Police say Hancock and Imming forged applications for loans, using some genuine names with fictitious addresses and often fictitious names.

17-Year-Old Boy

One of the names used was that of a 17-year-old boy at an address which did not exist, but would be near that of his father's home in the north end of the city. The youth was described in the loan application as a 38-year-old married man with children and making $350 a month.

A letter was received from the finance company about three weeks ago saying that the applicant was behind in his payments. The boy's father sent the lettter back noting on it the company had the wrong person.

Books Seized

Hancock's account books were taken Saturday by the police department.

"The books deal with his used car lot here, and there is no reference to his racket. Apparently he made a fair living out of the legitimate part of his activities," Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw commented.

Mr. Bradshaw said he knew nothing of the report that police are looking for a Toronto girl who was believed to have been involved in the racket.

How It Worked

The racket involved selling cars which did not exist to fictitious people or to people who knew nothing of the deal. Hancock and Imming forged applications for loans to the finance company. The loan company investigated to the extent of writing to the applicant to tell them if any of the terms of the agreement were not correct, the applicant was to write to the company about it. Otherwise the loan less a discount for interest and other charges was automatically sent to Hancock or Imming.

Hancock and Imming had some of their men intercept these letters from the loan company by asking for them at the post offices of Peterborough and many of the surrounding villages to which they were addressed.

Civic Hospital Open Sunday For Inspection

All roads led to the new Civic Hospital Sunday afternoon when city residents flocked to the building on the western outskirts of the city to see the advanced stages of construction. Formal reports of building progress and a glance of the building from the highway were all most people had seen of the new project until they were invited to inspect the hospital on Sunday..

Ian F. McRae's suggestion two weeks ago a a meeting of the Board of Governors that the public would be pleasantly surprised at the progress made on the new building if they were invited to take a look around, attracted hundreds of visitors, many of whom went in family groups.

The Board's invitation announced that the hospital would be open for inspection between 2 and 4.30 p.m. But at 1.30 the crowds began to arrive by car and on foot and at 5.15 p.m. the hospital staff was still trying to clear the building of interested spectators

Acted As Guides

Civic Hospital nurses and members of the office, maintenance, laboratory, dispensing and X-ray staffs acted as guides through the building and Board members were supplying information about work which had not yet been finished.

A dismal morning brightened into a sunny afternoon and this added greatly to the success of the venture.

Color scheme in two of the rooms had been completed and visitors saw the pastel blue and pink scheme in the maternity ward. The wall at the head of the bed is painted blue and the other three are in pale pink with a ceiling of egg shell color.

There was another room where the color scheme was in mushroom shade.

In the rooms here windows and fixtures had already been installed the visitors were able to see the device for controlling ventilation. Radiators are built into the wall and window ledges are sloping to avoid their use as shelves. Part of the building was heated for the inspection and some of the lighting fixtures were installed.

Rooms Furnished

Demonstration furniture was in two rooms, a single and a double private room which gave an idea of their comfort.

For the more technically minded, the operating room fixtures were of great interest. Suction apparatus bringing oxygen from the basement was one of the devices already installed and there were view boxes for X-ray films and cupboards heated for keeping solutions at the correct temperature.

The only mishap during the public inspection was overcome without anyone suffering. The elevator stopped between the first and second floors with 18 passengers aboard. Cause of the incident was a fuse which had blown, but the emergency arrangements were in order and the passengers were removed.

Flying By Seat Of Their Pants Pretty Good Method–Professor

By KEITH FULLER

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31—(AP)—Old time pilots who claimed they flew "by the seat of their pants" were using a pretty good procedure after all. In fact, Tulane University psychologists, conducting experiments for the United States Navy, say the body is a better judge of vertical position than the eye. The professors are trying to find out why pilots sometimes lose all sense of position and direction in the air.

"The seat of the pants—what we call the postual sense—is a fairly accurate human level," said Dr. Cecil Mann, director of the research project.

The Australian-born professor has made thousands of tests in a tilting-chair gadget. It looks much like a cockpit and is completely dark inside. A student is strapped in and tilted 20 or 30 degrees from vertical. With nothing but his postual sense to guide him, the student attempts to bring the chair back to a normal upright position.

Amazing Accuracy

"This he does with an amazing degree of accuracy," Dr. Mann said. "From hundreds of tests the average error in returning to a normal position was one degree."

However, the student knows it is impossible to get upside down in the chair, so he has a mental advantage over the pilot.

Another of Mann's experiments is a modification of the tilting chair. This time a white line is attached to the cockpit for the student to watch. Instead of relying on his postual sense he simply tries to correct the chair until he feels the line is once more straight up and down.

"Students cannot do this operation with nearly the accuracy of the first test," Mann said. "That is why I believe the seat-of-the-pants sense is more accurate than the eye in these matters."

Mann made another interesting find. The softer the seat, the less accurate the postual sense. To correct this the navy has taken some of the padding out of cockpit seats to increase the pilot's sense of position.

CITY OF TEMPLES

Bhuvaneshwar, second in importance to Benares as a place of pilgrimage in India, has 400 temples, built from the ninth century to the thirteenth century.

IT STARTED OUT AS AN ERRAND OF MERCY. It ended like this. The ambulance was rushing a 10-year-old boy to Montreal for hospital treatment. It crashed into a ditch near St. Eustache, Que. The boy survived the wreckage. His sister, who was accompanying him to Montreal, died and his father was seriously injured. Taken shortly after the accident, this photo shows how the crash twisted and smashed the vehicle. The Red Cross stands out on one of the few sections of the ambulance undamaged.

Eastern Canada Records Seventeen Fatalities

By The Canadian Press

A triple drowning in which two Indians and a white man lost their lives in the St. Clair River was reported among the 11 violent deaths that occurred in Ontario during the week-end.

A Canadian Press compilation today showed that the fatality list for Eastern Canada was 17 with 11 accidental deaths in Ontario and six in Quebec accounting for the total.

Automobile accidents were responsible for 11 deaths; four persons were drowned; one man was electrocuted and a 14-year-old boy died in a case-in while he was digging in a play fort.

The three men who drowned in the St. Clair River were on their way to the Walpole Island Indian Reservation with two Indian girls when their rowboat struck a rock and sank.

The dead men—Eldredge Nahdee, 24, and Tony James, 27, both from the reservation, and Orville Taylor, believed to be from Ohio—were thrown into deep water, but the two girls managed to struggle to the rocks and were rescued by another Indian who heard their cries for help. Walpole Island is part of the delta formed where the St. Clair River empties into Lake St. Clair, 15 miles northwest of Chatham.

In Ontario's fourth drowning, Mrs. Hilton Porter, 60, who had been in ill health for several months, was found floating in Owen Sound harbor. An inquest is undecided.

Thaine Barker, 47, of Hastings, killed when his truck and an automobile collided near Peterborough, was one of five people killed in auto accidents in Ontario. The driver of the car was uninjured.

Delbert Bradley, 33, of Ottawa, was killed when his automobile left the road four miles north of the city and struck a tree.

Hit By Car

A young married woman, Mrs. Jean Cochrane, 28, formerly of Upper Onslow, N.S., was killed in Hamilton when she was struck by an automobile.

Jacqueline Ratcliffe, 18 months, was killed in front of her home near Guelph when she was run over by a truck. The truck driver was not aware of the accident until a friend telephoned him at his home.

Douglas Hong, 24, of Windsor was killed near Essex when his motorcycle crashed head-on into a truck.

Checking electric wiring for fan motors at Creighton Mine, Bernard Tourigny, 26, of Sudbury was electrocuted. He was found lying beside a 500-volt switch box.

Douglas Burnett, 14, of Toronto's suburban East York, was buried inside a seven-foot tunnel he was digging as a play fort on a golf course. He was dead when dug out. Two companions, who had been carrying earth away, were outside the excavation.

Crashes Tree

Zepherin Levesque, 63, of Pont Viau, a Montreal suburb, and Nicolle Normand, eight, of Montreal were killed at Lavaltrie, 50 miles northeast of Montreal, in an accident which injured five other members of the family. Police say the car, driven by the dead man, swerved to avoid a truck and crashed into a tree.

A second Quebec double fatality was reported at St. Hyacinthe when Lucien Allard and his wife, of St. Hyacinthe were killed when their motorcycle smashed into an automobile eight miles west of the city.

Keep Shipping Atomic Material

OTTAWA, Oct. 31 — (CP) — Trade Minister C. D. Howe said Sunday night that Canada has reassured the United States that she will continue shipments of raw materials for making the atomic bomb.

Mr. Howe said the reassurance was given regardless of whether any new agreement is reached to increase exchange of atomic information between the Dominion and the U.S. The minister made the statement when questioned concerning a New York Times dispatch from Washington saying that both Canada and the United Kingdom had given such assurance.

"That is true as far as we are concerned," Mr. Howe said.

The existing agreement covering exchange of atomic information and allocation of vital raw materials ends Jan. 1.

Confused, Skinny Youth Terrorizing Phantom Bloodhound Leads Posse To Farm Shack

ALLEGAN, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP) —A confused and skinny boy of 21 was jailed Saturday as the heralded "phantom of Silver Creek."

In a jail cell was Earl Holley, gaunt and unkempt, his long hair falling over his shoulders. He mumbled to himself and stared at the floor.

"He doesn't realize why he's here," Sheriff Louis Johnson said. "He's definitely a sick boy. I feel only pity for him."

This, said Johnson, was the "phantom" who slipped into farmyards at night, grabbed women, stole pigs, milked cows, peeped in windows and then vanished into the darkness.

The frightened, hungry youth was located Friday when a bloodhound led a posse of angry men to the door of his trumbledown farm home.

The sheriff said he was opposed to placing criminal charges against the youth. He suggested that he first be placed in a hospital, then given a mental examination.

Editor Reinstated In Newfoundland Row

CORNER BROKK, Nfld., Oct. 31 — (CP). — F. B. Gill Sunday was reinstated as editor of the bi-weekly Western Star. He returns to his post to-day.

His dismissal last week drew protests from five labor union leaders in this West Coast pulp and paper town. They claimed Mr. Gill had been dismissed because of editorials he had written about the high cost of living in Newfoundland that this constituted "muzzling" of a free press.

The Western Star Publishing Company said the dismissal had nothing to do with the editorials and had been decided upon before the editorials appeared.

Mr. Gill and the company said they would make a joint statement Tuesday on the matter.

Alberta Gas Equal To Texas

MONTREAL, Oct. 31—(CP)—New discoveries of petroleum and natural gas in Alberta, promise to make the province the equal of Texas as a source for there products, Trade Minister Howe told the American Society of Tool Engineers Saturday night.

In reviewing Canada's, "prosperous, well-balanced and booming economy," he mentioned the titanium discovery in northern Quebec.

He said "an all important source of high grade iron ore has been opened upon the boundary between Quebec and Labrador, which rivals in magnitude the Mesabi deposits in Minnesota.

"By the end of the 1948 season, more than 300,000,000 gross tons of iron ore had been proved, with many known outcrops still to be drilled.

Seaway Reference

The Trade Minister said the development of the iron deposit is closely linked with the St. Lawrence seaway, which, when built, will provide low-cost water transportation from the mines to the steel industry on the Great Lakes. The Labrador ore possibilities may well turn the balance in favor of the rapid development of the St. Lawrence seaway.

Mr. Howe said 1949 capital investment in Canada will reach a record of $3,200,000,000 this year, representing "the highest rate of new investment in proportion to income in any country of which we have a record."

Total U.S. investments in Canada were $5,000,000,000. They are paying a bigger cash return to American investors than all other American investments put together.

Six Join Swimming Club At Sixth Birthday Party

Sixth birthday of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club was celebrated Saturday evening at a dinner dance in the Empress Hotel and six new members were given fitting initiation. This brings the number of active members to 27.

Miss Norma Gant who has been acting president during the past successful season, mentioned briefly the out-of-town appearance of the swimmers and stated they had been well satisfied with the competition judging and the placing they had been given.

Officers for the coming year were duly installed by Mrs. R. Sellers of Montreal. They are: President, Miss Norma Gant; first vice president, Mrs. Shirley Moldaver; second vice president, Mrs. Isabelle Crary; recording secretary, Miss Mary Dorsett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. June Storey; treasurer, Mrs. Betty Welsh.

The new club members are Mrs. Marie Stone, Misses Peggy Bowen, Denise and Nancy Doubt of Lakefield, Sally Hartman of Bridgenorth and Jean Weyer. Their initiation was conducted by the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. Ernest Stengel, director of parks and recreation for the city of Detroit, and each was presented with a tiny turtle with the club crest painted on its shell.

Mr. Stengel, in his address, urged that those people of United States and Canada who are interested in synchronized swimming should continue working together with their aim to have this sport included in the next Oympic games.

He advised that American swimmers are continually being beaten by Japanese swimmers on the crawl stroke. The reason, he believes, is entirely in the mechanics of the stroke which, like the records, has remained static since introduction of the stroke in 1920: It is up to coaches to discover wherein the Japanese method differs and adopt that improvement. Americans are not being beaten in the breast or back stroke he said.

With two champions in his audience, Miss June Taylor of London, senior international solo winner, and Miss Evelyn Buchanan of Toronto, for more than nine years Canadian diving champion, and now an honorary member of the Peterborough Club, Mr. Stengel took this opportunity to explain that judging of Canadian and U.S. swimmers was entirely unbiased.

Mrs. Lillian McKellar, swimming coach of the University of Western Ontario, London, who will shortly leave for New Zealand as chaperone of the Canadian team to the British Empire Games, introduced the speaker. He was thanked by Miss Beverley Rumary.

Gifts from the club were presented to coach, Mrs. Pansy Forbes, manager, Mr. N. C. Munro, Mrs. V. Heffernan who is in charge of music, Mrs. F. Gant and Mrs. J. Young who assist with costumes.

Birthday gifts to the club were from Mrs. Mary E. Derosier, chairman of the American Athletic Union, Miss Jane Houghton and Mr. Stengel, all of Detroit, Mrs. Mary Tench, coach of the Toronto Water Ballet, and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Johnston, also of Toronto.

Guests and club members enjoyed dancing in the Kawartha Room following the dinner meeting.

Office Girl Out To Win Man From Wife He Loves

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been very happily married for three years. A few months ago a young girl, working across the hall in the same building in which my husband has his office, fell in love with him and told him just what her feelings toward him were. He promptly informed her that he was a married man, but this has not made her give him up. She asks him to take her out so that she may be able to talk to him. She waits for him at night so that they may ride home together part of the way. Naturally, others notice the attention she pays my husband, and gossip has been inevitable. Do you think that seeing this girl every day will eventually have an effect on him? B. J.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Do not underestimate your danger. Theoretically, a wedding ring should be a hands-off sign and a protection for a man as well as a woman. But, in reality, it is like one of those insurance policies that are only good as long as you don't try to collect on them. They make you feel safe and that is about all.

Taking a man away from his wife, and especially from a wife who is young and attractive and with whom he is in love, is a job for a supersiren. It calls for the exercise of every feminine wile and seduction. It rouses every drop of a girl's sporting blood and gives her a kick she does not get out of an ordinary love affair.

No Mercy

So you need not look for this girl who has fallen in love with your husband to spare you. She will take what she wants, if she can get it, and get a triumphant thrill of vanity out of being more attractive than you are, and a sadistic pleasure out of watching you enduring the tortures inflicted by the green-eyed monster.

No man is safe from any woman who is in love with him. She may be homely, unattractive, dull and utterly lacking in charm, but he cannot resist her. He cannot deal harshly with her. And if the woman who is in love with a man has the advantage of propinquity; sooner or later, when he has had a quarrel with his wife or is feeling unappreciated at home, she will get him.

The sum of the whole matter is this, that if your husband doesn't really, mean to be stolen by this little heart thief he must break with her definitely and completely. As long as he runs around with her he encourages her in her nefarious scheme.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a man whom I love dearly, but he is so untidy and slouchy in his appearance that he is getting upon my nerves. I want to love him and admire him, but a slovenly unshaven man has always been repulsive to me. My husband is a professional man and I represent to him that his appearance is a handicap to him, but he says that is ridiculous. He buys me nice clothes and expects me to look my best. Why can't he see that an unattractive man is just as little pleasing to a woman as an unattractive woman is to a man? BRIDE.

ANSWER: I don' know, unless a man thinks that he is so irresistible to women anyway that they can't resist him, clean or dirty, and that to be well groomed would be like gilding the lily. But he makes a mistake because women loathe a dirty, slouchy man and are ashamed to be seen out with him.

And he makes an even bigger mistake in business if he thinks that his appearance doesn't count. Little as he may like it, he is largely judged by his clothes, for these furnish us with pretty reliable tips as to his character. It is a safe bet that the man who is so careless that he gets soup and gravy stains on his coat will be equally careless about his work; a two days' stubble of beard is an infallible indication of lack of enterprise, nor does it need Sherlock Holmes to deduce that the man who wears dirty linen rather than change his shirt is one of the easy-going slobs who will never amount to anything in the world.

I knew one wife who removed all of her husband's clothes when he went to bed and substituted for them a complete new outfit. It was just as easy to put on the clean ones as the mussy ones, so he did it. And that is about the only way you can deal with a lazy man.

DEAR MISS DIX: All boys are conceited, aren't they?

INQUISITIVE GIRL.

ANSWER: Certainly, and the girls make them that way by running after them.

Question: Tell me how to serve eggplant please. The only way my family enjoys it is when I egg and crumb it and pan fry or French fry it: I'll be watching. Hancy.

EGGPLANT TIMBALES

Pare a medium-sized egg plant and cut in slices and cook in boiling salted water until tender, drain and mash. Add ¼ cup butter ½ cup bread crumbs, 2 eggs onions juice, salt and pepper to season. Bake in buttered custard cups or timbale moulds, lining the sides of mould with strips of pimiento. Oven shuld be about 350 deg. Fahr. These are an attractive item on a vegetable plate.

EGGPLANT AND RICE CASSEROLE

Cook separately one medium egg plant sliced and 1 cup rice until tender. Drain. Arrange in buttered casserole in alternate layers. Pour over a mixture of 1 beaten egg, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon melted butter, salt and pepper, 1 minced or grated onion, shake of allspice or sage. Cover with buttered crumbs. Bake 1 hour at 325 deg. Fahr. If desired a little water may be added. Chicken stock is good.

Question: You mentioned in passing pouring an Italian Tomato sauce over baked stufed white fish. Would you mind printing the recipe for this sauce, as I think baked stuffed white fish is a wonderful dish and often serve it for company.

CREOLE OR ITALIAN SAUCE

(for baked fish)

In 3 or 4 tablespoons butter saute 2 tablespoons each chopped onion, green peper, parsley and celery until transparent but not at all brown. Then add 1 12-oz. tin Italian style tomato paste and 1 can boiling water and 1 beef cube. Season with salt and pepper and simmer in covered saucepan for about 30 minutes. This sauce is also good for simmering saulted meat balls which in turn are served on top of spaghetti with sprinkling of cheese.

Pineapple With Chicken Makes Delicious Salad

By MARY MOORE.

We were tasting two or three makes of sausages, and apple-sauce (oversweetened I thought) was served with them.

Since I was a member of a tasting panel I had to speak my thoughts whether they were pleasant or not—and some of the sausages tasted slightly sweet.

Before I could swallow, one of my co-workers said "I may have been brought up wrong but in Scotland we never ate candy with our meat—and I don't like sweet sausages."

Now this sentiment regarding combinations of meat with sweet things is largely mine too.

But—I tasted the chicken salad described today at a church supper and must admit that the flavors are complementary and you must eat it before you judge it. The quantities given serve 25 people for a church supper, or would provide for six tables of bridge.

MRS. VAN'S CHICKEN SALAD HAWIIAN

Boil 2 6-lb. fowls in water to cover until tender, and let cool in the broth. Remove meat from bones and cut into bite-size pieces; drain 2 cans pineapple tidbits or cubes from their juice and add the pineapple, 2 cups large pecan meats broken in halves, 4 cups ½-inch pieces choice inner stalk celery, 1½ medium sized heads iceberg lettuce pulled apart with fingers into pieces convenient for eating. Use at least 1 10-oz. jar commercially made mayonnaise diluted with a little leftover pineapple juice and some heavy cream. Flavour this to suit your own taste with salt. Serve in large wooden salad bowls garnished with slices or wedges of hard-cooked eggs surrounded or outlined with green pepper rings, and add some parsley too.

I am going to re-recommend Potato Croquettes—not because I think they make a good accompaniment for the chicken salad—definitely not— but because I have just made them and served them with cold roast loin of pork. The latter was garnished with red apple rings—a compote of apples boiled in red cinnamon syrup. The whole was so pretty and good I cannot resist boasting about.

POTATO CROQUETTES

Boil 6 medium sized potatoes until tender in boiling salted water. Drain and put through potato ricer. There will be about 4 cups. Add 3 tablespoons hot milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 beaten egg yolks, 1 tablespoon grated onion, ½ teaspoon salt, and some pepper, and about 1 1 teaspoon very finely chopped parsley. Add more salt if you want it. Spread on platter to cool and let chill overnight or thoroughly. Shape into small fingerlength cylinders and roll in fine crumbs. (I have mentioned before that I think the breadcrumbs we can by in boxes are an economy—they certainly are for me, for my kitchen-time is at a premium.) Then dip in beaten egg diluted with 1 tablespoon water and again in fine crumbs Chill until ready to fry. Fry at 370 deg. Fahr. in deep fat for about 1½ minutes, turning once Drain on paper towelling and keep hot until ready to serve These keep very well in a warming oven, or in oven at 200 deg Fahr. with door open slightly.

CINNAMON APPLE COMPOTE

Pare 4 apples, cut in halves crosswise or into 3 crosswise slices, and remove cores. Cook in a syrup made of 2 cups water, 1 cup sugar, 4 inches stick cinnamon and red food colour. When tender, remove and serve as garnish for roast pork; if pork is hot serve apples hot.

Note: This may surprise you but I tried the Southerners' trick of frying mush, but I fried oatmeal. I chilled it pressed into a straight-sided glass, then slipped it out of the glass and sliced it into ¼-inch slices. These I fried in butter, adding 1 teaspon sugar to pan to make them brown fast I put 1 slice fried oatmeal on each breakfast plate, tooped it with a hot cinnamon apple, and accompanied it with a slice of bacon. This brought criss for more. . .and more.

Give Parties for Children To Ease Hallowe'en Damage

By The Canadian Press.

It's Hal we'en, when boys and girls in search of fun cry "treat or tricks" from house to house, and legend's shrouded evil spirits fill the air.

This year, however, a Canadian Press survey shows, many communities in Canada are planning to remove some of the destructive aspects of the celebration by staking parties for the potential pranksters. All the same, it is expected police will keep a wary eye open for marauding youngsters.

Vancouver service clubs plan to hold Hallowe'en parties, helped by $2,000 from the City Council. A public dance for an estimated 3,000 persons will also be held along with 18 bonfires.

In Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg, Hamilton and Montreal, the celebrations are expected to follow much the same pattern, with carnivals, street parades, and "shell-outs" in which citizens buy special tickets which are shelled out to children on collection rounds. Proceeds go to community enterprises and youngsters collecting the most tickets get prizes.

The Canadian Legion in Oakville, near Toronto, will stage a party for 500 children with a pipe band parade and prizes for children dressed in costumes of hand-me-downs.

The night promises to be gay and noisy, but little damage is expected, say police. Halifax will have 20 extra men on duty.

A total of $4,000 has been collected among London, Ont., service clubs to entertain 15,000 school children, and at Saint John, NB, children will make their Hallowe'en collections with the cry, "Help the Poor."

Flyers' Player Severs Artery

NORTH BAY, Oct. 31 (CP) — A puck-weary North Bay Black Hawk team just didn't have the speed and polish to cope with the classy Ottawa RCAF Flyers and dropped a 5-2 argument in an Eastern Canada Hockey League game here Saturday night.

It was North Bay's fourth game in as many nights and the gruelling pace clearly showed on the Bay Braves. The loss was the second in a row at the hands of the leading airmen, who whipped them 6-4 Friday.

It was a costly victory for Flyers, however, as they lost the services of defenceman George Pumple. Pumple was cut seriously by Frank Ringler's skate in a freak collision. The skate cut through and severed an artery in Pumple's thigh.

He bled profusely and could not be removed to the hospital until he received medical aid on the ice surface. It was feared he might bleed to death but an immediate operation, to pull the artery back together again, by Dr. L. L. Crome of North Bay saved his life.

The accident caused RCAF officials with the team to summon several surgeons from Ottawa. They were flown in but by the time they had arrived Dr. Crowe had pulled the artery back again.

Rough Riders Boot Argos 30-24 Varsity Upsets Western 7-0

By The Canadian Press

Everything's ready for the playoff joustings in Canada's three Grey Cup football leagues—except for the formality of playing out the schedules—but the champion of the east's colorful inter-collegiate union still is anybody's guess.

Ottawa Rough Riders virtually booted Toronto Argonauts out of the Big Four playoffs Saturday with a hard-fought 30-24 triumph. Montreal planted the final kick Sunday when they whipped Hamilton Wildcats 29-18 to clinch the second playoff position mathematically.

The Riders, defending eastern Canada champions, thus will meet Alouettes in a two-game total-point series to decide which plays the Ontario Rugby Football Union winner for the right to meet the west.

The other two leagues had previously declared playoff opponents. In the ORFU, it's Hamilton Tigers against Sarnia Imperials. In the Western Canada League, Regina's Saskatchewan Roughriders will try to dethrone the Dominion champion Calgary Stampeders in a two-game total-point series opening at Regina Nov. 5.

Opens Nov. 9

The Big Four title series opens at Montreal Nov. 9 after the league disposes of its two wind-up games next Saturday. The ORFU also starts its home-and-home playoff with a midweek game Nov. 9 but the venue is undecided because Sarnia still has a slim chance of tying Hamilton for first place.

Sarnia kept two points behind Tigers by defeating Balmy Beach 18-10 at Toronto Saturday night after Tigers drubbed Windsor Rockets 29-5 at Hamilton. If the tail-end Beaches upset Hamilton next Saturday while Sarnia beats Windsor, Hamilton and Sarnia will finish tied for first.

The East's intercollegiate circuit, which does not challenge for the Dominion title, was thrown into confusion Saturday by twin upsets. University of Toronto upset Western Mustangs 7-0, handing Mustangs their frist defeat in four starts in a game that packed Varsity Stadium's 20,157 seats. Queen's Golden Gaels surprised even more by blanking McGill Redmen 15-0 at Kingston.

Those results left the leading Mustangs two points ahead of McGill and Varsity, tied for second with two victories each against two losses. Under intercollegiate rules that calls for a sudden-death playoff only if the second-place team has defeated or played two ties with the leader during the season. Varsity appears to have the best chance of forcing a playoff with Western.

McGill Has Chance

But McGill could do it by beating Varsity in Toronto next Saturday and going on to defeat Western in their schedule's wind-up. Queen's is Toronto's final opponent after McGill.

Varsity's opening-quarter touchdown by Tony Cecutti, plunging half from Sudbury, playing his first senior game, was enough to beat Western. Bruce Cummings, triple-threat from Ottawa, made it safe by punting two last-half singles.

It was the first time Johnny Metras' Mustangs were shut out since McGill did it in winning a post-season playoff in 1928 and only the third time they were beaten since then. Coach Bob Masterson's Blues handed Mustangs their two previous defeats last season to end their championship reign.

Peterborough Man Scores

Queens' triumph was even more startling because their two injured stars—Ross McKelvey and Al Lenard—were scouting at Varsity Stadium. End Tip Logan carried the mail for Frank Tyndall's tricolor, scoring a touchdown and kicking two converts and a single.

Dave Bryan, a Hamilton product, filled in for Lenard and set up two Queens' touchdowns on passes besides kicking two singles. Jack Sisson, a Peterborough boy, scored the other Queens' major.

In the west, Les Lear's Stampeders showed they are sharp for their title defence by blanking Edmonton Eskimos 27-0 at Calgary before a crowd of 8,000. Some 3,500 watched Saskatchewan whip the last-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers 15-1. The western league's schedule winds up tonight when Calgary meets Edmonton in a single game.

Weekend Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Frank Brimsek of Chicago who blanked the New York Rangers while his teammate, Metro Prystai, scored the winning goal in the first period, as the Black Hawks won 2-0 Saturday.

Toronto's Harry Watson — who scored three goals in the third period Saturday and led the Maple Leafs to their first home-ice National Hockey League victory—an 8-1 win over Boston.

Rookie Steve Black whose first period goal for Detroit carried the Red Wings to a 1-0 victory over Montreal Saturday.

Leo Gravelle of Montreal who tallied two goals and an assist Sunday as the Canadiens downed Detroit.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Metro Prystai of Chicago Black Hawks and teammate Doug Bentley jumped into a first place tie for National Hockey League scoring honors during the week-end. Prystai fired two goals and two assists while Bentley scored one and assisted on four others to boost their total points to nine. Only one point behind—all with eight points—are Paul Ronty, Boston; Ted Lindsay, Detroit; Howie Meeker, Toronto; and Bill Mosienko and Roy Conacher, both with Chicago.

The Leaders:	G	A	Pts
Prystai, Chicago	5	4	9
D. Bentley, Chicago	3	6	9
Ronty, Boston	5	3	8
Lindsay, Detroit	4	4	8
Meeker, Toronto	3	5	8
Mosienko, Chicago	3	5	8
R. Conacher, Chicago	2	6	8

Royal Copeland of Toronto Argonauts proved the fleetest of three starry footballers in a special 100 yard race Sunday at Montreal.

Dressed in full football uniform and carrying a ball, Copeland, Tom Casey of Hamilton Wildcats and Virgil Wagner of Montreal Alouettes set out to prove something or other among the Big Four League stars.

It was practically a blanket finish with only a step or so between the three at the end. Copeland's winning time was 11.2 seconds.

Howie Turner of Ottawa Rough Riders was unable to fill his engagement to round out a field of four because of an injury suffered in Saturday's Argos-Ottawa football game.

The special race was run just before the Wildcats-Alouettes game, won 29-18 by Alouettes who made sure of a playoff place.

Four skaters, three from Toronto and one from Vancouver, will represent Canada at the world figure skating championships in London next March 6-8.

They were chosen at Toronto on Saturday at the 36th annual meeting of the Canadian Figure Skating Association, which also decided to hold the 1950 Canadian figure skating championships in St. Catharines, Feb. 2-4.

Roger Wickson of Vancouver, Canadian senior men's champion, will seek the men's world senior championship. Suzanne Morrow of Toronto, Canadian ladies' senior champion, and Marlene Smith of Toronto, runner-up for the North American ladies' senior title, are to enter competition in world senior ladies' events. The world pairs title will be sought by Miss Smith and Donald Gilchrist of Toronto, who hold the senior Canadian pairs title.

Assumption College Purple Raiders, paced by halfback Gino Fracas, ran wild at Windsor Saturday to bring the city its second junior Ontario Rugby Football Union championship in four years. The collegians defeated Hamilton Junior Tigers, 18-1, in a sudden death game before 1,000 fans at Jackson Park.

Mrs. Eleanor Veeck Saturday at Tucson, Ariz., was granted a divorce from William Veeck, Jr., president of the Cleveland Indians baseball club. She was also granted custody of their three children, William, 12, Peter, 7 and Ellen, 5.

The Veecks were married Dec. 5, 1935. Mrs. Veeck filed a complaint for divorce Feb. 5, 1949. She alleged desertion. In Chicago Wednesday Veeck said that he is planning to marry as soon as "my divorce goes through." His second bride is to be Mary Frances Ackerman, 27, a former Pittsburgh and New York model.

The American Power Boat Association Sunday created a new "middleweight" inboard racing boat class, the 15-cubic-inch class.

Specifications of the new classification were given final approval at the Association's 46th annual meeting at Chicago by the Inboard Racing Commission and the Inboard Technical Commission.

Boat hulls in the 151 class must be at least 13½ feet long, but there is no top limit on length.

Sixteen members of Hull-Volants hockey team left Ottawa by air for overseas Saturday on a six-week tour of Europe. Volants are in the Eastern Canada Hockey League and already have played a few games this season. They will rejoin the circuit upon their return to Canada early in December.

KINGSTON, Oct. 31 (CP) — The Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, officially opened Queen's University's Students Memorial Union Building Sunday at ceremonies during which the $850,000 dining and recreation hall was dedicated to the memory of the University's war dead.

Referrng to the 362 Queen's men and women killed in the First and Second World Wars, Viscount Alexander said:

"This building, dedicated to the memory of great ideals, will, it is hoped, mean very much in the real education of successive generations of students. They will play together, they will dine together, they will talk together.

"And they cannot fail to realize in a building dedicated to a great purpose, that the privileges they enjoy entail responsibilities as well. Our country gives us much; it may demand much in return."

High Point of Week-end

The opening of the Memorial Union was a high point of a week-end which saw Queen's confer an Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws on Rt. Hon. Philip Noel-Baker, British Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations, and the University's football trounce McGill Redmen 15-0.

Prior to the luncheon in the dining hall in celebration of the official opening of the building, the Governor-General unveiled seven large oil paintings by Marion Long of Toronto, depicting typical men and women of the Canadian armed forces. The paintings hand in a memorial room in the Students' Union.

The grey limestone building, a four-storey structure with Gothic lines, replaces one destroyed by fire two years ago. In its dining room 1,500 meals are served daily to students. It has rooms for reading, study, music games and debates, a tuck shop, a snack bar and rooms for both men and women students, offices of the Queen's Journal, university newspaper, also are in the building.

The Memorial Union was made possible in part by the current $3,000,000 public subscription campaign for Queen's and partly by donations from graduates and friends.

Actress Secretly Weds Wealthy Heir Gollet

PARIS, Oct. 31 (AP)—Robert W. Goelet, Jr., 28-year-old scion of a wealthy Newport, R. I., family said Sunday he married Hollywood actress Lynn Merrick secretly here Friday.

It was the second marriage for each. The couple met in Rome while Goelet was producing a film called Rapture, which he said will be shown soon in the United States.

The wedding was a surprise to both families. Goelet denied reports that his mother, the Duchess of Villarosa, who lives in Rome, disinherited him because of the marriage.

In Rome, the Duchess said she knew nothing of her son's marriage and that she had not disinherited him.

U.S. Industry Profits Rise

(Copyright 1949 by The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP).—Profits of United States industry turned upwards in the third quarter of this year for the first time in 12 months.

They stand only slightly below the all-time high mark of a year ago when third quarter earnings were the peak in the record year of 1948.

An unusual feature of the third quarter was the substantial increase in earnings of automobile companies which off-set a sharp decline in oil company profits.

The compilation by The Associated Press of earnings reports of 314 leading corporations in all major fields showed today a total net profit of $1,003,644,061 in the July-September quarter.

That is 4.3 per cent. higher than the total of $962,102,819 reported by the same corporations in the second quarter of this year.

It is only 4.1 per cent. lower than the $1,046,983,291 earned by these companies in the third quarter of 1948.

Corporation earnings slid lower in the final quarter of 1948, from their third quarter peak and the decline continued in the first and second quarters of this year.

Buried For Hour

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3-1 —(AP)— Rescued from a 15-foot-deep hole where he was buried alive for nearly an hour, 45-year-old Harry Edwards was reported recovering today in hospital. For a time Edwards was buried completely in the excavation and owed his life to the frantic digging of his son Harvey, 19, who scopped earth from around his face permitting him to breathe.

Shot In Eye

POMP 'ON PLAINS, N. J. — Oct. 31— (AP) — A 14-year-old boy, making Hallowe'en faces outside a closed hardware store, was shot in the eye Sunday night by a clerk, Warren Hopper, 18, who thought he was using blank cartridges, police said. Authorities ruled it an accident and did not hold the clerk. The injured youngster, David Worden, was rushed to hospital where his condition is listed as serious.

Hold Memorial Service

DONORA, Pa., Oct. 31 (AP) — Memorial services were held Sunday for the 20 persons who died after a smog blanketed the Monongahela River valley a year ago. Residents of Webster, Donora's twin community across the river, dedicated a plaque to perpetuate the memory of the tragedy in which 6,000 persons were made ill as a mixture of smoke, fog and industrial fumes covered the valley for four days.

Divers Search Harbor For Noronic Bodies

TORONTO, Oct. 31 — (CP) — Divers today descended into the Canada Steamship Lines slip in Toronto harbour to search for victims of the Sept. 17 Noronic disaster.

Lifesavers in rowboats dragged the waters over the week-end after the charred hulk of the cruise ship was towed to Hamilton to be broken up for scrap. The lifesavers found no bodies but did recover bits of burned cloth and a towel.

If the divers fail to locate bodies, the entire slip will be dregged and the mud and sludge will be sifted. Lifesavers said the dredging would be undertaken only as a last resort because it was likely to break any bodies which might have stuck in the mud when the passengers leaped over the side of the burning vessel.

Pay People To Enjoy Holiday One Condition–Must Catch Cold

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON, Oct. 31 —(AP)— The Harvard Hospital at Salisbury pays people to come around and enjoy a free holiday. It welcomes honeymooners. The catch is that you are expected to catch a cold and sniffle a week or 10 days for science. The hospital is in the midst of an elaborate research program, financed by the Ministry of Health, to learn the truth about the common cold, what starts it and how it can be prevented and cured.

So it offers holidays with pay to persons who don't mind putting up with a little fever. In three years more than 1,500 persons have agreed to be guinea pigs and what they have contributed to science's understanding of the common cold already has filled many fat medical reports.

"We could use chimpanzees, but they are more expensive to get and support than human volunteers," a health ministry official explained.

Certain Conditions

There are certain conditions attached to the paid honeymoon or holiday offer.

Volunteers are paid three shillings a day and are entitled to a free pint of beer. They live in comfortable, pre-fabricated apartments furnished with radios and telephones. There is a lot of good food, and for entertainment there are walks in the pleasant countryside, books and facilities for badminton and table tennis.

But the volunteers must keep keep to themselves. They must not go into taverns, shop or theatres, or ride on buses and trams. They must not permit an outsider to approach with in 30 feet.

It's an ideal opportunity for a couple of friends to get off by themselves. Honeymooners are favored because they are less likely than others to stray around impatiently.

They are infected in every conceivable way with the virus believed to be responsible for the common cold. Most of them have it squirted up their nose. About 40 per cent of the volunteers are duds. Nothing seems to give them colds.

It's Not Easy

"But don't get an impression that it's easy, or that we are about to give the common cold a knockout punch," said Dr. Thomas Summerville, in charge of the medical staff.

The Salisbury Research Staff has established to its satisfaction that colds are caused by a virus which probably is much smaller than the virus of influenza. The cold virus passes through filters in which openings measure one ten-thousandth of a millimetre. So the virus is smaller than that.

The Harvard Hospital is convinced that the cold virus can be air borne. Waving infected handkerchiefs in a small room was found to be an effective way of communicating influenza, but the evidence as to colds was inconclusive.

Also unresolved is the old question of whether colds are caused or promoted by chilling and drafts. The evidence is conflicting. But a normal Eskimo falls into ice water, freezes stiff, and gets no cold. But a clerk in town who gets damp feet sprinting for a street car comes down with a raging fever. The suspicion is that the clerk had the virus in him all the time, while the Eskimo didn't.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Blind Pianist Genuine Bebop Artist

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31 (CP)— One of the few genuine artists at work in the field of advanced beboppery is a 29-year-old blind British pianist, George Shearing

Bop to most folks is generally too frenetic and frantic to make much musical sense. Especially in big-band scoring. Whatever future bop may have would seem to rest with the smaller groups, such as Shearing's Quintet.

The young Briton, in the United States since 1947, has rapidly established himself as a jazz technician ready to take his place with Art Tatum, Teddy Wilson and Mel Powell. For sheer finger dexterity, Shearing may yet top them al.

But beyond that, Shearing has a creative imagination that enables him to weave a melodic pattern out of bop's tangled chords. His shading often suggests the influence of Debussy.

Has Pliable Group

Shearing has gathered a pliable group around him, including Margie Hyams on vibes; Chuck Wayne, guitar; Denzil Best, drums; and John Levy, bass. Miss Hyams and Shearing particularly team well.

The work of the Shearing combo, which gained recognition with an album for Discovery last summer, reaches full flower in a new M-G-M release, a coupling of "East of the Sun" and "Conception."

Shearing's solo on the former rates with the best jazz piano choruses of any era; the work of the ensemble is restrained and integrated throughout. "Conception" is a Shearing riff original on the upbeat, with the Hyams-Shearing unison work outstanding.

Bop may gain some converts with this one.

Another Artist

Another appealing bop artist —and he's a pianist too— is Errol Garner, who has been holding forth lately in New York. Like Shearing, he has a quiet, restrained style, punctuated with chords which are often beautiful and sometimes startling. Among his best numbers is "Robin's Nest," which doesn't really suggest bop at all except for its technical musicianship.

Bop is still gaining new and fanatical supporters, and with artists like Shearing and Garner helping out it may keep on expanding beyond the relatively small circle of bopamanes.

Miss Kelsey finally reached Canada on an exchange of prisoners. She was asked to go back and work with the United Church until able to return to her own hospital which was in Japanese occupied territory.

Mrs. Baker thanked Miss Kelsey for her talk. Mrs. Ewing of Toronto spoke on the Anglican Women's Training College in Toronto.

Holding Back CIO Dues UEW Decides

Red-Baiting Program Will Be Defied Fitzgerald Reports

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1 (AP) — The United Electrical Workers, spearhead of the CIO's rebellious left wing, announced today it was withholding any further dues to the CIO—a certain first step toward its ouster.

In a defiant statement accusing CIO leadership of following a "program of raiding, union-busting and red-baiting hypocracy," UEW president Albert J. Fitzgerald said the next step "is up to the CIO."

UEW delegates walked off the convention floor shortly afterwards. Fitzgerald said they were going home. UEW officers have not been attending the convention although delegates were there.

There was little doubt that president Philip Murray of the CIO would accept the challenge quickly. The groundwork for removing the UEW, which Fitzgerald says pays dues for 450,000 members, was laid by constitutional changes approved Monday night for action by the CIO convention today or tomorrow.

11 Others Face Ouster

Eleven other so-called left-wing unions also fact ouster by the CIO but Fitzgerald said it would be up to them whether they followed

Ask Conference For January 10

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has suggested Jan. 10 as the starting date for the Dominion-Provincial constitutional conference and most provinces have indicated that the date suits them.

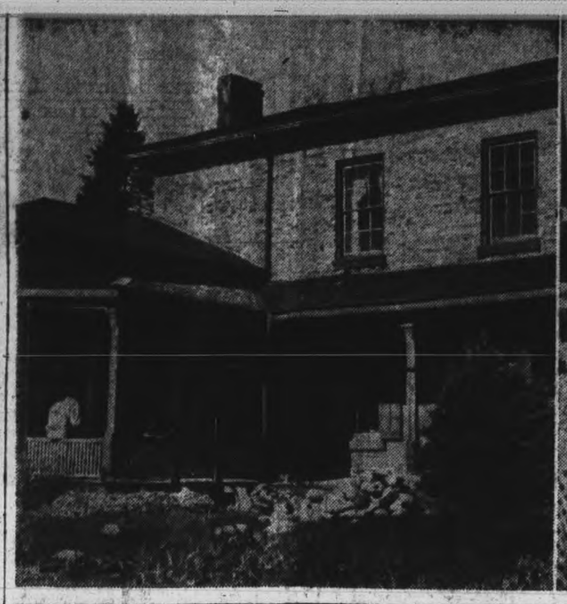
Mr. St. Laurent Monday tabled in the Commons copies of the letters he sent the 10 Premiers, proposing that date.

Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland and Premier McNair of New Brunswick said the date was acceptable. Premier Jones of Prince Edward Island was not available for comment but had indicated earlier that any date set by the Prime Minister was acceptable to him.

Premier Frost of Ontario immediately indicated the date is "okay" with him. Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia said "we will try to accommodate ourselves to whatever date seems most generally suitable."

Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland said today he had written the Prime Minister accepting the date. "So far as Newfoundland is concerned, we are willing to attend a Dominion-Provincial conference, at any time provided the Provincial Legislature is not in session," Mr. Smallwood added.

Purpose of the conference is to seek a means of amending the constitution on matters not wholly within federal jurisdiction.



Decide To Reopen Japanese Peace Treaty

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP).—The New York Times says today the United States and Britain have decided to re-open the question of a Japanese peace treaty as quickly as possible.

State Secretary Dean Acheson and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin "are understood to have discussed this step recently and to have ordered a new and urgent study of the question," the Times says.

This now is under way in Washington under the supervision of an assistant secretary of state, Walton W. Butterworth. Maberly E. Dening, British assistant undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, was reported supervising the review in London.

Meanwhile, the story says, Ambassador Philip C. Jessup has been detached from most of his other duties to review U.S. policy in the whole area of Japan, China, India and Southeast Asia.

Planes Collide 25 Killed At Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (P)—At least 25 persons were killed today in the collision of an Eastern Air Lines passenger plane and a Bolivian military plane.

The collision occurred about a half-mile south of the airport.

Skies were overcast but visibility was unlimited and the ceiling was several thousand feet.

Two military airports are located across the Potomac River. Immediately adjacent to National Airport.

First reports said the smaller plane disintegrated immediately after the collision.

All available ambulances and doctors were called immediately to the scene.

P. M. Clifford of Washington, who witnessed the collision, estimated the planes were about 300 feet in the air.

He said the smaller plane plunged into the Potomac and disappeared.

"I was driving south when I suddenly looked up," Clifford said. "I saw a ball of fire and a trail of smoke about 300 feet above the ground and one plane falling."

Terribly Battered

"I parked my car and ran to the river bank. I saw them bring a woman out of the wreckage and several men. They were terribly battered. I could not stand to look any more."

The under-belly of the airplane was ripped open.

Volunteers working with police and firemen had the first bodies removed from the plane before the confusion subsided at the scene. Hundreds of automobiles were backed up on the highway which was blocked by police for the ambulances.

Boatmen were going back and forth over the river looking for bodies.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration identified the pilot of the military plane as Rios Bridoux.

80,000 Workers Accept Steel Pension Agreement

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1—(CP)—A welfare-pension plan agreement that sends 80,000 striking C.I.O. steel workers back to their jobs with Bethlehem Steel Corporation today buoyed government hopes for a quick end to both the steel and coal strikes which have made idle more than 1,000,000 workers.

Government officials said in Washington they expect other steel firms will follow in the footsteps of Bethlehem, the second largest steel producer in the United States, which signed an agreement here Monday night with the United Steel Workers.

The government officials said that now that a break has come in the steel strike, definite peace moves may be expected in coal because of the close relations of the two basic industries.

Shattering a well-worn precedent of waiting to see what the Steel Corporation — would do, Bethlehem came to terms with Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O. and striking steel workers.

Murray, here for the CIO's national convention, made no effort to conceal his jubilation.

Aid Elderly Workers

He cried at a rally:

"American industry might as well recognize this fact. That it will be required in the future to maintain its elderly workers on a reasonably decent basis—without their going to the poorhouse, public charity or relatives or friends for help."

The main feature of Bethlehem's terms was a minimum $100 monthly pension for all employees with 25 years service reaching the age of 65 or over. Those with 20 years will receive $85. After 15 years, $65.

Some, said Murray, will receive as much as $250 a month.

As to the pension costs, the company will pay all—about nine cents a worker an hour. Unlike the other steel firms, Bethlehem has been financing a pension system for 26 years but at a lower rate providing around $50 a month.

Company Matches It

On social insurance — death, sickness, accidents, hospitalization—employees put 2½ cents an hour into a fund and the com-

Soccer Player Stabbed In Referee Row

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (CP)—Suburban Leaside police said today they are holding the 14-year-old referee of a public school soccer game who allegedly stabbed a player during an argument yesterday.

Sydney Norman, 15-year-old public school student, suffered a two-inch knife wound in the abdomen. Hospital attendants said his condition is satisfactory.

Police, who obtained statements from both boys, said the referee will be charged with being "a delinquent or about to become a delinquent."

The Norman boy told police the argument developed after he had been told by the referee to "smarten up."

"We started pushing," Norman said. "He told me to get back in line. I told him to 'hold his horse.' Then he asked me if I wanted a punch in the nose. I said 'sure.' He said 'I can use something better' and he stabbed me."

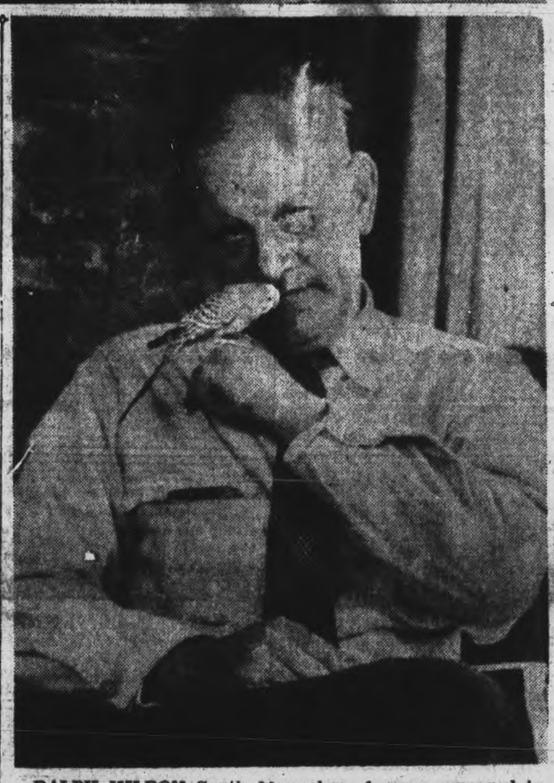
Norman added he "just stood there and didn't know the knife was in me until I felt the blood."

Get Same Story

Police said they had substantially the same story from the boy referee who claimed Norman had resented being told to smarten up and had walked threateningly toward him.

"The referee said he pulled out his knife. There was some pushing and I guess the knife must have pierced him."

Police described the knife as "a vicious-looking bone-handled" object with three-inch blade which springs into place at the press of a button.



Classmates of the two boys said Anson Taylor, the teacher in charge of the game between scrub teams, had left—just before the argument started—to supervise a girls' physical training class.

GM Puts Case Before Daley

OSHAWA, Nov. 1 (CP)—General Motors of Canada Monday placed its case in the Oshawa automotive strike before Labor Minister Daley of Ontario. W. A. Wecker, company president, conferred with the labor minister at Toronto.

However, there was no indication later that the talks in Toronto had brought settlement of the strike which started last Wednesday, any nearer. The union presented its side of the dispute at a conference with the labor minister last week.

Mr. Daley declined comment on the meeting with Mr. Wecker, held at his invitation.

Fire On Strikers, Kill Natives

CAPETOWN, Nov. 1 (Reuters)—A number of African natives were believed killed and others wounded when police opened fire today on striking workers in the Munsieville native location at Krugersdorp.

Police reinforcements were on their way to Krugersdorp from Johannesburg, about 20 miles away.

The trouble started with the transfer today of the control of African service contracts to the Krugersdorp town council.

Before dawn a party of Africans stoned other Africans going to work. Another party of Africans stoned passing cars, injuring three European men.

Police patrols went into the location and got the situation under control, but later Africans screened by their women and children, surged towards the assembled police who opened fire.

Two buildings were destroyed by fire.

Czech Churches Come Under Control of Reds

PRAGUE, Nov. 1 — (AP) — Czechoslovakia's churches today came under the control of the country's Communist government despite a year's bitter fight by the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

At one minute after midnight the new church control law became effective, giving the government power over all church funds the naming of pastors and priests and church administrative functions.

All priests and pastors become civil servants on the government payroll. They must swear allegiance to both the Czech Republic and the Communist-dominated "People's Democratic Regime" to get their pay.

Alexei Cepicka, Communist Minister of Justice, has told parliament anyone opposing the law "will be broken as an enemy of the state."

The Czech Roman Catholic Primate, Archbishop Joseph Beran, and other leaders of his church led the fight against the bill, asserting it was aimed at liquidation of the church. The government countered with the arrest of more than 300 priests and nuns, according to reliable Catholic and diplomatic sources.

The Bishops first had opposed the government's demand that all priests be required to swear loyalty to the Communist-led regime. Last week, however, they granted permission to priests to take the oath to keep out of jail but added the reservation that any loyalty oath should not be contrary to their religious convictions.

In Rome, Il Quotidiano, Catholic Action's official newspaper, today accuses the Czechoslovak government of "vile perfidy" and of preparing "to discredit Catholic clergymen in the eyes of the faithful."

Plymouth, Navy Go All Out On Amethyst Welcome

PLYMOUTH, England, Nov. 1 (Reuters)—Britain's most talked about warship of the post-war years, H.M.S. Amethyst, came home today to face the most frightening "barrage" since she successfully ran the gauntlet of Chinese Communist gunfire on the Yangtze.

The "big guns" of a British welcome were brought to bear on the frigate.

Flags, brightly-colored bunting, "welcome home" signs, bands—and some of the pickings of Britain's "Who Who"—were all there on the quayside at this ancient British port when the freshly-painted frigate nosed her way in beside the 42,500-ton battleship Vanguard.

And the din was enough to make Sir Francis Drake, Britain's greatest sea captain, turn in his hammock as hundreds of waiting relatives and "gold braid" naval officers broke into cheers, bands began to play and aircraft roared overhead in salute.

The prominent people—warmed with constant relays of piping hot tea—included the First Lord of the Admiralty, Viscount Hall, the First Sea Lord, Admiral Lord Fraser, the Commander-in-chief at Plymouth, Admiral Sir Robert Burnett, and local dignitaries.

Lt.-Cmdr. J. S. Kearns, commander of the Amethyst, after a series of big welcomes all along the route home, including Hong Kong, Singapore, Malta, Ceylon and Gibraltar, had briefed his crew for the forthcoming celebrations something like this:

"Don't spoil your right at parties—you are going to meet the King...Don't mix whisky, champagne and beer because I am not going to bail you out of prison."

Following speeches of welcome, an official luncheon and a big march through Plymouth most of the crew of the Amethyst were to go on leave.

South Monaghan Farmer Held In Cobourg Jail; Wife Found Dead In Kitchen

Ralph Kilbon Former Superintendent Of American Nepheline Plant Lakefield Resident Held For Murder

By STAFF REPORTER

Ralph Kilbon, 56-year-old South Monaghan farmer, today was remanded a week to Cobourg jail on a charge of murder in the fatal shooting of his wife, Irene, 54. Mrs. Kilbon was shot in the head, police said. Her body was slumped across the kitchen table. Her husband was reported found sitting at the other end of the table. Neighbors quoted Kilbon as saying his wife first shot herself and that he fired the fatal bullet to end the pain she was suffering. Police declined to comment on the neighbors' report.

Kilbon said he went to the barn to do some chores. When he returned to the house, he found his wife had shot herself in the abdomen. He then fired another shot into her head, the neighbors said Kilbon told them.

Kilbon's friends also quoted him as saying his wife was to have been taken to the Ontario Mental Hospital at Whitby today.

Investigators from Cobourg, sent to Bailieboro following a telephone report received by district headquarters of Provincial Police at Peterborough, said they found Kilbon standing in the kitchen, his wife's body slumped over the breakfast table. A .22 rifle was nearby.

Arraigned

Kilbon was arraigned on the murder charge before a Justice of the Peace immediately following his arrival in Cobourg escorted by Cpl. Douglas Wilson and Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg.

Police declined to discuss the case pending the arrival from Toronto of an officer from the Provincial Criminal Investigation Department.

A former superintendent at Lakefield of the Nepheline Mines at the east end of Stony Lake, Mr. Kilbon moved into South Monaghan four years ago. He bought the 200 acre farm owned by Bert Byers, now living at Bailieboro.

Two Policemen Battle In Montreal Station

MONTREAL, Nov. 1 (CP)—An alleged fight between two veteran members of the Montreal police department in the main guardroom Monday resulted in the demotion of one from sergeant to constable and temporary suspension of the other, a police spokesman reported Monday night. Sgt R. Leblanc of the radio division, who joined the force 15 years ago, was demoted to the rank of constable, while Cst. C. Peloquin, veteran of 19 years service, was suspended for 21 days.

Farmer Shoots Two Pranksters

SMITHVILLE, Nov. 1 (CP). — Two youths were shot Monday night as they tried to push over a shack in the yard of an 82-year-old Smithville resident, Ontario Provincial Police said today.

Constable Keith Collins said the retired farmer sat in the rear seat of his automobile, a 12-gauge shotgun across his knees, waiting for Hallowe'en pranksters.

Removed to hospital in Hamilton was Ivan Carruthers, 18, of Smithville, whose condition was described today as fair. Roy Atkinson, 16, was discharged from hospital after treatment of a wound behind his right ear. Carruthers suffered four wounds in the head and one in the neck. No charge has been laid against the farmer.

"I have lived here for twelve years," the farmer said today, "and they have bothered me every year. I'v sat out in my car every Hallowe'en since I came here. I just held the gun in their direction and let her go. I guess they won't bother me again."

PC's Retain Leeds' Riding 2,693 Majority

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 1 —(CP) —Hugh Reynolds, Progressive Conservative, won Monday's provincial by-election in Leeds in a straight fight with Liberal Ernest Miller and held the seat for the government forces.

Mr. Reynolds, 45-year-old Brockville coal merchant, received 10,756 votes, compared with 8,063 for Mr. Miller, farmer from nearby Mallorytown.

Until late afternoon, a steady rain fell throughout the 2,500 square miles of the eastern Ontario constituency along the St. Lawrence River. But late in the day the weather cleared and brought out such a rush of late voters that it was found 79 per cent. of the 23,802 eligible voters had cast ballots.

In Toronto, Premier Frost called the result "a dandy victory." He added: "It is a mandate for us to go ahead and redouble our efforts in the interests of good government."

Couldn't Be Reached

Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, could not be reached for comment Monday night. He was reported on his way to Toronto from his farm at Priceville, near Owen Sound.

Seize 35 Tons Nazi Army Tools

FRANKFURT, Nov. 1 (Reuters) —British frontier officials have seized 35 tons of German Army machine tools worth $650,000, an American customs official disclosed today.

The official said it was the biggest haul of hidden German Army surplus war supplies to be confiscated since the end of the war.

The goods were found hidden in a Cologne garage Oct. 13.

Three Germans have been arrested and are being held in a Cologne jail and an Austrian national is in custody at Graz, in the British zone of Austria, the official added.

British, American and German agents still were investigating how the tools had been acquired and their official destination.

The tools were packed in 251 crates, which contained a 30-page inventory of bits, dies and drills together with complete equipment for manufacturing a vast scale one of the Germany army's most effective infantry weapons—the MG-42 machine pistol.

The crates also contained thousands of parts for Panzer vehicles with equipment for fitting armor plate to them.

12,000 Volts Hit Bus No Passengers Hurt

SUDBURY, Nov. 1 (CP) — Thirty passengers in a suburban Lockerby bus escaped injury on Monday night when high-tension wires fell in front of the vehicle and sent 12,000 volts surging through it.

The wires tumbled when a pole broke. The bus passengers left through an emergency exit.

The communities of Lockerby, Long Lake and McFarlane Lake were in darkness for five hours following the mishap.

Flash Fire Kills Baby During Visit

Mother Tries Futilely To Get Upstairs Can't Reach Child

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 1—(CP)—Maxine Pringle, one-year-old daughter of J. Pringle, a plumber of nearby Chatsworth, was burned to death in a flash fire which swept through a two-storey apartment block.

The child was trapped in an upper storey apartment of the four-family brick building while visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Bannerman, accompanied by her mother.

The mother made repeated attempts to get her daughter out of the burning building before firemen arrived to rescue her. She died in hospital. An unidentified woman was burned as she tried to reach the upper storey to help in the rescue.

The fire is believed to have started in an oil storage drum at the rear of the building.

Visits Mother

Mrs. Pringle came to the city Monday to visit her sick mother, while Mr. Pringle was on jury duty at the court house across the road from the tenement.

Mrs. Pringle went upstairs to talk to her mother, who was lying down, when they smelled smoke. They went downstairs to see what was burning, and then were unable to return, although Mrs. Pringle attempted to do so.

R. Spencer of Owen Sound said he was helping Mr. Bannerman repair the roof of the home at the time.

"Just as Mr. Bannerman started up the ladder toward me, I noticed flames shooting from the back of the building. In a matter of just a few minutes they had spread throughout the house."

Helps With Ladder

Thomas Ramage, governor of the county jail, was one of the first to arrive at the fire. He warned Mrs. Bertha Shears the adjoining building was on fire, but when he reached the Hurley home Mrs. Hurley was already out.

Ramage helped hoist a ladder to the front upstairs room of the Bannerman home, where the youngster had been sleeping. But he was unable to enter because of heavy smoke and intense heat.

Firemen, who arrived a short time later, wore masks while bringing the dead child from the building.

Firemen were hampered by a strong wind, which fanned the fire through the asphalt-shingled roof of the tenement.

After serving with the Danish army and underground forces during the Second World War, he emigrated to Canada, where he now lives with his wife and his mother, Grand Duchess Olga.

"I like it up there," said Kulikovski, an architect employed by a large Canadian department store. "The people are very nice and friendly."

Wants Germans To Build Planes

FRANKFURT, Nov. 1 (AP) — A West German government minister wants to see the Germans building and flying their own civil airplanes again.

But a United States occupation spokesman says the Germans won't be resuming commercial flying "for a long, long time."

Every kind of aviation activity now is banned for the Germans. The allies fear pilot training and civil airplane plants can lead to another Luftwaffe and war planes.

The opening wedge in the campaign to rebuild Germany's civil air services came from Dr. Hans Christoph Seebohm, West Germany's minister of transport.

In a week-end speech and in an interview, he advocated: Immediate return of all civilian airfields and installations to German hands; the right for Germans to carry on commercial aviation with foreign-built planes; ultimately, permission for Germans to build civilian planes and take part in European commercial aviation.

U.S. Must Absorb Imports Gordon Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (CP). — North America, and particularly the United States, must assume the new role of furnishing a ready import market for the goods of other nations, Donald Gordon, Deputy Governor of the Bank of Canada, declared Monday.

Only by this action can the dollar shortage be effectively and permanently overcome. Mr. Gordon said in an address prepared for delivery before the 36th National Foreign Trade convention.

Coupled with the opening of markets, North America also must supply development capital for less advanced regions.

Mr. Gordon said that, while past measures had served to fill the dollar gap temporarily, the fact was that North America's export surplus to the world must be eliminated or at least greatly reduced by increased imports if the dollar-short countries were to be placed on a sound basis.

No Large Surplus

Canada has no large over-all surplus, Mr. Gordon said, so the problem of "reducing the North American export surplus to manageable proportions is largely a problem of the U.S. export surplus."

"It require, I believe, nothing less than a radical and far-reaching change in the whole tenor of North American thinking about international economic policy," he added.

"I believe it requires that North America now replace Europe as the dynamic centre and chief support of the world trade structure."

Mr. Gordon said currency devaluation, while intended to bring prices in dollar and non-dollar countries more into line, was not the cure-all for fundamental ills.

"It does not guarantee there will be increased exports by those who ought to increase their exports," he said.

Expect UK To Cut Canadian Orders

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP)—Two federal deputy ministers Monday arrived back from a London conference with United Kingdom government officials. There were indications they had obtained a "fairly good" picture of what Britain will buy from Canada next year.

However, the deputy ministers —Max Mackenzie of the Trade Department, and J. G. Taggart of Agriculture—said they could not make any comment on their overseas negotiations prior to reporting to the government.

Without official confirmation, the 1950 Anglo-Canadian trade picture appeared to shape up this way:

The U.K. will purchase smaller quantities of Canadian bacon, eggs, newsprint and lumber, but will continue to buy large amounts of non-ferrous meals and cheese.

director of civil aviation in Bolivia.

The C.A.A. gave this account of the actual crash:

The Bolivian was on a test flight from National Airport. As he came back toward the field he asked for landing instructions and was advised by the tower that he was second to come down, behind the airline flight.

Doesn't Acknowledge

The tower ordered Bridoux to circle the field so as to come in behind the commerical ship.

He did not acknowledge the call, which the control tower repeated several times.

Tower observers saw him coming straight in and called to him to pull up. There was no indication that he heard or understood the order.

Bolivian embassy officials said he was their country's best pilot who had been trained in various United States schools. He was 28.

Officials said he had originally planned to leave with the plane two or three days ago but had delayed his departure in order to make further tests of the plane.

Winters Outlines Housing Plan, Ignores Rents

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Winters on Monday placed the government's new housing program before the Commons.

However, he said he was unable to state whether domestic rent controls will be extended beyond March 31 1950.

Mr. Winters, pressed for a statement by Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton), said he is in no position to enunciate government policy on the rent controls that will automatically expire unless new legislation is passed.

Mr. Fleming the official opposition's housing critic, said the program could not be discussed properly unless members knew government policy on controls. If the controls were to be handed to the provinces, the provincial governments should be given plenty of warning.

The housing legislation was advanced through preliminary stages—a resolution was adopted and the bill on which it was based was introduced and given first reading.

However, opposition members said they did not believe the legislation goes far enough.

Cut Down Payments

Mr. Winters said the legislation is aimed at reducing down payments on new homes and at opening the way for Federal-Provincial-municipal co-operation in the housing field.

The government plans to amend the National Housing Act to reduce approximately by half, the down payment required of prospective home owners.

Under existing legislation, the professional builder of homes, is able to borrow up to $8,500 on the houses. The down payment required of the buyers of the homes vary according to the value of the houses.

Under the new legislation, the builders still will be abe to borrow a mixmum of $8,500 on a new home. However, the buyer can obtain one-sixth of the amount loaned to the builder. Using the maximum figure that would amount to approximately $1,400.

On a $9,000 house for instance, the down payment could be as low as $1,500, about half the amount required under present NHA provisions.

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Winters' sober statement did not promise a "new heaven and a new earth" as had government supporters during the general federal election. The government's legislation would have to be more far reaching than anything in Mr. Winters' statement to fill even a fraction of the election promises.

Provinces Uncertain

In the Commons' Housing debate, Mr. Winters said:

"We have no knowledge of the extent to which provincial governments will participate in arrangements contemplated by the legislation.

"It may well be that certain provinces will feel that the type of assistance proposed is neither necessary nor desirable for that province.

"We have already had indication from some provinces that the contemplated arrangement is a suitable basis for joint co-operation. There is no room for the suggestion that the proposed enabling legislation is binding upon the provinces unless they wish to take advantage of it with respect to specific projects."

Although financial participation by the municipalities may not be necessary, their full co-operation will be sought.

Mr. Fleming criticized the government's past efforts in the housing field and said the years 1945-1949, inclusive, were "wasted years" as far as housing was concerned.

In 1946 a Cabinet Minister — he did not name him—had stated that the housing crisis had passed But Mr. Winters had said Sept. 21, in announcing his new housing policy, that present construction was barely taking care of current needs and was making no inroads into a serious backlog.

MP's Establish 14-Man Group On Atom Energy

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 — (CP) — Canadians today have a new information link with the secrecy-cloaked atomic research being carried on in this country.

New source of information is a 14-man Commons committee on Atomic Energy established Monday.

The Commons approved establishment of the committee after port that Canadian scientists are playing an important part in the drive for commercial use of atomic energy.

Mr. Howe didn't indicate when he thought atomic energy would be available for commercial use as a source of power.

He did say that Canadian scientists at Chalk River, 125 miles northwest of Ottawa, are tackling one of the biggest jobs—to determine the effects of radiation on materials such as those which would be needed to construct an atomic power plant.

"I might say that the materials that are used in ordinary construction cannot be used for the most part in handling radioactive material since they absorb radioactivity," Mr. Howe said. "Hence a whole technology of new materials must be worked out as we adapt atomic energy for commercial use."

Access To Documents

The job of the new Commons committee hasn't been clearly outlined beyond the fact that it will have access to all non-secret documents relating to atomic research in Canada.

In a debate on the motion to set up the committee, members offered suggestions on the scope of the body.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader suggested that there "are a good many places where uranium oxide could be produced in greater quantity." He said if uranium—chief source of atomic energy—isn't being produced in the greatest quantities possible, parliament should know why.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said he hoped Canada's committee would not follow the "witch-hunting" tactics of its American counterpart.

Mr. Coldwell said the benefits of atomic energy should not be restricted by national borders.

Canada he said, should insist that a world system of complete inspection under the United Nations be brought into operation.

Chief issue in the hotly-contested campaign was the Charitable Gifts Act passed at the last session of the legislature. It requires charitable foundations—such as the Atkinson foundation which owns the Toronto Daily Star and the Star Weekly—to dispose of all but 10 per cent of their interest in any business within seven years.

Liberal speakers, including Mr. Oliver and several members of parliament, accused the government of trying to legislate the Star out of existence. Premier Frost,, who spoke on behalf of Mr. Reynolds, denied the accusation and said that the Act is designed "to make sure that the taxpayers' money really goes to charity."

The by-election was made necessary by the death during the last session of the legislature of W. B. Reynolds, Progressive Conservative and a second cousin of Monday's winner. W. B. Reynolds first won the seat for the Conservatives in 1937 and held it until his death early this year in Toronto.

The contest Monday saw 1,456 more votes cast than in the Ontario general election of 1948, when W. B. Reynolds polled 9,018 votes, Mr. Miller 6,413 and a C.C.F. candidate, William J. Miller, 1,932.

The Progressive Conservatives now hold 53 seats in the 90-seat legislature. There are 21 C.C.F. members, 13 Liberals, two Labor-Progressives and one Liberal-Labor.

a big rambling house, suggestive of the manor type of country residence. The location generally is easterly from the Bailieboro stretch of the Peterborough-Port Hope highway.

The domestic tragedy in the Kilbon home was first made known in a telephone call by Mr. Kilbon to Charles Barnard, who lives across the road from the Kilbon farm which they had been working on a share basis.

It was reported that Kilbon asked Mr. Barnard "to come down right away."

to Fred Perrin's place, next to Kilbon's, and the two men returned to it together. Mr. Barnard telephoned to Dr. H. A. Russell at Bailieboro. Provincial police at Peterborough and Cobourg were notified.

Sitting at Kitchen Table

It was said that Mrs. Kilbon was sitting in a natural position in a wooden arm chair at the kitchen table. Her dark hair, turning gray, was uncombed. There was a .22 rifle on the table. Its wooden stock was on the floor. There was no immediate explanation of that circumstance.

On the table in the living room there was a layout of cards in what is known as solitaire or patience was as some one had left it apparently unfinished. Prominent in the magazine rack was Dr. Rabbi J. L. Liebman's book "Peace of Mind."

A copy of the Peterborough Examiner was noticed in the kitchen with several magazines, a bowl of sugar and glass nearby.

Ready To Leave

A man's coat and hat were on the back seat of the Kilbon car, near the house a woman's coat had been placed over the upright of the seat, with gloves on the seat, and a handbag was on the floor. An open suitcase was seen on the floor of a bedroom, and across it was a woman's jacket.

These mute evidences created an impression of a man and woman about to set out on some trip by car. Two weeks ago Mr. Kilbon had told a neighbor Mrs. Kilbon had made arrangements to go to Whitby. She appeared to be afflicted with some ailment causing her arms and hands to shake. It might have been a sign of some nervous disorder.

Books and magazines in the living room and elsewhere in the home suggested occupants of literary tastes. It had been recently equipped with wiring for a new electric stove and refrigerator. The domestic atmosphere appeared to be of thoughtful living, and in comfortable home surroundings.

The death of Mrs. Kilbon and the shocking circumstances as explained by her husband cast a gloom among their neighbors of South Monaghan and down to Bewdley.

Very Fond of Wife

One Lakefield resident who knew Mr. Kilbon very well said that he was "very very fond of his wife." She suffered a serious nervous disorder when they lived in Lakefield and as a result did not go out very much. "She simply could not stand to meet people." This necessitated his spending practically all of his spare time with her and as this nervous condition increased during the past three years he has become practically her constant companion.

Mr. Kilbon came to Lakefield in 1936 as superintendent of the American Nepheline Company and remained with that firm until three years ago when Ventures Limited took over.

He always wanted to be a farmer and when he retired from the Lakefield Company he purchased a 200-acre farm on the shores of Rice Lake about two miles east of Bailieboro. Since then Mr. Kilbon and his neighbor Charles Barnard have been working it on shares

Wrote To Examiner

Since taking up farming in Bailieboro, Kilbon has frequently written letters to the Examiner on farming and morals. His last letter was printed in the Examiner two and a half weeks ago (October 12) under the heading "Thou Shalt and Thou Shalt Not." In this letter Kilbon asked "Why should followers of Christ have so much Moses in their religious behaviour?" and said:

"When we consider Moses carefully . . . we find that he was condemned to death without entering the promised land, because of the error of his people. This seems a bit like misplaced justice until we consider that it was the man-made latitude of the 'Thou shalt not's' which he instituted which was in a great measure responsible for their error, and which carries much of the weight of our faltering existence."

In earlier letters Kilbon expressed his belief that many of our Canadian ways are in error.

Back To Adam's Sin

In his latest letter he says that people put too much emphasis on the Mosaic "Thou shalt not's" and not enough on Christ's "two fundamental 'Thou shalt's' of the Golden Rule."

"It seems to me in my search for a way of advancement in our relationships to the purpose of God, that we will have to go away back to the 'sin' of Adam. In plain English this sets forth that man is given the full power of reason which is to be used in all things except the interpretation of good and evil."

the UEW example of withholding the per capita tax to the CIO.

Fitzgerald said that at a meeting with Murray and other CIO leaders on Sunday the NEW was given "plainly to understand that the main business of the CIO convention would be a red-baiting spree for the gratification of the anti-labor commercial press and the politicians to whom the CIO now subordinates itself."

"This can benefit no one but the employers," Fitzgerald said.

Fitzgerald said that the dues would be withheld "until such time as the CIO returns to the dustrial unionism."

The action came as the CIO set up machinery for firing pro-Communist officers and unions as part of its purge program.

The CIO convention also paved the way for boosting the per capita tax on the 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 members of the CIO from a temporary eight cents a month to a permanent dime. That would help make up the financial loss if the three to a dozen left-wing unions facing removal actually are tossed out at this week's convention.

C.I.O. President Philip Murray left little doubt that was his intention at the convention's opening session Monday. He said the C.I.O. would "cleanse" itself at this convention of left-wing elements adhering to Communist policy.

The big fight over ouster could erupt today or tomorrow on the convention floor.

Help With Costs

The financial increase was proposed by the Constitution Committee and was directly connected with the left-right war because it would help bear the cost of fighting to recapture the rank-and-file membership of the ousted unions as well as offset the loss.

In addition to that proposal, the committee proposed that the CIO convention be amended to make a Communist, Fascist, or member of any totalitarian movement ineligible for membership on the CIO's 51-member policy-making executive board.

The board, in turn, would be empowered to remove any such member, and to boot out any union whose "policies and activities are consistently directed toward the achievement of the program or the purposes of the Communist party, any Fascist organization, or other totalitarian movement, rather than the objectives and policies set forth in the constitution of the CIO."

The right-wing majority has been principally irked because the left-wingers refused to follow CIO political endorsements in the 1948 presidential elections and tried to undermine the CIO's support of the Marshall Plan and the Atlantic Pact.

Ford To Operate To November 15

WINDSOR, Nov. 1 (CP)—Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited announced today that continued operation of its Windsor automobile manufacturing plants will continue until "at least the middle of November and possibly longer."

In a statement, Robert S. Bridge, vice-president for manufacturing, said "we will keep the plant going and our employees on the job just as long as we possibly can."

Ford, largest of Windsor's three automobile plants, employs more than 11,000 men, members of United Automobile Workers (CIO).

Ford's statement came just 24 hours after the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited, second largest auto plant here, announced reduced production "as a result of lack of steel" beginning next Monday and the complete discontinuance of "all passenger car production" by Nov. 23. The Chrysler order affects approximately 2,500 of the plants some 4,000 men.

The third Windsor plant, General Motors of Canada has made no statement of reduced production as a result of the United States lingering steel strike.

Hold Up Driver 2 Youths Nabbed

ASHTON, Ont., Nov. 1—(CP) Two youths were arrested near here Monday night and charged with robbery with violence following a highway hold-up.

Police identified the youths as Howard Morissette, 20, of Hull, Que., and Robert Evans 19, of no fixed abode. They were apprehended less than a mile from the spot where H. W. Stanzel, of Smiths Falls, Ont., was held up, and his automobile and $100 in cash taken from him.

Stanzel was homeward bound in his automobile from Ottawa and of the capital when two youths stopped his car.

One of the pair pulled a revolver and forced the motorist to drive down a side road. There he was struck over the head with the butt of the weapon and pushed out of the auto. The gunmen made off in the car but overturned it in a ditch.

Morissette and Evans were on foot when arrested. Police said they found a revolver and about $100 in cash in their possession.

Council Unaware Who Owns Front Street Lot

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 1 — (ENS)—Who owns the old parking lot on Front street? This was the question that puzzled the Councillors and town solicitor at the council meeting Monday night.

It appears that the lot was sold to the Campbellford Building and Supply Co. under the signature of J. E. Ayrhart for $2,600 cash. The bylaw stated that Mr. Ayr[illegible] costing not less than $30,000 within a specified time before the corporation would give him the deed. The time limit has expired and a hole in the ground with a fence around it was the sum total of Mr. Ayrhart's efforts.

Since the time of sale, the Campbellford Building and Supply Co. has ceased to function, so the question arises: who owns the property—the corporation, Mr. Ayrhart, or a Mr. X?

At present Messrs. Harrison and Hooper are said to be in the market for the lot but with whom are they to negotiate.

The town solicitor was instructed to find out the legitimate owner of the lot, the proper course to pursue regarding the sale of the lot and to report his findings at a future meeting of the Council.

A communication from the Department of Municipal Affairs was read regarding the right of Mr. and Mrs. Latimer to connect their property to the sewer on Raglan street without paying a frontage tax. The letter stated that no frontage tax could be levied but if the Council so desired a connecting charge could be made.

A resolution by Councillor MacMillan that Mr. Latimer be permitted to connect to Raglan street sewer and that he pay a connecting charge of $25 was defeated.

To Charge $5.

Arguing that $25 was exhorbitant, Councillor Maier moved that a nominal $5. be the connecting charge. Seconded by Councillor Nicholas, the resolution carried.

Those supporting the resolution were Mayor Donald, Reeve Anderson, Deputy Reeve Ralph Locke and Councillors Nicholas, Maier and Davidson. Those opposing it were Councillors Kelly, Wilson and MacMillan.

The auditors reported that duplicate receipts should be used by the tax collector when receiving tax payments. The treasurer and tax collector were authorized to take the matter up with the auditors and report their findings at a future council meeting.

The scrap iron in the town storehouse was sold to Frank Brown at $20 per ton.

A resolution that the town go back to Standard Time on Nov. 27 at 12:01 a.m was carried.

The auditor reported that the treasurer's books were properly kept and showed a true and correct statement of affairs.

Resigns Court of Revision Says Assessments Unfair

COBOURG, Nov. 1 (ENS) — Councillor William Cooper said Monday that had he known council was going to embark this year on so much expenditure, he would not have stood as a candidate. He made the declaration when council was discussing the sewage disposal plant.

The $470,000 plant was forced on the people without giving them a chance to vote, he said and declared that the new assessment of the town was so unfair that he could no longer sit on the Court of Revision. His resignation from the Court was accepted by the council.

Councillor Cooper's remarks followed a statement on town finances by Mayor Joe Smith, who upheld the sewage disposal plant as something which had been contracted by the 1946 Council as a consequence of a mandatory order from the Ontario Department of Health. The Mayor said the new assessment was based on the most modern and approved system of assessing and was something which was long overdue.

"It is all too much money. We are being mortgaged for years to come. Why was this sewage disposal plant pushed through in 1946. There are people in this council who don't own a cent and could move out tomorrow and we would be stuck with the debt," Councillor Cooper declared.

Earlier at the meeting council passed a bylaw establishing a sewage rental rate to cover $338,000 of the sewage disposal system. This would be in the form of a 50 per cent addition to the water rates and every householder, commercial institution and industrial plant would be paying on the water bill. This would be applied against the sewage disposal plant costs.

Plant Defended.

Councillor Harvey Brent defended the move to build a sewage disposal plant instead of dumping raw sewage into the creek and thence into the lake.

"We would have lost the CGE plant here and spoiled our future chances of getting any other factory. Do you want the town to stay at 5,000 people forever?" Councillor Brent asked Councillor Cooper.

"In the past the story has always been, why don't we get new industries," declared Reeve Roy Dodge." Along comes the C. G. E. Now I could have said to them, it will cost us too much money to have your factory come to Cobourg. Dr. Barry (Ont. Dept of Health) said to us that he was glad to hear we were going to have a sewage disposal plant as we couldn't dump any more industrial sewage into the lake."

"Why didn't you take it to the people to decide?" demanded Councillor Cooper.

Reeve Dodge explained that time would not permit the delay and furthermore, there was the mandatory order from the Dept. of Health.

"That is not true," retorted Councillor Cooper.

"All the years I have sat in council I have never uttered an untruth," Reeve Dodge replied with heat.

"Are not 276 people on the C. G. E. payroll here worth considering? Do you realize what it means in money spent among our local merchants?" asked the Mayor.

"This sewage disposal plant is nothing but a subsidy to the C. G. E." asserted Councillor Cooper.

"It definitely is not," replied the Mayor.

The Examiner was informed after the meeting that the C.G.E payroll in Cobourg amounts to around $400,000, in addition there is the money spent by the company for Utilities such as water and light as well as taxes.

Bank Believes Food Problem Can Be Solved

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

In agriculture, as in many other things, Canada continues to fare rather better than might have been expected in these days of post-war adjustment.

Nevertheless, world agriculture problems are developing, and are of immediate concern to Canadians, who depend for much of their living on the sale abroad of farm products.

Again, as in the past there is a tendency towards food surpluses in some places, while millions elsewhere have not enough to eat.

The question is: How can the hungry attain, or be helped to attain, a position wherein they can afford to buy the food which more fortunate countries have to sell?

It is part of the great trade problem of the world—the breaking down of barriers which keep people from exchanging their goods with one another.

(In one aspect, it is sometimes called the dollar problem).

The current Monthly Review of the Bank of Nova Scotia makes a thoughtful study of the situation.

Can Be Solved

It concludes:

"Though agriculture is facing real problems, there is no reason to believe they are incapable of solution. The need for food is great and is likely to continue so in the foreseeable future.

The difficulty is to translate that need into effective demand and particularly into effective dollar demand. . . .

"The task ahead is to achieve a reasonable adjustment which will facilitate a healthy flow of international trade on which the prosperity of agriculture so greatly depends."

The review states, however:

"Though the Food and Agriculture Organization (F.A.O.) estimates that import requirements are still large enough to prevent the accumulation of burdensome grain surpluses in the exporting countries, it is clear that the strength of world demand for food has diminished . . . .

"Recent prices for primary foodstuffs have been arrived at under conditions of scarcity which now are abating. The terms of trade for food producers are probably more favorable than can be sustained."

Perfect Crib

ROSENEATH, Nov. 1 (ENS). —Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ball, Roseneath, were playing cribbage in their home. Mrs. Ball had the count of 29. She held three fives and the Jack of Diamonds, and the five of diamonds turned up.

This count—a perfect hand—is so rare as to be astounding.

Hastings Landmark Moved From Corner

ROSENEATH, Nov. 1 (ENS) — One of the landmarks of Roseneath village, a one-storey frame structure known as the Millinery Shop, has been purchased by Mr. Norman Forman and moved to his property. It had served as a tailor shop, a dentist's office and was used last as a millinery shop. The corner where it was situated on Highway 45 was known as the Millinery Shop Corner.

Horses Found Running At Large On Highways

Farmers who let their horses run at large may find themselves up against the law, Peterborough headquarters of the provincial police said today. They have been called out on a number of occasions recently when horses have been reported on the highways.

Prosecutions have been avoided so far, but the provincial police warn that proceedings will be taken if horses are not kept from running loose on the highways.

Young Mother Shot

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Nov. 1 (AP)—A young mother, remarried to her divorced husband only a few hours earlier, was shot and killed in the kitchen of her home Monday night by a rejected suitor, who then took his own life. Prosecutor Dana E. Harper said Mrs. Winona B. Medley, 24, was slain by Ted Bishop, about 40, in the presence of the woman's four-year-old son.

Parking Meter Referendum Not To Be Held

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 1 — (ENS)—The question of the parking meters caused a short but lively discussion at the regular meeting of the council on Monday.

Reeve J. C. Anderson moved that a bylaw be prepared and ballots printed to give the electors a chance to express themselves on whether or not the meters should be removed at the end of the year's trial period. He wanted the vote to take place on the same day as the municipal election, but his proposal was defeated, when the mayor cast the deciding vote.

Reeve Anderson supported the motion by declaring that an expression of opinion by the electors would clarify matters and such a vote had been held in other towns.

"We don't have to follow what is done in other places," said Councillor MacMillan. "One business man doesn't run his affairs the same as his competitor."

Councillor Maier called the resolution vicious. "The 1950 council," he said, "would be well enough informed by the direction of public opinion to make the proper choice."

"A vote should not be held for at least 10 months after the installation of the meters" Councillor Wilson asserted. "Then the electors would be in a position to vote on the question intelligently," he added.

"The meters have to stay one year. Why the vote?" asked Councillor Kelly.

Councillor Maier said that the vote should exclude the farmers who, no doubt, are entitled to an expression of opinion as well as the local citizens.

The question was put by the Mayor and the voting resulted in a tie.

"As much as I would like an expression of opinion by the people in this matter, I feel that a vote now is premature. Therefore, I vote against the resolution," said Mayor Donald.

History Is Being Made At Ottawa

Parliament usually deals with matters so contemporaneous that its acts are as fleetingly remembered as are the events which gave rise to them. Only rarely does it have occasion to consider and enact on a matter of perennial significance. Only rarely can a Parliament know that a single action which it takes will command a line in the nation's recorded history. The resolution adopted by the House of Commons last Thursday was such a historic action. The House agreed to petition the King that the British North America Act (which embodies Canada's formal constitution) be amended to allow henceforth the Canadian Parliament to alter the Canadian Constitution without recourse to the British Parliament, and in all Federal matters excepting only the statutory duration of Parliament and language rights. The debate on the resolution was on a high plane and the members were conscious of the historic step Parliament was taking.

What the House of Commons has done is virtually to enact legislation which will give Canada control of its own Constitution. It has not passed a Bill, which is the normal procedure, because the matter is at present outside the Canadian Parliament's power to deal with directly. The British North America Act was passed by the British Parliament; therefore only the British Parliament can change it. The Canadian House has officially requested, through an address to the King, the British Parliament to amend the B.N.A. Act so that the Canadian Parliament will have the power to make all subsequent amendments—with one general and two specific exceptions.

These exceptions are not as limiting as they seem. The general exception is implied through the wording of the Address: that the Federal Government have power to make B.N.A. Act alterations in Federal matters only. It can be argued that this is no exception at all, and we propose to discuss the specific point later this week. The two definite exceptions—the statutory duration of Parliament and the language rights — are matters on which all parties and all legislatures across the country are in agreement, and it seems therefore that a way soon may be found to entrench these guarantees in purely Canada legislation.

That these two exceptions have specifically been made calls for comment. The first, that the Canadian Parliament shall not have the right to extend its own life beyond five years, was a C.C.F. amendment ably proposed by Mr. Stanley Knowles of Winnipeg. It was not included in the Government's original statement of the Address, but the Government accepted it (with the provision that in time of war a Parliament could lengthen its life with the consent of two-thirds of the members). It is an earnest of the government's desire to deal with this constitutional issue without petty party politics that it adopted an opposition party's amendment. The second exception, which limited the Federal Parliament's power to alter the constitution in language matters, should still any French-Canadian doubts that the French language will not be safeguarded. It is remarkable that this provision was made by a parliamentary party which has more English-speaking members in it than French-speaking.

Birthdays With Pay

We are interested in a contract which the employees of a packing firm in Ohio have negotiated with their management, after a strike; in addition to other benefits, and seven paid public holidays a year, the workers are to get a paid holiday on their various birthdays.

This opens up a whole new field of labour negotiation. If a worker establishes a right to a paid holiday on his birthday, he may surely go farther and, as the Financial Post suggests, demand a paid holiday on his wedding anniversary. From this it is a short step to a holiday on his wife's birthday, and when that has been secured, it is a matter of the most obvious and elementary justice that he should have a paid holiday on the birthdays of each of his children.

The whole matter of paid holidays deserves the most careful reconsideration. If the Ohio plan were carried through to a logical conclusion the number of holidays with pay might be made to equal the days of work with pay—an obviously equal and satisfactory division.

Palace Or Home For The P.M.?

Now that our Prime Ministers are to have an official house of their own, there is concern about the kind of place it is going to be. The site has been bought, and on that site stands a big and stately old house. The authorities have the alternatives of remodelling the house, or of razing it and putting up a [illegible] the experts are reckoning on $750,000 as the cost of renovating the place. The price seems to be high, even in these days of high building costs, and we think that either the report is exaggerated or that the experts are day-dreaming of having a free hand with gold-block paving of Prime Ministerial corridors.

Remodelling of a house or the building of a new one at the cost of three-quarters of a million dollars must lead to a deplorable result: a state house as inhuman as a museum, as austere as a Buckingham Palace, as pretentious as a billionaire American's estate. Such a house would be out of keeping with Canadian sentiment and character, and, we feel, no place for a Price Minister and his family ever to call 'home.'

The official residence of the Prime Minister should be a mansion in the sense of being dignified and spacious; it should also be a mansion in the simple meaning of a place where one remains or dwells. There should be room in it and the fitting atmosphere, for official receptions; there should also be room and the air for its occupants to feel at home.

It seems that Mr. St. Laurent is having little to do with this building or rebuilding of his official house. The experts and some of his colleagues are taking on the job. As the Ottawa Journal suggests, nobody is so well equipped to say what sort of residence a Prime Minister should have as Mr. St. Laurent, except Mr. Mackenzie King. We think that their voices should not be modestly stilled in this matter.

Lights For Christmas

Mr. Robert Saunders, Chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission dangled a hope before Ontario eyes, now in the twilight of power-reductions, that water supplies might be sufficient to allow a relaxation of the lighting restrictions in time for Christmas. It would be a bright gesture of appeasement which the people of the province would appreciate, for of all times in the year the Christmas season seems especially to call for the gaiety which outdoor and window lighting gives.

Even if Ontario generally is not permitted the outdoor lighting, why should Peterborough not venture to use its own water-power and light Christmas trees in the parks, and dots its home lawns and windows with lights? If the Toronto headquarters do not see fit to relax the ban, cannot Peterborough's own Utilities Commissioners take the local switches into their own hands and allow us light at Christmastide? They are men of good will and would not, we are sure, withhold the good cheer of a bright festive season if the civic desire is that Peterborough should have a brighter Christmas than last year.

Britain Also Aids

For the last several years there has been much talk of aid to Britain, and very substantial help in money and goods has gone eastward across the Atlantic. So severe has Britain's plight been, and so great the American and even Canadian aid that we on this continent tend to forget that Britain is a giver as well as a receiver. Since the war the United Kingdom has aided other countries—chiefly European—with gifts, loans of cash, goods and services to the extent of 950 million pounds—approximately three billion dollars. That is more than a widow's mite even when compared with Marshall Plan dollars. It is a heartening indication of strength as well as magnanimity that of her depleted resources Britain has shared so much.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The office cynic says that many women knit in order to give them something to think about while they're talking.

The Nigerian soccer team visiting England plays bare-footed and beats all comers. We should like to see a Nigerian team apply this technique to hockey.

It is difficult to decide who had the brighter wits: the Hallowe'en marauders who tipped all the garbage cans on Charlotte street yesterday evening and broadcast their contents over sidewalk and road, or the merchants who invitingly put the cans out at six when they shut up shop.

Youth In Scarlet

By IVOR BROWN

ON a golden day of October I was a visitor at St. Andrews (Scotland) in its University term-time. I had been before to that temple of erudition beside the sacred turf, but never when the scarlet gowns of the students were swinging through the broad grey boulevards of the noble town, their grey then mellow in the autumn glory above the blue of the calm sea and the long, green glory of the links.

seemed to be worn proudly and with delight, and not as duty's melancholy weeds. While they incarnadined the streets, making the grey part red, they proclaimed the joy and joviality of scholarships. How dull and dingy after this seemed the fuscous shoulder-wear of other Academes! The black gown appears only to mix learning with mourning. At St. Andrews there is no such glumness in the air. Youth goes to lectures with a carnival look, though not, I surmise, always feeling that way. At any rate books and wisdom are richly blazoned to the eye as things to be relished. And was I wrong in thinking that this is a happier University than most?

WHEN I visit scholastic places in these days I feel, inevitably, a bleakness and an absence of the exultation proper to such kingdoms of opportunity. I feel none of the bliss with which I, as a freshman at Oxford, trod the High Street and sniffed the misty, midland air. Re-reading Compton Mackenzie's "Sinister Street", now happily once more available, I was back in that old world, unconscripted, unrationed, uncaring, where youth was the opening of enchanted gates and not the drab prelude to a treadmill life and a possibly explosive end.

When I, like many another, wrote a tyro's amateurish book about my little past, at least it was a happily innocent and bleating thing, and not a scolding, grizzling protest against being alive at all. Amateurish is doubly correct, for an amateur is a lover. I called it "Years of Plenty". The title would only raise a bitter laugh today—except, perhaps, among those scarlet-flaunters on the banks of Eden. (Even the river's name is right.)

THEN I happen to see some remarks made by Miss Storm Jameson, a fine writer but all at sea, to my mind, in her notions of a University. She is reported to have said that working in hotels is a desirable vacation-filler for students. It makes them "responsible adults". This teaching may be typical of our time, but I regard it as dangerous nonsense. Conscription, I am constantly told, is not making young men responsible adults; it is making them sour and cynical. Interruption of education and career does not brace; it relaxes. Whether it be for bashing squares or bashing spuds, interruption of studies menaces the scholar without creating the citizen.

If money has to be earned by a student, the necessity must be accepted. If the nation needs labour in the harvest-field, then the time must be given. But do not let us admit that there is any advantage to the student in devoting to the tools and toils of Mrs. Mop the time and trouble intended for the Muses.

THE proper period for the hard grind is the vacation. It is folly to waste on constant reading anything so bountiful as a University term. Half the year is vacation and that is the time to get the dry load of the curriculum thoroughly in hand, filling the six months vacancy, instead of gazing at it with a listless yawn or departing to irrelevant occupations.

The term has its routine of lectures and tutorials which must be faced. But it also abounds in opportunities for splendid deviation, into friendships, into the arts, into politics, sports and the countryside: into random ruminations, into gay nocturnes of undergraduate debate, into the wild, unwearied sessions of youth's philosophical palaver. To miss these in order to pore over texts is to squander the treasures of collegiate life. For many the vacations are great gulfs of loneliness after such crowded and companionable hours. The gulfs can be packed with the routine of reading: senior severity shall not fault me for inciting juniors to evade a proper application to the getting of honours and degrees.

NEEDED money may be scraped together by devoting high summer to the washing of pots or spud-bashing in hotel basements. But there is no virtue in it. To say so is merely to repeat the dreary doctrine of our time that for the sake of equality there must be general misery. As things are, the ordinary home provides plentiful domestic chores and tempts to no luxury. If the undergraduate can have his or her three or four years uninterrupted and unspoiled, so much the better. The duty of the student, I repeat, is to study and with that I bracket all adventures of the mind.

THE social changes of the time, with full educational opportunities for all, make it more urgent than ever to say these things. For thousands may now be going to the Universities lacking the knowledge of how to use their riches. In their eagerness to get on, they will fail to profit by the largesse of pleasures in learning's box and go grudging on dully, with minds as dark as their academic dress. I would like to see all Universities hunt scholarship in scarlet, nicely balancing the call of the text-book with the wide range of young imagination. "So many shapes hath fancy". So many, and so well deserving the pursuit. At the University, in residence and fellowship, the proper study of mankind is the humanities: deep reading is for the leisured loneliness of the vacation. Wise men and women fleet the term carelessly: for these are golden days.

So thought I in St. Andrews, October 1949.

Letters To The Editor

WARNS AGAINST A STRIKE

Sir: I want to voice my opinion of the new contract that is about to be drawn up by the Union demanding a 40-hour week with the same take-home pay, plus more money per hour, under the supposition that more men would be employed by the extra hour. I don't see any sense to this at all. There are hundreds of married women who are working and their husbands, also some of their children in one family, meaning 3 and 4 take home pays. Why don't the factories lay off the married women when they have their husbands working, then they would be able to give the other fellow a chance of a job? Whereas some young fellows are walking the streets and can't get a job, I think the wages the C.G.E. are paying are as good as any other factory, in some cases better. I can remember the time some years ago my husband was earning a little over $17.00 a week and I had 4 children to bring up. I was also buying my home, there was no relief, no unemployment pay, no baby bonus or anything of the kind. We had to be very careful with what we had we always got along O.K. I know times have changed and the cost of living is high but the people of this country are helped in many ways now, not like it used to be when I was bringing up my family. Some men earn as much as $70 and some more than that. If there is a strike and I hope not for the sake of the wife's and children because if won't be funny going without food, clothes, fuel etc. I hope the Union will have sense enough to see this before they take any drastic means. The higher-up's in the Union don't fee any or little difference when there is a strike. They sit pretty all the time and when my husband was earning $17.00 and a few cents he was working 54 hours. Now they are working 45 hours, more pay holidays paid for, which we never got. Won't they ever be satisfied It seems to me the more they have the more they want, and don't forget the more money you earn the more income tax you pay if you stop and figure out how much you will get out of this, it may surprise you. Certainly not enough to come out on strike for and I know what strikes are and I know what depressions mean too. The younger generation haven't tasted that proposition yet and I hope and trust they never will. Also how about the merchants. They have their problems too, and no one can expect them to carry them on trust if a strike is called. They have to pay for what they buy, pay rent etc. There is a lot tied up in a strike. The winter close upon us, the festive season around the corner, so weigh all these things in your mind and avoid a strike at all costs.

A MOTHER

WHY SHOULD THE MERCHANTS JOIN WITH THE UNION

Sir; Having received a copy of the circular letter sent out by the Merchant's Committee, Local 524, UE-CIO, may we be allowed to state our views on this matter.

The Union states that the situation in Peterborough is serious, but it does not appear that the Union is following a just line of reconciliation. Its demand is for 40-hour week with no reduction in take-home pay. Any two parties making a deal must each offer something. The Union expects the same pay for less work; why does it not promise the same production in the 40 hour week?

The Union also make issue of the CGE profits. The Union is not investing capital here—the CGE is the investor—and if their profits are excessive, then government inspection should be forthcoming if deemed necessary, which appears to be a foolish expectancy on legitimate business dealings.

Why should the Union expect us to "join with them" as solicited in the letter? The Union, if correct needs no support when the CGE is so wrong! It is doubtful if citizens generally are well enough informed to take sides.

Let us not forget that Unions should consider the amount of strength they should apply to secure an end. The not too distant strikes led by John L. Lewis came close to crippling and disabling a sound economy, and in the present case we doubt if the wage scale for CGE employees is on an unlivable level, compared with other Peterborough workers ourselves included. These demands will probably result in increased wages, but will increase the cost of living and aggravate the settled economy of the district.

Yours very truly,
KEITH E. PILKINGTON,
GEO. H. LANG,
E. J. KALLAY.

An elderly coloured woman who is one of the best-liked persons in her community, was asked:

Friend: What's your formula for making and keeping friends?

Coloured Woman: Well, there's just one daily rule to follow. I'm always mighty careful to stop and taste my words before I let them pass my teeth.

Little Woman (preening herself before a mirror in the exclusive hat shop): Don't you think this is a duck of a hat?

Hubby (with a caution born of long experience, peeking at the price tag): Yes, dear, but, please, honey, can't you find a duck with a smaller bill?

A writer had been out too late the night before, and in the wrong places. Nursing a magnificent hangover, he dived into a basement restaurant in Greenwich Village for breakfast.

"What will you have sir?" the waiter asked.

"All I want is two fried eggs and a few kind words," said the bleary-eyed writer.

Presently the waiter returned with two pale-looking eggs.

"Here are your eggs, sir," he said, "and now for the kind words: don't eat 'em."

GOOD REASON

"And now that you have had an opportunity of hearing my opinions," said a Parliamentary candidate, "you'll agree that my opponent hasn't a leg to stand on."

Satellite Town For London Ready In 1950

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Nov. 1 (CP).—Early in 1950 about 70 families will move out of congested London areas into bright new homes under the Government's long-debated Satellite Town Plan.

This is the plan by which 400,000 Londoners are to be transferred to seven satellite towns established country towns.

Its aim is not only to absorb London's surplus population, but to offer them employment in modern stores, factories and offices built within easy walking distances of their homes.

So far, only two of those scheduled for development have begun to take place — Crawley in Sussex and Harlow in Essex.

At Crawley 36 of 350 new houses have been completed, 4,000 yards of trunk sewers laid and a factory is going up in the first section of the new industrial area.

Other Projects

Harlow already has 102 of 414 projected new houses, along with much of the sewer and power installations necessary for an expanded population. Other towns to be developed on similar lines are Stevenage, Hemel Hempstead and Welwyn Garden City, Hertfordshire; Bracknell in Berkshire and Basildon in Essex.

Although the Government's New Towns Act was passed in 1946, material progress so far has been slow, largely through opposition from landowners.

Fierce opposition was raised at Stevenage, whose landowners made an unsuccessful appeal to the House of Lords.

A Ministry official pointed out that landowners now receive compensation for the land at current market rates instead of, as formerly, at 1939 values.

"That has removed much local hostility in Stevenage and other towns," he said. "In fact, many are now quite enthusiastic about the plan."

Estimated cost of each new town to the Government was originally £15,000,000 ($46,500,000); but the estimate has since been raised to £25,000,000.

Economic Assistance Helps Win Cold War

MONTREAL, Nov. 1—(CP)—The challenge to Western democracy today lies in the giving of economic assistance to Western Europe and the winning of the cold war against Communism, Lt.-Gen. Guy G. Simond, commandant of the National Defence College at Kingston, Ont., said here today.

"The fundamental clash is between our way of life and democracy as we know it as against the ideology of Communism. I do not believe it can end through compromise," the distinguished soldier told a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club of Montreal.

"It is the declared objective of Communistic leaders to destroy the democratic way of life," General Simonds said. He said the Western allies must win the cold war or face another shooting war.

"The key position is Western Europe with its strategic importance to North America and its potential. If we do not save that area, when its peoples are so friendly to us and looking to our hand, what would happen if it turned to Communism? Our prospects then would be infinitely worse."

Butter Production Up 348,000 Pounds

TORONTO, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Butter production in Ontario during September was 348,000 pounds more than in the same month last year, but the total for the first nine months of 1949 is 286,130 pounds less than in the same period last year, the dairy report of the Ontario Agriculture Department said Monday. September production was 7,363,500 pounds against 7,014,700 in September, 1948. At October 1, 1949, the total was 60,600,570 compared with 60,886,700 in the nine-month period of 1948.

Italy Does Trading In Canadian Currency

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP)—Canada Monday opened the way for a greater flow of Canadian dollars into Italy.

Finance Minister Abbott announced completion of special arrangements with that country to conduct trade in Canadian instead of American currency. The arrangements come into effect today.

This swept Italy into the sphere of sterling-area countries which have agreed to accept Canadian currency from Canadian tourists. Previously, Canadian tourists visiting Italy were limited to $150 a year in United States funds.

With Italy's willingness to accept Canadian funds, Canadians will be able to obtain permits through banks to spend any "reasonable amount" of Canadian dollars in Italy, Mr. Abbott said in a statement.

Walk Out On Cabinet De Gasperi May Go

ROME, Nov. 1 (AP)—Italy's anti-Communist Socialists walked out of Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Cabinet Monday night just as his government was facing a Communist-led general strike.

The resignation of the three Socialist cabinet members who form part of the De Gasperi coalition apparently was not connected with the strike, but it may force the resignation of the government.

The Communist-directed general confederation of labor had ordered its 5,000,000 workers to stage an eight-hour walkout protesting the death of two farmhands in clashes with police on Sunday. Thirteen others were injured.

The fighting started when police tried to evict several hundred landless peasants who were trying to settle on private farm land.

Hon. Paul Martin Believes World Body Inevitable

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 1 (CP)—A Canadian Cabinet Minister and Diplomat who attended the death of the League of Nations and the birth of the United Nations said Monday he is convinced a world organization is inevitable.

Paul Martin, Canada's Health Minister, noted that the difficulties affecting the U. N. were paralleled by those met in formation of national governments. If the U. N. were broken up, he added, another world organization would be formed.

He spoke before an informal gathering of 18 students from the University of Montreal International Relations Club, visiting U. N. headquarters.

Martin, 46, is second-in-command of the Canadian delegation headed by L. B. Pearson, External Affairs Minister. He was a member of the Canadian delegation to the last assembly of the League of Nations in Geneva in 1938. In 1946 he was a delegate to the first U. N. General Assembly in London.

Many persons have criticized the U. N. as a mere debating society, Martin said. But the fact that the countries come together to air their grievances was ample justification for the body.

Need Years Of Study To Build Pulp Plant

TORONTO, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Creation of a new pulp and paper plant in Northern Ontario took years of study and careful planning, Lands and Forests Minister Scott said Monday, discussing the progress at a number of thriving towns which, a few years ago, were "whistle stops" along the railways.

"It took 59 meetings, over a period of years, to smooth out the details of markets, locations, raw material supply, financing, transportation, housing, pollution, steam control, and other details before the new town of Marathon was born," the minister said.

Now, he said, Marathon is a flourishing community on the north shore of Lake Superior, its mill in full production for world export and its woods operations provide employment for several thousand men.

Movie Industry Affected By Television

The movie industry in the United States is already suffering from the thrust of television, S. W. Wellum of the Canadian General Electric Company of Toronto told the Rotary at their weekly meeting Monday in the Empress Hotel. He was speaking on "Television."

"Television is rapidly killing the 'B' pictures and only the better movies are making money." [illegible] theatre has almost disappeared in less than a year."

The pulp magazines have had a severe shock, and even the comic books have been forced to retrench sharply, the speaker claimed.

"Street and Smith, the oldest pulp house in the United States, has now dropped all but its quality magazines," said Mr. Wellum.

Of the television situation in the United States, Mr. Wellum explained, there are some 83 television broadcasting stations servicing some 50 or 60 million people in 48 cities. Forty-eight of the stations are connected in a network so that people across the continent can see and hear programs originating in Chicago or New York. The number of stations expected in the United States this year is 100.

Minimum exenditure for equipment for a TV station in a metropolitan area is $500,000 and it is indicated that a sum probably in excess of $50,000,000 has already been spent in the United States for the installation of TV broadcast facilities.

All Lost Money

Experience has shown, said Mr. Wellum, that the operating costs of each of these stations in their first year of operation will approximate their investment in the equipment. The four TV networks, NBC, CBS, Dumont and ABC, and 50 TV stations covered by the FCC statistics for 1948 reported aggregate revenues of $8,700,000, aggregate expenditures of $23,600,000 — for a loss of almost $15,000,000. No network, he said, was in commercial operation during the entire year of 1948, and only 17 of the 50 stations were.

"In spite of these astronomical figures there are still 348 applicants for television broadcasting licenses in the United States. Never before in history have so many men lost so much money so fast and so willingly," Mr. Wellum declared.

The public pressure on local radio stations is enormous, said Mr. Wellum, and difficult to understand. Advertisers demand this new way to sell goods.

"The size of the national investment in the United States and its rate of growth are clear examples of the pressure. It is estimated the United States public has already spent about $1,000,000,000 for sets."

Two million people are living in Canada within range of the United States television broadcasting stations. These people are largely situated in southern Ontario, and if sets were installed they could pick up signals from Kingston on the east to Windsor on the west, with the signals originating from transmitters in Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester, Erie, Cleveland and Detroit.

Toronto, he explained, is on the fringe or the secondary area from the Buffalo station. Occasionally, he added, it is possible to pick up Rochester in Toronto.

Alex Ponton, 53, a leading football strategist who coached Toronto Balmy Beach Football Club in 1930-43, died at Toronto on Monday.

Ponton, who played quarterback with the Beaches for several years before taking over coaching duties, scored the spectacular touchdown which gave them the Canadian championship over Hamilton Tigers in 1927. He was an outstanding sprinter and represented Canada in the 100 and 220-yard titles at the 1924 Olympics.

The first year he took over coaching duties, Beaches won the Dominion title. When pressure of business forced him to retire, he remained on the Beach executive.

Bernard (Big Duke) Docusen of New Orleans Monday night won a close decision from Gaby (Tiger) Ferland, Montreal, in a 10-round main bout at Montreal.

Some 4,500 paying fans witnessed the bout, contributing a gross gate of $11,527. Both fighters weighed 147 pounds. Docusen currently rates third among contenders for Ray (Sugar) Robinson's world welterweight crown.

Even though his best rounds were the ninth and 10th the the French-Canadian was badly beaten at the finish. He had red welts on both sides of the body and his left eye was bleeding badly.

An official investigating the Lester Felton-Kid Gavilan fight said Monday Felton's manager, Bert Lamb, had admitted betting on the boxing bout Oct. 21.

Felton, a Detroit boy, was given a split decision over Gavilan, the top-heavy favorite in the 10-round welterweight match. The verdict was bitterly criticized by many who saw the fight.

The ensuing furore resulted in Governor G. Mennen Williams instructing State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard to aid in an investigation.

Assistant Prosecutor John Ricca said Lamb admitted betting on his fighter. Under the law, this could be a misdemeanor. The manager also could lose his licence under Boxing Commission regulations.

Six former ring champions stood in a silent, impressive line at Paris Monday night in a ceremony commemorating Marcel Cerdan, the French middleweight who died in a plane crash last week.

The Palais Des Sports was plunged into darkness and 15,000 stood as a "brilliant spotlight shone on the ring and the Arena rang with the "Marseillaise."

Four world champions were among those in the ceremony. They were Georges Carpentier, light heavyweight; Marcel Thing, middleweight; Eugene Criqui, featherweight and Andre Routis, featherweight.

The two who were former European champions, Emile Pladner, flyweight, and Maurice Holtzer, featherweight.

Five military jumping teams, at New York to compete in the International Horse Show which opens at Madison Square Garden today, Monday were received at City Hall by Deputy Mayor John Bennett.

Four of the teams represent the armies of Canada, the Republic of Ireland, Mexico and Chile. The fifth represents a team of Carabineros, Federal Mounted Police of Chile.

At Falkirk, Scotland, the Hull Volants Monday night dropped the opening game of their European exhibition tour when Falkirk Lions shut them out 2-0.

The Quebec squad couldn't break the ice against the Lions, champions of the Scottish National Hockey League.

The Volants, of the Eastern Canada Hockey League, will be on the tour for five weeks and will play 18 games. The swing, of 10,000 miles, is the longest ever taken by a travelling hockey team. Most of the trip will be by air.

A slightly flabby Joe Louis shuffled through a four-round exhibition bout at Atlantic City Monday night, his right hand apparently on vacation at this resort.

He called on the right only twice to cool off Billy Gilliam, an ambitious Newark heavyweight. Gilliam, who weighed 214 made two attempts to ruffle the retired heavyweight champion, but the rights snapped the ideas out of his head.

Douglas Two Ahead In AHL Scoring Race

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (CP) — Les Douglas of Cleveland Barons picked up five points this week and continued to lead the American Hockey League in scoring.

Douglas was on top with 18 points, two more than Cliff Simpson of St. Louis Flyers. Ab DeMarco of Buffalo Bisons was third with 15. Crowded into the No. 4 slot with 14 points were Roy Kelly and Ken Schultz of Cleveland and Paul Gladu of St. Louis.

Douglas gave up the top spot in goal scoring to Simpson and DeMarco, each of whom had eight. Douglas still led the playmakers with 12 assists.

Softball Girls Dance In Hallowe'en Dress

BETHANY, Nov. 1 (ENS)—The girls' softball club held a Hallowe'en dance in the Town Hall on Saturday. Prizes for the lucky spot dance went to Miss Marion Lindsay and Mr. G. Heaslip.

Best dressed couple were Miss Joan Bristow and Miss Grace Bigelow; best comic gentleman, Harold White; best dressed lady, Miss Eileen Kerr; best dressed man, Earl Morton. Best comic couple, Miss Jean Hickson and Miss Margaret Shea.

The hall was decorated with black and orange streamers, witches and Jack O'Lanterns. Ruth Wilson's variety band furnished the music.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

Grapple fans will see a colorful and colored husky in the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena this Thursday night when Seelie Samara goes against towering Hi Lee. Seelie is deceptively fast and a whiz at breaking holds with spins and sudden moves that are pretty to watch. He also has a quaint habit of using his hard head as a hammer in an attempt to bash out the other guy's brains—a jolt that causes spectators' noggins to ache sympathetically. At that, Samara will have his hands well filled when he latches onto huge Hi Lee, who brushes aside low-lying clouds as he struts about. Ought to be quite a scramble. Semi-final has temperamental Angelo Cistoldi tangling with Mayes McLean, and the prelim features Joe Christie and popular Pat Flanagan.

Midland Flyers play the local Legionnaires at 8.30 tomorrow night in Civic Arena, an exhibition OHA senior "B" joust. Legion yanked out a close one in Midland a week ago, and this return tilt promises to be action-packed betwixt two strong squads. Coach Jim Ellis has his speedsters rounding into shape rapidly and they can really roll. Bill Crowley, for example, is as fast a stepper as you'll find in amateur hockey, we believe. Others on the club can turn it on, too, and they check back all the way to help out a solid defence and smart goalie. Stouffville supplies the Legion opposition Friday.

Clearing Up Rules

AHL clarifies a few puck rules. One permits a rebound shot by any of the attacking team ere completion of the play. Another permits a player (other than the goalie) to momentarily contract his fingers over the puck if he drops it immediately to the ice, with no stoppage of play. Also, a body check by a player bent over is not illegal merely because of the bent-over position, so long as both skates are flat on the ice and the player isn't touching the ice with any other part of his body, his hand or stick. And, if an attacker is beyond the red or blue line toward the opposing goal, he may reach back across the line to intercept the puck in his own neutral territory and pass to a mate in the same zone as the puck. It isn't considered offside.

Bert Hick of Lindsay writes to remind district OMHA referees, coaches and managers of the meeting Friday at 7:15 p.m., standard time, in Omemee's community hall. Instruction and information at this forum, with some rule books available. Those having rule books are asked to bring them as there'll be a checkup on rules. Also bring note-paper and pencils to jot down info gained at this session. Bert requests everyone to be on time as a fairly lengthy program is planned to start off the OMHA season in this section. It is but one of many such meetings in the province for the betterment of minor hockey.

Shop Puckists Set

CGE Shop Hockey League has its annual unveiling—if that is the word—Saturday morn in Civic Arena. They'll go there every Saturday a.m. from nine until the noon hour in four-frays, winding up the schedule early in March. Playoffs then follow. With the addition of Wire Division, there are seven squads in this robust factory circuit: Drafting No. 1, Drafting No. 2, Industrial Control, Machine Shop, Power, Toolroom and Wire. They used to play Saturdays at the Brock, but then had a long cold spell of it on outdoor cushions till the present arena got artificial ice this season. OHA players stud the teams and some swell ice scraps are served up by the CGE-ers.

And the local grid setup. St. Peter's are off to Toronto today for their return exhibition match with St. Mike's to conclude the Saints' season. No word at the moment on the next PCVS senior struggle, the Goulding crew now prepping for their COSSA playdowns with the Bay of Quinte outfit. Their season winds up later this month. Alex Londry's junior PCI-ers tangle with Oshawa Collegiate in Port Hope this week-end in a sudden-deather to settle the lakeshore title, with COSSA playdowns following. There were nine junior teams in three lakeshore sections, and it looks like PCVS will pick up the marbles. Don't let us down on that, boys.

Colts Overpower OAC Aggies By 28-6

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 1 (CP)—University of Western Ontario Colts overpowered Ontario Agricultural College Aggies, 28-6, here Saturday afternoon. Victory gave the Colts a first place tie in the Intercollegiate Intermediate football activity with Aggies.

Aggies opened the scoring when Bob Brooks kicked to the dead line for a single point. Tony Calverley scored an Aggie touchdown after a sustained drive from the Colts' 36 after Gray recovered a Western fumble.

Bob Peirio scored Colts' first touchdown after Jim Neil fumbled a kick and Bob Shelley ran the ball to the Aggies' five. Don Beatty converted. Gord Davidson also scored for Western in the first half when after he passed to Jim Carroll for a big gain to the Aggies' five, he went over on a quarterback sneak. The convert failed.

In the third quarter Andy Sokol took a pass from Davidson and went 30 yards for the score. Porter converted.

In the last quarter Peirio took a wide pitchout and scampered 15 yards into the end zone. The last touchdown came when Sokol took Davidson's pass right on the goal line and went over standing up. Sokol converted his own score.

NHL Shedding Its Glamor, Players Colorless

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The time has come when you can't tell the players without a program in the National Hockey League. And it's a pity.

There aren't many characters left in the Big Time—guys whose playing style or personality, on or off the ice, separate them from the fellows identified mainly by the big block letters on their [illegible] numbers in a "Who's that?" dither. Yes, the NHL is shedding its glamor.

The accent now is on youth with plenty of eager young players pitching onto the ice for a few feverish spurts and then tumbling back to a crowded bench for a breather. Individual play-makers, pattern-passing forward lines and rousing, rambunctious defencemen who were always good for a big cheer—Bronx or otherwise—when they stepped on the ice, are at a premium.

Think back over the last eight or nine years and our bet is that you would have a rough time counting 10 players who stood out over the rest like a beacon. We just made it and, at that, it may be on the generous side.

Program-thumbing wasn't necessary when Dit Clapper of Boston Bruins and Syl Apps of Toronto Maple Leafs took their turn on the ice. And there was the stylish Sweeney Schriner and big Babe Pratt, the swashbuckling Toronto defenceman.

The present-day clan includes the brilliant Milt Schmidt of the Bruins; Max Bentley, Toronto Leafs' Dipsey-Doodle kid from Delisle, Sask., with his careening down-the-middle rushes (even if he does steer for a corner); beetle-browed and dead-panned Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, and those two tough defencemen—Ken Reardon of Montreal Canadiens and Jack (Black Jack) Stewart of Detroit Red Wings.

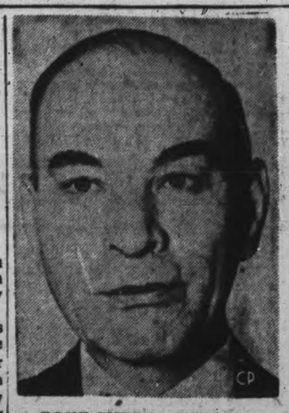
Compare This List

Back in the '20s and '30s and nudging into the '40s, you couldn't throw a peanut on the ice without hitting a character.

How about the great Howie Morenz and his breath-taking rushes . . . Eddie Shore, one of the greatest rushing defencemen in the game and a Gibraltar on defence. Remember the Bill Cook-Frank Boucher-Bun Cook forward wall with its almost-perfect pattern passing? And how about Toronto's famous Kid Line of Charlie Conacher-Joe Primeau-Harvey Jackson? As a unit they were terrific and individually; Conacher oozed color.

Recall the big "S" line of Hooley Smith and his characteristic sweep check; poison Nels Stewart setting up headquarters on the opposing blue line waiting for a pass (Gordie Drillon, a latter-day Stewart?) and Babe Siebert.

Who could miss darting Aurel Joliat, his black cap bobbing up and down as he patrolled the left boards with Canadiens. There was one of the fightingest 135-pound mites on skates.

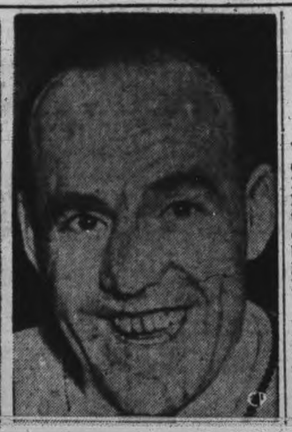


Didn't Need Numbers

No sweater numbers were needed for battle-scarred Red Dutton, Ching Johnson, Taffy Abel, Red Horner and, of course, pint-sized prancing King Clancy.

Remember Frank Nighbor, the "Pembroke Peach," one of the greatest defensive centres of all time? Frank and his rapier-like poke check went together like bacon and eggs. And Newsy Lalande never needed an introduction to fans.

Who could miss those rollicking extroverts, Amby Moran and Sprague Cleghorn, not to mention such characters as Duke Keats, Spunk Sparrow, Herb Gardiner, Mickey Mackay and many others.



Of another era there were fellows such as Cyclone Taylor, Hod Stuart, Tom Phillips, Frank McGee, Harvey Pulford, Hobey Baker, Lester and Frank Patrick, George and Howard McNarmara, the Gold-Dust Twins, and many others.

POKE-CHECK WIZARD — Frank Nighbor, the shining Ghost of Pembroke, captivated hockey fans of the mid-20s with his unparallelled use of the poke-check which made him one of hockey's greatest defensive centre-ice stars. Nighbor's name was the first to appear on both the Hart and Lady Bying trophies. Nighbor's career coincided with the last great years of the Ottawa Senators in the National Hockey League.

WHO'S THAT?—This fellow, who looks just like most of the other 11 men on the ice with him is one of the earnest, hard-working hustlers playing big-time hockey today. Few National Hockey League fans can tell you his name without looking it up in the program. You didn't need a program to pick out players like Frank Nighbor, King Clancy or any one of 25 or 30 individualists whose personality or distinctive style of play made them stand out on any hockey rink in the 20s or 30s.

BATTLING IRISHMAN — This face, autographed by the sticks of innumberable bruisers from opposing National Hockey League clubs, belongs to Francis Michael (King) Clancy, the 155-pound defenceman who never backed away from a 200-pounder in 15 years of competition with Ottawa Senators and Toronto Maple Leafs. Clancy, whose playing career ended in 1937, retired as the N. H. L.'s referee-in-chief last year to coach the new Cincinnati entry in the American Hockey League.

Doug Bentley Leads Race As Top Scorer

MONTREAL, Nov. 1 (CP). — Chicago Black Hawks' speedy Doug Bentley swept into first place in the National Hockey League scoring race during the last week when he picked up two goals and five assists in four games.

According to league statistics released today the sharp-shooting Delisle, Sask., left winger climbed from a nine-way split for the third-place to the top spot on the scoring ladder, two points ahead of the nearest scorer. In that position is teammate Metro Prystai with nine points made up of five goals and four assists. Bentley's total is three goals and eight assists for 11 points.

Third place is a six-way split among: Chicago's Bill Mosienko and Roy Conacher, Boston Bruins' Paul Ronty, Detroit Red Wings' Ted Lindsay, and Toronto Maple Leafs' Fleming Mackell and Sid Smith. All have eight points.

Goal scoring honors are shared by Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens, Harry Watson, Toronto, Prystai and Ronty, each with five markers.

In the assist department, Doug Bentley leads the way with eight.

Fisher "Bad Boy"

New York Rangers' Duncan Fisher is the "bad boy" of the circuit with 22 minutes spent in the penalty box.

Montreal's Bill Durnan continues to lead in the backstopping position, allowing only one goal a game to get by him in eight contests. Turk Broda of Toronto ranks as the next best performer with a 1.86 goals against average in seven outings. Durnan also leads in shutouts having registered two goose-eggs.

Toronto Maple Leafs took over command of first-place in the "pennant race." They have won four games, lost one and tied two in seven starts for a total of 10 points. Detroit and Canadiens follow in second place with nine. Chicago, New York, and Boston are next with six.

Down Eskimos 11-1

EDMONTON, Nov. 1 (CP) — Calgary Stampeders defeated Edmonton Eskimos 11-1 in a Western Interprovincial Football Union game Monday night that had no affect on the standings. Calgary, Dominion champions, and Saskatchewan Roughriders have already clinched the western playoff positions.

YOUTHFUL GENERAL

Hannibal, celebrated Carthaginian general, commanded his first army when he was only 18.

Foxzami Wins Melbourne Cup

MELBOURNE, Nov. 1 (AP) — Foxzami, a 16 to 1 shot ridden by Sydney jockey William Fellows, today won the Melbourne Cup, Australia's greatest horse race.

A crowd of 101,000 jammed Flemington Race Course to watch Foxzami, son of the French sire Nazami, win the two mile classic by 1½ lengths. Hoyle, at 20 to 1, finished second and Benvolo, 12 to 1, was third.

The event was worth £12,500 (about $30,000) and the four-year-old winner's share amounted to approximately £8,750. The cup first contested in 1861, commands more interest than any other sporting event in Australia.

Thirty-one thoroughbreds, representing the cream of the crop from Australia and New Zealand, went to the post.

Foxzami was timed in 3:28½ for the long grind, 7½ seconds slower than the race record.

Sullivan Leads Junior Scorers

TORONTO, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Scotty Mair, sharpshooting winger of Toronto Marlboros, is top scorer in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series with 11 goals and five assists in seven games for 16 points.

Two of Mair's teammates, Johnny McCormack and Al Buchanan, follow with 12 and 10 points respectively. Doug Gillespie of Owen Sound Mercurys holds down fourth spot with seven points.

The scoring statistics, issued on Monday, includes games of October 29.

Red Sullivan of St. Catharines Teepees is top man in the Junior series with 10 goals and 11 assists for 21 points in seven games. Jack McIntyre and Obie O'Brien, both of Teepees, are in second and third positions. The Junior statistics cover games of October 26.

Bev Bentley of Kitchener-Waterloo leads the Senior goalkeepers with an average of 2.8 goals against. Don Lockhart of Toronto Marlboros is sharpest of the Junior goalkeepers with an average of 1.17 goals against.

Campbell Argues With Suspended Hockey Player

MONTREAL, Nov. 1 (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League on Monday took sharp issue with a suspended Ontario Junior Hockey player.

The player, Eddie Crouch of Barrie, was suspended because of contract troubles with Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League.

Crouch said he signed a form in July, 1948, with Springfield but "it was just a form that looked after insurance in case of injury while training with the club."

"That's not true," Campbell snapped when asked for comment. "I have the signed document involving Crouch and the Indians right here in my office.

Insurance Separate

"Crouch signed a regular form a tryout agreement at Springfield's training camp in September, 1948. This form has nothing to do with insurance.

"Form A deals only with a player's agreement to try out at a club's training camp and the club's responsibility for paying his expenses.

Crouch may have signed another form dealing with insurance—but he definitely signed a try-out form covering the 1948-49 season and covering the Indians' training camp this year."

Campbell then went on to discuss the cases of two other amateur players suspended at the request of the NHL—Hedo Bragagnola of Stratford and Donald McLaughlin of Halifax.

Bragagnola and McLaughlin were suspended by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association because after they had signed a form C with Springfield "they refused to sign a pro contract tendered... in accordance with terms of the agreement."

"These cases are exactly like the Lewicki case," Campbell explained.

Alouettes May Withdraw From Big Four Playoffs

MONTREAL, Nov. 1 (CP) — Withdrawal by Montreal Alouettes from the Big Four Football League's championship playoffs loomed as a possibility today as the Montrealers awaited a league decision on whether they would be allowed a night playoff game here Nov. 9 against Ottawa Rough Riders.

President Leo Dandurand of the Alouettes said Monday night his club "would abandon" the two game, total point series rather than cede to Rough Riders' demand that the opening game of the series be played in daylight.

The controversy developed on Monday after Mr. Dandurand and E. K. Emerson, president of the Ottawa club, were unable to come to an agreement over fixing the time of day the Montreal home playoff game would be played.

Today at Toronto, Dr. John O'Connor, president of the league, is scheduled to conduct a telephone or telegraph vote on the proposed night game with members of the executive committee.

Subject To Approval

Rough Riders, as Big Four schedule leaders, had the right to call for the first game to be played at Montreal subject to the approval of the date by Alouettes.

Mr. Dandurand and Mr. Emerson agreed that the opening game would be played at Montreal Nov. 9 and the second game was to be at Ottawa Saturday, Nov. 12. But the two men failed to come to a complete agreement when Mr. Dandurand proposed the night contest because "we owe plenty to our fans, especially our season ticket holders. Night football is important to them because Montreal isn't a Wednesday afternoon holiday town as are Ottawa and other Ontario cities."

The Montreal president appeared angry as he next said:

"You can say definitely for me that Alouettes will drop out of the Big Four playoffs rather than accept any order from the Big Four Union to play our home game in the afternoon."

At Ottawa Monday night, president Emerson countered with:

"Montreal Alouettes will be in danger of losing their franchise in the league if they default the championship race."

He said in a statement that as a first-place club, 'we have the prerogative of choosing Saturday, Nov. 12, as the date for the second game of our home and home series with Alouettes for the Big Four championship. We also expressed preference to play a mid-week game in Montreal in the afternoon. Alouettes wish to play at night.

Crosby Keeping Keen Eye On Television

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1 (AP)—A calculating gent, Bing Crosby, despite his lethargic manner. He has been keeping a keen eye on television.

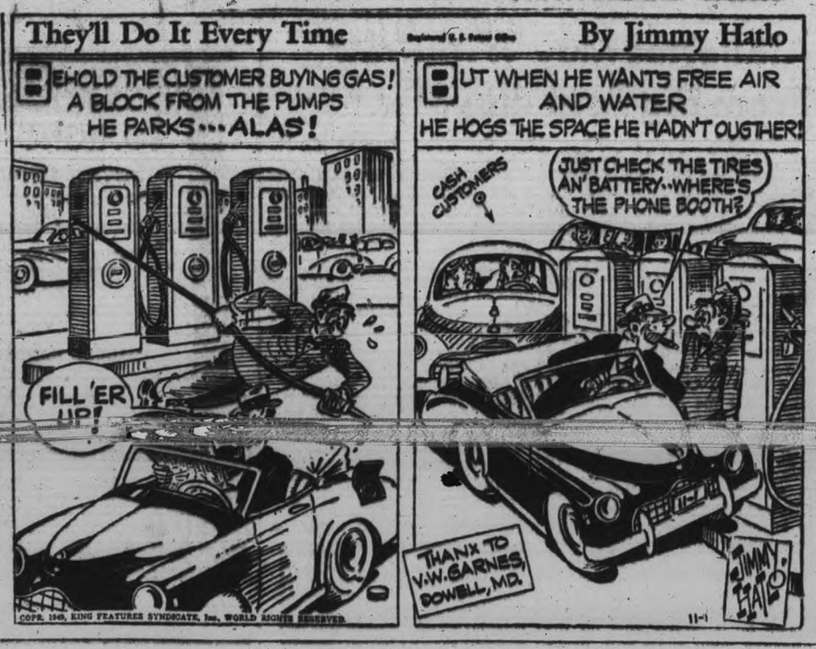
The groaner revealed that he watches all the bigtime TV shows, looking to the future and his own debut into the medium.

[illegible] his show will be filmed so that it can be edited. However, his TV debut is at least a year in the future, maybe longer.

Tuesday Topics

George Montgomery, famed for his hobby of making furniture pieces, is now making houses to go around them. He has designed a couple of houses, which he'll build after he finishes "The Iroquois Trail." He discloses that wife Dinah Shore has taken up painting. Which just about makes the Montgomery's a housing industry.

The Legion of Decency's condemnation of the new Bette Davis film, "Beyond The Forest," surprised Hollywood. It is the only major United States film on the condemned list, now that "The Outlaw" has been re-classified "objectionable in part."



Shelly Winters is buying a house, her first in Hollywood. "Now maybe I can get a husband," remarks the remarkable Shelley.

Odd Bits

Esther Williams not only swims in "Duchess of Idaho" but also ice skates, skis, fishes for trout, skeet shoots, golfs, bowls and square dances. Acts, too.

George Stevens is planning "Mr. and Mrs. Anonymous," a story of two people who meet through Alcoholic Anonymous. It's strange that A.A. hasn't been treated before by Hollywood, which is on the search for problems.

Gregory Peck was asked if his sons have shown any acting leanings. "They'd better not," he said. "Feeling the way I do about juvenile actors, I'd bash their heads in."

2 Senators Back Appeal Bill

OTTAWA, Nov. 1—(CP)—Two Liberal senators, speaking Monday night in support of a government bill to abolish appeals to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, urged that the Supreme Court of Canada should not be too firmly bound by previous council decisions.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L Ontario) and Senator J. J. Kinley (L, Nova Scotia) spoke in debate on second reading of the bill. The bill already has passed the Commons.

While holding different views, both suggested some modification of the principle of "stare decisis," the rule by which courts are bound to follow previous court decisions.

Senator Roebuck felt that in future, Supreme Court judgments should follow previous Privy Council decisions only if those decisions were based on the Canadian act. In some cases, the Privy Council had based decisions on a political interpretation of the legislation.

Applies To B.C.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 1 (CP) — Kenneth Caple, British Columbia director of the CBC, said Monday night he had been told by CBC chairman A. D. Dunton that certain comments on television made by the chairman in Victoria applies to this province only. Mr. Dunton said Saturday in Victoria that only one private operator had applied for a television licence. Mr. Caple said Mr. Dunton told him he was referring only to British Columbia in that statement.

Building Quiet Room

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (CP)—The RCAF is building a room here so silent you can hear the faint humming of your own ear. Part of the air force's institute of aviation medicine, the room is across the hall from another that can be made so noisy a human being could not stay in it. The rooms will be used in studying the effect of noise in causing fatigue and other flight problems.

Gets Indefinite Term

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (CP)—Harvey Blackstock, 33, convicted habitual criminal, Monday was sentenced to an indefinite term in prison. He also was given two years and fined $300 or another three months for illegal possession of narcotics. Blackstock is the second in Toronto convicted as an habitual criminal. More than 25 convictions, mostly for breaking and entering, have been registered against Blackstock.

Bond Sales Set Record

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP)—Canada savings-bond sales still are beating 1948 bond-buying records. the Bank of Canada reported Monday night. Sales were higher by volume and by value after a heavy fortnight of selling. The campaign began Oct. 17 and closes officially Nov. 5. In the first two weeks $151,463,300 worth of bonds were sold, sharply up from $90,164,300 sold in the same period of the campaign last year.

Plan Build New Dry-Dock For Use In Port of Dublin

By MICHAEL O'MARA

DUBLIN, Nov. 1—(CP)—Work is in progress here to increase deep-water berthage and warehouse accommodation and build a new dry-dock for the port of Dublin. Authorities expect the improvements to take from five to seven years to complete. Construction has begun at one warehouse to have a storage area of about 250,000 square feet. Goods-handling equipment will include five continuous package elevators and several 3,000-pound lifts.

The new graving dock will be [illegible] with a depth of 32 feet. This will be big enough to accommodate the largest type of ship trading in the port.

Death Of A Diplomat

Ireland's first diplomatic representative abroad, Art O Briain, is dead.

A consulting engineer in London in 1918, O Briain gave up his profession to act as representative of Irish Republican interests in the United Kingdom. The Irish Republican government of 1919 confirmed him in this post, and he was Irish envoy to Britain until 1923.

Born in 1872, he was president of the London Gaelic League for 21 years. He also served as envoy to France and—like many contemporary Irish patriots — spent months inside English prisons for various political offences.

India's first diplomatic representative in Dublin, Vengalil Krishnan Krishna Menon, has presented his credentials as Ambassador. Already Indian Ambassador in London, Krishna Menon plans to fill the dual post for several months until his government appoints a full-time Dublin envoy.

Msgr. Ettore Felici, titular [illegible] Republic of Ireland by Pope Pius. The office had been vacant nearly a year since the death of Most Rev. Paschal Robinson.

Born in Segni, Italy, 68 years ago, Msgr. Felici previously served as Papal Nuncio in Santiago and Belgrade.

Drunk Driving Charge Fails

John Galvin, 181 Hazlitt Street, was found not guilty of drunk driving by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in Police Court Monday morning.

Traffic Officer Claire McGillen testified he had picked up Galvin after seeing his car weaving back and forth along Armour Road, about 10:40 p.m., October 1.

Defence counsel Alex. L. Elliott, KC, argued that Galvin's driving was not a result of drinking to excess, but of his having been beaten up only a short time before. Galvin had apparently HAMILTON, Nov. 1 (CP) — Plans to begin immediate construction of a university library building were announced Monday by Rev. George P. Gilmour, chancellor of McMaster University. Work also will begin on a student union building. To be called the Mills Memorial Library, the building will be built from funds set up by the late David B. Mills, St. Catharines-born motor industry pioneer.

Comstock's Plan To Build Duplex Store

Decision of the business firm of A. Comstock and Sons to erect a duplex store building on their George St. property, adjoining their main premises, will occupy the last vacant block of land in the central square bounded by Charlotte, King, George and Water Streets.

The contract for this work has been let to Walter Mortlock, and construction is beginning at once. The building will be of the same type of construction as that of the main Comstock building. It has a 47-foot frontage on George St. In its depth it will encroach upon part of the warehouse at the rear of the lot.

Jack Comstock did not deny a recent rumor that the R. Simpson Company intend to move their mail order office from Charlotte St. to the new store.

Remain On Charlotte St.

And therein apparently is a refuting answer to rumors that A. & P. were interested in a property on the east side of George St., north of Dalhousie St. It is understood that they are going to extend the Charlotte St. store, absorbing the adjoining Simpson Co. office when it is vacated. Presumably, A. & P. are staying on Charlotte St., where they are, but the Simpson business will be transferred to the new Comstock store.

The Comstock property, extending through from George to Water St. was acquired by the founder of the business, the late Aaron Comstock. He lived in the vicinity of the site of Canada Packers Ltd., and his land lay in the path of the Canadian Pacific Railway as it was entering Peterborough.

Sold To Railroad

The C.P.R. was completed and in operation in 1885. Mr. Comstock sold his property to the railway and invested the proceeds in the uptown 90 feet frontage on Water St., the building which was converted into a funeral home, and is now to be superseded by the new Comstock building at Rubidge and Simcoe Streets.

Mr. Aaron Comstock was assisted by his sons, William and John, and eventually as the business developed, by a third son, Manson Comstock. It has steadily expanded in its long service to the public of Peterborough, and is now carried on by the third and younger generation.

Await Payments Under Fire Act

Peterborough has not yet completed its corespondence with the provincial treasury department regarding the government's grant under the Fire Departments Act which was passed this year.

Total payments to municipalities will be about $2,300,000.

Cities of 25,000 to 70,000 population receive 15% of their fire department budget. City Clerk Outram said today that the grant will be based on the budget of last year, and the amount which this city will receive has not yet been definitely settled.

Outgoing cheques already determined amount to nearly $1,500,000.

Cities of more than 70,000 population receive 10% grants on the basis of their fire department budgets; towns with 10,000 to 25,000 get 20%, and 435 municipalities of less than 10,000 people receive 25%. In all, 487 Ontario municipalities will receive about $2,300,000 in these grants to aid in maintenance of their fire-fighting services.

Ask Government To Build Hospital In City

Peterborough should make a strong application for one of the mental hospitals which the Ontario government intends to build at a total cost of $35,000,000, Ald. Grant Miller urged at the meeting of the committee of the whole council Monday night.

"I think one of those hospitals will be allocated to some municipality in this district, and I would like to see Peterborough chosen," Ald. Miller said.

The announcement was made recently by Hon. Russell Kelley, Minister of Health.

Mayor Swanston said he had asked City Clerk Outram last Thursday to write to the Hon. H. R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests, and Peterborough's representative in the Ontario government, requesting him to try to arrange with the Minister for an appointment with a local deputation.

"I'm glad to know that this action has been taken," Ald. Miller said. "It would be of great importance to Peterborough if a 1,000-bed mental hospital was located here by the government. I understand that the staffing of such a hospital requires one member for each patient. We can imagine what that would mean to the city. There are also the number of people who would be visiting patients at week-ends and on other occasions."

Mayor Swanston said it had occurred to him that the proper approach was through the Hon. Mr. Scott. He said members of the council would be promptly informed of any reply received from Peterborough's member of the Cabinet.

Patient Found Drowned In Trent Canal

Tragedy struck Hallowe'en night as David Kidd, 38, of Manvers township, was drowned in the Trent canal after he had escaped from St. Joseph's Hospital at 10.30 p.m. clothed only in night dress and wearing no shoes.

Eight police, two firemen and three civilians combined to comb the area between the hospital and the canal from the Maria St. bridge to High bridge at McFar- [illegible] and time for the police service.

eventually found at 1.15 p.m.

Found In Water

Constable D. M. Traynor found Kidd's body standing up in the water four feet from the steep bank on the west side of the canal almost under the south side of High bridge. Kidd's head was about one foot under water. Constable Stewart Fife was close behind Traynor and together with fireman Did Vinette the three formed a human chain while Traynor reached down into the water and pulled the body out.

Kidd accidentally wounded his left arm with a shot gun blast while duck shooting Thursday. Friday his arm was amputated.

He had received the full blast in his lower left arm. In spite of the loss of blood, he walked two miles to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Challice where he was boarding.

Recognized

Kidd left the hospital from the east entrance. Just as he got out, he was recognized by a nurse Rita Murray, going on duty.

The nurse's friend George T. Clark, 331 Sherbrooke St., went after Kidd to try to persuade him to return to the hospital.

As soon as Kidd discovered he was being chased, he ran across into the Westclox grounds and then jumped a high wire fence. Clark returned to get the help of Dr. Bob Young who was there with his car. They drove around the corner into Hunter St., but Kidd had disappeared.

Sergeant Leo Murphy of the police force quickly organized a search. Constables J. F. Morrow, John Conlin, E. W. Beatty, William A. Scott, H. R. Mesley and Louis Rodreque searched the area and both sides of the canal.

Later Sergeant Murphy got two firemen, Vinette and Bill Torrance and together with Clark, Roy Pitchford, George Jackett, both of 189 Hunter St. E. and two more of his own men. Traynor and Fife they scoured the east side of Armour Hill north of Hunter St.

Street Signs All Askew After Hallowe'en

Hallowe'en was one of the quietest on record with plenty of fun and games but very little malicious damage. A number of streets throughout the city had lost their name plates by the time the sun had risen this morning and more than one bicycle was to be seen hanging from a roadside tree.

From shortly before darkness descended until after midnight teen-age pranksters besported their sense of humor by playfully distorting the general order of things in their localities.

Street signs were the main target. Some got twisted in the process of being taken down but there was little harm done.

Several streets were barricaded with parking signs, stop signs and name plates and city police were out in full force clearing the streets for motorists.

Parked at the extreme south end of Lock St. was a buggy which had mysteriously lost a wheel. McGill St. was barricaded with boards at Lock St., the Dalnousie sign was strewn across Rubidge St., there was a bicycle hanging from a post on Aberdeen Ave. and countless other distortions apparently the work of the spooks.

A group of 10 youngsters between the ages of 15 and 18 got into a little serious trouble when they proceeded to tear up a fence round the home of Max Grose, 162 Parkhill Rd. Their sense of humor had run too far and the evening's activities included a trip to city police station where they were reprimanded. Whether charges of wilful damage will be laid has not yet been decided.

Another prank which went beyond the bounds of harmless fun resulted in disorder at the office of H. B. Taylor and Son, coal merchants on Aylmer St. The glass in the front door was smashed and the office was in disorder only an hour after the proprietor had left.

The Fire Department, a usual target of the least original pranksters, was troubled only once during the evening with a false alarm. The box at Brock and Reid Sts. was pulled at 8.30 p.m. but there was no fire.

Slight Damage

John E. Lane escaped with no more serious injury than a cut over one eye and $10 damage to his car, when he ran off the road near his home at Wallace Point Sunday evening.

Council Favors Retaining Recreation Commission With Director Over Affairs

City council is unanimously in favor of retaining the Recreation Commission with a director of its affairs, Mayor Swanston told its deputation in what was virtually a resumption Monday night of the conversations a week ago. The council also wishes to review the bylaw by which the Commission was established, and probably to revise it in some particulars from the experience of the three years of its service. Mayor Swanston used the expression "to iron some of the details".

"Between now and the first into the bylaw thoroughly and have a distinct understanding as to what are the duties of the Commission," His Worship said. "There are some things we think should be clarified so as to avoid any misunderstanding in the future."

Ald. J. E. Gillespie said the council had agreed, prior to the arrival of the deputation, "that we do want the Recreation Commission, and we do want it to have a director, and to carry on as it has been doing, but we would like to go over the bylaw again, and possibly make some amendments."

Amended a Year Ago

R. J. Bolton, chairman of the Commission, recalled that the bylaw was amended about a year ago, "making clear what were our duties. Both the council and the Commission agreed and we were happy to accept the amended form. We are just wondering now what has brought this up."

Ald. Adam Sands mentioned as analogy the fact that the building bylaw was prefaced by five pages of definitions which were necessary to its understanding.

"The council wants to clarify words on which we are probably at variance," Ald. Sands said.

He raised the question as to whether the word "supervise" was defined in the recreation commission bylaw, and even the word "recreation" itself. To supervise, foster and co-ordinate recreational affairs in the city was the general wish of the council in regard to the service of the Commission.

On this point of clarification, Mr. Bolton said: "We have no objection to that, if that is all there is to it."

Ald. Dick Raine said the Commission had evidently been trying to live up to the bylaw, and were probably more acquainted with its terms than were the council. He explained that the sentiment of the council was to study the bylaw again in the light of experience, redraft it in some details that might be considered advisable and have the Commission sit in with the council and discuss it.

Expenditure of $20,000

Ald. Grant Miller said that in introducing this question recently he was actuated to a considerable extent by the factor of economy. "I am willing to string along with the Commission if their expenditure is kept within $20,000, including the $3,500 grant from the Ontario government. I think the council should set the circumference of your spending, and your job is to do the best you can in co-operation with the council because in the next five years we have to face a heavy expediture."

The recreation program was discursively mentioned, and Mr. Bolton said, as to finances, "I think the majority of the Commission would not be prepared to operate with too much money less than our budget has been. Actually, for a city like Peterborough, our program ought to be increased. If it has to be decreased, it can only be done to a point at which it would not be worth while."

Mr. Bolton said he was inclined to feel pessimistic about the outlook and particularly about the engagement of a director to succeed Jack Dane after the recent publicity which had prompted him to accept a position at Forest Hill.

The discussion ended on a note apparently of agreement that the Commission would endeavour to carry on to the end of the year as it has been doing. In the meantime the council would delve into the bylaw, and call in the Commission to discuss any amendments which might be suggested.

Mr. Bolton was accompanied by [illegible] E. McDonald and W. Langan.

UE Asks Stores To Co-operate; No Action Taken

Members of the Merchants' Committee, Local 524 UE-CIO, Monday night interviewed the executive of the Peterborough Business Men's Association to present the Union case in its present dispute with CGE.

The business men heard the three-page brief read by Alex Seppala, chairman of the Merchants' Committee, and then decided to table it pending the findings of the conciliation board.

Following are two requests made by the committee:

"Approach the CGE to ask them to observe the principles and practices of genuine collective bargaining in their negotiations with our union."

"Ask the CGE to immediately place its contract proposals before our union and bargain with us immediately to conclude a new contract, either with or without the assistance of the conciliation board."

After asking a few questions on the dispute the Business Men's executive voted to table the brief, and no further action was taken.

CCL Continues Fight Against Communist Menace

Supporters of Russia "Manoeuvred Themselves Into Positions of Authority Within Their Unions"

The Canadian Congress of Labor has and will continue to take definite action to combat the Communist menace which is attempting to spread its poison throughout the national life of Canada, A. R. Mosher, president and Pat Conroy, secretary, of the congress, recently declared.

"The time has come in the labor movement," these two leaders said "for Communist groups to be forced into an isolated position. There under the spotlight of public opinion and deprived of the shadows of decent organizations in which they now attempt to hide, there ulterior purpose will be clearly revealed."

Then declaring that in the Congress there are a few unions under Communistic leadership they pointed out that the Executive Council had found it necessary to take definite action against some of these unions. "This action has not been taken because of the political views of those affected". But it was taken, because the action of those concerned, is considered to be contrary to the interests of organized labor in general and "furthermore a menace to the nation".

"We are well aware that the vast majority of the members in the unions that are sometimes considered Communist are not themselves either members or supporters of the Communist party. We also are well aware that they are Canadians whose first loyalty is to Canada, rather than the interests of Soviet Russia; should the need for such a decision arise".

But the few who consistently place the interests of Soviet Russia above the interests of Canada have "manoeuvred themselves into a position of authority within their union" the president asserted. These have refused to accept decisions, according to Mr. Mosher, democratically made by the representatives of a very large majority of the CCL, members. "At the same time they have launched, within their own organizations and publicly, so far as they have been able to attract attention, a deliberate and vicious campaign designed to destroy all those who refuse to follow the dictates of the Communist conspiracy".

"It has long been a fundamental tactic of the Communist party that should it find itself unable to control, it will attempt to destroy. It is our firm intention that such an effort shall not succeed so far as labor in Canada as represented by our organization is concerned," they declared.

Tar In The Oven Whoof! Kitchen

If you must put a can of tar in the cookstove to warm, don't forget about it. That's the simple moral involved in this tale.

Shortly before 8 p.m. Monday night firemen answered an alarm at 491 Brioux Ave., the residence of Alden L. Neil and scene of a messy accident.

To heat the tar into a usable liquid one of the members of the family placed it in the cookstove. It not only got hot, but also exploded, knocking the door off the stove.

Today the Neils are scraping tar off the walls and ceiling of their kitchen and reflecting on the priceless value of a good memory.

Well Informed Leadership Aim of Home and School

HAVELOCK, Nov. 1 (ENS)—Keynote of the regional conference and training school of the Home and School Associations Inc. District No. 10 in Havelock town hall on Friday was the need for a better informed leadership. Information and study of the basic needs of children to enable parents to cooperate intelligently with teachers was considered the most desirable method of helping children of school age.

Mrs. E. Chambers of Peterborough, district chairman of the Home and School Associations, presided at the afternoon and evening sessions and also at the dinner in the basement of St. John's Anglican Church. Mrs. M. D. McLennan, Brantford, provincial convener for leadership and vice-president of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations, was guest speaker.

The guests were received by Mrs. H. J. McNeely, president, Mrs. Fred Gibson and Mrs. L. J. Harrison of the local branch.

Mrs. McNeely gave the address of welcome. After conducting the opening exercises, Mrs. Chambers introduced Mrs. McLennan, who has instructed for the past two years, at the request of the Department of Education, at a Summer School course for teachers on Home and School relationships.

Know The School

It was the responsibility of parents to know what kind of school their children attended and a tour of the school would show the conditions under which their children were trained, Mrs. McLennan said.

Children have a lot of adjustments to make in their adolescence and parents take for granted that they know how to meet them and consequently offer no assistance, she said. She spoke on sports, school curriculum, how to get the community interested in projects for the benefit of the school, health surveys and a number of other aspects of school and community life.

Mrs. McLennan suggested instead of formal monthly meetings, that the parents of all the pupils in Grade One meet and discuss the particular needs of that class. "Think what it would mean, moving grade by grade through the school, to have a group aware of the needs of all the pupils," she declared. She urged more intensive study and special study groups because hit and miss programs only resulted in somebody staying home from the next meeting.

Mrs. McLennan also spoke of the fellowship among parents which arose when any member had a specific job to do.

Mrs. E. Chambers followed with an address on The Art of Leadership and the Values of Committees.

Personal characteristics that make a good foundation for leadership were: tolerance, impartiality, politeness and a good supply of funny bone material. Every association had good potential leaders.

Committee At Work

An example of a finance committee in action was given with Mrs. C. Collins as converer, assisted by Mesdames A. Hutchinson, D. Hall and W. Baggs. This was followed by a demonstration executive meeting under the convenership of Mrs. A. Nelson assisted by Mesdames H. Pulleyblank, W. Baggs, C. Collins, W. Fanjoy, V. R. Henry, O. Laderach and L. M. Richardson, all of Peterborough.

Mrs. L. M. Richardson made suggestions for increasing membership. The membership convener should be familiar with the constitution and the manual and understand the creed and interpret it to others, Mrs. Richardson said. She should be friendly and always make a special effort to interest the principal and teachers of the school. A father on this committee was a great help.

Keep Register

The membership convener should secure from the school a list of the parents of all registered children, with the addresses and telephone numbers, Mrs. Richardson said. The convener should then assign to each canvasser, the names of her grade and a definite week should be set for the canvass.

Such a campaign gave the grade mother an opportunity to discuss the aims of the Home and School Association with each new member as follows:

(a)—A way to share the student's school life.

(b)—A way to find his place among parents and teachers who share the same school interests and experiences;

(c)—A way to understand and realize the relation of his own home to the school and community;

(d)—A way to discover both the opportunities and limitations of the Home and School which may affect the development of students in the community.

One of the most important ways of getting new members and maintaining their interest was to keep meetings alive with plenty of community singing and interesting discussions, Mrs. Richardson counselled. This was a place where men could show their ability and they would be more interested if they had something to do.

[illegible] good plan was to have each meeting. Friendliness and kindness, she continued, are so essential in these days of stress and strain and the association that creates that feeling of wholesome brotherly kindness will never want for new members.

Tools For Job

Mrs. O. Laderach was the next speaker. Her subject, Tools for the Job, was a review of publications helpful for study groups.

The display of publications at the convention was under the charge of Mrs. W. J. Corneil of Havelock. Mrs. V. R. Henry spoke on the Home and School Magazine, pointing out its value for parent education.

Next came the Question Box. A number of questions were referred to Peterborough Council members and the provincial convener. This item ended the afternoon session, and the guests assembled in the basement of St. John's Anglican Church, where the Belmont Women's Institute served a hot dinner.

Greetings were brought by Rev. P. A. Rickard, the rector, and K. O. Birkin of Peterborough, Public School Inspector for this district.

Mrs. A. Nelson thanked the Women's Institute for the time and thought expended in making the dinner hour so pleasant. The president, Mrs. Charles Ellis replied.

On returning to the Town Hall, group singing was conducted by Mr. Hazel, music instructor of Havelock Public School. Grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 took part.

Is It Necessary

The topic of the evening session was Is Parent Interest and Cooperation Necessary, with Miss Isabelle Connelly and Mr. J. Telford, Principal of King Edward School, Peterborough, taking part.

Miss Connelly separated her remarks under the headings: "In Preparation For School" and "Through The Years On To Maturity."

Mr. Telford spoke on "The Effectiveness of Parental Interest," under four headings: Everybody Wants New Experiences; Everybody Wants Security"; Response, which is being in sympathy with someone else: and Recognition.

Mrs. M. D. McLennan spoke about good home training and good schools.

Two motion pictures Roots of Plants, and Holiday at Banff Summer School, were shown by Mr. R. Ward of the National Film Board who, with Mr. K. O. Birkin, explained the use of visual aids for school and community.

Mr. Telford conducted a singsong during the dinner hour.

About a hundred persons attended from Peterborough, Lakefield, Campbellford, Marmora, Hastings and Havelock.

followed with a short business session. Lunch was served by the committee in charge, Mr. and Mrs. E. Church, Mr. and Mrs. J. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. N. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs W. Prest, Mr. and Mrs. A. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. W. Collins. A vote of thanks for the program was moved by Mr. Jack Simmons and for the entertainment by Mr. Walter Murphy. Next meeting will be held November 26.

Chandler favoured with a solo, accompanied by Mrs. P. Hooper. A coloured film, "Heart of India" was shown by the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite. Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. J. Gurney and her group.

Social Situations

SITUATION: Between acts at a theatre those around you get up to go out into the lobby.

WRONG WAY: Look annoyed each time you have to stand to let someone past.

RIGHT WAY: Be gracious about letting others by—or avoid the necessity for it by going into the lobby between acts yourself.

Jopling-Elliott

A candlelight service in Trinity United Church with the Rev. Dr. D. B. Gordon officiating united Edna Marguerite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Elliott, Peterborough, and Donald Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Jopling, Bridgenorth.

The church was decorated with chrysanthemums and fern. Before the ceremony Mrs. D. B. Gordon sang "O Lord most holy" and during the signing of the register she sang "Tell me why." Mr. Donald Kennedy was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white slipper satin with a flowing train and yoke of net set with pearls. Her veil was caught with a French headdress and she carried a cascade of red roses. She was attended by Mrs. Clinton Payne, matron of honour, and Miss Hazel Rennie, bridesmaid. They wore similar frocks and bolero jackets of cherry wine and apple green taffeta with long mittens and pleated hats of the same material, and each carried a cascade of roses.

Flower girls were Lorraine Elliott and Marie Clayton, nieces of the bride. They were frocked in yellow taffeta with matching headdresses and they carried sprays of yellow and orchid 'mums fastened to muffs of yellow taffeta.

Mr. Ralph Jopling was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were Melville Elliott, brother of the bride, and Kenneth Roberts, brother-in-law of the groom.

A reception was held in the church parlours. The bride's mother was wearing wine crepe with black accessories and pink roses. The groom's mother was in grey with black and wore red roses.

On a trip to Niagara Falls and London the bride wore a two-piece navy faille dress, navy accessories and a powder blue shortie coat. They will live in Bridgenorth.

Mrs. H. Williams Remembers Church In 1884

HAVELOCK, Nov. 1 (ENS) — Havelock United Church celebrated the 65th milestone in its history on Sunday when anniversary services were held. The Rev. H. G. Lester of Warkworth was speaker at both services and large congregations were in attendance.

Special music was rendered by the senior choir under the leadership of Mrs. R. Campney with Mrs. Thomas Percival of Peterborough and Mrs. A. Pikelis of Havelock as soloists.

The managers asked for a thankoffering of $600. and their objective was reached. Part of this sum is to form a fund for redecorating the interior of the church next year.

The first Methodist Church and the beginning of the present United Church was built at Old Havelock in 1884 and was situated on the John Gibb property on Concession Street, the land being donated by Edward and William Martin. The Rev. Isaac Puffer was the first minister and was ordained the year the church was built.

Those were the days of large circuits under the guidance of one minister and Mr. Puffer had five stations known as the Blairton Mission which comprised Havelock, Blairton, Rockdale, Victoria and Garrison (now Preneveau).

Saw Church Built

Mrs. Herbert Williams is the only member of the church who was a member when it was built in 1884.

Before the days of the church, services were held in the school. They were led by the Rev. Chas. E. Mearing of the Blairton Mission, who had eight preaching stations of which the total membership was 77. The total year's attendance was 400; Sunday schools, 1; officers and teachers, 6; scholars, 45; and for his year's services he received $172.72. The church was dedicated in May, 1885 with the Rev. D. E. F. Gee of Norwood assisting the Rev. I. Puffer. In 1892 the appointments on the charge were reduced to Havelock and Trent River.

The Women's Missionary Society was organized in 1894 by Mrs. A. R. Campbell of Peterborough with Mrs. W. H. Jeffs as the first president.

The original church from Old Havelock was sold in 1895—and moved to where the 5c to $1.00 store is situated. It was used as a [illegible] 1908.

Built 53 Years Ago

The present church was built in 1896, Joseph Knox being the contractor. In February, 1913, the pipe organ was installed and the organ which was bought in 1896 was sold to the Rush Point Church.

The following is a list of the ministers who have served the church here:

Rev. Isaac W. Puffer, 1884-1887; Rev. R. J. Fallis, 1887-1888; Rev. W. B. Secombe, 1888-1889; Rev. A. B. Osterhout (probationer) 1888-1889; Rev. J. J. Rae, 1889-1892; Rev. G. W. McColl, 1892-1893; Rev Charles H. Coon, 1893-1895; Rev. Henry McQuade, 1895-1899; Rev. J. C. Bell, 1899-1902; Rev. W. Johnson, 1902-1905; Rev. W. Locke, 1905-1907; Rev. D. Balfour, 1907-1910; Rev. J. R. Real, 1910-1914; Rev. C. W. Demille, 1914-1916; Rev. Charles Adams, 1916-1920; Rev. E. O. Seymour, 1920-1926; Rev. W. R. Archer, 1926-1931; Rev. S. A. Kemp, 1931-1938; Rev. A. McLauchlin, 1938-1941, and Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, 1941-1947.

The Rev. F. R. anderburgh is the present minister.

DOROTHY DIX

Does It Pay To Be Good? Yes: Girl Keeps Self Respect

DEAR MISS DIX: Has the day passed when a girl is expected to be virtuous? It seems to me that it has. I never go out with a boy but what he expects me to do things that no decent girl would do. You said in one of your recent letters that the happiest people were those who had clean lives. I am not happy because every time I find a boy that I like, [illegible] aside as soon as he finds out that I am straight, and he gets a girl who is not so particular. I have been tempted many times to give in just because I hated to lose the boy. Please answer this letter not only for my sake, but for many other young girls who have talked to me and who have the same problem.

TEMPTED

ANSWER: Look at this matter straight, my child, and try to get the right sense of values. Do you think you are losing much when you lose a boy who rates you as he does the women of the street, and who is willing to put you in their class for his own selfish pleasure? Do you think that sort of man is worth having? Do you think he would make a faithful and true husband?

Don't you think a girl sells out for a pitiably small price who barters her purity for a few dates, a few movie tickets, a few dinners and dances? If you are going to tread the primrose path, at least value yourself enough to do it with jewels and limousines. You can buy your own ice-cream sodas and pay your own street-car fares and still have the pleasure of your own self-respect and good name.

Does It Pay?

Many girls like you, seeing that they do not have as many dates as the wild women, ask if it pays to be good. Sometimes it seems to them that while virtue may be its own reward, it is its only reward, and that is small comfort to one whose feet itch to dance and who longs for laughter and light and music.

But for all that it does pay to be good. It pays first in self-respect, and that is the first necessity to happiness. You can get along without the good opinion of other people, but to have any peace of mind you have got to stand well with yourself. You have to be able to look your own self in the face.

The happy marriages are where the man has faith in his wife's goodness as he has faith in God and when she has no bitter regrets in her heart and hides no shameful secrets from him.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a woman 28 years old. I married when I was 20. I love my husband and he loves me, but I just long to have my old courtship days back agin. That is the best time of life. Your love is greater during courtship than it is after marriage, don't you think?

JANE

ANSWER: You are yearning for the impossible, Jane. You are repining because you can't spend the balance of your life in a sentimental debauch, which is something no human constitution could stand. You would perish of nausea in short order if you tried it.

Believe me, dear lady, there is nothing on which you can get so easily fed up as you can on gooey lovemaking. Six months of it would kill any love that ever existed. When it comes down to everyday living, we don't want flubdub sentimentality. We want rational conversation. We don't want frothy desserts. We want to set our teeth in roast beef medium rare and potatoes.

Nor is it true that love is stronger during courtship than it is after marriage. The physical attraction that masquerades as love, the passing fancy that calls itself love, are undoubtedly at high tide during courtship, for with possession comes satiety and disillusion. But real love grows by what it feeds you, and the years but strengthen it.

Nor are courtship days the happiest days, because they are bound to be full of doubts and fears, but the man and woman who are really mated rest in perfect peace in their trust and faith in each other.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you believe a man of 30 has any chance of curbing a bad temper? I have a friend who has every fine quality except that he has a violent temper. If any one crosses him he goes into rages and says and does the most terrible things. He is engaged to a sweet and gentle girl whom I fear he will make very unhappy. Is there any way he can be warned?

BILL

ANSWER: I have never known any one who had a high temper who ever learned to control it. The guilty seem proud of it and think that it shows they are high-spirited. They seem to think that everybody should forgive their insults and be ready to kiss and make up as soon as they are in a good humor.

A girl had better marry a drunkard or a gambler or a roue than a man with a high temper. She would have more chance of happiness.

Minister Proposes Jr. Grade Nurses To Meet Shortage

TORONTO, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Trained hospital aids must be found to help conserve the Dominion's supply of graduate nurses, Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, Federal Deputy Minister of Health, said Monday.

"It would seem wise to base our long-term plans" on the assumption that enough graduate nurses can not be found to staff Canadian hospitals, Dr. Cameron said in an address prepared for delivery to the 25th annual convention of the Ontario Hospital Association.

Surveys showed 15 to 30 per cent of girls matriculating from high school entered nursing. Because of the demands of business and other professions this proportion was not likely to increase.

The first need is to conserve the supply of graduate nurses "by seeing to it that they are used only for nursing and not for the hundred-and-one other jobs requiring attention around hospitals." Men and women with lower academic standing than graduate nurses could be trained to help care for patients.

"There is no thought of pulling down the professional standard of the registered nurse. The graduate nurse will be required to supervise and direct the junior grade proposed and to perform the many high technical nursing tasks now required in hospital practice."

He added:

"Another factor which may play an important part in the securing of more graduate nurses is the [illegible]ed success of the two-year [illegible] of nursing now being tried [illegible] the Canadian Nurses' Association at the Metropolitan Hospital in Windsor with the support of the Canadian Red Cross Society."

The experiment might lead to more attractive training methods and an increase in recruitment.

Studies of hospital staff needs are under way or complete in all provinces. When the reports were complete some effort would be made by the Dominion Government to co-ordinate standards of recruitment and training methods for nurses and nurses' aids.

500 Masqueraders In W Gy [illegible] Biggest Party Yet

dren made up the biggest Hallowe'en party in the history of the YWCA gymnasium, Miss Caroline Littlefield reports. With such a crowd the "ghost walk" had to be taken in relays of 50. Meanwhile, apple bobbing races and a jitterburg contest were being conducted.

Judging was an extremely complicated matter with so many splendid new costumes to choose from. Ten prizes were awarded in each class and about 40 others were given honorable mention.

Babies' class winners were: Bess Weaver as a cat, Barbara Parker, skeleton; Heather McGovarin, Spanish girl; Nancy Flint and Bonnie McIlmoyle, fairies; Diane Mullen Hawaiian; Joy Ann Russell, Chinese laundryman; Susan McBride, southern Mammy; Sharon Porter, majorette; Penny Spark, box top; Sally Sands, Indian Princess.

Junior winners: Barbara Kerr, candy girl; Nancy Head, witch; Gail Coleman, organ grinder; Diane Dalton, gypsy; Meredith Morgan, oldfashioned gal; Lynn Hunter, Topsy; Gail Astell, knight in armour; Garnet Morgan, squaw; Anne Arnold, safety first; Marg. Dobson, pirate.

Mrs. H. Northrop, Miss M. Elliott and Miss M. Foster did the judging. Committee members helping with the party were Mrs. W. G. Ovens, Mrs. J. Lewis, Mrs C. B. Neal, Mrs. J. Sharpe, Mrs A. Sands, Mrs. E. C. McKee. "Ghosts" were from the Saturday morning gym class.

The jitterbug contest was won by Marg. Dobson and Mary James. Mrs. M. McBride and Mrs. L. Rawson were pianists.

Mrs. Lawson Given Life Membership

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (CP)—Mrs. Ray Lawson, wife of Ontario's lieutenant-governor, was presented with an honorary life membership in the Women's Hospital Aids' Association at the association's annual meeting today.

Life membership also was conferred upon Eugenie M. Stewart, assistant professor of the hospital administration courses, University of Toronto.

At the meeting Priscilla Campbell, superintendent of the Chatham general hospital and a past president of the Ontario Hospital Association, spoke on "how best hospital auxiliaries could serve the hospital."

At the present time, Blacks' of Peterboro (Towne togs by Blacks and Isadore Black's Men's Wear) are staging a store-wide sale, in appreciation of the patronage they have received from their many customers during the past 37 years.

37 years ago, Mrs. Annie Black, and the late Phillip Black, opened a women's clothing store in [illegible] George and King Streets, and little realized that 37 years later, they would be the originators of Peterborough's most modern and outstanding clothing stores for both men and women. To-day, Black's of Peterborough, is operated by their children, who have been doing their utmost, in trying to give to Peterborough, the same honest and conscientious pattern in business, as left to them by their parents.

In addition, the big feature of Blacks' 37th Anniversary Sale, is the free lucky draw they are having, and some lucky couple will receive one complete man's and one complete woman's wardrobe, made up of merchandise, that is made by Canada's leading manufacturers.

All through the years, Blacks' have been doing their utmost, in finding the manufacturers, who are reputable for the good, well-styled, and first quality merchandise, and yet at prices, that are well within the average budget, And, to-day, Blacks can boast, that the firms they deal with are tops, and any merchandise sold at Blacks' is sold on a money-back guarantee, and through the co-operation of these top firms, any merchandise that is not completely satisfactory, is immediately replaced, or a refund is given, without any hesitation.

Through the co-operation and generosity of Blacks' firms, with which they deal, the following merchandise, will be given away entirely free of charge. To the lucky lady, A winter coat by Manuel, an evening gown by Golden Gate, a skirt by Fashion Garments, a suit by Jane Kinley, two blouses by Cynthia, three pair of hose by Phantom, three french uplift brassieres by Rose Marx, three slips by Fantasy, two pair of gloves by Unique, and a housecoat by Jane Kinley. The lucky man will receive a suit by Towne Hall Clothing, an overcoat by Semi-Ready Tailoring, six pair of sox by McGregor, two sets underwear by Stanfields, three ties by Berkley, a pair of gloves by Unique, three shirts by Migo, and a hat by Fashion Hat. All that is necessary to be eligible for this lucky draw, is to get your free lucky ticket, with any purchase at Towne Togs by Blacks or Isadore Black's Men's Wear, side by side at 380 George St. There is only one winning ticket, and the winner gives the other wardrobe to whoever they wish.

Prices Move Narrowly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (CP) — Prices moved narrowly in the slowest forenoon trading in some time on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

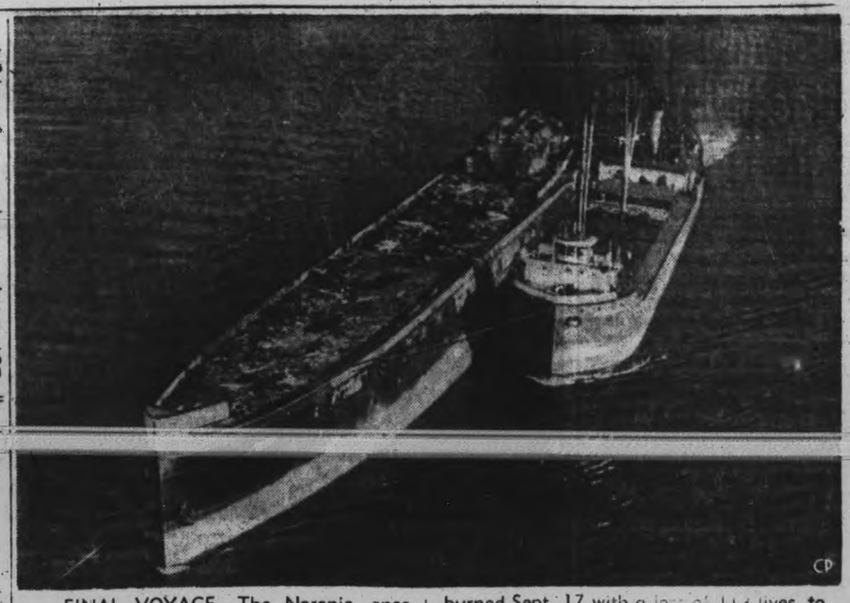
A few industrials continued Monday's fractionally lower trend while base metals and golds tightened from opening weakness.

Royalite dipped 10 cents at $9.30 in an easier Western Oil group.

Industrials showed signs of gaining at the opening but slight selling pushed key issues into the minus column. Bell Telephone sagged ¼ at 41⅝ in a mixed utilities list and International Paper sold lower in papers.

Noranda featured a firmer base metals list, gaining ¾ at a new high at 66 in brisk dealings. Waite Amulet added 20 cents at $9.70 while East Sullivan was down 10 cents at $4.65.

Early losses in golds were wiped and a few penny gains showed in junior producers.



Hallowe'en Party Hastings Town Hall

HASTINGS, Nov. 1 (ENS)—A gala masquerade was held in the Town Hall under the auspices of the Junior Softball Club. The music, supplied by "The Country Gentlemen" was enjoyed by all. Judges for the best costumes were Mrs. Wm. Slessor, Mrs. F. Penny and Ted. Youngs.

Best Ladies, Mrs. Clifford Scriver; Best ladies comic, Mrs. George Brooks; best gents', Albert Scriver; best gents' comic, Ken. McCall; best original, C. M. Baker.

Remove Peanut Shells

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (CP)—Two peanut shell fragments were removed Monday night from 21-months-old Linda Tonlinson's lung tissue during an emergency operation. Hospital officials said she now is breathing easily. Linda was brought 40 miles from her home in Bowmanville for the operation.

FINAL VOYAGE—The Noronic, once queen of the Great Lakes passenger fleet, made her final cruise Saturday when she was towed from the Toronto pier where she burned Sept. 17 with a loss of 119 lives, to Hamilton to be broken up for scrap. This photo shows the hulk accompanied by another Canada Steamship Lines vessel as she headed for Hamilton.

Hamilton Park Becoming Ideal Summer Playground

The ultimate features of Hamilton Park, along Jackson Park Creek north of Bonaccord St., is becoming more clearly outlined in the progress of the making of a wading pool for children, a community project of the Kiwanis Club. Through the years, the creek had washed out two narrow and shallow channels, one on either side of a small island which is being retained as a natural feature of this northwest end playground of the future.

Retaining walls of the wading pool are being completed by the contractor for Kiwanis, Mr. George Goodfellow. They are of flat limestone, presumably the same material as of the old quarry at the Park Hill Road frontage of the park. This quarry supplied the stone for some of the buildings in Peterborough a century ago.

Creek Widened

The bed of the creek on the west side of the island has been widened to spacious oval pool dimensions, with controlled inlet at the north end and outlet at the south. Probably the bottom will be left in the natural rock, although there has been some suggestion that it may be surfaced with concrete to remove sharp or projecting edges upon which small toes might be cut or stubbed.

This pool is a natural for little folks. The retaining wall appears to be about three feet or so in height. Cement is being used instead of plaster as reinforcement against possible effect of seeping water and frost during the winters.

Armar Butcher, parks superintendent predicts that in a few years Hamilton Park will be one of the finest of the city's chain, and another asset to the community at the northwest corner of the city.

"This is an ideal example of the effect of co-operation of a service club and the parks committee of the city council," Mr. Butcher told the Examiner the other day. "The stone wall that now contains the wading pool will be continued up and down stream, on its west side from the Bonaccord St. bridge to the other one at Park Hill Road.

"The Kiwanis are now laying a stone wall on the west side of the island as part of the wading pool design, and this wall is to be carried right around the island. Then, on the east side of the creek, as I understand the plans, there will be another wall, parallel with the one on the west side, from bridge to bridge."

Loose stones will be removed from the floor of the creek in its reach through the park. Mr. Butcher is leaving on the island several young cedars and elms and at the north end of it he intends to plant a weeping willow or two.

Preliminary to the Kiwanis job the parks department began on the west side of the creek, north of Bonaccord St., clearing out rough brush and burdocks, tin cans and other refuse.

"It was a shaggy looking place when he started unloading fill. Then we top-soiled it and levelled it off with a bulldozer. Several pieces of play equipment were set up and used by children this year, although as a playground the park was only beginning to take shape. We will slope the ground down to the wall level at the creek, plant some shrubs and maybe some flowers, but leaving ample ground for small children's games."

Preserve Old Quarry

At the north end, Mr. Butcher says, the natural trees and lay of the ground will be preserved, including the old quarry.

"We can underbrush it, but I don't think we should attempt anything more than that. We can seed the south part in grass, and in another year or two it should be an attractive place."

It may be recalled that James Hamilton, toward the end of his mayoralty, bought the property along the creek, and extending on the Park Hill front westerly to Monaghan Road. Parks department gradually took it in hand for a levelling operation that is now complete. Kiwanis Club then assumed the wading pool and the walls of the creek.

Present development is already fashioning the park in the material form of the Hamilton vision and hopes in utilizing the flow of water in the creek and reclaiming its shore property for community purposes. In another year or two it will blossom as a beauty spot. Mr. Butcher suggests that it should be confined to a play place for tots, a supervised area to which mothers might also come some afternoons.

"Maybe we might be able to go up into Jackson Park and put in a deeper swimming place for older boys and girls," Mr. Butcher proposed, "but that is of the future."

Nine Brigades Created-Scott

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 1 (CP) —W. J. Scott, Ontario Fire Marshal, said today that Ontario's new system of handling fire department grants has led to creation of nine new volunteer brigades and steps towards establishment of 16 other municipal fire brigades.

In an address prepared for delivery at the northeastern conference of the United States National Fire Protection Association, he told the association that legislation passed by the provincial government enabled the province to pay to every municipality a fixed proportion of the municipality's fire department costs.

Mr. Scott estimated that there now are only about 500,000 persons in the province's less-settled rural areas who are without organized fire protection. There are 487 Ontario municipalities having a total population of 3,368,014, which have fire departments within the terms of the Fire Department's Act.

In addition to regular municipal departments, Mr. Scott mentioned Ontario's vast stretches of forest land which are protected by the protection division of the Department of Lands and Forests at an annual cost of some $3,257,-421.

Hallowe'en Gremlin

It wasn't the work of spooks; just defective lighting. But it gave Richard Clark of Warsaw a turn just the same.

Here's a Hallowe'en story with a not too tragic ending as told to Provincial Constable N. D. De Bow.

Minding his own business, Clark was driving his truck, loaded with apples, along the Rock Rd., a mile east of Warsaw. It was a night when unexpected things happened. And to be sure, something did.

Suddenly his lights went off. Blooie! Just like that. And he plunged into total darkness. The truck lurched into a ditch and turned over.

Clark emerged from the truck, fought his way through a pile of apples, and counted up a $200 bill of damages. Today he's searching for the electrical gremlin that pulled the Hallowe'en prank.

Customs Men Air Grievances In The U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (CP)—Britain, Canada and the United States moved Monday to snip away the procedural red tape which hampers the flow of foreign goods to the American market.

Opening a week of "exploratory" discussions, customs experts from Canada and the United Kingdom sat down with American officials to air their grievances about the complicated U.S. Customs procedures and to suggest remedies to make it easier for exporters to get their goods across the American border.

The talks, being held in camera, are the first of a series in which the United States is inviting foreign lands to send experts here for frank face to face discussions on the customs problem.

Exporters abroad long have complained that American customs regulations hamper them unfairly in getting their goods into the American market, principally because of a lack of standard duties and customs at all American ports of entry.

Rev. J. C. Moloney Says Europeans Lacking Sports

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 1 — (ENS)—"Sport has an important place in building the character of a boy," said Father J. C. Moloney of St. Mary's Church, at the Rotary Club's noon luncheon Monday.

He said that lack of sports in Europe and South America was largely responsible for revolutions. "Rugby, baseball and hockey are great factors for [illegible] must have an outlet for their energies," he added.

Father Moloney introduced Jack Garvey, of St. Mary's Separate School, who won the public speaking contest for Campbellford last Thursday. He repeated his address on Babe Ruth.

Fred Rutherford pointed out that no wis the time to take over the local rink as a community centre. To produce good hockey, the community must own its own centre he said. He urged that steps be taken immediately to undertake such a project. "If smaller towns can finance their own centres, why can't we?" he asked.

H. T. Scott introduced the guest speaker and George Nicholls moved the vote of thanks. President Charlie Calver was in the chair.

Chinese Civil War Turns Hong Kong Into Boom City

By STANLEY RICH

The Chinese civil war has turned Hong Kong into a boom city.

Although this British colony on the edge of China stands the risk of losing heavily in the long run, it is now in the odd position of probably being the only area in the Orient that is reaping huge profits from the continued Communist successes.

Honk Kong's population, normally about 1,000,000 has roughly doubled. British military strength has been increased from 8,000 to more than 40,000 men. Wealthy refugees from China are still pouring in.

[illegible] businessmen are casing in on a furious spending spree. Building owners are getting more than $7,000 in "key money" for the privilege of renting three-room apartments.

This is on top of $145 monthly rentals—gas and electricity extra.

Troops Spending

The Far Eastern Economic Review, the weekly bible of the local business community, estimates that British troops alone are spending $1,000,000 a month for entertainment and purchases.

There is one hitch, however; Hong Kong cannot survive as one of Britain's prime money earners without continuing trade with China. In 1948 the China trade accounted for 60 per cent of the Colony's business.

"Big Business" has been calmly biding its time, expecting that lucrative China trade would be resumed after the Red capture of Canton. With the Communists now in Canton, however, the general feeling lately has changed from optimism to pessimism. Hong's traders are beginning to ask themselves disturbing questions about the future.

Indirect Control

The consensus among the colony's higher business circles is [illegible]

1. The Communists are not likely to launch any military attack on Hong Kong, but it is "almost inevitable" that they eventually will try for indirect control by labor agitation and by bureaucratic impediments in the form of import and export licences and travel visas.

2. The Hong Kong Government will make every effort to obtain local working arrangements with the Communists regardless of what the Foreign Office in London does about diplomatic recognition.

Meanwhile, Hong Kong is booming.

Youths Raid Tennis Club, Smash Windows

COBOURG, Nov. 1 (ENS) — Antics of boys in the older age groups was more grevious on Hallowe'en than in some years past.

The youngsters took in the Kinsmen party and behaved themselves but youths roamed through the town and among the incidents was a stone heaved through the window of R. N. McKenzies' house. Mr. McKenzie is [illegible] dals also gathered some equipment boxes at the tennis courts and set fire to them, ruining some nets, a lawn mower and several lengths of hose, paid for by the Club members out of their own pockets.

Icy Wind, Snowflurries Cut Hallowe'en Mischief

By The Canadian Press

An icy wind and occasional snowflurries held Hallowe'en mischief to a minimum in Ontario Monday night. But the wintry weather didn't spoil plans of most communities to give potential pranksters a treat.

Clubs and city councils, merchants and churches, schools and property-proud citizens gathered round to persuade the kids with tokens of fun that a night of the rampage wasn't really worth it.

Candies there were, tons of them; apples and peanuts, too. And ice cream in gallons, movies and cakes, fireworks and band-parades all helped to dispel mischievous glints from the youngsters' eyes.

One of the cities that proved an exception was Windsor. A gang of pranksters, in traditional style, chopped down a tree 14 inches in circumference.

Get Full Treatment

St. Thomas was probably the only Ontario city to receive the full "Hallowe'en treatment." Extra police were called on duty when some streets were virtually blacked out when stones from sling-shots found their lamp-post targets. Automobiles were splashed with paint and bicycles were hung on hydro-poles. Broken bottles littered streets.

On the other hand police from Toronto, Strathroy, Paris, Hamilton, and Brampton, like those of other cities and towns, reported with relieved sighs that this Hallowe'en was the quietest in years.

There was a double reason for citizens to visit Brockville's downtown business section. Those who had gathered to hear returns of the Leeds by-election were entertained by the annual Hallowe'en band-parade sponsored by various service clubs.

The night was not without its accidents, however. In Kitchener Margaret Boelzing, a seven-year-old reveller, was injured when struck by a car as she dashed across the street in a Hallowe'en costume.

Judge Sentences Girl To Home With Love

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 1 (CP) —A 15-year-old schoolgirl who killed her mother with a butcher knife was formally sentenced Monday—to "a home with love and care."

Placed in the custody of an aunt, the girl will remain a juvenile court ward until she is 21.

Judge Albert T. Shine said "the facts were insufficient" to substantiate a finding of murder against the girl, Celeste Morrow. Testimony at the hearing he conducted indicated the mother, Mrs. Walter Morrow, 41, had been drinking and that Celeste's home life had become "intolerable." A quarrel ended in the slaying two weeks ago.

"She needs a home with love and care," the judge declared.

The new law gives the Secretary of Agriculture authority to support virtually every farm product at 90 per cent of parity if he thinks that is advisable. Truman and Agriculture Secretary Brannan have indicated they favor 90 per cent supports, as a general rule, to keep agriculture prosperous.

Ellis Recalls Fight On Bully's Green

MARMORA, Nov. 1—(ENS)—"People seem to be living longer than they used to," remarked Daniel Ellis of Cordova on Saturday evening as he sat in the lounge of the Royal Hotel, Marmora. "And how old do you suppose I am?"

With his hat on and his hair cropped short, he well passed for a man of 75 years and that was the answer given to his query.

"Well now," he said in a crisp clear voice, "I was born on August 31, 1857, so that makes me 92, doesn't it?"

Mr. Ellis then went on to say he was born on what came to be known as Bully's Green, on Belmont Lake. He said that the name bestowed on this part of Belmont Township after a man named Bully Tompkins, principal in an encounter many years ago with a rival named Bush, who came from the Tweed district.

Mr. Ellis was the oldest of nine children born to the late Brooks Ellis and Margaret Bowen. He and his sister, Mrs. Peter Vesterfelt (Sarah) of Marmora are the only survivors.

Nineteen years ago Mr. Ellis retired from farming to live in a home he had purchased in Cordova village. Practically all his life has been spent around Cordova.

He worked in the shanty at different times, serving 18 years with the Rathburn Company and three with the Pearce Company. He spent three months in the United States some years ago, but he preferred to live in Canada.

With the exception of a little deafness, he has the very best use of his faculties and holds his own in conversation with men many years his junior.

Lewis Parley Seen End Coal Strike

Picks Chicago Site For Conference, Officials Guessing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Hopes for labor peace in the United States rose today on an indication that John L. Lewis, acting fast after the first break in the steel strike, may be angling for a coal strike settlement. It was only a hint—nothing conclusive.

Less than a day after CIO president Philip Murray signed a precedent-setting welfare plan with Bethlehem Steel Corporation Lewis made a move. He suddenly called a miners' union policy meeting for next Monday in Chicago.

But why Chicago? The site suggested a possible coal peace pact with Illinois producers. Some of them have been reported impatient for a settlement. An agreement with Illinois producers would give Lewis a possible industry pattern such as Murray hopes he has for steel with the Bethlehem pension - insurance contract.

However, a denial that Illinois operators were wavering from the stand taken with coal producers from other sections came from Fred S. Wilkey, secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators Association.

Meanwhile, government officials here expected other steel companies soon to sign up with Murray on the same employer-paid $100 monthly pensions and employer-worker-financed insurance plan as Bethlehem did.

Murray held a conference Tuesday night with a representative of Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, seeking a strike-ending agreement. And union negotiators were sent out from Cleveland to dicker with other steel firms.

But Murray said no such contracts have been made yet with U. S. Steel Corporation the largest U. S. producer, which was asking for negotiations.

Officials here, trying to figure out what Lewis is up to, suggested Lewis already has a real coal settlement offer he wants his union lieutenants to consider (Lewis seldom calls them together for anything less during a strike.)

Explosion Rocks Post Office

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—(AP)—A heavy explosion ripped the top floors of the post office department building Tuesday a few minutes after most of its 3,000 occupants had fled to safety in response to a fire alarm.

More than a dozen persons, most of them firemen, were hurt by the blast or overcome temporarily by smoke.

For a while Tuesday evening Wayne Coy, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, feared that two women employees of the commission were buried under the debris. However, he was later informed that firemen had gotten under all the debris and had found no bodies. Coy then said he was satisfied no one was missing.

The blast that injured several firemen occurred after almost all employees had been cleared out by the fire alarm.

Princess Margaret Seen Smoking At Ball

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Princess Margaret smoked a cigaret in public early today.

It was the first time any commoner ever saw one of the Royal family's distaff side smoking.

Pretty, 19-year-old Margaret did it at a Hallowe'en charity ball at the fashionable Dorchester Hotel.

Only last week a Buckingham Palace press officer admitted to newspaper men that Margaret lighted a cigaret once in a while. But he said it was only in private and "just for a lark."

The question came up when the Palace released to the newspapers a photograph of Princess Elizabeth's sitting room. On the desk were a packet of matches and an ash tray.

Gets Role Mixed

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.-C., Nov. 2—(CP)—John Carrier, 27, Tuesday was fined $500 for biting Constable Gordon Kemp on the forehead and putting him in hospital. Magistrate H. L. Edmonds termed it a "vicious assault."

Decide Steps To Strengthen PC Organization

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—(CP)—The Progressive Conservative party, a heavy loser in the June 27 general election, has decided to take several steps to strengthen the organization for the next federal election.

Before the conclusion Tuesday of a two-day meeting of the executive of the party's national association, it was decided to organize young people's groups as rapidly as possible to recommend an increase in the representation of Young Progressive Conservatives on the executive and to make a concerted drive for an increase in the membership of women's organizations.

A statement issued at the conclusion of the closed meetings said "assurances were given . . . that the important posts of national director and director of publicity would be filled in the near future."

R. A. (Dick) Bell, former national director, has returned to private law practice since the election. C. V. Charters, former director of publicity, has returned to private business in Brampton.

It is believed that George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, has several men in mind for the posts. There has been speculation that Russell Boucher, who resigned his Commons seat to make way for Mr. Drew's election after the party's leadership convention a year ago, would be appointed national director. Another mentioned is Roland Michener, former personal adviser to Mr. Drew.

The executive voted confidence in Mr Drew's leadership. Earlier, he was given a similar vote by supporters in the Commons. In the general election—the first fought by Mr. Drew—the party's membership in the Commons dropped from 69 to 41.

The executive's statement said the "problems of the party were frankly and freely discussed" during its sessions.

"No effort was made to minimize the fact that the party had suffered a severe defeat," it said.

Date for the next annual meeting of the national association was fixed for April 17, 18 and 19, 1950.

Oshawa Man Berserk Attacks Wife, Child

OSHAWA, Nov. 2—(CP)—Jack McCaughey, 30-year-old army veteran was taken to hospital today with wounds described by police as self-inflicted following a hammer-attack on his wife and young son.

Police said that McCaughey, described by neighbors as normally a "quiet man," suddenly went berserk in his home at Dunbarton, 15 miles west of Oshawa.

His wife, Jean, and their seven-year-old son, Jackie, fled from the house to a nearby school where a number of men were doing repair work.

Ask Commission Investigate Trans-Canada Highway Plan

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Appointment of Federal Commission to investigate all phases of the projected trans-Canada highway was urged on the Royal Commission on Transportation today by the Trans-Canada Highway System Association (Yellowhead Route).

The association, a western organization which favors the most northerly of three proposed routes over the Rocky Mountains, presented a brief as the commission opened final hearings in its inquiry into national transportation problems.

Public hearings of the commission under Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon have been adjourned since early August. The final sittings are expected to last into the New Year.

The highway association, composed of members in the four western provinces, urged that the Dominion government set up either a Royal Commission or a "Federal Highway Commission or Authority" to deal with all phases of the construction of the highway or those concerning construction from Winnipeg to Vancouver.

The association said it would attempt to show such a body that the merits of the northern route over the Rockies by way of the Yellowhead Pass are "overwhelming."

(Two other routes that have been discussed are a southern one jumping off from Lethbridge, Alta., and following along close to the United States Border by way of Crow's Nest Pass, and a central one by way of Calgary, Banff and Kicking Horse Pass.)

Nothing that Federal government policy apparently is to have the route selected by agreement among the provinces, the highway Association declared it has "strong misgivings" about such a procedure.

Crack Down On Unions Led By Reds

Farm Equipment Union Second Ousted, Likely To Be Others

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2 (AP)—The CIO convention today expelled the United Electrical Workers, largest of its so-called left-wing unions.

The action came on a resolution sponsored by Walter P. Reuther and after an impassion speech by C.I.O. President Philip Murray, who shouted:

"There is no room within the C.I.O. for Communism."

Murray traced his efforts of the last two years to reconcile the U.E.W. leaders to discard the Communist party line, which he said they followed and adopted the C.I.O. policy,

The move was opposed by Harry Bridges, West Coast Longshoreman, Abram Flaxer, of the United Public Workers, and Pietro Lucchi, Secretary-Treasurer of the Fur and Leather workers. All three claimed that the U.E.W. was being dumped without a hearing.

But Murray insisted that "U.E.W. has been given its trial."

The U.E.W. delegates bolted the convention Tuesday.

Murray said "they ran like skulking cowards and after they did run, they left these apostles of hate behind to defend them."

The convention also boosted the per capita tax paid by its unions to the CIO from eight cents to 10 cents a membe. monthly—a move which would add $1,000,000 to the treasury for the big organizing war ahead.

Expulsion of the left wing unions, as contemplated by the convention, is expected to touch off a big drive by the victorious right wing to grab off the rank and file membership of the left-wing unions.

Walter P. Reuther's powerful resolutions committee reported to the convention that it had approved "by overwhelming vote" the expulsion of the United Electrical Workers and the Farm Equipment Workers.

The two unions had pulled off a quick merger last week, but it wasn't recognized by the CIO.

The Electrical Workers, with up to 450,000 members, and the Farm Equipment group, with another 20,000, were the first to feel the right-wing axe.

U.E.'s delegates, giving up the fight to remain in the CIO, walked out of the convention Tuesday, issued a terrific blast at CIO President Philip Murray and Secretary-treasurer James B. Carey, and announced they would pay no more dues to the CIO.

Hope For Insurrections

Even before the CIO acted, at least one right-wing U.E. local went ahead and withdrew from the parent organization.

Fear Five In Hunt Party Drown Near Thessalon

THESSALON, Nov. 2—(CP)—A woman and four men are missing, feared drowned, in the storm-swept waters of the North Channel on which they set out Monday on a hunting trip. North Channel is the body of water between Manitoulin Island and the northern Ontario mainland. Their 18-foot motorboat, empty and overturned, was washed ashore on Cockburn Island, 24 miles southeast of here, late Tuesday.

Listed as missing are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hostetler of Sturgis, Mich.; Vernon and Perry Hostetler of LaGrange, Ind., brothers of THESSALON—Four life-preservers were found today on the shore of wind-swept Cockburn Island, heightening fears that the five were drowned.

Paul, and Charles Hostetler of White Pigeon, Mich., father of the three. Mrs. Paul Hostetler was reported to be an expectant mother.

The party, in hunting clothes, left here for a deer-hunting trip to Cockburn Island where the season opened Tuesday. Since that time, no report of the group's whereabouts has been received at this Algoma district town 55 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, elsewhere on the mainland or at nearby points on Manitoulin Island.

Ontario Provincial police officers from Thessalon and Blind River on the mainland and from Little Current on Manitoulin Island are co-operating in the search.

Scour Islands

Cpl. Louis Needham, officer in charge at Little Current, said a search party today will scour islands and mainland in the hope that the missing hunters struggled ashore after their tiny craft foundered.

A friend of Hostetlers named McMillan found the motorboat on the island. He had set out in a small craft to search for his friends after realizing they were long overdue.

Paul Hostetler operated fashionable tourist camps at Little Basswood Lake near Sowerby in the Thessalon district. His brother, Perry, was married and the father of four children.

Proposed Cuts Shock Canadians

LONDON, Nov. 2—(CP)—The Daily Telegraph says today that Britain will discontinue purchases of Canadian newsprint next year and may cut imports of Canadian bacon and eggs by 25 per cent.

The newspaper reports that two Canadian representatives were "shocked at the severity of the cuts proposed" when they conferred with British officials last week. The Canadians were J. G. Taggart, Deputy Agriculture Minister, and Max MacKenzie Deputy Trade and Commerce Minister.

Treasury officials declined to confirm the Telegraph's version of the proposed cuts but said the talks with the Canadian representatives were "of a very general nature and not at all in the form of hard negotiations."

Dutch End Rule In Indonesia, Sign Agreement

THE HAGUE, Nov. 2—(AP)—The Dutch and Indonesian governments today signed agreements to end the Netherlands' 300-year-rule of her rich East Indies colonies.

The long-discussed agreements create a new, independent country of 70,000,000 Asians, the Republic of the United States of Indonesia. The Republic will be linked to the Dutch crown as an equal partner in a new Dutch-Indonesian Union, somewhat similar to the British Commonwealth.

In a final plenary session concluding a 10-weed round-table conference, the Dutch and leaders of two Indonesian groups signed a resolution to transfer sovereignty to the Indonesians.

The Netherlands - Indonesian Union provides for limited Dutch and Indonesian co-operation in foreign relations, defence, economic and cultural matters. It also provides for co-operation, "as far as necessary," in financial matters. The documents also provide for withdrawal of all Dutch troops from Indonesia within the first six months of 1950 if shipping space permits.

The new United States of Indonesia will be a Federal Republic, with a president, a Senate and a House of Representatives, similar to the United States.

Dutch New Guinea, over which both Dutch and Indonesians demanded control, will remain in Dutch hands during a year of further negotiations on its status.

The military agreement provides for a Netherlands military mission to help build up and train the Indonesian army and advise the Indonesians on military matters.

The agreement also provides for discussions of mutual aid in case of war.

The important Soerabaya naval base is to remain provisionally under the management of the Dutch navy, but the Dutch commander will be responsible to the Indonesian government.

Hundreds Flee Flames In California Bush Fire

AGOURA, Calif., Nov. 2 (AP)—Dying winds today brought hope for control of a terrifying brush fire that has destroyed at least 10 homes and sent hundreds of residents fleeing in its path.

A north wind with gusts of 25 to 30 miles an hour Tuesday whipped the blaze over 10,000 acres. Shifting treacherously, the wind streaked the 100-foot high flames over houses whose owners had refused to leave until the last minute.

But with nightfall, the wind died down. Fire officials said control of the major part of the blaze would be possible today if the favorable wind conditions held.

Sees Husband Drown As Boat Sinks

Wife Blanks Out Washed Ashore; Rescued By Police

FORT FRANCES, Nov. 2 (CP)—Near death from shock, exhaustion and cold, Mrs. Emelia Frankiewicz, 37, was rescued by police Tuesday from uninhabited Burnt Island after having watched her husband disappear into the icy waters of Footprint Lake last Friday.

Mrs. Frankiewicz and her husband, John, were on a week-end hunting trip when a storm upset their canvas canoe off Despair Rock, near the barren island 50 miles north of this Rainy River district town.

The woman wavered only once in her determination to survive after being told by her husband to "hang on for your life—even if I have to go you must try to live."

Terrified of the dark of night, and shivering in wet clothes as the temperature dropped at times to 15 degrees, Mrs. Frankiewicz was about to give up the struggle when she heard the scraping of a boat on the shore.

She called weakly to the occupants of the boat—Provincial Constables Ken Rainer and Owen Sullivan of Clearwater, Ontario.

3 Days On Island

When rescued the woman had spent three days and four bitterly cold nights on the lonely island A loose parka she was wearing is believed to have ballooned with air, assisting in keeping her afloat as the tiny craft drifted to shore.

Mrs. Frankiewicz was brought to hospital here. Attendants said she is responding to treatment for shock and exposure. She felt well enough to speak of her ordeal to a sister, Mrs. Edward Griffiths of Fort Frances.

Describing the story as one of "sheer terror," Mrs. Griffiths said the couple held on for an hour to the canoe before Frankiewicz told his wife he could not survive but that she should look after herself and not try to help him

"She told me that when John went down she felt she should follow and try to help him," said Mrs. Griffiths. "But then she thought of his plea for her to save herself and she kept her grasp on the canoe."

Blanked Out

Some time later, Mrs. Frankiewicz blanked out. When she regained consciousness she was lying across the canoe, which had drifted to the shore of Burnt Island, Mrs. Griffiths said.

Search for the couple got under way when they failed to keep an appointment with friends here Sunday night.

Search parties, including employees of the Ontario and Minnesota Pulp and Paper Company mill where Frankiewicz was employed, started dragging operations after finding the canoe It was feared then that both had drowned.

Dragging operations for Frankiewicz's body are continuing.

Deeper In Kwangsi

CHUNGKING, Nov. 2 — (AP) — Communist forces, striking from the north, stabbed deeper today into the Kwangsi province base of Nationalist China. Before them were Nationalist Gen. Pai Chung-hsi and 250,000 troops. The defence ministry said the Reds thrust into the Chuanhsien district of northern Kwangsi but were repulsed in a counter-attack. The district takes its name from the important town of Chuanhsien on the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad 65 miles northeast of Kweilin.

Los Angeles Folk Get Religion, Converts Soar

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2—(AP)—Old-style religion is sweeping the city of the angels with an evangelistic show overshadowing even Billy Sunday.

Since it started six weeks ago, more than 200,000 from the city's 2,000,000 population have filed into a circus tent on the fringe of downtown Los Angeles. And they are still pouring in at the rate of 10,000 every night.

They come to hear the preachments of a dynamic, handsome young college president named Billy Graham. Churchmen say he's started the greatest religious revival in the history of southern California.

Graham's oratory is eloquent; his doctrines are home-spun. From the singing, shouting multitudes, thousands have hit the sawdust trail and announced publicly their decision to return to Christ.

One of them was a brilliant track star at the University of southern California before the war. His name is Lou Zamperini. A United States Air Force Captain, he crashed in the Pacific, spent 47 days on a raft, then lived through months in a Japanese prison camp.

"It is difficult for anyone who came through the things I did to forget God, but I did," Zamperini said.

Another convert is Stuart Hamblen, popular cowboy crooner and sportsman, son of a Methodist minister. He stepped to the pulpit to announce that he'll sell his racing stable.

"I will keep El Lobo, but only for sentimental reasons," Hamblen said. "I will never race him again." El Lobo, dubbed "The People's Choice," won the $50,000 San Antonio stakes at Santa Anita in 1947.

3,000 Families Late Lose On Allowances

TORONTO, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Three thousand Ontario families lose their family allowances each month because the application has not been made early enough, Fred J. Jackson, Regional Director of Family Allowances, said Tuesday night.

At the monthly meeting of the Neighborhood Workers Mr. Jackson said:

"During September alone, 3,633 late registrations were received from Ontario parents. This represents a loss to parents of $36,000 . . . if only the parents had applied within 30 days of the birth of their babies, this additional allowance could have been paid."

Urges Medical Students Work For Rural Doctors

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP)—Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, suggested Tuesday night that medical students get wider practical training by being apprenticed to general practitioners in rural areas during their vacations.

Dr. Smith, speaking at the Ontario Hospital Association's 25th anniversary banquet, said he raised the question "without consulting my medical colleagues, and as a member of a profession known for their rashness or brashness."

Dr. Smith, a lawyer, was backed up by a number of doctors Leading Toronto physicians, consul' Tuesday night. said the scheme had been considered in the profession for some time and seemed a good idea.

Another speaker, Dr. A. D Kelly, said that if national health insurance is introduced in Canada, it will mean increased hospital costs, more persons admitted to hospitals, beds used for patients who do not need them and possibly a lowering of standards in medical care.

Dr. Kelly, assistant secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, said the CMA favors the principle of health insurance on a voluntary prepaid basis, with the government paying premiums for persons unable to pay them

Dr. Smith emphasized another point in his speech when he said high tuition fees are preventing gifted students in rural areas from entering medical schools.

Health, he said, is a matter of national concern. Both Canadian universities and Canadin hospitals are anxious to aid programs for improvement of Canadians' health.

Navy Officers On 3 Boats Poor Choice

Commission Inquiry Raps Inefficiency Of Destroyer Officers

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—(CP)—A sweeping, searching report on Canada's navy has been placed before the public with many criticisms and recommendations for improvement that reach deep into the training system and into "deteriorating" relations among its three levels of manpower.

An historical, probably unprecedented landmark in Canadian defence, the 27,000-word report of a three-man commission was tabled Tuesday in the Commons by Defence Minister Claxton. He estimated recommendations at 41 and said nearly half have been or are being implemented and others are under study.

Findings ranged from lack of adequate channels for airing men's grievances to "a notable lack of human understanding" among officers and men; from a broad demand among navy men for greater "Canadianization," to criticisms of "soft soap opera" recruiting methods and of too-frequent shifts of men and ship's routines.

It found the chain of naval command weakening at a vital point because of "deterioration" relations between officers and petty oficers and between petty officers — NCO's — and men; evidence of general inexperience in many officers, chiefs and petty officers; unfavorable results from giving young officers training in the British Navy at a formative stage and then putting them over the Canadian sailor "who is not the same kind of man" as the British Tar.

Need More Manpower

The Commission reported "a widespread feeling" that the available manpower—about 9 500—and material have been stretched too far and too thin and it

Flames Sweep Building, 6 Die

CINCINNATI, Nov. 2—(AP)—Six persons died early today in a fire which swept through hallways of a three-storey apartment building at the edge of the downtown district and left them trapped in their rooms.

Seven others were burned or hurt in leaps from second and third-storey windows.

Four other persons who lived in the apartment house escaped without injury.

Five of the dead were reported to have died of burns while a sixth died in a leap from a window.

Ironically, the blaze was ex-firemen. Damage was estimated tinguished in short order by firemen. Damage was estimated at only about $2,000

Charles Dean, a taxi driver, said he could see the fire and see people at windows and all at once fire was blazing out of the second and third floor windows.

Kisses Child Goodbye Prisoner Escapes

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Nov 2 — (P)—Police today hunted a 26-year-old prisoner who fled through the front door of the Clinton County Jail after kissing his four-year-old daughter goodbye in the corridor.

Sheriff George A. Hickoff said he was standing near Robert Hamm Tuesday night as the prisoner was saying goodbye to his wife, two-month-old son and the daughter.

"Suddenly he darted out the front door and made off down a side alley," Hickoff said.

Mrs. Hamm, holding the baby, shouted after her husband "Don't do it."

Turning to the sheriff she screamed: 'Call the police. Catch him. It will only mean a longer term."

Hickoff was to begin an 18-month to three-year sentence today in the Pittsburgh Institution for stealing an automobile.

Fighter Hits Transport, 55 People Killed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Boatmen today combed the bed of the Potomac River for the missing among the 55 men, women and children hurtled to death from the air Tuesday in history's worst airplane tragedy.

Many hours following the collision of an Eastern Airlines four-engine passenger transport and a went on for the 14 passengers whose bodies had not yet been recovered.

Shocked members of Congress, stunned by the loss of one of their own number, promised a complete air safety investigation. The Civil Aeronautics Board said its hearings into the cause of the crash will start in a few days. The airline scheduled an inquiry of its own.

The disaster occurred as the big DC-4 transport headed into the National Airport for a landing shortly before noon, flying at about 300 feet.

It was a routine stop on the Boston-New York - Atlanta - New Orleans run. Fifty-one passengers and a crew of four were aboard. Visibility was 15 miles. The ceiling was 6,500 feet.

Into the traffic pattern, calling for landing instructions, came a P-38 fighter piloted by Bolivia's top airman, Erick Rios Bridoux.

Keeps On Coming

An airport tower operator, a bare half-mile away, saw the two-engined P-38 bear down on the transport. He cried a radio warning to the 28-year-old Bolivian. The P-38 kept coming.

Then the tower frantically signalled the transport. The pilot swerved the big ship from its path, but too late.

The fighter ripped into it from above and from the side. The airliner split in halves. Bodies and wreckage fell into the water and along the bank of the Potomac.

The sole survivor was the Bolivian. He was dragged from the water with a possible broken back and other injuries. He mumbled to questioners that his "power"—presumbaly his radio power—had failed in the critical moments.

Among the dead were:

Representative George J. Bates (Rep. Mass.), 58, father of seven children, former mayor of Salem, Mass., and a member of the House of Representatives Armed Services Committee.

Gardner W. Taylor, 60, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of New York.

Theodore Martin Riehle, 58, whose firm is the New York General agent for the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Hundreds Gather

Within minutes after the crash, hundreds of people had gathered and ambulances were roaring to the scene. Would-be rescuers dragged bodies from the battered hulk of the plane at the water's edge. Others were pulled from the water. A baby was floating on the surface.

Glen D. Tigner, 21-year-old airport traffic controller, told reporters: "There just didn't seem to be any danger of an accident until the very last minute."

He gave Bridoux, who speaks excellent English, landing instructions, he said, and for a moment thought no more about it. "Then he was coming in steep and fast," related Tigner. He said he tried twice to order Bridoux out of the way of the bigger plane, but without success. Then he called the DC-4.

Torn In Two

"The airliner was swinging to the left when it happened. The fighter tore into the airliner's fuselage near the tail section on the right side. The DC-4 broke in two and debris began falling.

Witnesses who saw the crash were horrified. P. M. Clifford said:

"I ran to the river bank. I saw them bring a woman out of the wreckage, and then some men. They were terribly battered. I couldn't watch any more."

J. Donald Mayor said:

"I jumped out of my car and ran to a 50- or 60-foot section of the fuselage that crashed to the mud only a foot or two from the water's edge. I saw six legs with trousers on, probably the pilot's cabin. There was no noise, no groans or shouts."

The worst commercial airline disaster in previous years was the crash of an Eastern Airlines plane May 30, 1947, near Port Deposit, Md. A total of 53 died in that crash.

History's only air disaster greater than Tuesday's occurred in 1933, when the U.S. navy dirigible Akron fell into the sea during a storm off the New Jersey coast, carrying 73 men to their death.

big East Pittsburg plant decided unanimously to get out.

The local's recording secretary, Stanley Glass, said: "But we are still in the CIO."

The heads of four U.E. locals in Schenectady and Syracuse said they are standing by the CIO and plan to lead their units out of the left-wing international UEW. A total of more than 16,000 members are involved.

Preferred UE

The Farm Equipment Workers had been ordered nearly a year ago to merge with Reuther's Automobile Workers Union, which already claims more than 60,000 members in the farm machinery plants. But the F.E.'s left-wing leadership preferred to tie in with the U.E.

The resolution said the F.E.-U.E. merger was the first step in a protected new labor federation of left-wing unions.

Reuther's committee tonight or tomorrow will act on a resolution dealing with the 10 other unions under fire for what it regards as following Soviet policy more closely than CIO policy.

The third union marked for certain expulsion in the pre-convention speculation was the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

Murray Tuesday left little doubt that Mine-Mill will be booted out.

Sarcastically, he referred to Mine-Mill's efforts to get into the convention even though it was behind in dues nearly 10 months. Murray took a promissory note, but told the convention: "Of course it will never be paid."

Other unions which may feel the wrath of the right-wing majority are Bridges' Longshoremen, Fur and Leather Workers, the Furniture Workers, American Communications Association, Office and Professional Workers, Public Workers, Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers, Marine Cooks and Stewards, and Allied Fishermen.

Britain Reluctant Join Economic Union

PARIS, Nov. 2 (AP)—Britain, with commonwealth ties the world over, still is reluctant to join in a European economic union.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, made that clear Tuesday in commenting on United States warnings that western Europe faces economic disaster unless it breaks down national trade barriers.

Sir Stafford, at a meeting of the general council of the organization for European economic co-operation, said Britain favored European unity. But, he said, because of her position in the commonwealth and as a leader in the sterling area.

Sees Good Times For Ontario

KINGSTON, Nov. 2 (CP)—Premier Frost said Tuesday night that "bright days are ahead" for Ontario.

In a speech at the opening of Kingston's annual Trade Fair, he said Ontario has made a great deal of the "spectacular" progress in Canada since the First World War. Private and public capital investment in Ontario was maintaining its record-breaking pace.

"Capital investment in Canada in 1949 is estimated at $3,200,000,000 or seven per cent higher than last year. Of this, Ontario's proportion is about one-half. In the last four years there has been about $1,000 of new capital investment for every man, woman and child in Ontario."

Mr. Frost said mineral production in Ontario is hitting new levels, with more than $250,000,000 of new wealth produced last year.

Progress also had been made in housing. In 1948 more than 26,000 housing units were completed in the province. This year more than 35,000 would be built.

Construction Delayed On Windsor Highway

WINDSOR, Nov. 2 (CP)—Start on further construction of a dual highway between Windsor and Toronto will be delayed for an indefinite time, Highways Minister Doucett said Tuesday in an interview.

"Many other roads have to be repaired before we can consider the dual road to Toronto," he added.

"No more major projects are planned for this year, and I have no idea when we will be able to get to the Windsor-Toronto road."

"Windsor is the largest port of entry into Canada and many tourists want to go to Northern Ontario. The new highway to Barrie allows them to save valuable time by by-passing Toronto traffic and heading on a direct route north."

Discuss Shorter Hours

TORONTO, Nov. 2 —(CP)—A Toronto paper says today it has learned that Ontario liquor-sale hours will be discussed next Wednesday at a caucus of 53 Progressive Conservative members of the legislature. Recent reports have indicated a shortening of the hours of liquor sale was being considered.

recommended "a breathing space for essential training and the strengthening of its men and ships." This, presumably, would mean a temporary halt in operational training for an anti-submarine role to allow greater consolidation of the force.

It said, too, that criticisms should not hide the fact that "a great deal also is overwhelmingly right" about the service.

The Commission was named last spring to investigate a series of "incidents"—sit-down strikes—aboard three warships, the aircraft carrier Magnificent and the destroyers Athabaskan and Crescent. Its members were Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, Naval Chief of the East Coast; L. W. Brockington, Ottawa lawyer; and L. C. Audette, of the Canadian Maritime Commission, a wartime naval officer.

Of its primary mission, the Commission found no justification for "mutinous incidents" and said they should have been punished. But it did find "justification for some of the complaints on which part of the dissatisfaction was founded."

Growing Discontent

"They came to a head because of the gradual and continuous murmurs of discontent against a series of small annoyances and a few basic injustices . . . there were many conditions which contributed or which could and should have been mitigated modified or eliminated (but) there was no cause sufficiently strong to justify in any degree the insubordination that took place."

The Commission found no subversive elements behind the incidents but said one had a chain reaction on the other and that all three were related to a 1947 strike aboard the cruiser Ontario. The executive officer—adjutant—was removed from the Ontario and his counterparts were large figures in the other three disputes.

All were ended, the Commission said, after the captains talked to the men—a total of 205—and there were no punishments.

Among the men the Commission found "an almost universal complaint concerning changes in routine." A great deal of trouble arose from "unpopularity" of the executive officers. Two were inexperienced. The third was "too dominating."

Poor Choices

Insufficient care was exercised in their choice. There were far too many changes in officers. There appeared to be "an absence of close confidence not only between officers and men but in a large degree between officers and petty officers."

Absence of welfare committees —for officer-men discussions — was a "serious lack." There was no method at all for communicating mass grievances to the captain.

There was a wide opinion that "there still is too great an attempt to make the Canadian navy a pallid imitation and reflection of the British navy. . . This is in no sense a criticism of the Royal navy. . ." Among navy men there was a widespread feeling that "the Canadian navy should be more Canadian."

The present system of training officers partly at a Canadian cadet college, partly with the Royal navy should be lengthened and broadened. The cadet should go to a Canadian training ship and study should be given to exchanges with the U. S, navy.

The Canadian officers' training did not equal that given his British and American contemporaries It should be widened to include more of the humanities and "the qualities of leadership," of the "duties, the responsibilities, the principles and the practices of disciplinary leadership."

Urge Canada Cut Tariffs To Aid UK Trade

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 — (CP). — The Social Credit and CCF Parties — often at political odds—found themselves on common ground in Parliament Tuesday.

They agreed that Canada should reduce tariffs to maintain and expand trade with the United Kingdom and sterling-area countries.

[illegible] from Morrin, Alta., said his party supports a CCF non-confidence motion in the government.

The motion, introduced by Ross Thatcher (CCF-Moose Jaw) last week in the form of a sub-amendment to the budget resolution, calls on the government to:

"Give immediate consideration to a reduction of tariffs sufficient to encourage an increase in imports from the United Kingdom and other sterling countries."

Mr. Quelch divided Canada's trade problem into two sections—one involving the United States, the other involving overseas trade. Each would have to be solved separately.

Must Buy More

At present Canada sold a lot more to the United Kingdom than she bought from that market. She must be prepared to buy more in order to balance the overseas trade.

As for the US, Canada bought considerably more than she exported to that country. Either she must buy less from the US or sell more to the US.

In order to encourage UK trade Canada must make it easier for UK goods to enter Canada and to be sold at competitive prices. The answer lay in reduced tariffs and elimination of red tape in customs regulations.

Another farmer, Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia), offered the suggestion that Canada take over part of India's sterling balance in the United Kingdom.

At present India had a large amount of sterling tied up in the United Kingdom. Canada should buy part of this sterling balance by paying for it with Canadian dollars. The UK and India then could use these Canadian dollars for purchase in Canada.

Won't Abolish Fee

At House opening, Revenue Minister McCann—replying to a question by John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre)—said there is nothing to reports that the $2,50 radio licence fee would be abolished next year.

Dr. W. G. Blair (PC-Lanark) urged the government to protect the Canadian textile industry against competition from the United Kingdom and other countries.

Dr. Blair, whose Ontario constituency contains 11 woollen textile mills, said some, Canadian mills may soon close down because of the excessive competition from Britain and other countries using the advantages they gained by devaluation of their currencies.

Dr. Blair said he does not favor return to higher tariffs. He would prefer action to clear the way for purchase by Canadian companies of more efficient machinery from the United Kingdom.

New machinery is needed to enable Canadian mills to compete with other countries. In some cases the machinery is obsolete, and in others it is worn out as a result of 24-hour-a-day service during the war years.

Some mills wanted to replace machinery, but could not obtain it from the United Kingdom. Reports indicated that British exports of machinery to European countries was greater than in the pre-war years.

Do Free Enterprises Practise What They Preach?

The Americans are the loudest, plushiest and most vigorous exponents of free enterprise on the face of the globe. In fact, they invented the term as a substitute for phrases such as capitalism, private profit, competition and other good, common words which became unpopular during the depression. The material prosperity of the American nation is partial proof that the system has worked. But free enterprise is not the only ingredient which went into the building up of American production; in fact, the late nineteenth century cartels, monopolies and tariff walls—all of which restrict free enterprise—played a large part in American industry, business and finance. There are still vast combines and monopoly tendencies which would shackle freedom of enterprise, and which Washington is constantly being called on to investigate. What some businessmen and industrialists seem to mean by "free enterprise" is freedom for themselves and not for anybody else or any other parallel industry or business.

The wartime chief of the American Army Service Forces, General Brehon Somervell who was in charge of military supplies and is now president of a large American firm, recently spoke to the Baltimore Association of Commerce. He said, "Government has usurped the decisions which formerly were made by individuals and regulated by economic laws . . . Government decides what is and what is not restraint of trade for business, but very carefully avoids deciding what is or what is not restraint of trade when applied to labour unions and other political blocs". His reference to labour practices is particularly cogent in view of the U.S. steel strike and the dominance of union leaders like John L. Lewis, who wields his power with the ruthlessness of a nineteenth century monopolist.

But Mr. Somervell hit business as well, and hit hard:

"Do not think that the use of this power is only sought by bureaucrats, or by those who would travel the last mile to socialism. When Averell Harriman was Secretary of Commerce he told me that I would be amazed at the number of so-called rugged industrialists, business leaders, who trooped to him to try to get the Department of Commerce to use its influence in their behalf against their competitors".

His advice, almost a warning, was: "If we, as businessmen, believe in reasonable liberty of action for management, we must not ourself seek in private the things we decry in public".

* * *

What is true of American commerce and industry is to some extent true of Canadian. Lip-service to the doctrine of free enterprise in Canada 'cloaks' a good many monopolistic traits which impede free enterprise. There are industrial and commercial empires in this country vaster than American ones, considering the relative populations and national incomes. Any action taken by the Federal Government to strengthen the Combines Investigation Act will be warmly approved by all sincere supporters of the free enterprise system. As the Windsor Star remarks, it has been rather ineffectual legislation because of the difficulties in securing convictions.

* * *

The urge which industry and commerce have to restrict freedom of enterprise in international trade has always been noticeable and often strongly effective. National political parties have even adopted "protection" as a slogan, and identified themselves in the eyes of many voters with manufacturing interests because of the high tariffs they have imposed. The chief implement of Sir John A. Macdonald's "National Policy" of 1878-1896 was the tariff. What are tariffs but special protection on a national scale to relieve industry of outside competition? The more free trade there is the more free enterprise has room to flourish. We shall be surprised if some very intensive lobbying in Ottawa and Washington does not occur in the coming months to "protect" various Canadian and American industries from British competition. We shall also be surprised if some of the groups applying the pressure to Ottawa and Washington do not include those who talk ardently about the virtues of free enterprise.

A Move To Rid Parliament Of Divorce Cases

Mr. Stanley Knowles, Member of Parliament for Winnipeg North Centre introduced a bill to Parliament last Thursday which, if passed, would free Parliament from the necessity of considering hundreds of divorce cases every session, a job for which it is not fitted and which it should not have to do.

As Mr. Knowles explained, there are at present courts of divorce and matrimonial causes in all the provinces except Quebec and Newfoundland. In these provinces, a plaintiff can obtain dissolution of marriage only by a private Act [illegible] ber of divorce cases from Quebec has considerably increased in the last ten years, this procedure for that and various other reasons is becoming more and more objectionable. The purpose of this Bill is to provide that the Exchequer Court of Canada would in future have jurisdiction in divorce in the case of actions originating from Quebec and Newfoundland. The jurisdiction as to alimony, care of the children and other matrimonial causes would remain in the provincial courts of those two provinces.

This Bill would not change the grounds for divorce. It would not establish divorce courts in Quebec or Newfoundland. It would not make available to persons residing in Quebec or Newfoundland anything not now available to them. It would merely transfer the hearing of divorce petitions, in the case of persons residing in these two provinces, from Parliament to the Exchequer Court of Canada.

The Bill's chances of being accepted are slim. Even on the first formal reading members spoke out against it. Quebec members, who have the conviction of their Roman Catholic religion and the weight of the Church behind them in this matter, would feel that it was the thin edge of the wedge to make divorce in Quebec easy, and that it would make it legal. The only way this very sensible measure could pass—it is, incidentally, not sponsored by a Government member, but by the C.C.F.—would be to permit members to vote freely and not by Party.

We Feel A Little Hurt, K-W

Last Saturday the Honourable Paul Martin, Federal Minister of Health, laid the corner-stone of a new Kitchener-Waterloo hospital which, the proud citizens of the twin cities believe, will cost them only $2,500,000. Mr. Martin said some interesting and polite things suitable to the occasion. For instance he told K-W folk that by 1953 or sooner the government's target of 40,000 new hospital beds will have been reached. He also told them that "Kitchener and Waterloo are in the van of Canada's movement to bring our hospital and health services to the highest level in the world". That rather piqued us.

We grant that the Minister of Health had to pass out some verbal flowers prettily applicable to the occasion, but has Mr. Martin never heard of Peterborough's new Civic Hospital, now rising grandly on top of one of our seven hills? Has Mr. Martin never driven through the outskirts of the city along Highway 28 and seen the arrows pointing to it and even identifying it by sign as Peterborough's New Civic Hospital. Our hospital compared with Kitchener-Waterloo's is very much in the van: it was begun two years ago. Moreover, it is costing no mere two-and-a-half million dollars; it is rising to the tune of more than three-and-a-half million dollars. Put that in your pipe and smoke it, K-W. Put it into your hospital and you would have something imposing to crow about, and from—if you could find as good a hill as ours on which to build it.

We shall salve our hurt caused by Mr. Martin's words by recollecting that no mere Mr. Martin laid our hospital corner-stone. We had a Viscount and Knight of the Garter—the Governor-General himself. And if we really wanted to be spiteful, we could whisper an aside to K-W. Our hospital was scheduled to cost only 2½ millions when work started on it; maybe by the time you have finished with yours, you too will have a 3½ or four million dollar ($4,000,000.00) bill to pay.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Today's diet motto: the proof of the pudding is in the vitamins.

As is life were not mysterious enough a friend reminds us that we never go to bed the same day we get up, but we always get up the same day we go to bed.

A psychologist in the U.S.A. says that one marriage in six is extremely happy; only one in twenty is extremely unhappy. This still leaves excellent odds in favour of marriage.

A medical columnist is asked the queer question, "Do bad teeth cause callouses on the feet". If they do, it is obviously on the feet of the dentist, who spends the best years of his life standing over a hot drill.

From The Critic's Notebook

TURVEY, by Earle Birney (McClelland & Stewart).

Birney subtitles this story "a military picaresque", that is, fiction relating to rogues in arms, and it is written, fittingly, in the language of the barracks, not of the drawing room.

Thomas Leadbeater Turvey is a Canadian Army private, baffled by reams of red tape, and with a genius for trouble. He is basically trained, inoculated, vaccinated, intimately inspected, jailed, confined to barracks, [illegible] because of an innocent and burning desire to serve as an infantryman with the Kootenay Highlanders.

Turvey is a Chaplin type of hero. The Army is too big and bewildering for him to understand, but no matter what indignities he suffers, it does not squelch his irremediable stupidity or his unquenchable spirit. The chief figure in a comedy of errors, he and the Canadian Army frustrate each other in a frenzy of misunderstanding and confusion from Niagara-on-the-lake to Nijmegen and back.

Marvellous to relate, the recounting of these adventures is hilariously and uproariously funny for three hundred pages of fun and games. This book is really Something for the Boys, and the prudish had better stay as far away from it as they would from an army reunion. It is ex-soldiers of the Canadian army who will best appreciate such scenes as these: Turvey, at Niagara-on-the-Lake, being court-martialed for overstaying his leave with Miss Ruby O'Reilly and Miss Helga Bolinski, employees of the Earthquake Aircraft Corporation, defended by a paymaster who has been sent back from England for paying off "the same regiment twice in one week in a burst of alcoholic benevolence".

Turvey marooned in a mine field after his first visit to an English pub.

Turvey, on leave, being fleeced by a CWAC, and losing his uppers in St. James Park during a daylight raid.

Turvey at his Quixotic best, on guard behind the lines in Germany, mistaking his greatcoat, hung on a post, for a moonlit paratrooper, and opening fire.

Here is the Army, unglossed, uncensored and hamstrung as usual. Birney knows it from A to Z and his satire is brilliant. True, he was an officer in the Canadian Army himself, but he was also a newsboy, a farm labourer, a ditch-digger, a bank clerk, a logger, a sailor, so he is able to see army life from both ends of the telescope. He has particularly good fun with the army psychiatrists, who, like Charlie Chaplin's persecutors, are usually a good deal farther from the truth than their bedeviled victim. Turvey exits, wiser at last, thumbing his nose at Intelligence Tests.

It is to be hoped that the author's rather transparent substitution of vowels will appease the censors and Pecksniffs. There is nothing dirty about this book for there is no reference to anything abnormal or unhealthy. The dialogue is of the Rabelasian variety really used by soldiers since long before Caesar. As Turvey himself says in the introduction "he's sorry about some of their language but the real guys talked a lot worse, and he hopes there ain't any sailors present". Compared to some of the fashionable tales of decadence, it is as fresh as a prairie wind. A rather high wind.

Yes, the author is Earle Birney, the distinguished poet. He was in fact the literary editor of "Canadian Forum" from 1936 to 1940, when on the staff of the University of Toronto. He has been editor of Canadian Poetry Magazine, and is at present in the English department of the University of British Columbia. How he is going to keep order in class, after publishing "Turvey" is Professor Birney's worry. If it was about the American Army instead of the Canadian, the proceeds would keep him for life, and he wouldn't have to.

No veteran, reader or not, should miss this. Nor anyone else with a healthy sense of humour.

FORTUNE, My FOE by Robertson Davies (Clarke, Irwin)

The publication of plays for the reading public is a thing of this century. Before 1900 it was uncommon for a publisher to put a play in a book unless it was the work of a "standard" author. And although plays are now published regularly in England and the U.S.A. the appearance of a native play on a Canadian publisher's lists is still unusual.

This play, which was first performed in Kingston in 1948, has since then been acted many times in many parts of Canada. For this reason the publishers have thought that an edition suitable for reading might be welcome, and have brought it out in an attractive form, which includes Grant Macdonald's design for the stage setting. The play itself deals with one of Canada's apparently insoluble problems—the attraction of the U.S.A. for Canadians of talent; it also has something to say about the influx of European displaced persons into this country, and their possible influence on the land which has adopted them.

Canadian plays are still a rarity. To write them, in a country which is without much theatre activity may seem a strange and fruitless pursuit. Nevertheless, the writing of plays may do something to bring about a theatre for them, and a theatre has been a mark of civilization for three thousand years.

THE PORTABLE MATTHEW ARNOLD, edited by Lionel Trilling (Macmillan)

Though all are good, some volumes in the 'Portable' series are better than others: this collection of work of Matthew Arnold is one of the best that I have seen. Its compiler and editor, Lionel Trilling, is a distinguished scholar and biographer of Arnold, and he has prepared a collection of the poems, literary criticisms, and letters of Arnold which is a model. It is particularly satisfactory to have some of Arnold's [illegible] political essays in the book.

Matthew Arnold suffers from an un[illegible] t reputation for coldness and dry intell[illegible] uality. He is not the most passionate poets, but passion is not everything, and the quality of Arnold's thought and the sensitivity of his feeling mark him as one of the great Victorians. He was a great critic, and as a political thinker he possesses the British virtue of common sense, allied with a classical calm of outlook. To the present writer, at least, he has never seemed cold or forbidding, though he is sober. The schoolboy's judgement on Arnold's work—"No place to go for a laugh"—is true, but most decidedly Arnold has the qualities of a great scholar and humanist. Let us hope that this compilation will introduce him to a new and appreciative group of readers.

Letter To The Editor

IMPERIAL OIL'S RESPONSE

Sir: Your recent editorial "Squeezing the Consumer" has come to hand only today and we felt that you would in fairness be interested in reading our comment on it.

We can, of course, speak only for this company and it is our board policy to apply increases or decreases in price of inventory on hand. As evidence that this policy works also to the advantage of the consumer the price reduction on heating and lighting oils on October 21st was made retroactive to the removal of sales tax—midnight October 20th. However, the sales tax is levied when products leave the refinery and so we had to take a loss on literally millions of gallons of products which had already been moved from our refineries to storage throughout the country.

It is true that in July of 1946 when the Canadian dollar was restored to parity there was not an immediate reduction in oil product prices. However, on July 5th when parity was restored, the crude oil markets which supply us were giving every evidence of strengthening and it would have been confusing to announce price reductions and almost immediately go into reverse. Within less than three weeks the price of crude increased by 25 cents a barrel which more than offset the reduction of 18 cents a barrel resulting from parity. Again on November 15th, 1946, there was a further increase of 9 cents per barrel which brought our crude oil costs to nearly 20 per cent. more than on July 5th. On the other hand, wholesale prices of petroleum in Canada did not increase until January, 1947, when gasoline and fuel oil were raised approximately half a cent a gallon in Ontario.

It is easy for the reader of the second paragraph of your editorial to infer collusion on the part of the oil companies in raising prices. This charge has been made from time to time and has been proved to be without foundation. What is overlooked when charges of this nature are made is that economic factors apply equally to all companies. Devaluation, for instance, does not affect one company and not another. Should you have any evidence of collusion or price fixing the Combines Investigation Commissioner at Ottawa would undoubtedly be interested in seeing it.

In your last paragraph you say you would like to see the reasons stated for the increase in the prices of Alberta crude oil following devaluation, and you quote in italics "to permit Alberta fields to come back into balance with world prices." We will agree that it is difficult for anyone who is not well acquainted with oil economics to understand this fully. Perhaps the best explanation of the statement lies in a report made in 1940 by the Alberta Royal Commission following an extensive investigation into the oil industry. The report stated in part: "In short, the Commission finds that the price of Turner Valley crude oil is set by world wide competition and that at prevailing prices and under prevailing conditions, is in dynamic equilibrium with prices elsewhere."

In this connection, the Commission also stated: "It may not be as well understood, or as well remembered, that the Petroleum industry is a competitive industry; that it is world wide in its ramifications and that the petroleum industry in Alberta, in any of its branches, including production, refining and marketing, cannot be viewed except as part of a world picture".

The petroleum industry is a large volume low-unit-profit business and small fractions of a cent in price are of extreme importance. You may be interested in glancing through the enclosed copy of this company's annual report for 1948. On page 29 you will find a graphic presentation of earnings per unit and on page 31 the relative performance of wholesale gasoline prices and prices of other commodities. We think these should dispel any idea that the consumer is not being fairly dealt with.

In closing it may be of interest to you to know that we receive 23.6 cents per gallon for regular grade gasoline sold in Peterborough. The difference between that and what you pay is made up in government tax and dealer margin.

Yours truly,
W. F. PRENDERGAST,
Assistant to the President
Imperial Oil Limited.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

When a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity and dieth in them; for his iniquity that he hath done shall he die. Again, when the wicked man turneth away from his wickedness that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive. Because he considered, and turneth away from all his transgressions that he hath committed, he shall surely live, he shall not die.

Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my ways equal? are not your ways unequal? Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his ways, saith the Lord God. Repent, and turn yourselves from all your transgressions; so iniquity shall not be your ruin. (Ezek. 18: 26-30.)

A BRITISH OPINION

Blame Inexperience of Navy Officers

Declare Mutinous Incidents Caused By Desire For Canadianization of Fleet

OTTAWA, Nov. 2— (CP) —A three-man commission Tuesday reported "Evidence of general inexperience of many officers, chiefs and petty officers" aboard Canadian warships where "mutinous incidents" occurred early this year.

A 27,000-word report, tabled in the Commons by Defence Minister Claxton, said the Commission had found, too, "a prevalent opinion that there is an 'artificial distance' between officers and men not wholly connected with the necessity of maintaining the essential differences in rank."

The Commission reported "a very real and almost universal opinion among the men that the Canadian navy was not sufficiently Canadian.

The report found "no justification" for the incidents but said there "was justification for some of the complaints on which part of the dissatisfaction was founded."

Already Acted On

Mr. Claxton told the house 40 per cent of the Commission's 41 recommendations for improvement have already been acted on or are being implemented.

The report was made after more than six months of questioning hundreds of officers and men and from study of their statements by Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, L. C. Audette and Leonard W. Brockington. They were named to investigate the "incidents" but had broad powers of recommendation.

The "incidents" involved, in all, some 100 men aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent and the cruiser Ontario.

The Commission said they were "technically 'mutinies' although apart from the barring of mess deck doors on the Athabaskan and Crescent no force was used, nor was there any open defiance of a High Officer's order."

It said: "there was no justification and could be no justification for the mutinous incidents nor for any form of mass insubordination. There was justification for some of the complaints on which part of the dissatisfaction was founded."

Other Conclusions

Other conclusions on the "incident" by the Commission:

1. Many of the complaints and the likelihood of some form of "trouble" were known to some Petty Officers and Leading Seamen, whose clear duty it was to report such conditions promptly and fully. The reports were not made.

2. In addition, some divisional and other officers had a strong suspicion or should have had a strong suspicion that things were not well within their ships.

3. Had the various captains and executive officers been fully informed, the incidents might well have been prevented.

4. In any event, if Welfare Committees had been properly constituted and allowed to function, it is probable that none of the incidents would have happened.

5. In future, insubordination should be most severely punished.

Suggests Reform

6. In the meantime, immediate and thorough consideration should be given to a reform of the procedure governing the airing of general grievances and to strengthening the widening of the organization of Welfare Committees.

7. We do not believe that there are any so-called "subversive" forces at work in the navy or that any such elements were responsible for the incidents. Like many other similar happenings phases of discontent, exaggeration of grievance, folly and thoughtless action.

8. The legitimate grievance which we have outlined in our report should be promptly and sympathetically investigated and remedied."

The report added:

"We have dealt at length with changes in the service, which we believe should be made, and have particularly stressed the training and education of officers, Petty Officers and men. We have also recommended a number of reforms and additional facilities designed to improve morale and so to strengthen the best and truest form of discipline.

Canadianize Navy

"We have also sought to interpret the wishes of the great majority of men by stressing the need to 'Canadianize' our navy. In so doing, we wish to record that in common with most throughtful Canadians, we have an abiding admiration and respect for the grand traditions and institutions of the Royal Navy and for their continuing beneficent and steadying force wherever British and Canadian ships may sail.

"We hope that all that is good in these shared traditions will remain with us and that only what is inefficient and inconsistent with our national need, character, dignity and special conditions will disappear from the navy of Canada.'

On the subject of the "artificial distance" between men and officers, the commission said the "only discipline which in the final analysis is worthwhile is one one that is based on pride in a great service, a belief in essential justice and the willing obedience that is given to superior character, skill, education and knowledge."

Ask $290,000 Losses Exempted From Taxes

TORONTO, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Counsel for the estate of the late Ray McLaughlin claimed Tuesday losses of $290,000 incurred in operating a farm at nearby Oshawa, should be exempt from income taxes levied against the estate. The case is being heard in Exchequer Court.

Mr. McLaughlin, nephew of R. S. McLaughlin, chairman of the Board of Directors of General Motors of Canada, Ltd., died in 1947, leaving an estate of $1,278,607.

Wilfred Judson, counsel for the estate, said Mr. McLaughlin, was a "bona fide" farmer who expected to make his full living from the farm and therefore his losses should be deducted from his income as calculated for tax purposes.

St. Mike's Take Grid Tilt Over St. Pete's

Jumping to an early lead, a mixture of junior and senior footballers from St. Michael's College of Toronto trimmed the local St. Peter's High School juniors 28-6 on the back campus of the University of Toronto Tuesday afternoon. This was the return game with St. Mike's whose junior squad edged the St. Pete's squad [illegible] tions.

In the first two minutes of the game after St. Peter's had forced St. Mike's well into their territory after the kickoff the Irish from Toronto roared back to score an unconverted touch. In the second quarter St. Pete's notched one major to two for St. Mike's making the score 17-6 at the half. The Toronto boys added another in the third and one more on the last play of the game to make it 28-6.

Outweighing the Peterborough boys plenty, the Toronto seniors (reserves of the St. Mike's firsts) had a hard time stopping the determined St. Pete's boys. An air attack which showed results of many practices hemmed the SPHS squad well in their zone during the last half of the game. The plunging of the heavier Toronto boys was made much simpler by the large holes ripped in the St Pete's line by the big college linemen.

Rolled Along

Whenever the St. Michael's coaches put the junior players on the field, the St. Peter's High School gained yards. In fact on the first appearance of the junior St. Mike's squad, Brioux ran back a kick of 65 yards for the only Peterborough major with the extra point being obtained by Armstrong flipping to Cavanagh. The junior boys were immediately taken out of the game and used sparingly in the second half.

As in the previous games this year the St. Peter's squad were successful for the first half of the game with most of their passes which were mostly short snap passes for a gain of five yards In the third and fourth quarters they resorted to long forwards which were either intercepted by the bigger Toronto boys or knocked down. Picard, Armstrong and Richardson were trying their hand at throwing passes. Burns and Tom Cavanagh were the main receivers for the Petes.

Meanwhile the St. Mike's boys were successful with nearly all their passes making about the same number of yards on the passing plays as they did on their long plunges through the centre of the line and skirting the end position. Paul Roche was "the glass arm boy" as well as doing some plunging and kicking. Tattersall was the boy with the eager hands for the pigskin on the passes.

Magaverro, Tattersall and Ingoldsby were the main yard gainers for the St. Mike's boys on the ground. Tattersall once through the St. Pete's line did some nice broken field running several times for gains of 18 yards.

Prince Of Wales Get 2-0 Win In Playoffs

King George senior soccer eleven were eliminated from the play-offs by Prince of Wales aggregation 2-0 Tuesday afternoon They had played a three-all two-hour game last week. Coit, Prince of Wales goalie, was the star of the game along with Evans for the winners; for the losers Barker, Withers and Barclay.

Right from the kick-off, both forward lines set up a steady barrage on goal, with McIlmoyle of King George holding them in check as Downer and Evans missed by inches. McKenzie, Fuller and Roote, King George half made by Evans and company. Eventually Evans whipped a stinging drive into the far corner of the upright for the opening counter from 20 yards out. On resuming it was evident that King George were out to get the equalizer but it never materialized owing to the effective defensive tactics played by Bowes and Heron, while Coit, Prince of Wales custodian was brilliant in saving terrific drives labelled for the goal. The East City boys kept up the pressure continuously to confine the activities to the Westenders' area. In the last 10 minutes, Downer, Evans and Lowell opened up a series of raids that resulted in many dangerous shots on goal. Evans dribbled his way past three men in succession then lashed a terrific drive towards goal. McIlmoyle failed to hold the ball that rolled through his arms into goa to make it 2-0.

King George—P. McIlmoyle, goal; D. Barclay and J. Found, full backs; R. McKenzie, R Fuller and D. Roote, half backs; A. Barker, B. Simpson, R. Withers, B. Fairs and D. Crowder, forwards. Subs: D. Fell, C. Butcher. O. Thompson and F. Johnson.

Prince of Wales—D. Coit, goal; H. Bowes and J. Heron, full backs; B. Speirs, G. Pagett and C. Whitney, half backs; K. Lowell, L. Barrie, P. Evans, B. Faeirs and W. Downer, forwards. Subs: D. Livingston, H. Pullybank, B. Dummett.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

This little tale came to mind the other day. Probably we were thinking of the Midland-Legion puck tilt here tonight—or else that snow would soon blot out the scars of summer's ending. Anyway, it occurred several years back on a January evening. On Murray St. near the Legion Hall. Now, at that time, Civic Arena was not in existence, and the Petes and Legions feuded fiercely. The Petes had the "in" at Omemee, and the luckless Legionnaires were lucky to get the odd "home" game in Lindsay or Bobcaygeon—or as far away as Haliburton. The night we speak of, they were pulling out in cars for a Bobcaygeon engagement.

* * * * * * *

A few indolent flakes still drifted down, but the fury of the midwinter storm had passed. Eight inches of snow and an icy wind combined to keep most folks indoors, though there are never too many strolling or driving along this stretch of Murray St. in winter. At the moment, the only moving objects seen on the street were an elderly little lady hurrying homeward and a peevish motorist alternately cranking his car and getting in behind the wheel to tramp on the starter. He was taking some of the players, if he got started, while a few of us stood by watching his vain efforts in the cold and snow.

* * * * * * *

The Guy Was Peeved

As the little old lady approached, her ears were assailed by a blistering blast of profanity aimed indiscriminately at the weather, the hour and the vehicle. It was a whole-hearted swearing effort by a bitter man, a driver who probably picked it up as an overseas sergeant-major. We hasten to add that he was not one of the Legion players, but was there voluntarily as a driver. A pleasant chap, ordinarily, but our clime can be extremely trying at times. Impatient players in the car weren't helping any, either, so the guy just up and blasted everything on general principles.

* * * * * * *

"See here, my man", the old woman cried sternly as she drew abreast of the stalled car, "such language is a disgrace." Red-faced, he straightened up from the crank and said: "Look, lady, I'm having enough trouble now trying to get this blinkety-blank bus moving, and late, too, without getting a lecture on my language." Nothing daunted—as we gaped at her—the woman held her ground. "Profanity is both sinful and useless, and it certainly doesn't appear to be helping you out of your dilemma, does it?" The guy looked at her a moment, controlling himself obviously, then inquired sarcastically: "And what would you suggest, my good lady?"

* * * * * * *

Praying Is A Help

She hesitated. "Well, not swearing, anyway. You might even try a prayer. If it doesn't help you, at least it won't harm you. And failing that, there is a garage just over there on George St., no doubt with capable mechanics." She had a good point there, the mechanic part, whatever about praying. Though, of course, praying is good, too. We had been wondering why the guy didn't dash off and get a mechanic, but our immediate worry was when would the car, which was taking us, arrive and get away in the heavy going for 'Caygeon. A rough trip likely, and a tough tussle in a runty little rink. No game, of course, if the players from Peterborough didn't arrive.

* * * * * * *

Anyway, we listened to the old lady's lecture with interest. You couldn't help but admire her dauntless attack—and she seemed such a frail little soul. In somewhat better humor, the driver grinned: "Okay, lady, I'll try the prayer first." And he bowed his head briefly, his lips moving. Still grinning, he got in the car, stepped on the starter — and it took! He looked unbelievingly at her, gingerly shifted into low and slowly drove away. Part way up Murray St., he leaned out to wave gratefully to her. We could hear cheers from the players aboard. The elderly little lady watched them again speed as the tail-light grew dimmer. Then she murmured: "Well, I'll be d——d!"

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Six players from the American League and four from the National make up the 1949 major league all-star team, selected for the Associated Press by 116 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Only six of the 16 big league clubs, three in each circuit, are represented in the fourth annual all-star squad. Boston Red Sox topped all clubs with three representatives—Ted Williams in the outfield and southpaw Mel [illegible] ment.

Only two of the 10 men selected are holdovers from the 1948 all-star team. They are Stan Musial, slugging Cardinal outfielder and Williams. The latter is the only performer to be elected to all four teams since the poll was inaugurated in 1946.

George Kell of Detroit, who nosed out Wiliams for the unofficial American League batting title, was named on all but three ballots to win the third base post hands down.

Joining Kell in the infield are the Yankees' Tommy Henrich at first base and Phil Rizzuto at shortstop, and Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson at second base.

The smallest number of votes by a winner was garnered by Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner. The majors' home run king received 68 votes to beat out the Cards' Enos Slaughter, the Yankees' Joe DiMaggio and six other competitors for the third outfield position. Musial had an even 100 votes to join Kell, Williams and Robinson as the only athletes to poll 100 or more votes.

Roy Campanella of the Dodgers, who won the catching berth easily, was only one shy of the century figure.

The scarlet-coated Royal Canadian Mounted Police stole the show Tuesday night as the elite of the equine world gathered in New York's Madison Square Garden for the 61st National Horse Show.

The famed musical ride of the Mounties, long a favorite event of the extravaganza, brought all the pomp and color of the show to a climax.

The crowd of 10,000 saw 32 RCMP riders go through the intricate manoeuvres of the musical ride—one event of the show in which there is no competition—as some of the world's best horses competed in other varied events.

Feature of the opening-night program was the international military jumping event, won by [illegible]

Gordon Richards, Britain's champion jockey, rode his 251st winner Tuesday at Birmingham, Eng. The mount, Refund, paid 8 to 1.

It was the third time in his 25 year career he has ridden more than 250 winners in a single season. Richards needs 19 more winners in the 11 remaining days of the season to better his highest mark of 269, set in 1947. The 45 year old veteran has won 3,956 races, in his lifetime and has been the country's leading jockey 21 times since 1925.

J. H. Wyatt, president of the Stratford Kroehlers Hockey Club, Tuesday described as "premature" a report Bill MacKenzie will take over as coach of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit entry.

Wyatt said negotiations were proceeding with MacKenzie, coach of Brandon Wheat Kings last season, but the club has no announcement to make yet on whether MacKenzie will accept the job from which Leo Barbini resigned last week.

Durnan Facing Top Snipers In Chicago Tilt

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Big Bill Durnan of Montreal Canadiens, hockey's leading goaltender, will be up against the two top individual snipers at Chicago tonight. They haven't met in more than two weeks.

For Durnan, who has registered two shutouts in eight games, it may be a happy "reunion." He got [illegible] season Oct. 13.

But it shouldn't be a pushover. The Canadiens haven't been faring so well lately while the Black Hawks—paced by individual scoring leaders Doug Bentley and Metro Prystai—have been improving with two straight victories in their last two games

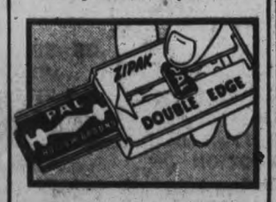
In two other National Hockey League games tonight, New York Rangers travel to Toronto for a game with the Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins meet the Red Wings at Detroit.

With all six clubs in action, the standings may get shuffled again. Right now, the leading Maple Leafs are only a point ahead of Montreal and Detroit and the other three clubs are in a triple-tie another three points back.

The Bruins will still have rookie netminder Jack Gelineau in the nets at Detroit. Gelineau has been scored on 23 times in his last three games. Says Bruin general manager Art Ross:

"Are we contemplating any moves involving Gelineau? Of course not. . . he stays."

Notice To Wrestling Fans



Due to alterations at Brock Arena, the new lighting over the ring will not be completed for Thursday night's bouts. The card for next week will be announced Saturday.

Hugh Bolton Turns Trick Marlies Edge Tigers 4-3

By The Canadian Press.

Toronto's Senior Marlboros have Hugh Bolton to thank for a 4-3 victory over Hamilton Tigers in Ontario Hockey Association Senior A competition.

The lanky Bolton turned the trick at Hamilton Tuesday night with only five seconds to go and the score 3-3. From well out on the ice, he backhanded a shot past Tiger goalie Bruce Dale.

In Tuesday night's other senior game, a three-goal lead built up during the first two periods enabled Owen Sound Mercurys to Dutchmen 3-2. It was the fifth straight victory for the Mercurys.

Meanwhile, in the junior circuit Syl Apps' unbeaten Toronto Marlboros swept to their fifth consecutive triumph by beating Oshawa Generals 5-2 at Toronto. Windsor Spitfires, on their home ice, stopped Barrie Flyers 3-1 and St. Catharines Teepees retained their grip on first place by defeating Guelph Biltmores 5-2. Toronto St. Michael's downed Galt Black Hawks 5-3 in Toronto.

Hollett On Toes

Outstanding besides Hugh Bolton in the Hamilton senior thriller were Flash Hollett, who scored two goals for the winners and Tom Smelle, who tallied twice for the losers. Don Rope got the other Toronto goal and Murray Comfort was the other Tiger scorer.

Tigers came from behind twice in the first two periods to overtake the Marlboros. At one time they banged home two goals in quick succession.

The Flying Dutchmen made a gallant last-period attack after trailing 3-0 at the start of the stanza in their game at Owen Sound. They scored twice and only magnificent goal tending by Owen Sound's Bobby Gilson kept them from tying the score of taking a lead. With the Dutchmen pressing continually, Gilson blocked 15 shots in the final period, after stopping another 15 earlier in the game. In the Kitchener-Waterloo nets, Bev Bentley turned aside 19 drives altogether.

Forslund scored twice for Owen Sound and Gillespie notched the third tally. Jack Shewchuk and D. Bauer came through for the Dutchmen, Shewchuk scoring on a 30-foo backhand shot.

Three-goal Lead

Toronto Junior Marlboros piled up a three-goal lead in the first period against Oshawa on tallies by George Armstrong, Tommy Fyles and Red Mitchell and in the second Larry Regan and Ed Windley made it 5-0. Near the end of the second frame, George Clements scored Oshawa's first goal of the night and Doug Towers clicked for Generals in the only goal scored during the third period.

Toronto St. Michael's came from behind in the second period to down Galt Black Hawks. The Hawks, spearheaded by a goal apiece from Joe Kilby and Pete Conacher, took the lead in the first period and held St. Michael's scoreless. St. Michael's came back in the second with two goals by George Labine, one by Bill Dineen and one by Bob Sabourin. George Ford scored Galt's last goal in the third period and Paul Alain of St. Michael's notched

In a rugged game at St. Catharines Guelph's Don Bellinger opened the scoring, Jack McIntyre of St. Catharines evened it up and Con Switzer put St. Catharines ahead. A lighting failure cut short the scoreless second period and the time was added onto the last period. St. Catharines went two up in the first half of the final period on a goal by Switzer but Dickenson cut their lead to one. In the final five minutes, Obie O'Brien and Norm Corcoran each added one for St. Catharines.

Three USHL Players Tied In Scoring Race

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 2—(AP)—A pair of Tulsa players and one from Minneapolis found themselves in a tie for the scoring leadership of the United States Hockey League at the end of the second week of play.

Three Kansas City Mohawks and Bob Schnurr, of Tulsa, were tied at nine points. The Hawks were Hank Blade, Harry Groves and Ray Powell. Blade counted seven goals and two assists, Grove and Powell have two goals and seven assists and Schnurr has counted three goals and helped in six others.

Minneapolis and St. Paul, with identical records in the six games they have played, were knotted in the league lead. Each has won four games, lost one and tied one for nine points.

Drag Cold Potomac For Bodies After Worst U.S. Air Crash

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Hour after tedious hour the sombre search of the cold Potomac River waters went on.

Silently the weary harbor police trailed their grappling irons from a half dozen rowboats.

Chill rain whipped the faces of those gathered on the river bank.

Still the search continued for the bodies of the victims in Tuesday's worst airplane crash in history. 55 dead in the collision of a Bolivian fighter craft.

When darkness came Tuesday night, more than a score of bodies had not been recovered. Police figured that all of those yet missing were in the river. As the night went on, a few more bodies were recovered but the progress was slow.

It was an eerie scene. Sticking out from a clump of small trees at the river's edge was the tail and fuselage of the big airliner. Its wings were shorn off, the four engines gone. Apparently they were on the river bottom, along with the P-38 fighter flown by the only survivor of the crash—28-year-old Erick Rios Bridoux, director of the Bolivian Air Force.

Floodlights In Play

Big floodlights played on the inky river from atop fire department trucks. Another searchlight had been set up on the bank.

Off to one side a corps of Red Cross women served coffee and sandwiches to the tired battalions hunting for the dead.

Occasionally one of the boats would break away from the other little craft about 100 feet off shore. Quietly the word went around and the men carrying a stretches would go down to the

Once in a while a water-soaked sheaf of personal papers was discovered floating on the water. And a man's white shirt, a woman's coat, a split-open brief case.

At the National Airport offices, three-quarters of a mile down the road, Eastern Airlines took over a big room where relatives and friends of the victims could go for the word they dreaded to hear.

Once a girl about 20 stepped up, her eyes already welling with tears. Was her grandfather's name on the list of passengers? Her chin trembled.

Down the list went the finger of the airline official. Then his finger halted and he looked up at the girl. Yes, the name was there.

The girl, too stunned to say more just stood and stared and tears started down her cheeks. Then she turned and walked slowly away. And the hearts of all in the room ached, too.

DREAM COMES TRUE—Joe Reddick, 12-year-old polio victim of London, Ont., won't have to be pushed to school any more by his brother, Mike, in a wagon. Paralyzed from the hips down, he now owns a midget auto made possible by a fund started in the city works department where his father is employed. Here he tries out his new possession as Cal Davey, left and Harry Chad, the garagemen who built the vehicle, look on.

Quash Conviction

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP)—The Appeal Court Tuesday quashed the conviction of Mrs. Aubrey Garland, prominent Ottawa socialite, on four charges of supplying beer to youths under 21. Mrs. Garland had been sentenced to one month in jail when she was convicted in Magistrate's Court last Sept. 9 on the charges.

Find Missing Men

BUCKINGHAM, Que., Nov. 2 (CP)—Raymond Chenier, 18, and Emile Martel, 24, who had been missing in the bushlands near here for more than 24 hours, were found Tuesday by searchers who had been combing the area.

Britten Says Children Intelligent Audience

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP) — Benjamin Britten, British composer of the tragic opera "Peter Grimes," said Tuesday the most appreciative and intelligent audiences in England are children from seven years upwards.

At a press conference he said young English people are taking music seriously, giving it as much prominence in their lives as sport.

He told of a youth, captain of a famous public school rugby team, who also sang in the school choir. Mr. Britten said the boy had declared that, if he had to drop the choir or football, he would drop football.

Rescue 226 People

HONG KONG, Nov. 2 (AP)—The British cruiser Belfast returned to Hong Kong today with 226 passengers from a Chinese ship stranded off Pratas Island in the South China Sea. (There was no explanation of an earlier report the Belfast had picked up 450 Chinese.) Most of the passengers of the Cheung Hsin, a converted tank landing ship, were Chinese Nationalist soldiers. The craft ran into trouble on the way from Amoy to Hainan Island.

Successful Flight

CHICAGO, Nov. 2—(AP)—The University of Chicago Tuesday reported its first night balloon flight in a cosmic-ray study series was completed successfully. Marcel Schein, professor of physics at the University's Institute for Nuclear Studies, said the flight, released last night, came to earth at London, Ont. It consisted of six large rubber balloons carrying a basket to which photographic plates were affixed. The cosmic rays make impressions of the plates.

Turpin Wins TKO Over Ross

BIRMINGHAM, England, Nov. 2 (CP)—George (Rockabye) Ross of West Bay Road, N. S., Tuesday night lost a fight and with it his chance in the near future for a shot at the British Empire middleweight championship.

Dick Turpin, the British middleweight titlist, won from Ross on a technical knockout when the referee stopped the bout in the seventh round. A badly cut left eye prevented Ross from finishing the scheduled 10-rounder.

Had Ross defeated Turpin he would have been in a good position to challenge Dave Sands for the Empire championship. Sands, triple-threat who holds the Australian middleweight, lightheavyweight and heavyweight titles, annexed the Empire middle crown in September when he knocked out Turpin in the first round.

Won't Be Candidate

DUDLEY, Worcestershire, Eng., Nov. 2 (Reuters)—Capt. Roy Farran, who flew here from Southern Rhodesia last Wednesday to be considered as a Conservative parliamentary candidate announced Tuesday night he is withdrawing in favor of his only rival, "a more experienced politician," F. H. Gerrand Goodhart, Labor. The 28-year-old captain, who has been marked down for death by the terrorist Israeli Stern gang, told reporters he is withdrawing "in view of the untoward attention which has been focussed on me. . ." In May, 1948, his younger brother Rex was killed by a parcel bomb intended for Capt. Farran and delivered to their home near Wolverhampton, Staffordshire.

Ask Controls Lifted

TORONTO, Nov. 2—(CP)—A resolution urging abolition of rent controls is to be discussed by the Ontario Property Owners' Association, now in convention here. The resolution, drafted Tuesday night, says in part: "The continued regulation of rents at uneconomic levels is causing tenants to occupy more space than they really require, and so creates an apparent shortage of housing accommodation which, in fact, does not exist."

To Illumine Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 2—(CP)—Illumination of Niagara Falls will be resumed tonight and will continue nightly through the winter, Mayor William L. Houck announced Tuesday. The action follows a plea from Mayor Houck to Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders. Nightly illumination of the falls was discontinued in October when power conservation measures were brought into effect.

Made No. 1 Admiral

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—(AP)—Vice-admiral Forrest P. Sherman, known as a trouble-shooting "compromise expert," was named Tuesday to succeed Admiral Louis Denfeld as chief of naval operations in the row over national defence. The White House said President Truman will give Sherman his commission as the United States navy's No. 1 admiral today.

Accepts Date

REGINA, Nov. 2—(CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan has accepted Prime Minister St. Laurent's proposed date for a Dominion-Provincial conference on constitutional matters in a letter mailed Tuesday. Mr. St. Laurent suggested Monday the conference be held Jan. 10.

Cartoonist Killed

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—(AP)—Helen Hokinson, noted for her cartoons in the New Yorker magazine and elsewhere depicting bosomy suburban matrons, was among 55 persons who died Tuesday in an air collision at Washington.

Lindsay Crushes Oakwood Oaks 7-4

LINDSAY, Nov. 2 — Scoring five goals in the last period, Lindsay Intermediates scored a 7-4 victory over Oakwood Oaks in the opening game of the newly formed Lindsay and District Hockey League. Mike Burns, Lou Hennessey and Jack Conley each scored two goals for Lindsay, with Austin Trent adding the other. Jerry Jenkins turned the hat trick for Oakwood.

8 T. V. Applications

CALGARY, Nov. 2 (CP)—A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC's board of governors, said Tuesday there have been eight applications by private operators for television licences in Canada. "Four were from Toronto, two from Montreal and one each from New Westminster, B.C., and Hamilton," he said. He said a report of an interview in Victoria last week "left out three little words—in British Columbia" when quoting him as saying only one application had been received.

Wardien Happy With New Team

REGINA, Nov. 2—(AP)—To chunky, 180-pound Del Wardien, star half with Saskatchewan Roughriders, his release by Calgary Stampeders before last season was "the best thing that ever happened to me."

"I don't think I got a fair deal," said Wardien of his dismissal by the Stampeders, leaders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union whom the Roughriders will meet here Nov. 5 in the first of a two-game, total-point series for the Western championship.

Stamps to the Western final against Winnipeg Blue Bombers. He came to the Riders last season, but as the club's sixth American import played only against the Bombers.

Wardien has little to say about his release by Coach Les Lear, of the Calgary team except that it concerned his participation in baseball as well as football and missing a couple of practices "on acount of poor weather."

However, he's happy now.

"I'm with a good bunch from water boy to executives. I am grateful to this club all around and glad to have the chance to play."

Premier Johnson Opens $12,000,000 B.C. Highway

By GEORGE FINLAY

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP) — Down a trail where fur brigades batted through mountains and woods a century ago, a $12,000,000 highway stands.

It is the new Hope-Princeton road, last link in British Columbia's Southern Trans-Provincial Highway reaching from the Alberta boundary to the Pacific Coast.

Premier Byron Johnson, surrounded by members of his cabinet and thousands of spectators who came by motor caravans, today used a big gold key to open gates across the highway.

Starting at Hope, once a fort for fur traders bringing rich pelts by pack train from the interior, the highway link starts 100 miles east of Vancouver, winding an 83-mile path to Princeton.

It brings the Okanagan Valley, with its lush fruit crops, 100 miles closer to the coast. It also opens a vast tourists' playground. A road of scenic splendor, it winds through the 4,000-foot high Allison Pass in the Cascade mountain range to Alpine Meadows and to the 171,500-acre Ernest C. Manning Park.

Ceremonies At Pass

Opening ceremonies were held at Allison Pass, half way between Hope and Princeton, amid snow-tipped peaks of the Cascades.

"It is my expectation that the business between the interior and the coast will greatly expand as a result of the opening of this highway," said Premier Johnson.

Fruit-laden trucks from the Okanagan will cut travelling time to seven hours, compared with the present 12-to 13-hour run.

An all-weather route, the highway has a minimum width of 30 feet exclusive of drainage ditches.

18 London Charwomen Clean Underground Railway

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Eighteen London Charwomen have a job that is never finished —cleaning the 130-mile underground railway system.

They work quickly and efficiently, but it takes them two years to get round the whole system for operations are limited to those few small hours of the morning when no trains are running. Then the following morning they start all over again.

The job is regular as clockwork. At 1 a.m. after the last train has gone, a master switch is thrown. The high voltage "live" rail goes dead and the women, wearing grey overalls and carrying hand brushes, dustpans and scrapers, troop down into the tunnels.

For nearly four hours they trudge along the rails sweeping up metal dust and the inflammable debris that gets blown down the tunnels. With them goes an electric trolley, operated by batteries on which five or six garbage cans are mounted.

Work In Pairs

The women work in pairs and each pair is expected to clean 70 feet of tunnel in one shift. Sharp at 4:30 a.m. they gather up their cleaning apparatus and leave the tracks—10 clear minutes before the current is switched on for the first train of the day.

The Charwomen—or "fluffers" as they are known to the trade — earn between £6 ($18.60) and £7 weekly, and the shift system gives them one morning off every week.

While the women are cleaning, 600 men equipped with pneumatic drills and shovels are busy repairing and re-laying sections of track throughout the system.

"Three gangs of 26 men lay only two miles of tracks in a year," said Inspector Walter Featherstone, who has been doing underground maintenance work for 3 years.

"It's hard going all right, but we have the satisfaction of knowing we are indispensable to the safe and efficient working of a railroad system covering all London."

Indian Crafts Said Outdated

CALGARY, Nov. 2—(CP)—Indian crafts in Alberta are just about as outdated as the bow and arrow, the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences was told Tuesday:

A. F. Key, director of the Calgary Arts Centre, said they were being "rapidly replaced by a saccharine brand of imitative work."

He blanked loss of the art on "a large number of well-meaning people who go into Indian communities and instead of allowing Indian children to ex-[illegible] insist on making them adopt the white man's ways."

Mrs. C. T. Woodside, president of the Alberta section of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild, said it was "artificial to try to preserve Indian crafts."

Farm Prices Remain Firm; Future Still Very Uncertain

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Some of the factors which have maintained Canadian agriculture at a good level this year, are outlined in the current monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

It also deals with some uncertainties of the future. The review says:

"In Canada, the improvement in world food supplies and the dollar shortage have as yet had comparatively little effect on prices, because Canadian prices as a result of slower decontrol did not rise as high as United States prices, and because the British contracts have tended this year [illegible] Canadian farm production, unlike that in the United States, has been declining and now is only 15 to 20 per cent above pre-war as compared with 40 per cent across the border...

The domestic market is larger than before the war, both because the population has grown quickly in recent years and because the high level of employment and income has enabled people to have better diets."

For instance: "Total consumption of meat in Canada was about one-third larger in 1948 than in 1935-39; that of eggs was up about 35 per cent; and fluid milk 40 per cent.

"The rise in food prices during 1947 and 1948 led to a significant reduction in the per capita consumption of meat and milk—a fact which suggests that food consumption would increase if prices should decline, provided of course there was no major downturn in economic activity."

The review continues:

"The general level of farm prices has declined but little; in September it was only about six per cent below the peak of July, 1948...

"Though farm income still is high, the seller's market for food has been waning, and the terms of exchange between food producers and food consumers are beginning to swing in favor of the consumer.

"Britain's dependence on Canadian food is becoming less extreme, and uncertainty overhangs the future of British purchases in Canada. The dollar stringency has not lessened. If anything, it has increased, as devaluation indicates.

"Devaluation...has the immediate effect of making Canadian food prices higher in terms of [illegible] of such soft-currency food-producing countries as Denmark and Australia.

"The development of surpluses in the United States further complicates the marketing problem."

Says Bevan's Speech Not Government Policy

LONDON, Nov. 2—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee told parliament Tuesday that a recent [illegible] minister of health, Aneurin Bevan, that the [illegible] had never said the policy was good for millionaries.

("Of course they are worse off [illegible] tribution of wealth in Britain was not a statement of government policy.

(Referring to "my policy" in a speech in Wales, Oct. 16, Bevan was reported as saying that he to take place because redistribution of wealth is also retribution.")

Attlee was replying to a question by Henry Strauss, Conservative.

Gales, Blizzards Rock Tiny Ships

MONTREAL Nov. 2—(CP) — The little Regina Polaris came home from the Arctic Tuesday night—after 14,000 miles of weather so rough that her skipper said the ship's safety must have depended on "somebody watching us constantly."

Gales, blizzards, fog and engine trouble harassed the 250-ton missionary supply ship during her 112-day voyage. The tiny, Diesel-powered vessel is owned by the Oblate Fathers, Roman Catholic missionary order.

During her trip to Hudson Bay and the Arctic, the Polaris de- [illegible] settlements.

Lawsuits No Cheaper

LONDON, Nov. 2—(AP)—The Labor Government's economy wave all but washed away Tuesday a plant to make lawsuits cheaper for the poor man. Effective July 1, the plan would have provided free, or government-assisted, legal aid and advice in any court for any Briton making no more than £700 ($2,170) a year. Prime Minister Attlee decided the far-reaching system of legal aid will have to wait for better times.

WHILE THE BODY OF MRS. IRENE KILBON was in a chair by the kitchen table of her 18-room South Monaghan home, the household cat, shown left, wandered aimlessly about the verandah outside the kitchen, meowing for food. Inside, all was quiet as provincial policemen of the Cobourg detachment waited for the arrival of Inspector C. W. Farrow from Peterborough. On a living room table an elaborate game of patience, shown here, was set out, but not finished. Mrs. Kilbon was to have gone to Ontario hospital at Whitby the day she died in what her husband, charged with murder, told neighbours was a mercy shooting. He said she had first shot herself.

Attempted to Commit Suicide In Rice Lake Waters

By BOB HATTON

Victim of the South Monaghan shooting for which her husband, Ralph Kilbon, 56, has been charged with murder, Irene Kilbon, 54, had attempted to commit suicide several times during the summer neighbours said. On more than one occasion, she went swimming in Rice lake on which the Kilbon farm borders with the intent of drowning herself, but each time her resolve broke down and she returned to her home and told her husband about it. Mrs. Kilbon knew she was suffering from an incurable form of insanity known as Huntington's Corea which had afflicted several members of her family before her, neighbours reported she had told them. At times she seemed almost to look forward to going to the Whitby hospital even though she was quite sure she would never leave. The disease was accompanied by violent shaking of the hands and arms and sometimes the feet.

In a letter dated Oct. 23 to his brother Roland in New Jersey, Ralph Kilbon said he and his wife had visited the Whitby hospital hoping they might be lucky enough to have Mrs. Kilbon admitted although they had been told there was no room at the moment. He said she was a "little better today" but he did not appear to be hopeful. He told of visiting Peterborough and seeing a film because she liked to go to the movies.

Became Agitated

However, after she had been told definitely she was going to the hospital and the day for her to go grew nearer she became increasingly agitated. At one time she said she hoped she wasn't going to live too long in the Whitby home. "She was almost beside herself," a neighbour said.

Kilbon told Charles Barnard, who worked the Kilbon farm on a shares basis, and another neighbour, Fred Perrin, that when he went out to get a pail of water, his wife shot herself. He said nothing about having heard a gunshot. He found his wife lying on the floor and she begged him to pick her up. He apparently put her in the wooden armchair beside the kitchen table, where she was later found by police.

Kilbon is reported to have said his wife had shot herself in the lower chest on the left side. Kilbon then said he had shot her in the left temple at the side of the head to put her out of her misery.

Treated Wife Kindly

"He thought so much of her," Mr. Barnard said. Mrs. Barnard and Mrs. Perrin both told of how kindly Kilbon had treated his wife, although they thought it must have been an overpowering strain on the man. They said he took her for a drive almost every afternoon or evening. Frequently they went to see matinees in Peterborough and Port Hope.

The Kilbons had obviously done a lot of reading. They were frequently taking armfuls of magazines to the Barnards and the Perrins whom they visited often. There were shelves of books in various parts of the huge rambling 18-room house described as the biggest house in South Monaghan township.

One of the books was Peace of Mind by Dr. Rabbi J. L. Liebman.

About 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Reginald Deeth, 709 Water St., Peterborough, a nephew of Kilbon, arrived to lock up the house. He was told by Provincial police still on duty at the farmhouse, they would be finished with the house by about noon today. Deeth said Kilbon had asked him to lock all the doors for him.

Dr. J. James Dies

CARDIFF, Wales, Nov. 2—(AP)—Dr. Jenkins James, 73, secretary of the University of Wales for 24 years, died Tuesday.

24 Permits For New Houses Issued By City In October

Twenty-four permits for houses were issued in October through the department of City Engineer Chalmers. They were valued at $148,000. Permits for the month amounted to $274,545 and for the ten months to the end of October, the total was $3,444,789, as against $2,206,668 for the corresponding period last year.

October last year produced only 14 permits for houses whose value was estimated at $87,100. The comparison in favor of last month suggests that the volume of building that has surged since 1945 is still substantial.

The permits issued last month were: 20 garages $5275; 24 houses $158,000; 76 miscellaneous permits $121,270. Total $274,545; and for the ten months of the year $3,444,789.

And in October last year, the permits were: 26 garages $7550; 14 houses $87,100; 78 miscellaneous $26,151; total 118 permits for $120,801; less than half the total of the building permits of October this year. Total for the ten months of last year to the end of Oct.: $2,206,668.

The increase in the estimated value of Peterborough's new building this year, so far, is $1,238,121 more than the total for the same period last year.

The figures do not include houses that are being built in the suburban areas of the city and also the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation houses that are being built by Reynolds Construction Company in the south end.

Citation Follows 32 Years Later

Harry Wilford, 164 Morrow St., received his war pension cheque on the morning of Nov. 1 as usual. To it was attached a citation for the award of the Military Medal for an act of gallantry performed on April 9, 1917. It read as follows:

"At Vimy Ridge, on April 9, he found himself in command of a small group of men in one of the enemy trenches, and using an enemy machine gun and enemy bombs kept their bombers and snipers at bay for several hours, until assistance reached him. He displayed great coolness and courage through the day."

Mr. Wilford went overseas with the 39th Battalion from Peterborough and was later transferred to the 87th. Retiring with the rank of RMS, WO 1, he received his medal while convalescing in Netley Hospital, near Portsmouth, at Christmas, 1917. It amused him that the citation reached him after a span of 32 years.

AN HONEST MAN

A Norwood man got the shock of his life this week when he discovered a thoroughly honest man. Seventeen years ago during the depression when jobs were scarce, a neighbor came to him and asked to buy two cords of wood that he had piled in his yard. The deal was completed and then the buyer confessed he had no money to pay for the wood, but would do so as soon as he got a job. Time passed and the neighbor moved away, still looking for work and his bill unpaid.

This week, the Norwood man had a visitor—his old neighbor. The man presented him with the $17 he owed for the wood that had kept them warm that winter, saying: "I just couldn't go on without paying this bill, so I've come to square myself."

CGE Workman Injured In Fall In Boston

In Boston on business for the C.G.E., Lorne Johnson fell down the well of a three storey elevator Monday at the Parker House Hotel. Complete reports of his injuries have not yet reached his wife at their home, 18 Edgewater Blvd., but early reports of a fractured jaw have been confirmed by Boston City Hospital doctors.

First news of the fall reached Mrs. Johnson Tuesday when a Boston doctor wired her to say her husband was seriously injured. Later reports, however, discount cause for anxiety.

Until results of X-rays are seen later today, full extent of the injuries will not be known.

Happened Monday

J. E. Girven, assistant manager of the Peterborough plant, was in touch with hotel staff and doctors in Boston three times by telephone Tuesday. He was told that the incident occurred "some time Monday night."

Assistant manager of the hotel said that the service elevator well down which Mr. Johnson fell, services three floors but it is not known whether he fell the full extent of the well or only ten feet, the height of one storey.

Troubles never come singly, Mrs. Johnson said today. Her youngest daughter Nancy, has recently returned from Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, where she has been treated for an arthritic hip. Nancy was lying in her carriage with one leg in a plaster cast, when the news of her father's fall came.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have six children.

As soon as the CGE heard of the accident, L. Jones, manager of Induction Motors, in which branch Mr. Johnson is employed took a plane from Connecticut, where he was visiting on business, to Boston.

Mr. Johnson left Peterborough Saturday and travelled from Buffalo to Boston Sunday night to meet two colleagues from other CGE plants. The business for which the three men travelled to Boston is scheduled to be finished by the end of the week and Mrs. Johnson is hoping her husband will be well enough to return when the other two leave Boston.

Mental Hospital Site Offered To Government

As site of one of the proposed mental hospitals contemplated in the provincial plan which would eventually amount to $35,000,000, Peterborough is offering the Ontario Department of Health the Hilliard Farm.

Mayor Swanston told the Examiner today the council was prepared to give the property to the government if they decide to [illegible]

"I had a telephone message this morning from Hon. R. Scott," His Worship said. "He told me that he was heartily in favor of Peterborough's request, that he fully endorsed it, and would cooperate in any way he could with the council and the citizens in asking for it."

Mayor Swanston said: "It is a beautiful property. I think it is the best we have to offer, and I imagine it might suit in size the requirements of the planning that is being done by the Department of Health. Mr. James Dutton, a member of the council, used to regard it as most desirable for a park site."

The proposed site is south of Queen Mary Hospital, which is situated at one corner of that farm on the north boundary of the city. It has a beautiful view of the Otonabee river over which it looks from a high level. That property was acquired by the city many years ago. Successive councils have placed increasing value on it.

Housing Subdivision

In the last two years it has been sought as for housing subdivision purposes. Houses to sell at $8,000 to $10,000 were mentionel at one time, but the council was reluctant to part with the property. City Hall opinion was that the elevation and the prospect of the river might invite even more valuable houses.

"I'm sure that the council will give Hilliard Farm to the government, if they consider Peterborough a desirable location for one of the mental hospitals," Mayor Swanston said. "That opinion was unanimous when Ald. Grant Miller was talking the other night of getting action in approaching the government."

Hon. Mr. Scott has also acknowledged the letter from Mayor Swanston. This is a quotation from his reply: "As at present there is one (hospital) in Kingston and one in Brockville, this location in Peterborough besides being a beautiful site for such a home, would also be in the centre of a district which would be easily accessible."

Mayor Swanston has written Warden Wm. Darling and the members of the county council requesting their support in the representations which the city is planning to make to Hon. Russell Kelley.

Left and Right Factions To Be Thrown Into Light At Next CGE Union Meeting

By DAVE WHITE

The bitter factional fight now going on in Cleveland at the CIO convention, where the UE and at least two other left wing unions are slated for expulsion, is being closely watched in Peterborough. Should the powerful UE, consisting of 450,000 United States members, be expelled by the CIO, it is expected that the Canadian Congress of Labour will lose little time following suit. And this would mean that the 24,000 UE members in Canada—including 3,200 in Peterborough's [illegible] would no longer have body, and would be wide-open to raiding by other unions.

Indications are that important tactical moves to meet this development are being tackled by the Local 524 leadership, and when union members attend the special membership meeting on Thursday night they must be prepared to make drastic decisions.

One Big Issue

Although the meeting has been called, ostensibly at least, to consider implementing the strike vote, that item will likely be dropped well down on the agenda as the large issue involving the future of the Union is fought out.

The battle of left and right wing will come to a climax with charges of "red domination" being laid by the right-wing leadership under president John G. Morton, and counter charges of kowtowing to the Carey-ACTU group (unsuccessful in its recent bid to capture the recent 14th UE convention) being hurled by the leftists.

Workers Must Decide

Thursday night's meeting in the Brock Street Summer Gardens will likely see the final split between the two factions, and the final choice will be up to the Peterborough workers.

A leaflet distributed at the CGE plant gate at noon today by the pro-Morton Publicity Committee serves as a straw in the wind. After stating the CCL will probably expell the UE if such initial action is carried out by the CIO convention, it adds this significant comment:

"The UE will thus be cut off from organized labor and the support that organized labor such as the CIO and CCL gives to their affiliates. The UE is being expelled for its Communits domination, its continual opposition and sabotage of CIO policy."

Affiliates tossed out of such organizations as the CIO and the CCL generally lose the support of the public and their own membership gradually disintegrates, the leaflet warns mildly.

Then the point is driven home with force: "The Canadian Seamen's Unions, expelled from the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, has declined from a membership of approximately 15,000 to a reputed 1,500. Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union with an estimated 50,000 members was expelled from CCL. Today they are reported to have only two locals."

These are "serious facts which must be faced by a membership campaigning, the Otonabee Memorial Rink Committee drew a halt to the sale of draw tickets for a pure-bred Holstein calf and celebrated the occasion with a dance Tuesday night in the Town Hall at Keene.

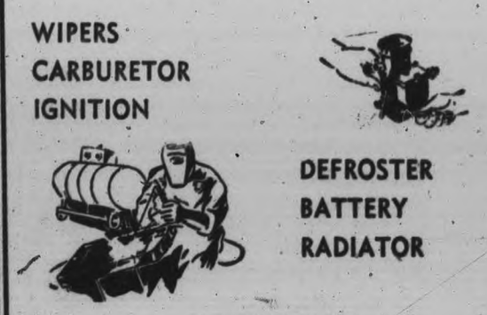
The registered heifer, Lifloe Sylvia Polly, donated by Norman W. McConkey, of Lifloe Dairy Farms, was taken to all the district exhibitions by the committee to promote ticket sales for the draw. Other ticket sales were made by district merchants and individual rink enthusiasts. Before a crowd of more than three hundred the draw was made from a churn mounted on the stage of the hall. Some $1,300 was realized on the ticket sales. Anna Marie Bolin R.R. 3, Keene, won the calf. When Miss Bolin failed to come to the platform to receive the transfer of the calf from the donor W. N. McConkey, the chairman asked if someone would colunteer to receive the certificate on behalf of Miss Bolin. A young man elbowed his way through the milling throng of dancers and explained to the chairman that Miss Bolin was home resting. He was her father, and Anna Marie was only 15 months old.

In view of his daughter's absence, Jack Bolin paid the committee a dollar and received the certificate for the calf.



When Mr. McConkey suggested to the young father that his daughter had a good start toward a registered herd of Holsteins, the latter replied that the prize left him in a dilemma as he was a Shorthorn breeder. However, a little family competition will do no harm and Anna Marie has a lively black and white calf that is almost as old as she is.

The calf had been housed on the farm of David McNevan, of Keene, a committeeman.

Six year old Jimmie Gall, of Keene, made the draw from the large red churn

As the Otonabee Memorial Rink was not quite completed the dance and draw were held in the Town Hall. The official opening of the rink is scheduled for a date to be set early this month.

Million Bail Asked By U.S. For Red Leaders

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—(AP)—The United States Government Tuesday asked $1,000,000 bail for the 11 convicted Communist leaders in the event they are let out of jail while their appeals are being heard.

Irving S. Shapiro, special assistant to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeal that this was the view of Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath.

Shapiro said the government would want $100,000 bail each for seven of the convicted men and $75,000 for each of the four others.

All 11 have been in jail since their conviction last month on charges of conspiracy to advocate overthrow of the United States Government by force.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina refused to free them in bail pending their appeals. Lawyers for the 11 asked the Appeals Court today to overrule Medina. The court reserved decision.

Shapiro asked $100 000 bail for each of these defendants if bail is granted: Eugene Dennis, Irving Potash, Jacob Stachel, John B. Williamson, Gus Hall, Gilbert Green and Robert G. Thompson.

He recommended $75,000 bail for Benjamin J. Davis Jr., Henry Winston, John Gates and Carl Winter.

A lawyer for the Communists, O. John Rogge, asked earlier that bail be set at no more than $10 000 for any defendant.

Ten of the 11 defendants are under five-year prison sentences. Thompson, the 11th, drew a three-year term. Each was fined $10,000 in addition.

TUC Decides On Devaluation Next Week

LONDON, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Britain's Trade Union leadership, having spent nearly two months wondering what to do about devaluation, is expected to make up its mind next week.

What it finally decides may shape the policies of organized labor for many months.

The decision will be made by the General Council of the Trades Union Congress, official mouthpiece of 187 affiliated unions and about 8,000 000 workers. The council will sit in judgment next Wednesday on a report by a special devaluation committee [illegible] nounced Sept. 18, the Trade Union wing of the government Labor Party has acted rather like a man suffering from a loss of speech. In effect, it became Socialism's silent partner, reluctant to say officially what it thought about the probable effects of devaluation.

This was partly because events moved too quickly. Two weeks before the pond was devalued from $4.03 to $2.80 in United States funds, the T.U.C. met in annual conference and gave almost blanket approval to the government policy in restraining wage claims.

Devaluation changed the picture. The pressing problem was whether the Congress could go along with the freeze on wages when everybody took it for granted the cost of living was going to go up.

Senator Says Canada Soon Amending Constitution

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—(CP)—A British Columbia senator believes Canada soon may have "complete and exclusive" power to amend the Canadian constitution—even on those matters which embrace the Provincial Legislature.

Senator J. W. de B. Farris told the Senate Tuesday that one of the big possibilities of the forthcoming Dominion - Provincial Constitution conference here next Jan. 10 would be to draw into Canada all Canadian constitution powers vested in the United Kingdom parliament.

The Vancouver legal expert made the prediction as he introduced the government's resolution to seek constitutional-amendment rights on federal matters. The resolution was adopted by the Commons last week.

This desire by the government, said Senator Farris, to seek amending powers from the United Kingdom parliament marked the most important constitutional development in the national growth of the country.

All Left To Canada

When the provincial premiers meet with Prime Minister St. Laurent here next January to consider ways and means of amending the constitution on matters outside the federal sphere "final agreement may be reached to request the Imperial Parliament to further amend the British North America Act to enable all aspects of the constitution to be amended in Canada."

These aspects would include such provincial responsibility as education and use of the French and English languages. Senator Farris did not know how amendments on these subjects would be brought about. They might entail unanimous consent of all the provinces and the federal parliament.

That was as far as he wanted to go on speculating what might come out of the first Dominion-Provincial conference on the constitution since 1935.

Senator Farris suggested that senators should not attempt to delay passage of the resolution because of fear of what it may do to the Chamber's future.

Several senators asked whether adoption of the resolution would mean that the Senate may be voting itself out of office, since the constitution powers would give parliament control over the Senate's future.

Attempts to block the resolution would stir up cries that the "senators are trying to protect their jobs," Senator Farris said.

He suggested that the resolution be adopted and when the Dominion - Provincial conference came up, let those people who felt the need for continuing the Senate's life come to the Senate's defence.

Cheapest Great Sail Firm Advertised 1880

Chill Turner showed the Examiner today a local advertisement of his father's business in Port Hope, dated May 3, 1880.

Part of the text was: "The cheapest place in the Dominion for awnings at J. J. Turner's, great sail, tent and awning factory, Port Hope. Water-proof tents of every kind in stock and made to order. I have also some of the best oakum in the world, for $11 per 100 lbs."

That was 69 years ago. Four years later Mr. Turner transferred his plant to Peterborough.

On the back of the "ad" is an announcement by Harry Lebrun, retailer of men's wear at George and Hunter Streets, in the Bank of Toronto building. It featured men's suits at $12, made to order with other from $14 to $18.

This advertisement reminded the public that "Hugh Ross is the cutter". A custom-made suit at $12 to $18 was typical of current price. 69 years ago. The scale of men's wages may be inferred from those suit values.

NZ Beauty Queen Talks To Queen

LONDON, Nov. 2—(AP)—The reigning Queen of Britain talked to the beauty queen of New Zealand Tuesday.

Queen Elizabeth saw the visiting "Miss New Zealand"—pretty, 21-year-old Mary Woodward—at the Victoria League, which promotes closer relations within the Commonwealth.

The King and Queen and Princess Margaret had planned a five-month visit to New Zealand but had to call it off because the King suffered a leg ailment. He has almost recovered.

Miss New Zealand said everybody was disappointed at the cancellation.

The Queen said, "I hope we will be able to make the visit."

Women's Crusade On Liquor Evils Set For Thursday

TORONTO, Nov. 2 — First large organized women's meeting of its kind, the women's crusade against liquor evils, being sponsored by the Provincial Council of Women, Thursday evening, is arousing widespread interest among organizations throughout Ontario, according to its sponsors.

Already 8,000 tickets have been requested and distributed to various women's groups. Letters have come in from all over the province informing Provincial Council headquarters that organizations are standing back of the move, and that busloads of women will arrive from various cities and towns. Interest among the rural women is keen, also, according to the president of the Federated Women's Institutes, Mrs. R. J. Futcher, who is one of the crusade speakers. Others are Dr. Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa, prominent sociologist, and Mrs. Edgar Gates, Dean of Women, McMaster University.

The meeting will be held in Massey Hall, with Mrs. James Roberts, president of the Provincial Council of Women, presiding. As the hall seats only about 2,800, an overflow meeting has been arranged for in Metropolitan United Church, with Mrs. Kenneth Dewar, provincial vice-president, and crusade convener, presiding. Mrs. J. D. Smith is co-convener.

Speakers are being asked to give their addresses twice, first in the hall, then the church, which seats about 1,800.

"The meeting is in no sense a prohibition meeting or a protest against any liquor legislation, but it has been called to study the liquor problem from economic, scientific, social and moral points of view," it is explained by Council spokesmen.

"It is a crusade against the inroads of liquor on the homes and lives of Ontario people," it was stated. "Naturally, the women will have to go to the government for any remedial legislation. And they hope their findings may be helpful to the government as a guide in new legislation and in stricter supervision of liquor laws."

Reception Held At Parsonage

Many enjoyed the hospitality of the Rev. and Mrs. B. Morwood at the Mark St. United Church parsonage Friday afternoon and evening when they were at home to members of the congregation.

Gamble, Mrs. E. Alton, Mrs. E. Dinner and Mrs. R. Parnell in the afternoon and in the evening by Mrs. D. Chambers, Mrs. N. Hewitt, Mrs. E. DeNure and Mrs. W. Hepburn.

Guests were admitted by Mrs. A. Scriver and Mrs. H. Hunter. Receiving with the Rev. and Mrs. Morwood were the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Rowland. During the evening they were assisted by Mr. A. W. Gamble, clerk of the Session, and Mrs. Gamble.

The reception was in the form of open house and many availed themselves of the opportunity to be shown through the parsonage.

Mrs. Ken Ferguson and committee were in charge of refreshments.

Hansard Group Well Attended

Third meeting of the Hansard Discussion Group, sponsored by the YWCA Public Affairs Committee, was held Tuesday evening with a good attendance.

Mr. C. K. Hurst, leader, continued his series of lectures with "Canada the Colony," outlining the growth of constitution government in Canada. He pointed out the basis of constitutional rights in the various provinces arises from different sources and is of a nebulous character.

Sources of material for this lecture were R. M. Lower's "Colony to Nation," Dawson's "Government of Canada," and "The Canadians" by George M. Wrong. The next lecture, Tuesday evening, November 8, will deal with "Canada the Nation" in preparation for discussion of current government machinery. Anyone interested may attend.

German Youth Being Taught Democratic Way

By JACK SMITH

BERLIN—(Reuters)—Although numerous problems and difficulties have still to be overcome in educating the Nazified German youth in the ways of democracy, Dr. Alonzo Grace, director of the former United States military governments' educational and cultural relations division, believes that a good start has been made.

The collapse of the Hitler Youth organization at the end of the war, together with the invalidation of its Nazi teaching, left the youth of the nation without any form of positive leadership.

—Post-war problems—unemployment, housing shortage, lack of educational facilities and general social disorder—fell especially heavily upon the young people of Germany.

The U.S. military government, since replaced by administrators under the United States State Department, began by calling on such forces as existed inside Germany to provide leadership and direction for youth.

Next, it aimed at fostering an atmosphere in which the positive elements could find expression in society. Finally, it tried to ensure that there would be no recurrence of any totalitarian or militaristic tendencies among youth organizations.

Today, although much remains to be done, much has been achieved.

The total membership of voluntary youth organizations, for example, has increased 700 per cent since 1946. Some 1,500,000—approximately 25 per cent of young people betwen the ages of 10 and 25—belong to one or more youth organizations.

Leaders Trained

More than 4,000 youth leaders have received training in the fundamentals of democratic youth work, while 50 selected German youth leaders have studied in the eight Americans and 23 European youth leaders have been enlisted to advise German youth organizations.

Self-help programs carried through include more than 100 projects for rebuilding damaged buildings and constructing new dormitories.

The task which lies before German youth organizations was summed up recently by Dr. Grace:

"Youth organizations," he said, "must liberalize their programs, become less competitive and more co-operative. The average German citizen must learn to volunteer his time, ability and money to advance co-operative youth programs.

"Although limited in extent, certain nationalistic tendencies must be eliminated.

"The ultimate test of our success in helping German youth to help themselves is simply this: Will youth develop the character, the moral and spiritual power to resist the nationalistic trend? Will youth, if they don't stand for something, fall for anything?

"I believe that the youth of the world will help tht youth of Germany to create a world of law and order, humanity, social just peace.

"I believe that a large number of German youth, in spite of the Hitler era, are already willing and eager to do their part. But the change will not be accomplished overnight."

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Told Help Husband Over Financial Crisis

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I are very happy together; that is, we would be if it were not for the financial question. For the last six months he has not had steady employment and I was forced to go back to work It is either do this or live with mine. My work is not hard, but I have to be away from my baby girl, who is nine months old. Do you think I did right by going back to work and supporting the family? My husband does all the housework and cares for the baby. He also does all the part-time work that he can get to do. My relatives think that my husband will never try to get steady work again because I have taken over the financial responsibility. Should I be thankful for being qualified to find a position or take by relatives' viewpoint about it?

THE BREAD-WINNER.

ANSWER: You should thank Heaven on your knees for having qualified yourself to be a real helpmeet to your husband in time of need, and you should add a special prayer for enlightenment of your narrow-minded and meddling relatives with their obsolete opinions.

Surely your father and mother cannot realize what a cruel thing they are doing in adding to your troubles by predicting that you will become a parasite by becoming the bread-winner in this crisis.

What Do They Want?

What do they want you to do? Turn quitter and leave your husband in the lurch when he strikes the hard sledding? Go and sponge on someone else for a living? It seems to me that the course you have taken is infinitely more honorable and more sensible than either of these would be

Every woman who is a real woman desires above all else to be a real help to her husband, a real mate, a real partner. If she can do this better by earning money outside of the home than by working in it, she should be proud and glad that she has the intelligence and skill to assist him in the most effectual way.

DEAR MISS DIX: How can you win a woman? It is easy enough for a woman to win a man. She has only to flatter him a little and she has him, but you can't win a woman that way. At least, I can't win the one I want that way.

She doesn't care for men and hardly notices them, except in a crowd. Then she will give one the sweetest kind of a smile, but before he can get to her she is about a block away.

Besides, when I try to say anything to her, my mouth seems to be glued.

JOHN.

ANSWER: Well, you had better begin by limbering up your mouth, son. Girls like men who say aplenty. No dumb ones for them. And don't believe that any daughter of Eve doesn't like to be flattered. Every one of them just gobbles it up and eats out of the hand that feeds it to them.

There are various ways of winning women. The strong-arm method is efficacious and I should recommend it in your case. When the lady runs away, pursue her and overtake her. Don't asked her to marry you. Tell her that you are going to marry her. Don't listen to her objections. Use caveman methods. Treat 'em rough.

Success also comes to the patient waiter, and, if you camp on a girl's doorstep long enough, you are pretty sure to get her. But my diagnosis of your case is for more active treatment.

young married woman and my husband deserted me just before my baby was born for another woman. My baby died and now that I am back in the business world I would like to get a divorce, but my mother opposes this because she thinks that divorce brings disgrace on the family. I am not yet 30 years old and feel there should be some happiness yet for me.

BROKEN-HEARTED.

ANSWER: Your mother is taking an entirely outmoded point of view in the matter. Don't listen to what she says. Free yourself from the brute. People will have far more respect for you for having enough common sense and independence to break the last link of the chain that binds you to him than they would if you spent the balance of your life wearing the willow for one who was not worthy of your love in the first place.

Sliced Banana and Cream Bakers' Lemon Cup Cakes Coffee.

DIRECTIONS

Note: I find that when I am down to business on reducing that I get so hungry at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon I nearly board. But I find that a big cup of cafe au lait (half strong coffee and half hot whole milk) plus ½"x4" rye wafer will hold me until dinner time at 6:30. It is more satisfying than tea, and the milk content is good nourishment for serious slimmers.

Mash this lovely yellow squash when it is cooked with some hot homogenized milk and add plenty of salt and pepper. Some chopped parsley is a good addition too. It is possible to buy genuine very crisp Danish rye crisp now. This is delicious and good for reducers for it requires extra chewing.

HOMEMADE OXTAIL SOUP

Ask the butcher to break an oxtail between the joints for you with his cleaver. Saute these in 2 tablespoons butter until medium brown. Add 1 sliced onion and saute it with the meat for 5 minutes. Add 2 quarts boiling water, 1 cup each carrot and turnip dice (a few green beans cut and some tomatoes are a nice addition too). 4 cloves, ½ bay leaf, 2 or 3 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Boil covered, gently, until meat is tender enough to fall from bones. If desired ¼ cup barley may be added when the vegetables are added Soup may be thickened slightly when meat is tender by stirring in 2 tablespoons flour made into a paste with ¼ cup cold water Remove bones to serve, leaving meat in pieces as they fall from bones.

CHEESE TIMBALES

Melt 2 tablespoons shortening and add ¼ cup stale breadcrumbs, and 2/3 cup milk and cook 5 minutes, stiring. Add 1 cup well-packed, shredded processed cheese or grated cheddar cheese, ½ tablespoon chopped parsley, 2 beaten eggs, and ½ teaspoon paprika. Pour into individual moulds or timbals and stand in pan of hot water and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes. Delicious with tomato or mushroom sauce.

Faces 3 Counts In Rental Case

Emmett F. Sheehy, a Peterborough lawyer, defended himself in city police court Tuesday afternoon in answer to three charges under the Wartime Leasehold regulations before Magistrate R. B. Baxter, Port Hope.

Sheehy is charged with unlawfully giving M. R. Knox notice to vacate the lower apartment at 364 Simcoe St. owned by Sheehy. He gave notice to leave March 31, 1949 on the grounds that he required the apartment for his own personal use.

He is also charged with charging a rent higher than was reasonable and just, from Oct. 1, 1948 to May 31, 1949. Evidence was that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board had set the rent at $25, and Sheehy collected $50 a month.

He was also charged with collecting too high a rent between Oct. 1, 1948 and Jan. 31, 1949 from Neil Coyle for the upper apartment at 362 Simcoe St. Here too the rent was said to have been set at $25 a month, while Coyle paid $50.

Evidence was heard for four hours and the magistrate adjourned the trial until the afternoon of Nov. 15.

Students Read 4,049 Books In Two Months

Circulation at Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School library totalled 4,049 for the months of September and October. During September the students took 2,136 books from the library and 1,913 were read during October. The slight decrease [illegible] Fowler, librarian, was due to the rush to acquire books at the first of the term.

In the past two months 461 literature books have been taken out. Most of them are plays, said Miss Fowler. She attributes this to the fact that the school play is close at hand as well as the Peterborough Drama Festival in early December.

Fiction is still well out in front with 1,711 books being read. Biography, 601; literature, 461 and travel, 457, are the nearest competitors.

To Chose Teams For Volleyball

Eight teams to form the YMCA Volleyball League will be chosen at the YMCA tonight and the schedule begins Saturday afternoon in the YMCA gym.

Cliff Cadd, Ken Kingston, Albert Dryland, Don Crawford, Steve Csumrik, James Gillespie, George Scott and Stan Payne will choose the members of the teams. The same men will be captains, with the exception of George Scott. Howard David will captain the eighth team.

Peterborough, who were senior volleyball champions in 1944 and 1945, will contest at the senior tournament again this year. In 16 years of competition the Peterborough team has been victorious twice with Kitchener taking the championship 14 times. The locals will again enter in the veterans tournament which was held last year in Peterborough. Dates and places for the tournaments have yet to be announced. The Peterborough team will be chosen from the pick of the local league.

Tells Hi-Y Boys About Publishing

The Rev. Ivan Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church, was guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Intermediate and Omega Hi-Y clubs Tuesday at the YMCA. He spoke on the "Appreciation of Books" discussing with them the background of book publishing and the origins of paper and type.

Ted Cuffe introduced Mr. Morgan, who was thanked by Bill Hamblin.

Donald Ash introduced the two advisors, Newton Hamilton for the intermediates and James Lillico for the Omega Club.

The formation of an inter-club council of local Hi-Y clubs was introduced to the meeting by Ronald Doughty, president of the Epsilon Club. The council, it was suggested, would tend to draw the four local clubs closer together.

Hi-Y's Go Greek Get New Names

Swinging in with the general change across Canada in Hi-Y clubs the local clubs are changing their names from seniors, intermediate and junior to Greek letter names. Already the senior A and the senior B Hi-Y clubs of the city have changed their names to Epsilon and Omega.

Donald Duncan, boys' work secretary of the YMCA, explained that in registering the clubs the names will be changed to read on their charter, Epsilon Chapter of the Peterborough Hi-Y and the Omega Chapter of the Peterborough Hi-Y.

Some thought has been given for names of the other two Hi-Y clubs, the intermediates and the juniors but no definite selections have been made.

Under direction of the intermediate club the 1949-50 junior Hi-Y is now being formed. Mr. Duncan expected that the first meeting of the junior club will take place next week.

The annual induction of new members into the four clubs is expected to take place near the middle of the month.

Three Months For Keeping Gaming House

Robert H. McMaster was sentenced to three months by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, on a charge of keeping a common gaming house at 474 Wolsley St. Oct. 15.

Hearing of the trial was Oct. 24, but Magistrate Philp reserved his judgment to consider the question of onus. In his judgment Tuesday, the magistrate said he decided the onus was on the accused to raise a reasonable doubt that he was not keeping a common gaming house.

The magistrate said several circumstances pointing to the nature of the activities in the house had helped him reach his decision. He said there was evidence that there had been considerable traffic to and from the house while it was kept under surveillance by Constable Gordon Trennum.

Also there were the double bolts on both the front and back doors. Important also was the telephone call during the raid which Constable Sherman Keliele had with a man believed to be a local taxi driver. The man asked how the game was coming along and whether it would be all right to bring up a couple of men. Shortly after two men appeared.

Wife Complained

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said there had been numerous complaints from neighbors and even McMaster's wife about the gambling. He pointed out that McMaster had two previous convictions on similar charges.

Following this conviction, Alfred Pepe, Jack Phelan, Melville Lester and Fred Zaharow pleaded guilty to charges of being found-ins in a gaming house and were each fined $25 and costs. Robert Primeau, who had twice before been convicted of the same offence, pleaded guilty to the found-in charge and fined $50 and costs. In court Wednesday morning Neil Harrington pleaded guilty to the same offence and was fined $50 and costs. He had been convicted of three similar charges since 1947, the crown attorney said.

before they decide on strike implementation," concludes the leaflet, at the same time urging a full turnout for this all-important meeting.

In the United States there has been some talk of the three powerful leftist unions—UE, Harry Bridges' Longshoremen, and the Fur and Leather Workers under Ben Gold—forming a third labor organization in opposition to both the CIO and the AFL. The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and about nine other left wing unions might join this third labor federation.

A similar move is envisaged for Canada.

Should this be the case Peterborough CGE unionists would have to form a new electrical workers' union if they wanted to remain in the CCL or affiliate with an existing union, such as the Steelworkers.

Since the recent UE convention in Cleveland attended by the leadership of Local 524 against the advice of the District, including Canadian president C. S Jackson it has been openly looked on as the key right-wing local. Optimistic right wingers believe that as Peterborough goes, so go the other five CGE locals and even the bulk of the other UE locals in Canada.

Expulsion Approved

An Associated Press dispatch today on the CIO convention states that the Resolution Committee has approved the expulsion of the UE and the Farm Equipment Workers (a group recently ordered by the CIO to affiliate with Reuther's Automobile Workers' Union but merged with the UE instead.)

The dispatch also speaks of the jurisdiction of the electrical and allied industries being "handed over to a new group, reported to be backed by James B. Carey, the UE's first president ousted by the present left-wing leadership."

That is one reason why the eyes of the 23,000 UE unionists will be on the result of the Thursday meeting in Peterborough.

Fight Secession

Any attempt at secession will be bitterly fought by C. S. Jackson, Canadian president.

"We have always concentrated on the main job of any union worth its salt," Mr. Jackson told the Examiner today, "and that is to improve the living standard of its membership."

He said this was proven by a recent settlement at RCA in the United States where "our new contract contains more than the Steel Fact Finding Report which Philip Murray is striking to obtain."

Jackson stated that the UE has not left the CIO, but that it was refusing to allow that body to use UE funds "to raid and disrupt our union." And this also included the refusal to accept the "partisan policy of the CIO leadership which has sought to tie the international unions to the Democratic party and the Truman administration.

"The CIO leadership has deserted its own principles of free association of unions based on organizing the unorganized on an industrial basis. . . . We will continue to fight for those genuine democratic principles on which the CIO was built . . . to make economic improvements and preserve the autonomy of the affiliated international unions."

Fred Storey Gladiolus Life Member

Dr. J. H. Leslie, 296 Park St., was elected president of the Peterborough and District Gladiolus Society Tuesday night. Past president is Don Carter.

The other officers a[illegible]rs. Chris Plunkett and Herb Cardwell, vice-presidents; Mrs. J. H. Leslie, secretary-treasurer. Direc[illegible] Duncan, Mr. C. Porter, Mr. J. Hall, Mr. T. H. Jackson, Mr. Harry Gabbutt. Publicity, Bud Lloyd.

Mr. Fred Storey was presented with a life membership certificate. For the last fifteen years he has been one of the most active members of the Gladiolus Society. Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt discussed the prospects for the coming year.

The Society is planning to enlist 200 new members, including juniors. Another project for next year is to achieve one of the largest displays of gladioli at the August flower show.

Toronto Man Freed Of Careless Driving

A Toronto man, Kenneth Grange, was found not guilty of careless driving by Magistrate W R. Philp, K.C. in police court today. Magistrate Philp said he hardly thought Grange's explanation of the accident was reasonable, but he said he would give him the benefit of the doubt.

The charge arose out of an accident Oct. 5 which took place shortly before 5 a.m. on Park Hill [illegible]

Constable John Morrow testified Grange's car had smashed a 20-foot guard rail at the west approach to a bridge at the bottom of a gully there, and damaged part of the iron bridge. The car ended up with its front wheels on the cement platform of the bridge and the rear wheels resting on a large boulder in the bed of the creek under the bridge.

Grange said he had been blinded by the lights of an approaching car, had stopped after pulling off the road, then when starting up again got off onto wet grass at the side of the road and crashed into the bridge before he could get back on the road.

Takes Last Look At Kent Home, End Of An Era

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2 (AP)—Today the last possessions of the late Atwater Kent are being pounded away by an auctioneer's gavel.

So ends a chapter of Hollywood history. The Kent parties were perhaps the last remnant of [illegible] vanishing.

Kent's home, Capo di Monte, was previewed to the public before the auction, and I decided to take a last look at the mountain-top palace.

The front room looked much the same, although it was filled with gawkers instead of glamor girls and boys. Missing were the festive gas-filled balloons that the retired radio manufacturer always had at his parties.

Silver and China plates were spread out on the dining room table, but they were unfilled with the bon-bons, fruitcake or other goodies that the party-giver used to provide.

Lots Of Tourists

A lumpy middle-aged woman regarded a large, sterling silver tureen. "Might be nice for washing the dog," she commented.

Tourists tramped about the terrace, where movie stars once danced under the stars.

Inside, a woman gazed at a painting with the canvas cracked in the middle. "Not in very good condition," she remarked as she walked past the Gainsborough.

As the bus wheezed down the mountain, I thought of the wispy little man whose greatest joy was entertaining the famous names of Hollywood. His parties became almost an industry. There were even reports that the events were classified A, B and C.

The A parties, so the story goes, were formal, sit-down dinners attended by the top stars and executives. The B parties called for a buffet dance with fairly good names. The C affairs served drinks and chicken a la king to hopefuls and has-beens.

Through it all, "Atties" was a kind and charming host who tried to greet and say farewell to every guest.

Has Face Injuries From Car Crash

SAULT STE MARIE, Nov. 2 (CP)—Mrs. Lillian Greco suffered serious facial injuries when the car in which she was a passenger struck the tender of a Canadian Pacific Railways freight train Monday night.

Fourteen stitches were required to close a deep gash on the woman's forehead, believed caused when she was thrown forward against a broken windshield.

The car, driven by John Hyrsky, who escaped injury, slid sideways on fresh snow when the brakes were applied approaching the railway crossing.

Patsy James, Welland, Ont., student at the University of Western Ontario, was chosen sweetheart of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at Toronto following the Western-Toronto football game Saturday. The pert Miss is the first non-Toronto University student to be so honored.

Four Norwood Pupils In Speaking Contest

NORWOOD, Nov. 2 —(ENS)—Ther were four contestants in the public speaking contest held in the library on Friday.

Glen Logan, pupil of Mrs. Xavier Dupuis, Daisy D. School won the competition with the topic "It takes a smart man to be a Good Farmer." Beatrice Hannon and Donald Hamblin tied for second place with "Athletics" and "History of Flying." Marlene Bland was third, her topic, "Newfoundland."

Prizes were $3 for the winner, two seconds, $1.75 each and $1 for the third.

The contest was sponsored by Norwood Women's Institute which also donated the prizes.

Judges were Miss G. Jacombe of the Norwood High School Staff, Miss Wilson Small and Mr. L. Palmateer, of Norwood Public School staff.

The second and third prize winners were pupils of Mr. Sinclair of Brick School on the Ninth Line of Dummer.

Party For K. Bigelow

MILLBROOK, Nov. 2 (ENS)—Pauline Kennedy and Don Spicer were hostess and host at a farewell party for Kay Bigelow on Saturday evening before she left for her new home in Port Hope. Don Spicer made the presentation of an ivory alarm clock for travelling. Guests included Jean Smith, Betty Forsythe, Edith Elson, Jessie and Margaret Dawson, Ed. Hewitt, Ralph Richards and Fraser Carr.

Ease Import Quotas

PARIS, Nov. 2 (AP)—France agreed today to a British proposal for freeing 50 per cent of western European trade from import quotas. The plan was put to the Council of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation by Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer. It appears to be well on its way to approval by the Council.

East-West Agree On Prison Costs

BERLIN, Nov. 2 — (AP) — A rare show of East-West agreement promised Tuesday to cut huge prison costs of Nazi Germany's deputy fuehrer, Rudolf Hess, and his fellow war criminals for Berlin taxpayers.

Under an austerity program drafted by the British, American, Russian and French wardens, the German servants at Hess' prison will be reduced from 58 to 20. The inside maintenance staff of 17 will be trimmed to 13.

Hess and six other Nazi bigshots, convicted of war crimes at Nuernberg, are the only convicts in big Spandau Prison in West Berlin.

The city government complained recently that it was made to pay 450,000 West marks ($107100) a year for "occupation costs" of Spandau, although the seven Nazis could have been confined in an ordinary jail for a total of 8,000 marks ($1,904) annually.

An Allied official estimated West Berlin's expenditures would fall to 200,000 marks a year under the economy program.

Find Missing Wife Selling Yule Cards

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 2 (CP)—Police said today that Mrs Bernice Kozack, 18-year-old Hamilton housewife reported missing since Friday, has been found in suburban Stamford Township selling Christmas cards.

Police Chief R. W. Worm said the woman's husband was notified and is en route to Stamford. Chief Worm gave no explanation of Mrs. Kozack's disappearance.

Italian Colonies Under Discussion

LAKE SUCCESS, NY. Nov. 2 (CP)—A special UN group began putting into final form Tuesday recommendations on the future of Italy's pre-war African colonies.

The question of the Italian colonies came before the UN last year under terms of the peace treaty with Italy because the Big-Four Powers were unable to agree on disposal of the African lands.

The sub-committee of the Political Committee debated for 18 days before agreeing on:

1—Independence for Libya by January 1, 1952.

2—Independence for Italian Somaliland by 1959 and interim rule by Italy under a UN trusteeship.

3—A five-power committee of inquiry be sent to Eritrea to report on conditions there.

Final decisions of the colonies must be reached by a two-thirds vote of General Assembly, which is why strenuous log-rolling efforts are being made to reach near unanimity on the question.

Splendid Cough Syrup Easily Mixed at Home

To get quick relief from a distressing cough, mix this recipe in your own kitchen. Once tried, you'll say it's your favorite cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Anyone can do it. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.)

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its quick action on throat irritations.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle, and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of very efficient medicine, and you get four times as much for your money. It tastes fine and never spoils.

And for quick, satisfying relief, it is splendid. You can feel it penetrating the air passages and taking hold of the cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Pinex Is Swift Acting. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.
